West Tennessee as a whole is rapidly changing from a one crop system of cotton farming to that of diversification and what has happened at Gates and in this trade territory is an example of Opens Today the interest which has been manifested by business men, farmers and others throughout the entire section.

The establishment of a market in this territory should be only the beginning of a number of crops to be marketed here for shipment to other markets.

STEEL CARTEL FILES

WASHINGTON.-Dozens of G.1 investigators have been working since the shooting war stopped to help win another war. This is a war against international big business, which recognized no national boundaries, which used countries only as market divisions for its products, and which at one time aided Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito just as much as it did France and England.

What the G.I. investigators have uncovered in Germany is a tribute to Nazi thoroughness and to the gullibility of American big business. For what it amounts to is a world plan by which Germany expanded its industrial capacity for war while simultaneously curbing the industriai capacity of this country and other petential enemies.

And the names of the same men who have been dickering with Truman over steel-Ben Fairless, Eugene Grace, et al.—have turned up in European files as part of the cartel which unwittingly played into the hands of the Nazis. It is a story which the leaders of the steel in-

American participation in the ler's warlike intentions. By that dressing of superphosphate, con-Rhineland, showed his hand by ton, was applied to the land.

The steel cartel files, seized in Luxembourg, reveal that S. M. Bash of Bethlehem Steel and A. G. Mundle of U. S. Steel took the initiative in binding their companies to the cartel. Four months later an agreement to divide up world markets was reached.

ANTITRUST ACT

about the Sherman antitrust act. are apparently given good care and however, and the minutes of the feeding. A suggested remedy is a June, 1937, meeting reveal that no soil survey followed by the addition written agreement regarding U.S. of the missing element in the mamarkets was concluded.

In February, 1938, a delegation of European steel men came to the Selection Prevents United States.

"Our representatives," the Luxembourg files showed, "obtained a very clear declaration of responsibility for the agreements from" Messrs. Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel, Ben Fairless of U. S. Steel, Rufus Wysor of Republic Steel, Frank Purnell of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, M. Hackett of Jones and Laughlin Steel, Charles Hook of Armco International, William Holloway of Wheeling Steel, Robert Wolcott of Lukens Steel, and Ernest Weir of the National Steel corporation (Weirton and Great Lakes steel).

Also included in the American group were Inland Steel, Newport Relling Mills, Pittsburgh Steel, Otis, and the Allan Wood company. RACE FOR WAR

What the steel barons agreed to was not only a division of markets but arrangements for price-maintenance. Quotas were set regarding the total production of each participating company, with fines levied against the firm if it exceeded its quota. However, here is the pay-off. The Germans elways exceeded their quetas, after which they politely paid their fines and then kept on speeding their output of steel in the race for war. Meanwhile, American and British firms stayed within their quotas and kept down their war machine.

In contrast with the Germans. American firms, when they exceeded their quotas, were contrite and apologetic. For instance, here is an item from the steel cartel minutes of 'pril 18, 1939, which read:

"In regard to a recent shipment by the American group to Belgium, i.e., a home market, the American representative stated that he was taking this matter up with his group in order to avoid a recurrence."

How the cartel worked is also illustrated by a cable sent by Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel to Sir Charles Wright in London, dated January 12, 1938, which read:

"Glad to have your message and talk with Elliot. I feel sure there will be no question about performance of member companies. Our only difficulty will come from outside and uncontrolled interests. It will be our hope to protect prices and bring all influence possible on uncontrolled interests.

Hannegan's first target will be the minimum wage bill increasing minimum wages to 65 cents an hour. . . . President Truman has begun a major shake-up of the White House staff. The first to go was George Allen who becomes an RFC director. Next will be annaval aid, Capt. James Vardamann Jr., who will become a member of the Federal Reserve board.

Soil Proven Cause Of Cattle Disease

Cobalt, Iodine, Copper Deficiencies Found

Recent investigations conducted by the American Veterinary Medical association has pointed a way to better health among farm animals. Many livestock diseases have been traced directly to the soil of fields and pastures.

Sway-back has been traced to a lack of copper in the soil. As little as two tablespoonfuls of copper salt mixed with each hundred pounds of salt lick will do away with the sway-back trouble.

Deficiencies of manganese, of phosphorus, zinc and calcium may also be responsible for mysterious The steel barons were careful losses among flocks and herds which nure or fertilizer applied to the soil.

"How stupid of me!" she exclaimed. She hurried to lead the way to two deck chairs placed on the lawn, at the side of the house. Cherry had left a sweater on one of them, and Elizabeth put it on, for the evening chill was blowing in from the sea. "We aren't just courteous about not noticing your limitations, Mr. Kessler," she remarked as they sat down, "we're usually

When he answered it was in a matter-of-fact voice. "This is one of the things I found hardest to get used to," he said. "I mean, asking for a chair. I had always been so healthy that I was the one who had to be reminded not to expect too much of other people. Please don't be embarrassed—I'm not."

"Are you cold?" asked Elizabeth. "No. What was it you wanted to tell me?"

"Spratt is my second husband you didn't know that, did you? It's not important in any personal sense between us, it never has been important and it wouldn't be now except that my first husband was killed in the last war. I loved him very much. Of course, now, looking back on it, it's easy to say it shouldn't young girl with all my life before After a moment Kessler asked,

There was a silence that seemed to last a long time. At last Kessler said, in a voice so low she barely

WAR CRIMES:

Wasting no time in bringing accused Jap war criminals to book, a U. S. military commission in the Pacific sentenced Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma to be shot for countenancing atrocities in the Philippines not long after condemning Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita to the gallows on the same charges.

Having established a precedent for sanctioning war crimes trials in a previous hearing on an appeal by Yamashita, the U.S. Supreme court refused to consider Homma's petition challenging prosecution procedure. As in the Yamashita case, Justices Rutledge and Murphy disagreed with the majority, averring "I'll take it, Mr. Kessler. Forgive that such irregular practices as ad- Buy U. S. See Bursting Star

Looking up into the heavens, Armin Deutsch of the famed Yerkes observatory in Williams Bay, Wis., discovered what he thought to be a brilliant new star in the Corona Borealis in the eastern sky. But after careful examination of the star, it was learned that the bright celestial body was not a new one at all but the constellation's star "T" in eruption. Though the brilliance of "T" was said to have derived from a terrific atomic explosion, the burst was estimated to have taken place 1,000 years ago. Because of the star's astronomical distance from the earth, however, the light engendered by the explosion was first being observed. Approximately the size of the sun, "T" ordinarily can only be seen through the most powerful telescopes, but because the eruption caused the star to expand 100 times. it could easily be seen by the eye. The second explosion of "T" to be recorded in 70 years, the recent burst was said to be of especial violence, with fiery gases streaking from its core at a speed of 3,000 miles a second.

Kathleen Norris Says:

You Can't Get Back What You Never Had

"Clay is safe from trouble; he will have—or has had—no difficulty in explaining to his wife that one of the office girls is cracked about him."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

TOVE does not last; not all by itself. Love all by itself is like a bottle of pure, rich milk. Leave it alone for a few days and what have you? A bottle half-filled with sour curds, and half of evilsmelling water.

But mix milk with flour, yeast, butter, salt, and you have the fine bread that is indispensable to the growing bodies of boys and girls.

Unless you mix love with service, companionship, mutual interests, mutual ambitions, honor, honesty and common sense, you have the bitterest draught in life to drink. It won't stand alone, no matter how deliciously exciting and satisfying it is in the beginning.

Nothing is so hard on a woman as the grand passion that peters out into loneliness, bewilderment. shame, crushed pride and vanished illusion. Especially if that grand passion is illicit, and it usually is. The sweeping, breath-taking, absorbing, dizzying type of loving rarely comes into your life by the pleasant, well-worn trail of friendship, engagement, marriage. There again a great many elements enter to stabilize matters. Getting clothes, kitchen showers. house-hunting, acknowledging presents, calling on Jim's people, making arrangements for bridesmaids, church, music, reception-all these things are delightful in themselves, and they help make a girl feel that she really is getting married. But they don't go hand-in-hand with the mad sweetness, the agony and joy, of love completely unsupported by material, everyday, practical common sense.

Loves Her Boss. Take Evelyn Peters' affair, for example. Evelyn is an office worker of 28; she writes me that she has loved Clay for seven years. Clay is 40; he is her office boss.

"How shall I know if he no longer cares?" writes Evelyn.

"There is no question of this being the real thing, for it has survived every possible difficulty and handicap. In the first place, Clay is er loves—or even likes his wife, they adores.

"Four years ago Clay went to officers camp, emerging a captain; I insupportable to me. was intensely proud of him, even though the long separation was hard on us both

Far from being ashamed of having surrendered, I was proud of his fove. When he finally sailed for South Seas duty it was with the implicit promise that when he returned he would make our relationship legitimate.

"He has now been home seven weeks, and I count the days in growing uneasiness. I don't doubt his love, but what is keeping us apart? It may be that he is going to surprise me by arriving suddenly to may have had their upset times, fought at the Battle of New Orleans announce his freedom, but so far I but she will prove a fine buffer behave had only one unsatisfactory telephone call, which terminated with his casual promise 'see you seen' but on that occasion his wife may have been within hearing.

He became a captain.

This affair has been going along for several years. It has survived a long separation, while Clay was serving as an army officer. Now he has returned, and the time has come for him to make good on his promise. Clay told Evelyn when he left that he "would make their relationship legitimate." Now he has been back for two months, and has called only once. He spoke vaguely of "seeing her soon."

Evelyn is worried. She doesn't know what to do. This is "the real thing," she insists. "Without this prospect (marriage with Clay) life would be insupportable to me." Should she tell his wife about the situation? Evelyn is desperately looking for a solution.

Miss Norris points out that Clay probably has changed his mind, if he ever intended to obtain a divorce so as to marry Evelyn. He very possibly has met another woman who interests him now more than Evelyn does. There is no sensible course, says Miss Norris, but to forget him.

During the war I took a much finer position in a nearby town. which I still hold. This, of course, makes me less accessible. 'Mutual Trust.'

You mean "as you wish you were of your own feeling, Evelyn." You know very well, in your heart, that this affair is cold—cold as the Iceland snows. Clay is safe from trouble; he will have-or has had -no difficulty in explaining to his elderly wife that one of the office girls is cracked about him. I would bet even money, although far from a betting woman, that there is another woman —not in the wife's place, but in yours. He and his wife least picturesque of those who

Gelatin Stiffens Rayon

When rayon dresses become limp from washing they may be given a lift by dipping in a gelatin and water solution. Two tablespoons should be enough. Soak the gelatin a few minutes in a little cold water, then dissolve with boiling water. Pour the solution in a bowl large enough to hold the dress and add cold water. After the dress is washed and rinsed, dip in the gelatin solution and squeeze gently. Then roll the dress in a thick towel until dry enough to iron.

"A good place to visit—a better place to live."

That is Louisiana's boast. It is Louisiana's promise, backed by every square foot of land from the pine forests of the northern uplands to the marshes of the Mississippi

Louisiana is a land of incredible natural richness, in its swamps and bayous, its cane and cotton fields, its lakes and streams, its farms and cities—and its people. Here the beauty and romance of an empire was formed by the alchemy of time.

It was a miracle of chemical combinations that brought about the transmutation of these base metals into gold. Geologically, the chemist Nature, with pestle and mortar, nixed marine and alluvial sediments, added the acids of eons, and brought forth a wondrous combination to make the Louisiana of today. The extremely fertile top soils, producing agricultural products and valuable forests, are the state's basic resources. But beneath the surface are rich deposits of salt, sulphur, petroleum and natural gas. Over all hangs a favorable climate, with sun and rain proportioned and balanced to bless the land.

The Filipino Chinese settlement at Bayou Defon. It is doubtful that a full-blooded Negro can be found in the state.

Two centuries of linguistic intercourse have modified the French dialects of the Creole and Acadian, with words and inflections borrowed from the English, German, Negro and Indian neighbor. There are Negroes who cannot speak English, yet early Anglo-Saxon idioms and expressions may be heard in their archaic purity in some sections of the state. Regardless of the dialect, words are soft-spoken in Louisiana and pleasant to the ear. Under Many Flags.

Scalloped Two-Piecer for Spring Tot's Flower-Fresh Party Dress

LEADER in the spring style parade is the smart and versatile two piece outfit. This one has brief, comfortable sleeves, dainty scallop edging and gently flared peplum accenting a tiny waistline. The gored skirt is easily made and very graceful.

Pattern No. 8978 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 12 requires 4% yards of 35-inch material.

Mite's Dress-Up Frock. LIERE is an exquisite little n dress-up frock for a mite of two to six. The scalloped front closing is finished with soft lace or ruffling. She's sure to like the perky puffed sleeves, the gay swinging skirt. Use a pretty flowered print with crisp white trim.

