There is a Tennessee law requiring that all boys and girls between the ages of seven and sixteen inclusive attend school. It isn't being enforced in Lauderdale county. Why we couldn't say. A Deserving Cause Next Friday night the Halls High School football team will open its season in a game with Germantown on the local field. A new coach, James Peery, a home town boy, is now in charge and is working hard with the squad to give Halls a football team of which they may be proud. One of the largest squads from the standpoint of numbers ever to report for practice is working out each day. Let's give "Pedro" and the boys a running start by having a whooping big crowd on hand for the opening kickoff. The football team is entitled to your support.

Worry, Worry, Worry! Anyone want a newspaper? Of course by the time this reaches you we will have changed our mind but right now most anyone could have it. We must be lazier than usual -at least we don't seem to be getting anything done. We thought we had been working rretty hard but it seems that the work is piling up faster than we are getting it done. Among other things we didn't know anything to write in this column and we were in too bad a humor to start griping because some one would probably have licked us for what we had to say. A mixture of seed contaning orchard grass, red top, white clover, alsike clover, and some bluegrass and lespedeza may be seeded to good advantage in September. West Tennessee farmers are always asking in the spring what they can sow to provide early pasture that will stay on the land and continue to provide pasture

We have not found any pasture plant that will fill that need in a satisfactory way, but a permanent pasture mixture seeded on a well prepared seed bed in September can be counted on to provide a lot of pasture by the following May and will then continue to provide pasturage indefinitely. No pasture should be over-grazed til it looks like part of the "scorched earth." The roots of pasture plants will die unless they have some reasonable amount of leaf rface above the ground.

Good permanent pastures pay as good dividends as any land on the farm where livestock of any kind are kept. We need many more acres of good permanent pasture in Lauderdale County.

Co-Operative Elects Officers The members of Lauderdale Cooperative in a recent meeting elected A. K. Currie, President, R. . Garrett, Vice-President, and Leon Hargett, Secretary-Treasurer and Manager for the coming year. T. B. Wright was elected the third member of the Executive Committee. Russell Lightfoot, N. N. Caldwell, Paul Avery, Jim Meeks, James G. Cook, and J. L. Burns vere elected as the other Directors to conduct the business of the organization.

The Lauderdale Co-operative is organized to help farmers lower heir production costs and provide themselves more of the services which farmers need at the owest possible cost.

The organization of the Coperative was sponsored by the Farm Bureau, but it is entirely separate organization operated by a different Board of Directors. Inoculation Of Vetch Pays

RUSSIA'S BIG MISTAKE

WASHINGTON. - If the Soviet overnment had deliberately set out make mistakes it couldn't have made more than it has piled up in he past year. In the one year that widow. considering our present strained relations with Russia, this is all-important. It indicates that time is running on our side, that Eussia's own policies are playing into our hands, and that war can be avoided.

One year ago Soviet Russia was considered the great savior of the world. In Europe, the Russians were given credit, far more than the United States, for liberating the occupied countries, were even hailed by some as the pioneers of a new world order. In the U. S. most Americans had a genuine admiration for the heroism of the Russian people and looked forward to a period of friendly cooperation.

Today that good will has vanished In all of Russia's satellites, with the possible exception of Finland and Czechoslovakia, the Soviet is extremely unpopular, even hated. Romania and Bulgaria would bol Russia in a minute were it not for the Red army. Hungary and Austria, which Russia hoped to win over, voted overwhelmingly against the Soviet. In France the strong Communist upsurge now has hit the downgrade. Even in Yugoslavia, where Tito is supposed to be supreme, the Russians are not popu-

Most interesting fact is that the countries nearest the Russians usually dislike them most. Thus in more distant France, there is more pre-Soviet sentiment than in the adjacent Balkans.

Finally, in the American-British zones of Germany. Germans are fearful lest the western allies eventually evacuate and Russia walks in.

U. S. STOCK GOES UP

Thus the world has turned against an aggressor nation. Thus also, the world has turned toward a nation which has no selfish axes to grind and which is attempting to co-operate with the rest of the world.

This is what Secretary of State Byrnes has sincerely tried to do at Paris; and as far as this observer could ascertain, his patient, fairminded policy is paying dividends. Part of the world, once ready to sing Russia's praises, has veered toward the United States.

Therefore, the No. 1 point American policy should be work things out within the family of nations: to but Palestine and other controversial problems under the United Nations; not to let the British drag us into separate alliances. This is our greatest danger. If we become the tail of the British kite, we can be euchred into war with Russia - exactly where the British foreign office imperialists want us. But as long as the smaller independent nations of the world are convinced of our unselfish motives, as long as we remain aloof from both sides, our strength as a world leader is secure

She knew she could not sell the farm. She drew a long, hard breath. But Laurence could not drive to and from the farm to Meadersville, where his own destiny lay. Perhaps when the war was over and cars and tires and gasoline were once more everyday matters it could be done, but not now.

It all boiled down, she decided at last, to the fact that she could not, must not marry Laurence, not now. Suddenly she felt very tired, but she had reached her decision. She could not marry Laurence and sell the farm and go to live in a small bungalow with a backyard-garden and one cat and one dog. Her life was here. Somehow, she must make Laurence see that. It wasn't going to be easy, but her mind was made up. And as though the achieving of a decision had relieved her of some great burden, she threw back her shoulders, and stood up suddenly, spilling a startled and indignant Susie to the ground. Feeling suddenly light and free-

A movement in the backyard behind the Westbrook place eaught her startled attention. At first she thought it was merely something white hanging on the clothesline, fluttering in the soft mild wind. And then she realized that it was a human figure, a woman in white, moving oddly, bending as though to pick something up, straightening to fling her arms wide, her head back. At this distance, she could tell nothing more than that. And then suddenly, with a little creeping feeling of discomfort, she realized what the woman was doing—she was dancing!

Megan stood stock still, her heart pounding, as she watched the dancing woman down below in the backyard of the Westbrook place.

A queer, oddly rhythmic dance, grotesque in its lack of grace, clumsy and awkward. The sun glinted on the woman's golden hair, as she bent and postured and straightened and whirled, her arms outflung!

Suddenly a shorter, darker figure hurried out of the house to that weirdly dancing figure. The dark figure, a short, rather stout woman in a dark dress, put her arm about the dancing figure, and managed to draw it into the house.

Megan shuddered and put her hands over her face for a moment, as though to shut out the remembered figure swaying and posturing and turning. Tom Fallon's poor wife, of course. "Mentally ill," he had said.

"And his commission