HANDLE WITH CARE

We're working mighty hard these days on a big job we've got to deliver—our $300,000,000 expansion program. It's an all embracing program that will provide better telephone service and telephones for all who want them.

The job ahead of us is one that must be handled with care. The vast sum of money involved places a heavy responsibility on both management and employees. It will be spent wisely and cautiously and with the same care that has always characterized your Telephone Company's operations.

There is also the responsibility of maintaining adequate earnings so that the funds needed to build more telephone facilities can be secured. The money will have to come, as it has in the past, from thrifty people putting their hard earned cash in the Telephone Company. But unless they have confidence in the safety of their investment and feel assured of a reasonable return on that investment, new funds for future telephone expansion will not be forthcoming.

So it is easy to see that telephone earnings have a direct bearing on the future of telephone service.

Mose was an old Negro servitor, Southern gentleman's gentleman. in addition to his regular stipend he received his master's discarded clothing. A certain pair of trousers seemed to Mose the last word for partorial splendor. He longed for the time they would become his. One day he was told to clean them. He put it off and put it off, hoping his boss would tell him to keep them. Finally his master called Mose and demanded to know about them. "They's still dirty, suh, I can't get 'em clean," was the reply.

"Did you try gasoline?" Mose had. "Benzine?" Mose had. "Well, have you tried ammonia?" Triumphantly Mose answered, "I sure has, boss, and dey just fits me."

Velvet, however, is being shown in the smart "brunch" coats-those short robes which are so handy to have when you want to slip into something comfortable, and yet be well groomed. A brunch coat, in other words, is a short kimona, and made up in velvet, they can be just about the smartest thing you have in wearables...

To make a velvet evening wrap into a brunch coat, have the wrap cleaned first. Velvet should be drycleaned, rather than washed, to protect the color and finish of the material. Then rip the wrap apart completely, removing the lining, too, as it will be easier to cut and sew.

If You Have a Dated Velvet Wrap ...

If you are handy you can cut out a pattern at home. Keep in mind the lines of the evening wrap, and use them as such if they are practical. It's smart to plan a wide, flaring skirt to carry out the luxuriousness of the ensemble.

Patching Pointers A partially worn garment can be brightened with new collar and cuffs, belt or pockets of contrasting material, plaid or print. Torn seams may easily be mended if there is enough material from scraps or facings. Make the inset seem as though it were a part of the original pattern of the dress or skirt.

If you are altering a worn garment that is frayed or torn around the waist, try making small tucks which will conceal those parts. The tucks will serve to nip in the waist and add much to the pretty detail of the clothing.

When the fabric beneath a button tears, repair the torn section with a patch before sewing on the button. The patch can be double-stitched, that is, sewed on both sides of the material, because it will not show.

Old sheets can be made into eye-catching bib and tuckers for young fry. Or, they may be used for bonnets, pinafores and blouses. Dye them, if it's color you want, and be generous with the ruffled edging or ric rac for trimming.

To keep clothes looking neat and trim, go over the neckbands with a cleaning fluid after each wearing. It's extravagant to clean a whole dress just because the neckband is soiled, and this simple process will save many cleaning bills.

In pressing pleats, use as cool an iron as possible - excessive heat weakens fabrics. Wrinkles in pile fabrics such as velvet may sometimes be removed by hanging in steam over the bathtub. Small spots may be steamed over the tea kettle.

To make small repairs on a slip, use a double underarm patch. Cut two identical shieldshaped patches. Turn seam allowance around all edges of both patches and baste. Baste one patch in place on the right side, and the other patch directly underneath it, on the wrong side. Machine-stitch all around the patch. For extra strength, use a double row of machine patching.

Woodrum of Virginia, who resigned his 23-year-old seat as a congressman to take the job. The APFC represents private manufacturers of fertilizer, although it does have some farmer co-operatives in its membership. Mr. Woodrum says the whole fertilizer industry is dead against the three bills in question. The farm bureau and the farmers union are backing the bills unreservedly. The grange is more or less on the fence and the National Council of Farmer Co-operatives has taken no action, adopting a sort of tongue-in-cheek attitude, although some of its eastern and gulf territory members are opposed.

Many Provisions in Bill

One of these fertilizer bills was introduced in the senate by Senators Lister Hill and John Bankhead of Alabama. An identical bill was put into the house hopper by Rep. John Flannagan Jr. of Virginia. Briefly, they provide: construction of a fertilizer plant at or near Mobile, Ala., and purchase of enough phosphate lands in Florida to provide raw material for at least 50 years by the Tennessee Valley authority; construction of two plants in the west and purchase of enough potash and phosphate reserves for 50 years of operation by the secretary of the interior; fivemember state advisory committees in each state named by presidents of land-grant colleges; a 15-member national fertilizer policy committee to advise the secretary of agriculture; free fertilizer test program on at least 75 farms in every county of the nation to use at least half the output of the three plants; lesse or sale of the plants to farm co-operatives after five years; providing farm security administration loan money to co-operatives to buy them or form new co-operatives which will buy if there are no takers. . A bill with similar objectives is would control thousands of acres of phosphate and potash lands, which would make it tough on private manufacturers. At any rate, farm organizations

It is a fact that soil fertility has been depleted at an alarming rate. particularly during the past four war years, and if this depletion continues, it may well become a threat to the nation's welfare, and as such, a matter for government attention.

I still don't see why so many have an interest in my business. After all, I'm just a ball player, giving what I have to give on the ball field. That's my only job. I'll let everybody alone if everybody will let me alone."

DiMaggio happens to be 100 per cent right in this philosophy. Why shouldn't a fellow live his own life?

Picking Season Opens

The Louis-Conn pickers are already warming up, getting ready for one of the most garrulous campaigns on record.

Gene Tunney, as you may have heard before, is naming Louis in from one to three rounds, "providing that Louis is even close to the Louis of four years ago."

Tommy Loughran disagrees. Tommy votes for Conn. The fact that Tommy was one of our best boxers undoubtedly influenced this verdict in Conn's favor.

"If Conn gets back in shape, which I think he will," Loughran said, "I believe he will win. Billy may have lost some of his speed but so has Louis who after a long layoff at the age of 32 can be even more affected by it. Conn was much faster than Louis in their first meeting and he will be just as fast this time. "Hard punchers always had trouble with good boxers," Loughran continued, "Dempsey had most of his trouble with Tom Gibbons and Gene Tunney. In 35 rounds against this pair, Jack had only one knockdown. Billy Conn has always been a good boxer and at the age of 28 there is no reason why he shouldn't be at least close to his best. It will take a lot of hard work, of course, but at 180 or 182 he should be stronger, a harder puncher and still the better boxer."

It may be recalled that Tommy Loughran was the sparring partner who tipped many of the sharper ones to Dempsey's coming downfall before the first Tunney fight in Philadelphia. In a fast three-round workout shortly before the big scrap, Loughran outpointed Jack by a wide margin, although Dempsey was throwing all the punches he had in stock that day.

These two opinions are only the beginning of a nation-wide debate that will soon be picking up added steam as the two heavyweights move into their respective training camps. The flow of words will soon reach tidal-wave proportions.

Old-Timers' Session

In a gathering of old-timers a few days ago, one made this point.

"While Conn is much faster on his feet than Louis ever was, don't forget that Louis is just as fast with his two fists as Conn is. Maybe faster. Louis can wreck you with a short punch and he can throw these punches with lightning speed. They travel faster than the eye can follow. Louis won't lese much of this hand speed, although his reflexes ere bound to be slower,

A PEOPLE FINDING A HOMELAND

LESSON TEXT: Joshua 1:1-4; 23:1-11 MEMORY SELECTION: Thou shall bless the Lord thy God for the good attend land which he hath given thee.—Deuter Junior 4-H Clubs onomy 8:10.

God is the Lord of nations as we as of homes, and he is concerned that those who honor him in their homes have opportunity to serve him in their national life. This was true in a special way with Israel, but it is also true of us today.

Ready to enter the Promised Land, the people had to part with their great leader, Moses, who was not permitted to enter. The time comes when even the mightiest of men fall, but life must go on and new leadership must be found. I. The Changed Leader (Josh. 1:

1. Workers Die-God's Work Goes

On (vv. 1, 2). God buries his workmen at the end of their day of labor, but God's work goes on. The people had become attached to Moses and had learned to trust his leadership, even though they often murmured. With his death we might have assumed that there would be a letdown, but that was not in God's plan.

The Lord works through men. He gives them abilities and uses them for his glory, often in a way which astonishes them and others. But let them not become proud, for God has someone to take their place when they are gone. They are not indispensable.

2. The Need Is the Same, So Is the Blessing (vv. 3, 4).

The promise given to Moses was still good. God's promises are always good. They are the only really stable thing in a trembling universe. The question is, Are we ready to take him at his word?

They were to step out by faith. The land was promised to them only as the sole of their foot should tread upon it. Israel never took out the full promise of verse 4. They lacked faith.

God honors those who believe him and who move forward by faith to plant the foot of spiritual conquest in new territory. Some are doing it now. Are we?

The enemies of God's people were many and mighty, but they were not able to stand in the way of God's people when they were moving forward for him. Here again, Israel failed. They did not drive them out, because they did not take God at his word. The application of that truth to us is obvious. II. The Unchanging God (Josh. 23:

Between our first scripture and this selection will be found the history of the conquest of the land (at least, of the larger part of it), and the division of the territory between the tribes.

Years have passed quickly, and the new leader, Joshua, is now an old man, soon to go to his reward. He gathers the elders who represented the people and gave them good counsel for the days ahead, even as he recalls the blessings of the past. 1. God Did Help (vv. 1-3). Israel had been in many hard battles. They had gone through the trials of pioneer days in a new and unfamiliar land. Now they were established and at peace. Perhaps they were recalling their mighty exploits and their own sacrificial ef-

Joshua reminds them that it was God who fought for them (v. 3). We need just such a reminder in our land today. 2. God Will Help (vv. 4, 5). Joshua had a word of encouragement for the days ahead. There was much yet to be done. The land had not been fully taken. He reminded them of God's help in the past, so that they would depend on it in the fu-

What about the future? Joshua reminded them that every blessing they had received, every victory they had won, everything had come from the hand of God. There and there alone was their hope for the future. And it was enough!

3. Help Yourself (vv. 6-11). To keep true in the land where their neighbors engaged in idol worship and all manner of immorality required definite action on the part of

They were not to deviate in the slightest from God's way, "to the right hand or to the left" (v. 6), for a little beginning in the wrong direction winds up in awful departure from him.

They were not even to swear by the heathen gods, not even to mention them. Thy were to "cleave" to the Lord, a graphic presentation of the close relation between God and his people. There are many thoughts here which can be profitably applied to our daily lives. Faith in God calls for stalwart action and separated living for him.

Don't Blame Your Dealer if You Can't Get G-E Appliances and Radios

It's not the dealer's fault. We don't think it's our fault. Maybe it's nobody's fault. But here's what happened:

Here's how fast G. E. and its affiliated companies were making and shipping things for you:

	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	On hand Dec. 31, 1945
IRONS	60,440	67,564	85,968	2½ days' production
CLOCKS	181,998	177,681	256,038	2½ days' production
REFRIGERATORS	12,755	17,577	28,432	4 days' production
WASHERS	3,068	4,672	6,874	4½ days' production
RANGES	3,056	8,973	8,996	3 days' production
RADIOS	85	5,129	9,401	1½ days' production
TOASTERS		312	2,386	2698 (No shipments were made because production was inadequate to provide samples for dealers).

Out of the 2,485, 138 appliances manufactured in 1944 and 1945, General Electric shipped 98%.

AFTER the war ended, we weren't able to get back into production of some appliances as soon as we had hoped, and production rates weren't as high as we had hoped. A number of unforeseen things like material shortages made the job harder.

But there were only 120 days between V-J Day and December 31, 1945, and in those 120 days we partly reconverted our factories from war to peacetime goods and got production started. During the year we turned out 2,313,791 electrical appliances. We shipped these appliances out practically as fast as made—so fast that at the end of the year more than 98 per cent of those we'd built since reconversion began were out of our factories. Most of them were in the hands of users.

Then, on January 15, 1946, our plants were closed by the strike. Not a single electric home appliance has been built or assembled there since. And, because our warehouses are practically empty, your dealer won't be able to obtain any more until we can get back to making them.

We want to get back to producing as fast as possible. The manufacturing organization is set up; the machines are ready, waiting to be set in motion. These factors will help us to do an even faster job then we did in the months before the strike.

But we can't pick up production quite where we left off. Production lines are too complicated for that. A great many things have been dislocated by the strike.

When the strike is over, and the refrigerators and toasters and radios you've been waiting for begin to come off the lines again, we'll get them into hands of our dealers just as fast as we can. They'll be competitive in price.

They'll be General Electric quality. So, please don't be impatient with your dealer-or with us.

WALLGREN AND LUMBER WASHINGTON. - Lumber price ceilings topped the agenda of the President's conference the other day with his old friend Gov. Mon Wallgren at Washington. However, Wallgren also took occasion to invite Truman to spend a vacation this summer in the northwest aboard the presidential yacht.

"The people of my state would be delighted to have you as a guest, and you can also take a trip up to Alaska on the Williamsburg," Wallgren told him.

Truman accepted tentatively, saying he would go if he could possibly make it.

Wallgren's main business, however, was to strongly urge an increase in the price ceilings on lumber. He maintained that this was necessary in order to increase lumber output for the housing program.

"We are facing a serious job crisis in our lumber mills, Harry," said the Washington governor. "We have a model unemployment compensation law in my state, but many unemployed workmen are swiftly using up the 26 weeks they are entitled to draw as compensation. Both from the labor standpoint and the housing shortage, inventories in our mills must be built up as quickly as possible."

IDLE WAR PLANTS

Governor Wallgren also urged the sale of government-owned light metal plants, now idle in his area, to private operators as another means of increasing employment. Two idle plants in question are the Aluminum Rolling mill and the Aluminum Injot companies at Spokane, operated by Alcoa during the war. Henry Kaiser wants to buy the former for the production of aluminum-built automobiles and prefabricated housing.

Wallgren told Truman that the lumber situation has been aggravated by a neat little device of certain big timber outfits, including the Weyerhauser interests, which, calculatedly or otherwise, has been stifling competition. Under the Washington constitution, the state government must sell timber to the highest bidder, but some big outfits have been bidding over the price ceilings. This causes all bids to be thrown out.

The President said he would talk to the RFC about the plants, but suggested that Wallgren thrash out his lumber price problems with price control boss Chester Bowles. BUTTER BLACK MARKET

The office of international trade, now under the commerce department, is planning to ask U.S. customs officials to investigate some strange shenanigans in the re-sale of butter this country has been exporting to Mexico.

shortage, which has caused the American housewife to turn te substitutes and jam for her table, we sent 5,500 pounds of hutter to Mexico in the last quarter of 1945. Some of this is now winding up at Tiajuana, the Mexican resort town across the border from San Diego, where the butter is being sold to American tourists for the fabulous price of $1.25 a pound.

Under export price ceilings, enforced by the OPA and the department of commerce, this same butter was sold to Mexican dealers at from 47 to 49 cents a pound. The price varies a couple of cents a pound, depending on the type of packaging.

In other words, we are now buying back American-made butter from Mexico for triple the price Mexican dairy dealers are paying us for it. Commerce department officials can only guess how much smuggled butter may be involved in this cross-border black market, but the customs office will be asked to make a thorough probe.

NOTE-Mexico is also one of our biggest purchasers of exported nylon stockings. Out of a total of 9,110 dozen pairs of nylons exported in November -the last monthly figures availble-Mexico bought 5.010 dozen pairs. Cuba received 2,603 dozen pairs.

CAPITAL CHAFF One reason for the current international food shortage is that Leo Crowley, when FEA boss, refused to heed the warning of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson last summer, when Anderson argued that FEA should help increase plantings of winter wheat, cereals and proteins in South America. The South American crop was hit by drouth, or it might have been larger.

Sen. Tommy Hart, the only admiral on the senate military affairs committee, recently asked committee members if there were a dictaphone in the walls. He complained that the Washington Merry - Go-Round had quoted him all too accurately when, at a secret session, he defended the war department regarding demobilization. . . Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan, who considers himself an expert at antilabor legislation, was miffed because he was not consulted in the writing of the harsh Case bill passed by the house recently

ROME:

New Cardinalate

Announced by the tinkling of a bell, gaunt and pious Pope Pius XII, looking like a figure of medieval history, entered the 15th century consistory hall in the Vatican with its gold ceiling. Seated about on red and white embroidered benches were 28 cardinals, assembled to hear the Holy Father announce the appointment of 32 other churchmen to the princely rank.

Even while the Pontiff addressed the consistory, messengers sped to inform the new cardinals of their high honor according to the old tradition of the ceremony. THE STORY THUS FAR: Spratt Herlong, motion picture producer, met and married Elizabeth, whose first husband, Arthur Kittredge, was reported killed in World War I, but who later appeared in Hollywood and secured a job with Spratt. Under the name of Kessler, and with his disfigurements, he was not recognized and became a good friend to all of the Herlongs. Arthur promised to talk with Dick and explain to him what the war really meant to him personally. That was just before the war Legan. A few more weeks and it would have been too late."

There was a moment of stricken silence. Then Elizabeth demanded, "How can you talk about it so quietly! Your friends driven to death, a mother trying to kill her own child-and you might be talking about the weather!"

"You have to learn to talk about it like that?' Kessler said. "If you don't-'' He shrugged.

"Was he a very good friend of vours?" Dick asked.

"My best friend. He saved my life after the last war, and made it possible for me to walk instead of spending these years in a wheelchair. He was a very great man.

Through the worst disasters-and there were plenty of them in Germany after the last war -he had clung to his belief that no matter what happens there is always something worth saving, in one's self and in humanity. Then when he had lost everything else he lost that too. I'm not blaming him for it, but I'm sorry for it."

"I don't get it!" Dick exclaimed Margaret's family like what we read abruptly. "I hear about such things and hear about them, but I don't get it. Why were Margaret's parents treated so?"

"Lucky the man who gets a thrifty wife, and the woman whose husband will save as well as plan."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

T IS almost impossible for a man and a woman, as husband and wife, to agree upon the proper spending of the family income.

It is sometimes wiser, before you marry, to agree that you will differ upon this point. than to fondly and blindly state that you will discuss it fairly, and agree upon it.

Of course it has happened that a wedded couple faced this problem fairly and kept to their agreement But very rarely.

As a general rule, the husband makes the money, and the wife fills a dozen places at home-cook, houseworker, upstairs maid, ca terer, nurse, bookkeeper, hostessand gets no pay.

It wouldn't make any difference it she did get paid, for it is impossible for a wife and mother to keep her personal accounts separate from the family's budget. She couldn't see Tom wistful for money for his tennis racket, and Barbara all aglow to go to the Girl Scouts camp and quietly deny them, and continue to deposit her own dollars in her own bank account. No, mother's money is everyone's money, and if she holds it out she merely feels ridiculous, selfish and unhappy.

Anway, mother can't be adequately paid. Suppose her husband's salary is $300 a month. How can he possibly compensate her and keep the home going, out of that? One hundred and fifty dollars a month would be low pay for what mother does.

Budget Cramps Style. So they go along very much as everyone else does; sometimes they get the bills out and decide to do something about it, and sometimes they even talk budget. But staying inside a budget is what was once described by a brother of mine as being like trying to dress in an upper berth. You are cramped on all sides. No sending flowers to dear Nancy, sick in the hospital. No taxis. The cheaper, smaller movie houses. The cheaper cuts of meat. You feel that the ease and graciousness has gone out of life.

It hasn't, of course. A call on Nancy, or a note, will be far more to her than three dollars worth of roses. The smaller movies are just the same as far as the show goes. and more comfortable as to crowding and seats. The cheaper cuts of meat takes more careful cooking and are more flavorsome.

But saving, living economically is hard, just the same. Perhaps Tom wants a duck gun, feels guilty over the extravagance, tells you to get yourself the little checked coat.

"Aw, what the heck!" says Tom, tired of drudgery, tired of saving. tired of seeing the woman he loves counting pennies. So you get the coat and he gets the gun and that same month the old car just goes to pieces, and-somewhat scarednow you're committed to pay every month for that car! The payment on the car and the life of the car will terminate at the same time.

But now and then a thrifty, sensible man gets a thrifty, sensible wife. They know that just as money mysteriously melts away under wasting, so it mysteriously accumulates under saving. There's no explaining this; it is simply so. They know that the saved $316 that looks so puny now will be over a thousand next year, and that some day they will be looking at a paper marked "Title," and saying to each other, "Home. Our own home!" They

"A thrifty, sensible wife. . . .

SAVE AND HAVE

As everyone know, wages have been high and overtime plentiful. Profits of businesses, small and large, have been good during the last five or six years, Savings of individuals are (at unprecedented levels. Each family has on the average some $2,000 in bonds and bank accounts.

Spending also, however, has been and continues to be on an open-handed basis. Many who never had more than enough to live on have been enjoying luxuries once thought out of reach. While prosperous times are expected to stretch on ahead for at least three or four years, the present scale of wild spending can mean hardship and ruin to many, many families as soon as any pinch comes.

Money problems account for much, perhaps most, of the domestic strife in the land. Few couples can face the hard facts of income and expenses realistically. It is difficult to skimp and save when other people seem to be having fun and spending freely. Yet self-denial is the price of future security and comfort.

Savings mount up fast if the budget is adhered to closely. The temptation to make exceptions, to buy this or that unnecessary luxury, is always present. After the first few years, however, the nest egg will be big enough to permit a few departures from the rigid early plan.

know that self-denial today bears a golden interest tomorrow; that middle-age will be dignified and secure: that they will not have to depend upon their children for support, or go on into old age laboring wearily for bread and butter.

Savings Pile Up Fast.

WNU Washington Correspondent. QELIEVE it or not, there is an organization in Washington which has no propagandist, no high-powered publicity staff, and is non-profit and non-political.

It is the American Wildlife Institute, formulated back in 1911 under the name of the American Game Protective association and incorporated in 1935 under its present name, but with the same backers and sponsors, headed by former Senator Frederic C. Walcott of Connecticut, "daddy" of much of the conservation legislation which has been enacted into law during the past quarter of a century.

So the American Wildlife Institute is a non-profit, non-partisan corporation, supported by the voluntary contributions of industries, organizations and individuals interested in the preservation of American wildlife and conservation of natural resources in all its phases.

Its objectives are three-fold: (1) to encourage co-operation and coordination of effort of all groups and individuals interested in conservation of natural resources; (2) to assist in finding and presenting to the public facts about wildlife and these natural resources; and (3) to provide facilities for training young men in the latest scientific methods of game management and conser-

In its zeal to train young men in scientific knowledge in all phases of conservation, the Wildlife Instischools for this purpose at the land grant state universities in Alabama, Iowa, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah and Virginia, while, through the influence of the institute, schools also have been established at Purdue university in Indiana and in New York.

fostered and largely financed by the institute was the restoration of the salmon fishing industry on the Atlantic coast. Fifty years or so ago. Atlantic salmon disappeared from Maine due to the destruction of spawning grounds in the Maine fresh water rivers by the lumber industry. Sawdust coated the bottoms of streams and tannic acid from the sawdust polluted the water to such an extent the salmon were killed off and a flourishing industry

In 1940 a fellowship was established in the University of Maine who know that they need never ence; by the establishment of chairs for the purpose of studying the possibilities of restoring the Atlantic salmon to the important streams in the Northeast. Through these studies and co-operation with the institute, a method so easy and inexpensive was devised, that the sponsors are amazed at the results. Huge "egg beaters" were attached to small boats sent into the Machias, the Dennys, the Narraguagus and the Penobscot rivers. These egg beaters, operating in the spring of the year at high water, churned up the beds of these rivers so thoroughly that the sawdust caking was washed out and into the sea. Then millions of salmon eggs were brought down from New Brunswick and installed in troughs for hatching in the rivers. This spring saw the first return of the Atlantic salmon for spawning and they swarmed back into these four Maine rivers by the millions.

The American Wildlife Institute is particularly interested in land use on the theory that if land and water are utilized properly we will automatically have wildlife. Clinton R. Gutermuth, executive secretary Grow Cover Where Possible.

Mr. Gutermuth believes that levery farmer can correlate his fand into the two schools, natural and agricultural. For instance, along the woods lot on almost every farm there is 50 or more feet which will barely raise a crop. This land could be permitted to grow into cover. The banks of ditches and streams would, within a few years, become a natural habitat for wildlife if permitted to grow into a natural state. And reforestation of some land, suitable for that purpose, will not only reap a rich harvest for farmers in the way of lumber and wood, but will also provide natural cover for wildlife.

The American Wildlife Institute is also vitally interested in proper land use of rolling land, in erosion and in contour plowing and cultivation to retain the rich top soil and the natural wealth of farm land. It has aided in much research in this phase of conservation.

The North American Wildlife conference staged each year by the institute is the forum where technical men in all branches of conservation meet and exchange information and where results of the year's research are made public to teachers, professors, laboratory technicians, administrators and supervisors and to the general public.

Approximately 1,000 delegates from every state, Mexico, Canada, England and France are expected to attend this year's conference at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York. The general theme will be "The Place of Wildlife in a Chang-

When Will You Get A Tractor??

Now that good weather for farming is beginning to appear our customers, more than ever will be wanting to know what they may expect from us in the way of Farm Tractors and other Equipment and WHEN AVAILABLE.

At a meeting in Memphis last week, attended by The John Deere Dealers, the management announced that due to difficulties following the end of the war, such as strikes, scarcities of certain materials and parts, both in the John Deere factories and their suppliers, that the production of John Deere Tractors and implements would continue on a limited scale for two or three months longer.

After that they would be able to gradually increase their output in all the 14 huge factories, and within 12 months they hoped to be producing and delivering to the farmers, as much equipment as was delivered prior to our entrance into World War. No. Two in 1941.

In addition to filling their War contracts for tanks and other implements for the prossecution of the war, John Deere made every tractor and every farm implement that they were permitted by the War Production Board during the War years. In addition to this they made in 1942 repairs totaling 140% of repairs produced in 1941, in 1943 they produced 151%, in 1944 202% and in 1945 this production was 310%.

This was why the John Deere dealers were able to deliver with few exceptions every part needed by our farmer customers during those critical war years.

The Research and Experimental Departments of John Deere were fully occupied during those years and as a result the Farmer of America will soon see a parade of great farm equipment that will prove that now and in the future as in the 109 years of John Deere history John Deere lives always up to their tradition as leaders.

While revolutionary improvements will be in evidence, Basic John Deere values will remain, such as Two Cilinder tractors, time tested Mold Board and Disk Plows, Disk Harrows, the famous line of John Deere One and two row planters, Cultivators steel drag harrows, unexcelled line of hay machinery. All built and known for their simplicity, durability, adaptibility and economy of operation.

An expansion program is already under way in every one of the 14 great John Deere factories and $14,000,000.00 has been allotted to erect the new tractor factory at Dubuque, which will be confined to manufacture of the new small general purpose tractor which will be far ahead of anything in the field in small tractors.

We, as dealers, appreciate the patience of our farmer friends during these years of scarcity. It has been our honest desire to distribute every tractor and every implement in the fairest and most equitable manner, keeping in mind the urgency of the customers needs. If we have made an error in judgment, we are very sorry.

John Deere Sights Are Set High In Designing New Farm Equipment

Revolutionary is the new hydraulic power-control on John Deere tractors. A touch of the hand actuates a rock-shaft for integral equipment or a cylinder on drawn and power-driven machines-lifting, lowering, and maintaining them in any desired working position. It truly introduces the leverless age in implement design.

Outstanding are new one-man Kwik-Tatch devices for cultivators, bedders, plows, and other integral equipment . . . time-savers that mean more hours in the field, less kunckle-scraping in the change-over-one man does the trick.

There will be a new tractor for the small farm with outstanding new features that put it far ahead of the field.

An important new machine is the John Deere Automatic Hay Baler, destined to cut baling costs to rock bottom. One man, instead of three or four, does the job. It's the only baler of its type that feeds the windrow directly into the baling chamber and ties with wire.

New and improved harvesting machines include a new self-propelled 12-foot combine and many new features on the famous John Deere No. 12-A. Lighter-weight, faster-working corn pickers will shorten and lighten the corn harvesting job. A new, really portable elevator not only handles corn, but baled hay as well. A simple new grain mover that will replace old-style small grain elevators.

New integral one- and two-bottom plows . . . a new two-bottom trussframe plow . . . a new disk plow . . . a new land-leveller . . . a six-inch hammermill for small power . . . a low-cost, front-end manure loader . . . a plow-sole fertilizing attachment . . . new low-down, rubbertired grain drills . . . an integral field cultivator — these and many other new and improved John Deere machines will be on their way to American

Manpower and materials will be the only limiting factors in production during the coming months, so keep in touch with us-be ready for the new day in farming with new equipment from the John Deere Full Line.

EADERS of farm organizations L here in Washington are not a little disturbed by reports of threatened farm strikes in Nebraska and Oklahoma, and the outspoken sentiments of farmers in other sections as a result of the unsettled conditions in the labor-management field.

While some farm leaders here declare that it is traditional that farmers and the rural population in the smaller towns are antagonistic to labor, the fact is that your Home Town Reporter finds a wide divergence of opinion here among the leadership of the farm organizations.

The consensus is that the threatened strike of the "vigilante" group of farmers in Nebraska is confined to a small locale, and likely was "engendered by influences outside to the labor-management difficulties Simple stitchery. is working a hardship on the rural population in more ways than one. whether the blame should be on Management, Labor, or Govern-

One leader here expressed the belief that at the present moment, the rank and file of the farm population was more sympathetic to the laboring man than to business, with a general feeling of "a plague on both your houses."

But the yardstick by which this sentiment, for or against Labor and Management, can best be measured, in the opinion of this writer, is by 2. What philosopher said: "I the position taken by the three large farm organizations with reference 3. Grange Favors Case Bill

The Farm Bureau federation, headed by its president, Edward A. O'Neal, took the lead in favoring passage of the bill, which even its proponents say is a "tough" bill on Labor. The Farm bureau was backed by the National Grange and a statement from the latter organization declared:

"The National Grange considers the Case bill a sound measure deserving the full support of all fair- 1. It is 50.4 miles long. minded people. We believe the bill 2. But the National Farmers Union bitterly opposes the Case bill and says that insofar as their group is concerned they are receiving no complaints with reference to labor

"As a matter of fact," a Farmers Union spokesman said, "quite the reverse is true. Many Farmers Unions near strike areas have contributed supplies to feed the families of strikers, and we have backed labor pretty thoroughly."

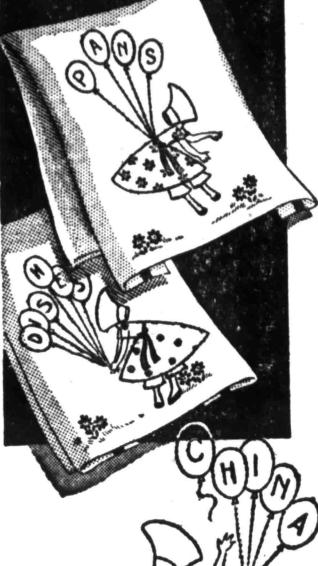

Insofar as any general farm strike is concerned, there will be none. Farmers are too practical in their thinking to withhold from market food for 130 million people just because a million are on strike. And it may very well be true that the anger of the farmers is directed more at the long indecision of government in settling the labor disputes, than at either labor or management, on the theory that it is patently unfair for the government to hold the line on farm prices and at the same time break the line on wages to workers and prices to management.

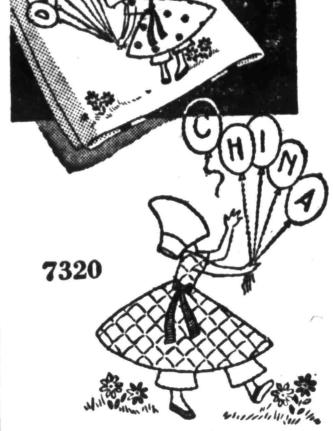

Farmer Is Squeezed

It is certain that the action of the President and his advisers in breaking the wage line and offering increased prices to management to offset labor wage increases will become a part of the pattern when revision of parity prices for farmers comes up for action. For to raise wages 18 per cent and to boost prices for manufacturers comparatively, most certainly will boost the prices of the supplies and equipment the farmer must buy, such as farm machinery and fertilizer. All of this must be added to his cost of production. Besides, the things he and his family consume will also be more expensive.

In the meantime, the unrest in the rural areas grows. The farmer fears inflation, more, probably than labor, certainly more than industry. Thousands of farmers felt the force of inflation when they lost their farms following World War I. They saw the value of their dollar toboggan and the price of everything they bought spiral high. And they suffered as a result. They fear a repetition of inflation, and then bust or depression. They know that farm prices go down fast and far, and stay there a long time when the toboganning starts.

immoral practices of Baal-worship.

One would have thought that God would give up a people so set on sinning, but he did not. He provided

"JES' AIM NATCHEL, SONNY!"

FIGURING THINGS OUT "Matchelly"

Awhile back I was learning Sonny how to handle a shotgun so he could figure out where Br'er Rabbit natchelly was going to be on his next jump. Sonny got the idea mighty quick for a boy his age. Maybe it's because he's noticed how us farmers always tries to do things the natchel way. For instance, it just comes natchel to use Chilean soda to give our crops a quick start and keep 'em growing strong and healthy.

Us farmers has been using natchel soda for more than a hundred years. Seems like just being natchel makes it different from any other kind.

Maybe folks won't be able to get all the soda they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get it may do.

A Message Concerning Telephones For Farmers

> One of our most important peacetime activities, supplying telephones in farm areas, has been resumed and is being expanded as rapidly as equipment and materials are available.

> Considerable time and equipment will be required to build the lines and install the facilities necessary to extend service to all areas.

> You will be glad to know, however, that we have started our rural development activities and are expanding the work to bring telephones to additional farm communities just as fast as we can.

A Good Job

The success of negotiations between the telephone employees and the telephone company in reaching a satisfactory contract with out a nation-wide strike calls for commendations of both union and the telephone company. The paralysizing of nation-wide communications would have been a great blow to the nation and the fact that an agreement was reached speaks well for both sides. Also avoided—at least for the present —is the railroad strike which seemed imminent last week. Other unions would do well to follow the leadership of these two and reach working agreements which would enable the nation to get into full production and thus avoid the steadily rising unem ployment situation.

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. - Some people are wondering whether the factfinding board for the meat packing industry took the trouble to read the newspapers. If so, they might not have recommended that the housewife bear the main burden of the cost of increased wages in the meat packing industry.

The fact-finding board, which included Dr. Edwin E. Witte of Wisconsin university, Chief Justice Raymond W. Starr of the Michigan Supreme court, and Clark Kerr, former chairman of the meat packing branch of the war labor board -three able men-decided that a 16-cent pay increase was fair and equitable for meat packing workers. But they added that only five cents of this was "absorbable by the meat industry without price or subsidy relief." In other words, the fact finders recommended that the big meat packers could pay only 5 cents of the 16-cent wage increase out of their own pockets. The rest would have to be passed on to the consumer or the government. Their report was filed February 7.

However, early in December, long before the fact-finding board was appointed, a number of smaller meat packing plants had already signed contracts with the CIO and AFL for 15 cents an hour pay increase without any strings attached regarding increased meat prices.

The small packers who signed such agreements included Hygrade Food Products of New York, George A. Hormel of Austin, Minn., and others in the Chicago area.

Apparently, the fact finders did not take this into consideration. Apparently also, they ignored the fact that Swift and company previously had agreed to a pay boost of 10 cents an hour without any strings attached regarding increased meat prices to the housewife.

For, despite Swift's offer of 10 cents an hour and the smaller companies' increase of 15 cents, the fact finders recommended that only 5 cents of the 16-cent increase could be paid for by meat packers. The remaining 11 cents will be passed on to the housewife—unless the government votes a subsidy.

BREAD WASTE SCANDAL Department of agriculture sleuths have been doing some quiet checking of unscrupulous bakeries which violate bread sales regulations in order to kill off competition.

Despite the fact that the nation has been forced on a "dark bread" diet to help feed war-starved peoples of the world, thousands of loaves of good bread are still going to waste, or being fed to hogs and chickens.

It works like this:

If a big bakery is trying to grab business away from a competing bakery, it will begin supplying grocery stores on a "consignment basis," which means that grocers' shelves are loaded up with supplies of bread ir excess of what they can

The following day—sometimes the same day-drivers pick up the unsold loaves and replace them with fresh stock, charging the grocer only for the bread actually sold. Idea is to promote sales of a particular brand of bread because of its "freshness."

This is a violation of war food order No. 1, but it hasn't stopped certain bakeries in Houston, Texas, Va., San Francisco. Cleveland, Kansas City and St. Louis from carrying on the practice on a huge scale.

Instead of making their returned stocks of one-day-old bread available at a reduced price to poor families, the leaves frequently wind up in garbage bins. One Texas farmer who tipped off the department of agriculture about conditions in Houston said he had been buying wagon-loads of bread "fresh enough to eat" to feed his hogs and chickens.

ATOM VS. BATILESHIP

Unless President Truman does something drastic about it very soon, the forthcoming atomic tests in the Pacific, scientists say, may turn out to be a study in waterspouts instead of atomic energy.

On-the-surface atomic-bomb explosions, the scientists claim, will add nothing to the knowledge already accumulated from previous explosions at New Mexico, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, except that we may learn the size and damage of the world's largest water spout.

long, motion picture producer, met and married Elizabeth, whose first husband, Arthur Kittredge, was reported killed in World War I, but who later appeared in Hollywood and secured a job with Spratt. Under the name of Kessler, and with his disfigurements, he was not recognized and became a good friend of the Herlongs. While Elizabeth, Cherry and Dick than just another war, you've got ashamed of it and made excuses for were helping Margaret, Kessler's ward, decorate her Christmas tree, she told them about the man who killed her mother. Kessier later told them the truth of Nazi Germany, how Margaret's parents were driven to suicide, and how thousands of children were killed before they could contribute to mankind.

CHAPTER XIX

He jerked himself back angrily. He had given her the chance to be happy and she had used it; if happiness brought its own penalties that was not his fault or hers. She had a great deal to lose. Nobody knew what the war might do to this country before it was over, and the whole fabric of her life and her children's future might be ripped to shreds in the days to come. She had made that clear to him when she said, "If my world is shot to pieces again can't go back and start over. I did that once." Elizabeth did not suspect that when he heard her say that he had nearly burst out sobbing with defeat. He had been so sure, back in 1918, that when he gave her the chance to start over it was the chance to build for permanence. Now he had no consolation to give her, or to give himself-nothing but a desperate courage. There was nothing to do but go on telling her what he had already tried to tell her: that in the final analysis life consisted mostly of doing things one did not want to do, and the only way to keep any self-respect through the whole wretched business was to look squarely at what had to be done and then go ahead and do it.

Now he had to tell Dick the same thing. Not tell him to go to war, that Dick was ready to do; but he could understand from the boy's awkward little letter that now Dick wanted to be told what it was all about. It would be so much simpler if Dick could be left with the idea that it was merely a matter of killing Japs and Germans before they

Kessler turned to his typewriter, holding the paper with his thumb and forefinger while he turned the platen with the other three fingers, made steady by the pressure of his palm. He wrote:

My Dear Dick,

Can you come around Sunday afternoon about three? Margaret is learning to skate and will be at the ice-rink with her playmates, so we can count on not being interrupted. I'll be very glad to see you.

three. They did not waste any time ourselves." on preliminary courtesies. Dick had a lot to ask and he immediately started asking it.

"You see," said Dick, "I'm just about to be eighteen, and as soon as I'm eighteen I'll get into the service. Maybe I'll join up before then. kind of like the Marines. That's okay -I'm not saying I'd join the Marines if there wasn't a war, but there is a war, so that's what you do, the Marines or whoever will have you. But there are some things-" He

"The day of Pearl Harbor I was so mad I could have lit into every Jap gardener I saw and it burned me up to think I couldn't do anything about it. I just wanted to kill them. I still do. The Japs, I mean. I never did get that excited about the Germans, I guess it was because they were going after other people but it was the Japs who had tried to sink the whole Navy when the Americans weren't doing anything to them. The Germans-I don't mean because you're a German, anyway you never de seem like one-but I'd been hearing about Hitler practically all my life and I guess I'd got kind of used to him." "I suppose you would," Kessler observed thoughtfully. "You were eight years old when he burned the books."

"Well, I was pretty innocent myself until just lately." Dick confessed with confiding wisdom. "I thought wars were aust wars, because somebody had to run the earth and it had better be you. side than their side, and mostly wars were fought to take care of trade and profits and it was principally the Morgans who got us into the last one, and we'd never have been in this one if the Japs had minded their own business. Now I see that's not right, you can't go along letting things happen the way they are happening, things like Margaret I mean. But what I want to know is, what can I say to my mother and father? I can't just go off and have them smiling and shriveling up inside the way they are doing. Don't think my mother has said anything

"Let her and your father understand that you know what you're doing." Kessler answered. "Don't let The Pauley-Allen-Vardaman them believe that you're going off grinning, as you express it, just

"Well, what do we want to get?" Dick demanded. He laughed uncomfortably. "I guess you think I'm pretty silly to ask that, don't you? I guess you think I ought to know." "No, Dick, I don't think you're silly not to know. We who are older than you ought to be wiser, but sometimes we feel we don't know any more than you do. I'll try to tell you how it looks to me. That's all I can tell you."

"Go ahead," said Dick. He added with an embarrassed grin, "I guess I've been talking a lot. But now I'm listening." Kessler turned his cane under his hand and looked at it, then raised his eyes again.

"Dick, the sweep of history doesn't take much account of individuals. That's hard for us to real-edged. "But Mr. Kessler, what's that got to do with us?"

"Don't get too discouraged about your country, Dick. The United States has a standard it's trying to live up to-of course you haven't reached what you're aiming at, but you're closer than you used to be. Look back and you can see the idea coming-slowly, painfully, cruelly, but always on the march. The American Revolution was part of it and the French Revolution another part. They went as far as they could, but not as far as the idea was destined to go. The American Revolution was a war for liberty, but it didn't finish the fight-haven't you ever read about the howls that went up in this country, long after the Revolution, at the suggestion of free public schools for all children?"

Dick shook his head. "I thought they always wanted schools in this country."

"Not for everybody. There were opponents who said compulsory schooling would break up the home by taking children away from their parents and putting them under control of the state. There were others who said it would destroy the ordained order of society by making the working classes dissatisfied with the position in which God had placed them. But the schools came, because they were part of the current toward human equality."

"Gee," said Dick. "You know. you're encouraging. The place is getting better, isn't it?" "Of course it is. Whenever you're tempted to believe it isn't, you might remember that it was in 1870, a good deal less than a hundred years ago, that the State of Massachusetts was hailed as an enlightened leader of progress when the legisature passed a law that children under twelve should not be allowed to work in factories more than ten hours per

Dick nodded slowly. "I'm beginning to see it." He wrinkled his forehead, and exclaimed, "But right now. I don't mind telling you, that big idea sure is up against a lot."

Kessler nodded too, in agreement. "Suppose I try to tell you why it's up against so much right now. Shall I?"

"I wish you would."

The result was a long, long way ahead, so far ahead that most of us never thought about it, but for those who did visualize it the very suggestion was so dangerous, such a threat to all nations and all established institutions, that something simply had to be done to stop the march, and quick."

"Gosh, go on!" exclaimed Dick. "What's that suggestion you're talking about?"

"Can't you see it? It's very logical—simply the suggestion that if a country could be improved by releasing the talents of its people, might not the world be improved by a cigarette." releasing the talents of all its peoples? That's a terrible idea."

"Why?" Dick asked with ingenu- ANDRA BAKER is now ous deflance.

It turns us upside down and flattens us out and leaves us no better than anybody

Dick considered this, slowly and soberly. At length he said, "I believe I get it." He turned it over in his mind again, then ventured, "It means—'all men are created free and equal, endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights—' it means all. Not just us. Every-

"This country is still uncertain," said Kessler, "because it has gone into the war on the side of history. The people know it's the right side, they're fighting valiantly for victory. but they're frightened at what vietory will mean."

"It will mean-?" Dick stopped. "That Americans will have to go on, marching through more blood and pain toward a goal they are not sure they can bear to reach. You are fighting for the coolies, Dick, not because you give a damn what becomes of the coolies but because you care a great deal about what becomes of yourself. You don't dare not to fight for them. They've come so close to you that what happens to them touches you already, and will touch your children even more. Don't stop to think of this now if it's too much. I know it's terrifying. Ge on and fight for your country. That's what is being asked of you now."

"I want to think about it," said Dick. "But you don't think I'm a dope because I'm-well, kind of shocked, do you?"

Kessler laughed a little. course not. It's the most shocking conception that has shaken the minds of men and women since they were asked to believe that on the other side of the earth people were walking upside down. If you said you weren't shocked by it, shouldn't believe you."

Dick rambled among his own thoughts for a moment. At length he inquired. "How did you come to think of all this?" "I was pretty badly hurt in the last war." Kessler answered frank-"When a man's life is so vio- envy lently changed, he has to do a lot of thinking. At first I thought in terms of individuals, each learning to manage his own problems. But when hell broke loose again I had to start thinking all over, not in terms of individuals only but in terms of the human race. That's all."

Again Dick was silent. He thought, contemplating himself, the world, and himself again. Finally he said, "Well, I'm going to stick to my own country awhile. I like Americans and you can say what you please but by and large I do think they're more decent than other peo-

> "Harold is a doctor, who went into the service as a captain," says Sandra's tear-stained letter. "All during the war he was at home only for short intervals, and I lived with my own people. My little girl, Pamela, was born in my mother's house, and has always seemed more mother's baby than mine. I was very happy in those years, writing letters to my handsome captain, and quietly enjoying the freedom from school and the admiring comments of my old frienls.

"Then Harold came home, and almost immediately I discovered that we are completely unsuited to each other. The difference is our ages-he is my father's contemporary and friend—is not the only trouble. Harold cares nothing for dancing, parties or good times. He never goes to movies. He hates the radio. He likes to play bridge for poker with his friends, neither of which I play.

Harold objects to my having even one drink; I did not drink at all before I was marriel, but as a married woman it seems to me I have a right to make that decision myself. On several occasions he has been distinctly rude to the girls, who naturally ask me why I put up with it. Harold also accuses me of extravagance, even though he will not tell me how much money he makes or take me into his confidence as to our affairs. "Worst of all," the letter concludes, "my father and mother are shocked beyond words at my idea of a divorce. They remind me, as indeed is true, that they begged me not to marry Harold, much as they like him, because I was so young and that I insisted upon doing so. They treat me still as a child, and say 'don't mention such things. You're married and you're going to stay married. Do your duty and you'll be happy, and stop talking

A FORTUNATE POSITION

Three years ago it seemed so glorious to Sandra, and now it's almost unbearable! She was only 17 when she married a handsome doctor more than twice her age. For a while she enjoyed the luxuries his ample income provided, and the prestige his position lent her. He was an army officer and was home only for short furloughs.

Then he came home to stay, and Sandra quickly found that he was unsuited to her. Her tastes were those of a young girl, his those of middle-aged professional man. She wanted dances and parties, good times and gaiety. The care of the baby and the house take most of Sandra's time. When she wants to go out for an evening's fun Harold objects. He won't take her out, and doesn't want her to go alone. He is often rude to her friends, who are all very young, and is angered if Sandra takes a drink. Now he is accusing her of being extravagant, but refuses to set up a budget for her, or tell her of his affairs.

ing, house parties, movies, love affairs, and Sandra is tied down to the dull drudgery of housework and baby tending. Her choice now is between antagonizing her parents. harming her child, breaking up her home, or going on into years that stretch before her like the years in

If I could advise her at all it would be to grow up-to become a real woman. To learn to be a good cook and housewife—surely not too hard an undertaking. Thousands of women in her very city are managing on budgets, cooking delightful meals, keeping small homes comfortable and happy.

When she has accomplished this, then perhaps she might have a talk with Harold. After a few weeks of pleasantness at home he may be more amenable to reason. She might ask him to give her an evening a week, in which they will either accept some invitation that seems tempting to Sandra, or go downtown just by themselves for dinner and a theatre afterward. She might persuade him to join the country club, always a good connection for a doctor to make.

But whatever she does, it should be as the middle-aged doctor's young wife; happy, busy, proud of his success, pleased with her own position. It is a pleasant and picturesque position, it will be her own fault if she does not develop possibilities. Mothers and fathers have a way of objecting to WNU_F 17-year-old marriages. There are reasons for this that little "Seventeen" can't see. Every girl in high school thrills to the idea of a sudden marriage that will leave her schoolmates gasping. CPORT has an odd way of hook ing up time and space. On one night lately we ran across an Australian sportsman in New York, who felt fairly confident that Jack Bromwich and Dinny Pails could take pretty good care of the Davis cup next December. Next we had lunch with Beals Wright, the famous

U. S. tennis star. Wright defeated both Norman Brookes and Tony Wilding on Australian turf in Davis cup play back in 1908, when they were considered unbeatable, although Australia retained the cup Grantland Rice Here was a gap of 38 years in time and 12,000 miles in space with the Davis cup the main item of conversation.

"I think we have an excellent chance to hold the cup," our Australian friend said. "Bromwich is good but in my opinion 19-year-old Dinny Pails is even better. Or he will be better with the 9 or 10 months of play and training he has left before next December. Some good advice from Sir Norman Brookes won't hurt. Bromwich is still in good form, an excellent player and a stout competitor. And we may have others by the cup date."

Beals Wright is the son of the late George Wright, who played shortstop on the unbeaten Reds of 1869, a team that won 55 games, lost none and was tied once.

George Wright played professionyear that gave birth to the National league. He was also a brilliant cricketer and a good golfer late in life.

Calls Tilden Greatest

I asked Beals to name the greatest tennis player he had ever seen in his 40-odd years of competition and observation.

"I've seen many great ones," he said. "The Doherty brothers -Brookes and Wilding - Larned -McLoughlin — Billy Johnston — the French stars, especially Cochet the best that have come along since 1900. But the top man is still Bill Tilden in my opinion. Tilden had both speed and power on the court. As far as I could see he had no weakness in his championship years. He had amazing stamina. In addition to this Tilden had unusual court generalship. He was one of the few men I've seen in sport who could let down and then pull himself back. He had the art of keeping his opponent off balance, both mentally and physically. No one ever knew what was coming next."

Connected. Connected. Give FIRESTONE Triple-Braced Give FROUND GROUND

TESTS conducted under a wide range of L soil and weather conditions proved conclusively that Firestone Ground Grip tires will give your tractors up to 16% more pull on the drawbar. That's because only connected, triple-braced traction bars...with their extra tread-bar length in the center of the pulling zone...take a "Center Bite."

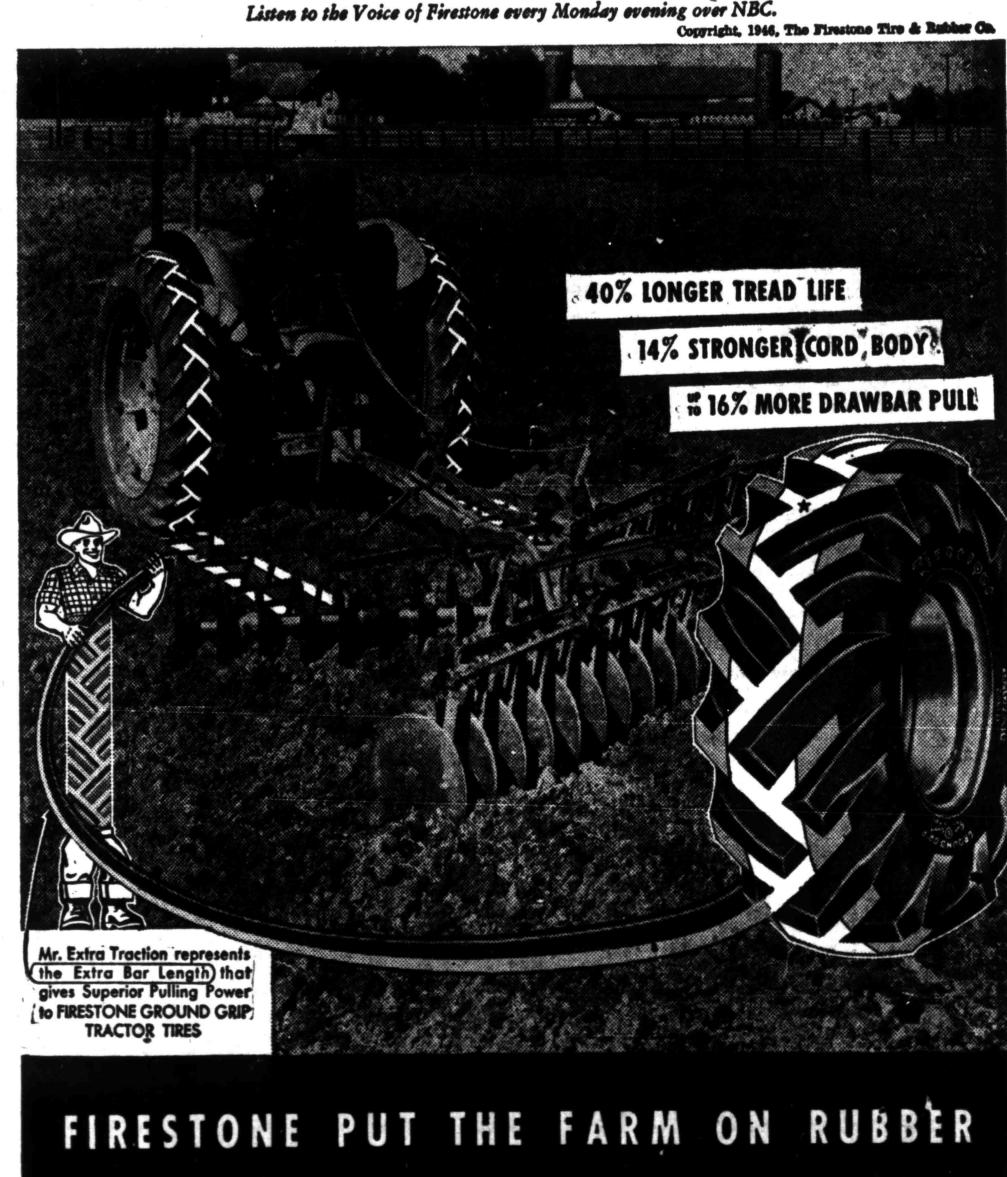

Besides giving Firestone Ground Grips a "Center Bite," connected traction bars also insure better cleaning. There are no brokenbar, trash-catching pockets such as you see on ordinary tires. The connected bars are stronger, too, because they are triple-braced. This added strength increases tread life.

These money- and time-saving features are responsible for today's farm preference for Firestone Ground Grips. And they are the reasons why it will pay you to have Firestone Ground Grips on your present tractors and to specify Ground Grips when you buy a new tractor.

*Area in white shows the "Center Bite" traction zone, not found in other tires because of Firestone's exclusive patent rights.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone every Monday evening over NBC.

More people are making more long distance telephone calls than ever and you may experience delays on some of your calls.

We are doing everything possible to expand facilities. This year thousands of miles of new long distance circuits are being added-additional long distance switchboards are being installed in many places and hundreds of young women are being employed and trained as operators to help meet the increasing demand for more long distance service.

It's a big job and will take time. Until the job is done we will continue to need your help when circuits are over-loaded by using the service only for necessary calls. Your continued cooperation is apoliced preciated.

that the glands of sheep weigh from two to four grams. The iodine content is from 0.2 to 0.3 per cent. This small amount is often the difference between health and sickness, profit and loss or success or failure.

The U.S. army found that sheepskin is the warmest of all furs. They can now be made to look like expensive furs, similar to beavers, to retail at about $150-less than onefourth the cost of genuine beaver.

Time to Plan for Next Year's Sweet Potato Crop

If planning to grow sweet potatoes, now is the time to purchase certified seed stock. If old bed is to be utilized, it should be renewed as soon as the frost has left the soil. To secure the best returns, use hotbeds to start the plants. More sweet potato plants can be obtained per bushel of seed bedded when electric or fire-heated beds are used. As manure is a source of disease spread, it should not be used on beds.

N. A. SLOAN, Owner Gates, Tennessee

You aren't getting machinery, Mr. Farmer, because...

PICKET LINES

have taken the place of

PRODUCTION LINES!

...so don't blame your Implement Dealer!

TOUR implement dealer had planned I and expected to have his display floor filled with new implements and tractors weeks ago. And we had planned to make them-had told our dealers and our farmer customers they would have new equipment and plenty of service parts for the 1946 spring work. And we had hoped to sell these machines at no advance in price.

Real Production Had Started

When the war ended, our organization bent every effort to increase production, with the result that in the last months of 1945 machinery was being built in very substantial quantities. Here are a few figures:

	PRODU	ICTION
ITEM	NOV. 1945	DEC. 1945
Tractors	7,271	7,432
Combines		2,526
Cultivators	3,482	3,308
Hay Loaders	209	982
Plows		6,702
*Plows are made in our C which are not on strike. Janu	anton and Cha	ttanooga Work was 7,747 plow

Both your dealer and we were encouraged by this production picture at the turn of the year. But the strike changed all that. As you know, the CIO United Farm Equipment & Metal Workers of America called a strike in ten of our plants, on January 21, 1946.

What Is The Strike About?

Wages are a basic issue. At the time of the strike, Harvester employes were among the highest paid workers in American industry. When the strike began, the average hourly earnings in the ten plants, not including overtime, were $1.151/2. If present wage proposals are adopted, this figure will become $1.33½ per hour.

When the strike began, negotiations were broken off by the Union on the issue of compulsory union membership. The Company has no desire to weaken the Union. It recognizes certain reasonable needs of the Union. But the Company does oppose compulsory unionism. It feels strongly that an employe's membership should be a matter of his own choice.

Material Costs and Price Relief

Wages and materials are the great costs of operating our business-together they consume all but a few cents of every dollar tha Company takes in. Wages are obviously going to be high-and nobody knows just how high material costs will go.

In the face of rising costs of materials, the Company does not see how it can pay the wage increases recommended by a Government fact finding board until it has definite and satisfactory assurance from the Government that reasonable price relief will be granted to the Company within a reasonable period of time. This matter is of such importance that it will not be discussed here, but will be covered by future advertisements devoted to both prices and profits.

Speaking for our dealers and ourselves, we can assure you that no customer is more eager than we are to resume production. We are doing and shall continue to do everything in our power to bring about a fair settlement as soon as possible.

"Behold A Sower Went Forth To Sow"

The Master dignified and glorified the man who sows the seed and tills the soil.

In all ages of the world's history, man's fundamental task has been to produce the essentials for mankinds well being and to sustain life in the world.

All the marvels of modern invention, all the wonders of this scientific age, great tho they are, rate only secondary to man's age old and world wide struggle to bring forth from mother earth her treasures of food and raiment for mankind's needs.

THE FARMER OF AMERICA lead all the other nations in producing feed and food and other products of the soil. They have a great opportunity and likewise a great responsibility now, to feed America and to prevent wholesale starvation in war-ravaged nations.

THEY WILL NOT FAIL!

We as surpliers of good reed and rood farm implements are proud we can have a small part in such a challenging program.

Factors That Determine Veteran's Pension Rate

Closest to the heart of every veteran who wears a wound stripe is adequate medical care. Gen. Omar Bradley, administrator of veterans' affairs, shortly after his appointment, picked as his assistant to have charge of the medical and surgical division of VA, a man who is no stranger to wounded vets.

He is Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, who was chief surgeon of the European theater of war, and as such had under his direction 254,000 medical department men, including 16,000 doctors, 4,500 dentists and 18,-000 nurses. Under his administration more than 1,500,000 patients were admitted to army hospitals in the European theater and of this number 340,000 were battle casualties. So General Hawley has had broad experience in caring for our fighting men in time of war and has been chosen to head up the medical branch of VA because of this experience and great success.

Under the expanding hospital program of VA General Hawley is calling upon the best medical and surgical brains of the nation to take a hand in the great rehabilitation program of disabled veterans. The idea to take veterans' hospitals close to the medical centers of the nation reflects one of General Hawley's plans to decentralize and bring treatment as close to the nome towns of the country as possible.

Questions and Answers

Q. Our boy was taken into the army. We are farming 520 acres of land, milking 12 to 20 cows by hand the year round, raising over 350 head of hogs a year. I am physically unfit to do any farm work. This work is all up to two boys 19 and 20, one a 4-F. We must hire a man to replace the boy that is gone. He has set aside $30 of his wages to help pay for this help. Will the government match this, and if so how do we go about getting it? This boy was really needed.-L. U., Gladbrook, Iowa.

A. Your local selective service board had the responsibility of deciding whether or not your boy was needed more on the farm than in the army. If they had decided he was needed there, he would have been given an agricultural deferment under the selective service law. No, there is no provision for the government to match the $30 per month. If you can prove a hardship case, which is unlikely, the boy could ask for a discharge on that ground. He would have to initiate the case through his commanding

Q. Is the widow of a World War I veteran entitled to a pension if the husband's death is not connected with the war? Do World War I veterans receive pensions? If a disability allowance was discontinued and the case reviewed and refused again what can one do? Is the wife of a World War I veteran entitled to medical care?-Mrs. J. H., Tower, Minn.

A. Yes, the widow of a World War I veteran is entitled to a pension although death is not service connected: Only disabled veterans receive pensions. In case a disability allowance is discontinued and reviewed and refused again, the veteran has the right to appeal to a board of the VA. Wives of World War I veterans are not entitled to medical care.

Q. I have a lot on a main highway. I'd like to put up a business but in order to do this I need around $2,000. Could you send me full instructions on how to go about this matter and just what I must do?-Mr. H. F. S., Selma, Ala.

A. Go to your bank and ask if they will make you a G.I. loan on the proposition. If they consider it a good risk, they will take care of all the details.

Q. When and how is transportation for servicemen's kin available and what are the chances for the wife of a PFC whose husband is stationed in Regensberg, Germany? -Mrs. C. O. B., Chamberlain, S. D. A. The serviceman must initiate the request with his commanding

A. LOT OF GOOD COMES FROM THE EARTH

Sonny was sayin' that ol' bossy cow is jes' a natchel factory for making milk out o' fodder. But I tell him that making good milk begins when mother nature gave us the fertilizer to help the fodder grow. I was referrin' to the natchel soda us farmers uses on all our crops.

Natchel soda comes right from the earth. Nobody knows for sure quite how it got there. But they does know the wonderful things natchel Chilean soda does for crops.

Seems like jes' being natchel makes Chilean soda different from any other kind. Maybe folks won't be able to get all they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get, it may do.

LEWIS IN REAL ESTATE

WASHINGTON.—Just how vigorously John L. Lewis plans to enter his battle to recapture the CIO came out at the AFL executive board meeting in Miami, where the bushy-browed labor thespian joined his former enemies in a holy war against his former friends, Phil Murray and the CIO.

One of Lewis' first moves was to persuade the AFL to move out of its shabby 30-year-old beadquarters to a modern streamlined building near the White House.

Lewis was named chairman of an AFL committee to acquire the new building. Some years ago John paid a quarter of a million for the University club, once the home of Washington elite, and made it his United Mine Workers headquarters.

. . . 'VOTED AGAINST VETERANS'

Veterans are considering a new mous as the label "Made by Union Labor." It will probably take the form of the initials "VAV."

When these initials are used immediately following a congressman's name, it will indicate that he "voted against veterans."

Congressmen, already sensitive about this year's elections, are worried sick about the recent vote on housing for veterans, especially the vote on subsidies which would have permitted low-cost homes at a pricerange which veterans could afford.

This worry was why congress ducked a roll-call vote. If each congressman had been forced to stand up and be counted, it would have been political suicide for some.

The Democrats, despite a plea from President Truman himself, plus telegrams from Bob Hannegan, split ranks. Here are the Democrats who in the future will be labeled "VAVH" (voted against veterans' housing) in this important test vote: Barden, N. C.; Brown, Ga.; Camp, Ga.; Colmer, Miss.; Cox, Ga.; Cravens, Ark.; Doughton, N. C.; Durham, N. C.; Earthman, Tenn.; Ervin, N. C.; Gathings, Ark.; Gibson, Ga.; Hare, S. C.; Lanham, Texas; McMillan, S. C.; Manasco, Ala.; May, Ky.; Mills, Ark.; Murdock, Ariz.; Murray, Tenn.; Pacen, Ga.; Page, Texas; Riley, S. C.; Roe, Md.; Russell, Texas; Slaughter, Mo.; Smith, Va.; Sumners, Texas; Tarver, Ga.; Vinson, Ga.; Whitten, Miss.; Whittington, Miss.

NYE'S RESIDENCE

Ex-Senator Gerald Nye took a setback in his first attempt to return to his old senate seat. People in North Dakota didn't like the fact that Nye continued his residence in Maryland, though running in North Dakota, and he didn't get far in the first Republican primaries.

STEEL HEADACHE

One of the biggest reconversion headaches is lack of steel. Hundreds of smaller firms, including Henry Kaiser's new auto company, can't get steel, while strike-struck General Motors was gorged with it. Recently General Motors officials traveled to Washington, wangled a promise from OPAdministrator Jack Small that he would not confiscate the thousands of tons of strategic materials which General Motors is hoarding. Small has cracked down on smaller companies hoarding nylons, but General Motors appears too big to touch.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Democrats were wrangling last week about the right of Chicago's Representative Sabath to be heard as much as Mississippi's Representative John Rankin. Meanwhile. GOP Leader Joe Martin went over to Democrat Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and said: "Mike, the next time you Democrats get into a scrap like this and it comes to a vote, we're just going to vote 'present' and let you Democrats fight it out yourselves." . . . Atlanta's new congresswoman, Mrs. Helen Douglas Mankin, has been assiduously cultivated by the Georgia delegationwith long visits on the floor of the house even from the two Georgia senators-George and Russel. But the first chance she got she voted against Rankin. . . North Carolina's Chairman Bob Doughton of the house ways and means committee not only believes that people should continue paying the wartime excess-tax rates on luxuries such as furs, but also that children should continue paying the wartime tax on movie tickets. "After all," says Doughton, "kids don't have to go to the movies-they're a luxury." . . .

VIGOROUS LOBBYING

Capitol Hill today is more besieged by lobbyists than at any time in years. Big utility lobbyists are working against any increase of federal power, even passing out nylons to congressmen's wives to win votes. The American Legion is buttonholing senators in favor of military conscription, and the railroad lebbyists are pulling wires in favor of the Bulwinkle bill which exempt the railroads from antitrust suits.

Short-Sighted Greed Imperils Our Future

66 IN OUR relations abroad and in I our economy at home, forces of selfishness and greed and intolerance are again at work . . . Dick, 17-year-old son of the Herlongs, enlisted in the Marines. He was convinced that he had a job that must be done. After they saw him off, Elizabeth, recognizing Kessler as Arthur, told him about it. He denied that he was her former husband and told her that unless she forgot it, he would go away. He forbade her to say anything to her husband. He called it an illusion and tried to convince her that she was

I love you, thought I'd remind you in case I hadn't mentioned it lately. Spratt."

> "Certainly." "Now?"

"Whenever you like." "Thank you."

Kessler's housekeeper told her he was waiting for her in his study. Elizabeth went in and shut the door behind her. Kessler had been sitting before his typewriter, with sheets of manuscript around him. For an instant she wondered if he had been working, or if he had set the stage to make it look as if he found this so unimportant that he could go on with his work without interruption. But she thought of that only an instant. As she came in Kessler put his hand on his cane and stood up. Their eyes met, and Elizabeth said,

"I came here this morning to see if I was right or wrong in what I said to you last night. I was right." Kessler drew in a quick breath, without answering. Elizabeth came nearer and sat down. Holding her handbag in her lap, she leaned back to look up at him. "She said, "I have not been drinking and I am not hysterical. I had nine hours' sleep, and when I woke seemed like a mistake based on a chance resemblance. It was not a mistake." She smiled at him, pleadingly. "Arthur, let's face this and

But Elizabeth continued, "You And this writer pointed out once have a scar on your arm where you and I were practicing fancy dives

Elizabeth was silent. She felt as if she had been accused of a sin, and found just enough echo of guilt in herself to be unable to speak in her own defense.

"You can't get it back, Mrs. Herlong," Kessler said gently. "But if you keep trying, you will lose what you have. And you have so much to lose now, so much more than you had twenty-five years ago."

Elizabeth moved forward in her chair, listening intently. The curious sense of guilt had not left her. "As for your first husband-" Kessler began.

"Yes-what about him?" "How old were you when you married him?"

"Eighteen." After she had spoken she realized that her answer had come as readily as though she had never had any reason for believing he knew this already.

"Eighteen!" Kessler repeated. "What did you know then about loving a man?"

"I thought I knew a great deal," she retorted.

"Naturally you thought so. How could you judge your feeling for him except by the standard you had then? But look at it now and see what it was by the standard of love you have today. A bright girlish rapture. Beautiful, no doubt, but no more than that."

"But what else is a young girl's love? What else should it be?"

"Nothing else. That's what I'm trying to tell you. But what did you of what used to be. We cling to it lose when you lost Arthur? A lover and a playmate. You had nothing else to lose."

Elizabeth drew back and stared at him, almost angrily, resenting what he said and fighting against having to accept it. He wanted a moment to give her time to get used to it, and then went on.

"When we get older, and are drawn into the depths of experience, it is sometimes very tempting to look back and regret the time when we were skipping over the surface without dreaming how thin it was."

Elizabeth still did not answer. All this was new to her, as relating to herself. It was as though he were accusing her of having been foolish just when she thought she was being wise. "When we do look back." said

Kessler, "it means that just then we are frightened at the challenge of being adult." "I have been frightened." she ac-

POLITICS:

New Force

With Harold L. Ickes' assumption of the executive chairmanship of the Independent Citizens' committee of the arts, sciences and professions, a new political force appeared to be gaining momentum for counterbalancing conservative elements.

Working with James Roosevelt eldest son of the late president and national political director of ICCASP, Ickes announced the new organization would strive to mass 10 million liberal votes. Along with

Jimmy Roosevelt (left) and Ickes the big labor vote assembled by the CIO-political action committee, this would give the liberal element a tremendous electoral club. Potentialities of the new political combine were amply demonstrated in a recent congressional election in New York, where a ICCASP and PAC candidate backed by Henry A. Wallace gave a Tammany nominee a close run for his money, losing by less than 4,000 votes. Though Wallace supported the aforementioned ICCASP and PAC standardbearer, he has not openly aligned himself with the new group.

FOOD:

Challenge to Cooks

Homemakers and restaurants alike were put to the test with President Truman's emergency famine committee recommending a sharp curtailment in the use of wheat and fats to help avert starvation among 500 million people abroad.

Possessing no regulatory powers, the famine committee appealed to American liberality in calling for food conservation. To ease the effects of reduced cereal consumption, the group asked food distributors to promote the use of such foods as potatoes, fish, eggs, poultry, citrus fruits and seasonable

With the committee's recommendation that corn and buckwheat cakes be substituted for wheat cakes and fruits for pastries, homemakers' abilities to set up appetizing dishes were challenged. Further. cooks were asked to eliminate threelayer cakes, two-crust pies and crust-trimmed toast.

Total value of livestock on farms increased from 8,180 million dollars at the beginning of 1945 to 8,923 million dollars at the beginning of 1946. The increase in the total value of hogs was due to an increase in number and price, while the rise in sheep and cattle resulted from price boosts.

The drop in the total value of mules and horses was due to a decrease in number and a decline in price.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Woman Who Won't Forgive

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

The goodness-just old-fashioned goodness-that is patient with a some times disappointing husband, with exacting children, is what America so des perately needs now.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

TARGERY CURRY writes me from Plainfield, New Jerthat she wishes she could forgive a person who once has injured her. She says she is so made that she cannot, and that her married life is being destroyed in consequence.

This is the purest nonsense. To assume that you "cannot forgive" an injury or injustice in this life is to proclaim yourself a person of limited intelligence, incapable of growth.

Margery's story is that her husband was deceiving her about money for many years. For 14 years Bob sent $50 a month to an old woman who worked for his mother as housekeeper, seamstress, nurse. When the old woman died Bob's office secretary commented to Margery upon Bob's generosity, and Margery hasn't "forgiven" Bob yet. She keeps a cool civility going before the children, but she has moved out of the room she and Bob have shared for 15 years, and as Bob says that unless this sort of foolishness stops he'll get out for good, matters have reached a serious point, and Margery, in floods of tears, has written for my advice.

Trust Is Gone. "To think that while I was saving and economizing and doing without things," she writes, "Bob all the time was supporting an old woman who had no claim on him at all, and never saying a word to me of that extra $600 a year! He has been a good husband, and we have prospered; I thought myself, forgive and forgive, a few months ago, the happiest things will grow worse. Unless we woman in the world. But now learn to deal honestly with our I feel that I never can trust Bob lives, there is no hope for us. Unagain, and what is love without trust? Unfortunately, I'm so made that I can't forgive. I'll bear anything while people treat me fairly. But once I'm angered—good night!"

What a strange thing is the smugness of these wives who boast of their moral and mental limitations, who gloat over the jealousy or extravagance or hot temper or the hardness of heart that "can't forgive!" This is a form of childishness that makes it hard for me to answer Margery Curry patiently.

But I can tell you one thing, Margery, that unless we keep changing, growing, improving, we humans settle into fixed forms, and a part of us dies. When you say that you are "made that way" and that it's a characteristic of your family never to change or never to learn to forgive, or never to gain control of the hot temper of which you are all so secretly proud, or never to develop character enough to live within your income and pay your bills honestly-you are announcing that you are among the folk who are incapable of becoming civilized.

Real women do forgive. Real women are ashamed of any such boast as that their tempers are uncontrollable or their jealousy too deep-rooted to be cured. Real women grow up.

Civilization in Peril. A good many thinking persons now are anxious about this tired old war-worn world, and with good

"We must learn to forgive . . ."

ACT MATURELY

Mrs. Curry can't forgive her husband for deceiving her. The deception was this: Bob, who is a successful and dutiful husband, has been sending $50 a month to an old woman who was his mother's nurse. He has been keeping this donation a secret for 14

What makes Margery so mad is to think that while she was skimping and saving, Bob was passing out this dole to a woman who had no real claim to it. But worst of all, the fact that she was kept in the dark on an important family matter for so long has shattered her faith in her husband. The old bond of faith seems to be ripped apart, and Margery cannot bring herself to face the situation. In all other ways Bob has been nearly perfect. The sudden discovery of this secret has ended Margery's happiness.

Miss Norris replies that we must all forgive and forget. In this case it should not be so hard, seeing that Bob was acting from what he considered the highest motives—gratitude to his mother's nurse. That he could not afford this generosity is another matter. The real issue is whether Margery can act like a mature woman, after all, is not very serious.

reason. Unless we women learn to less we face our problems-each woman her own, and acknowledge them, and study them, and master them, with the good of our men and our children, our community and our God in mind, civilization will suffer a setback from which it won't easily recover. It is no longer a question of an individual woman saying that she can't do this and can't do that. The demand is for actual heroism—the heroism that sweeps aside slights and injustices with the magnificence of a strong character. The courage that endures dull days, monotonous duties, tiring responsibilities because it is out of that quiet fidelity that a great nation is built. The goodness—just sheer old-fashioned goodness that is patient with a sometimes disappointing husband, with exacting children, is what America so desperately needs now.

And besides, Nevadans are more interested in prospecting, mining and ranching than they are in regulating the lives and habits of others. They love ranching and herds of sheep and cattle. Town folk and ranchers alike hunt for promising rocks that show a trace of gold, or silver, or other valuable mineral. They like broad highways that take them to lakes and mountains and pleasant valleys. Eating at counters and rubbing elbows with each other, and visitors, is one of their friendly habits. The "club," a social center not unlike the continental cafe, is a community institution.

Those who drive rapidly through Nevada, or stop only in its clubs to drink and try their gambling luck, will never know the state. Nevada's mountains have produced nearly two billion dollars of mineral wealth, chiefly in gold, silver and copper. Other important minerals are lead, zinc, quicksilver, tungsten, sulphur, graphite, borax, gypsum and building stone. No one can estimate its untouched, undiscovered and undeveloped wealth.

"But Nevada is a desert!" desert? A most productive one, then, yielding wool, cattle, sheep, horses, hogs and poultry. The livestock industry is a big one in Nevada. The state's agriculture is Soon Nevada became a territory, and on October 1, 1864, President Lincoln by proclamation made Nevada a state. Carson City, though smaller than Virginia City, was made the capital. Nicknamed the "Battle Born State," Nevada had lived through lawlessness, bickering, Indian uprisings and political chicanery to take its place as one of the stars in Old Glory.

Famous Lode Not Named for Finder

The Comstock lode at Virginia City was named for Henry Comstock, a man who did not discover it, and who would have been too lazy to work it if he had!

In June, 1859, Peter O'Riley and Patrick McLaughlin discovered a rich lode, though neither one realized how valuable it was at the time. Old Henry Comstock was prowling around as usual, watching others work, and immediately laid claim to the spot himsel, insisting that he had already taken up claims there.

The two Irishmen, however, were unimpressed. Comstock went away to find help and returned the next day with Manny Penrod, who cheerfully backed up Comstock's story. Pete and Pat probably knew the two claimants were liars, but the site was lonely and they didn't want, to go to court. They agreed to give Comstock and Penrod equal shares in the discovery.

HOME AGENT NEWS

The directors of the Cemetery Association met Sunday evening and let the contract for caring for the Cemetery for the six months period starting April 1st to Dave Soward. Dave's work in former years was very satisfactory and the Directors feel that he will make us a good man. They also adopted a set of rules and regulations that we feel will be of great aid in keeping the grounds in a proper manner with less expense. A copy of these regulations may be secured from any one of the Committee or from the Caretaker.

The matter of having funds on hand at all times to pay the caretaker promptly on the first of each month and incidentals such as grading and plotting the new addition purchased from the late W. R. Jeffries, is of first importance and we earnestly solicit the cooperation of all those having loved ones interred in our City of the Dead, as well as all other citizens of our town and community, because all should have and take an interest in this organization. Remember it cost more to get this work done than in former years and be governed accordingly in making your contributions and paying your dues. It is greatly desired and needed that members of the Association or donors to the funds increase their gifts in order that the committee be not hampered in getting the job done in a manner that will be pleasing to all and that the hallowed resting place of those we have loved so long but lost a while be a place of beauty and a credit to our town and community.

We are greatly in need of volunteers to help in soliciting of funds, as many are careless about paying otherwise.

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to Mrs. W. E. Ralph for her untiring efforts in this phase of the work, without which, activities would have had to be greatly curtailed last year. Again we wish to remind every one that this is wholly a cooperative work and its success depends on the support of all.

We intend to publish a list of the donors to this work in the Graphic at the end of the period.

I believe in putting my store right in my customer's home

The telephone is more than convenient communication. It is a means of doing business, a way for the merchant to put his store in his customers' homes.

In serving business, the Telephone Company accepts a great responsibility—the obligation to meet every need of the business man who depends on the telephone.

With the Company-as with the corner drug store-earnings are vital to continued success. And because the telephone has become a part of everyday life, telephone earnings are a subject of importance to all.

In 1945, telephone earnings were the lowest in the past 23 years. For 1946, the outlook is for even lower earnings. In keeping with the general trend throughout the country, wages have recently been increased. The cost of everything else going into the furnishing of telephone service is also climbing.

Adequate earnings are a basic necessity to the American way of life. Earnings must be sufficient to enable industry to maintain high standards of service and to attract capital for expansion. As for the Telephone Company, they are indispensable if the full usefulness of the telephone in carrying on the business of the community is to be safeguarded.

LOT OF GOOD COMES FROM THE EARTH

Sonny was sayin' that ol' bossy cow is jes' a natchel factory for making milk out o' fodder. But I tell him that making good milk begins when mother nature gave us the fertilizer to help the fodder grow. I was referrin' to the natchel soda us farmers uses on all our crops.

Natchel soda comes right from the earth. Nobody knows for sure quite how it got there. But they does know the wonderful things natchel Chilean soda does for crops.

Seems like jes' being natchel makes Chilean soda different from any other kind. Maybe folks won't be able to get all they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get, it may do.

Vitamins make us sturdy, but they're fragile things themselves. Unless properly protected, they vanish like the dew off the rose.

That's why the Illinois Central is still pioneering in protecting the vitamins in fresh foods, a job we began 80 years ago with the world's first refrigerated rail shipment of fresh fruit.

Right now we're experimenting with a new refrigerator car built mostly of aluminum and glass. It's designed to be so efficient that it will keep frozen foods frozen ... and so versatile it may quickly be converted into a merchandise box car.

This experimental car is further evidence of our determined effort to provide you transportation second to none. The Illinois Central intends to earn your continued patronage and friendship.

many of these old suits can be successfully remodeled into a smart slack suit for the teen-aged girl. If there is a great deal of fitting to be done, it would be best to buy a pattern to assure accurate cutting. If you are expert at cutting and fitting, make up a pattern of your own. If there is little fitting to be done, rip the trousers out completely and trim them as necessary. In woolen fabrics it is essential to allow a generous half inch for seams on all edges beyond the stitching lines. Mark the paper patterns to indicate the sections to be cut from lining fabric and mark to show the lengthwise thread.

In making the slacks or trousers, it is especially important to have them hang properly. By no means should they be too tight, as this will not only give a poor appearance, but it will cause the fabric to pull apart easily.

Benefit of Artificial

Insemination of Bees Artificial insemination is not new. It has stood the test and is being successfully applied in animal husbandry. Its use with bees was delayed until recent work by the federal experiment stations pointed the way to artificial insemination to improve honey yield. The advantages will be possible to improve stock to a high degree. The practice will not immediately be practiced by bee raisers but will be limited to experiment stations and specialists who are now in a position to furnish improved honeybee stock by this method of breeding. The necessity for increased bee population may be aided by this method. It is also important that farmers time their spraying so as not to kill off large numbers of bees, as has been the case in the past.

Use High Frequency in

Sterilization of Eggs By sterilizing the egg, killing the germ, better keeping quality is secured from market eggs when subjected to high frequency. The principle is somewhere between radio and diathermy.

Certain bacteria on the shell are also destroyed and the white of the egg is slightly stiffened, so that when broken in the frying pan the yolk stands out above it, producing a better cooking egg.

The 1946 Favorites

Who will carry most of the public favor from city to city through 1946? In Boston the leading candidates at this spot are Ted Williams and Dave Ferriss. Among the Yankees you will find Bill Dickey, Joe DiMaggio and Joe Gordon—with Phil Rizzuto close up. Stirnweiss will be another. Terry Moore and Marty Marion will lead the Cardinals, who have several other candi-

Hank Greenberg and Al Newhouser will head the cast for the Tiger zoo. For the Giants you'll find Mel Ott and Johnny Mize in front when the season opens.

What about the Dodgers? In this dizzy land of Bumdom they change with startling rapidity from day to day. Dixie Walker has been the civic nomination, or the peepul's choice for some years. Whether Dixie will retain the affections of the nation's most turbulent and tempestuous baseball crowds remains to be seen. If anything happens to Dixie, or if it happens to be untrue what they say about Dixie, an early nomination is Peewee Reese.

The Cleveland situation is simple. The Indian's contribution to the favorite class will be one Robert Feller who will lure out the multitudes in fancy numbers at each start. What about the Cubs? Andy Pafko will be one of them and so will Phil Cavarretta and Hank Berowy. The able veteran Stan Hack will also get some votes.

At times it is hard to tell just what qualities are needed to make some ball player the crowd's favorite. Hustle is always one of the main points. The populace likes to see the athlete giving all he has. Home-run hitters always have a strong call. So do strike-out pitchers. Good people who are there in the clutch or pinch also harvest their share of fanville's affection. The All-Time Best

Who have been my ten favorite ball players? It doesn't matter much, but here they go - Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson, Tris Speaker, Hans Wagner, Dizzy Dean, Pepper Martin, Rube Waddell, Christy Mathewson, Pete Alexander. Plus Walter Johnson. Old Barneys pitching motion and the ball you couldn't follow were still something to look at. Carl Hubbell also belongs in this group. So does Bill Dickey. Ten isn't enough. As an artist, Hal Chase has no equal. Just what favorite crop the new season will give us is in the socalled laps of the gods. There is time enough later on to take this up.

A NATION DEMANDS A KING

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 8:10-22. MEMORY SELECTION—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—Psalm

A major crisis has come in the life of a nation when it is ready to change its form of government. That was especially true in the case of Israel, for they were about to throw off the direct rule of God and demand a king.

There were good reasons for their desire. Samuel was old. His sons who were to succeed him were not honest (I Sam. 8:3). But there were other motives not so good; for example, their desire to have the pomp of a kingly ruler and a wish to be like other peoples (v. 20).

Their request was made known Samuel (I Sam. 8:6). He was grieved, but the Lord showed him that it was not His rule they were Lord showed min Lster s Lunchroom rejecting, but God's rule (v. 7). The matter came to a crisis as Samuel was sent to reason with

I. Prophetic Words (vv. 10-18). There is always a price to pay if we are eager to follow the styles of this world, Israel wanted to have a king with an attractive court and a mighty army like their neighbors, the other nations, but they had not realized that such things are not provided out of the king's pocket. A word of warning may be in place here for Christians who have fallen for the temptation to keep pace with their ungodly neighborsto "keep up with the Joneses," as it is sometimes put. Government has a right to call on the governed for its support, but who will deny that the tremendous military establishments which the rulers of the earth have maintained have been both burdensome and provocative of war.

We live in a sinful world, and we may as well face the necessity of protecting ourselves and policing ter would be our lot if we like Israel could have been under the direct rule of God. They did not want it. Are men any better today when they reject the beneficent rule of the Son of God over their lives?

II. Persistent Wills (vv. 19, 20). The people refused to hearken. Their stubborn reply was, "Nay, but we will have a king over us," and one can almost hear the emphasis on the word will.

One might have expected that the leaders of the people would have sensed the folly of their plan and asked God to continue to rule over Buck White, Mr. and Mrs. Broad- them forever, but the stubbornness us Richardson and family, Jack of the willful human heart is almost beyond belief. When its determination is coupled with pride and unbelief it becomes an even more appalling barrier to the blessing of God.

> Therein lies the outstanding lesson of these verses. Let us beware that we do not sin like Israel; yes, sin even worse than they did. Joseph Parker in the People's Bible (vol. 6, p. 287) makes this acute application of the truth: "Do we condemn them? Let us not be ready with reproach; nor urgent in condemnation. We are doing a deadlier thing it may be than the elders of Israel did in this case. We are told that God is angry with the wicked every day; that the wicked shall be driven into hell, and all the nations that forget God. We are told that the liar shall have his portion in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, that no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven, that anything unclean, defiled or corrupt shall not pass into the city of God's light; we are told that nothing remaineth for the sinner but a fearful looking for of judgment and flery indignation. "What is the result? Men can go immediately from the hearing or reading of the most terrific statements concerning the future of the wicked and can throw themselves. with unbridled license into all the diabolical enjoyments which stimulate but never satisfy the corrupt soul."

III. Providential Willingness (vv. 21, 22).

Reluctantly, but inevitably, comes the divine expression of willingness to let man go the way he wants to go. Israel shall have a king, says God. In fact He had prophested this day long before (see Deut. 17: 14-

So it is true (to quote Parker again) that "we can force our way through all solemn warning, all pathetic entreaty, all earnest persuasiveness . . . We can go to hell if we will . . . There is nothing before you but love, grace, mercy, tenderness, God. That is all. There is a crosshew it down! There is a way around it, a way through it, a way over it -you can get there!"

May we, neither as individuals nor as a nation, thus thwart God's love and reject His warnings, and go on our own stubborn way into sin and
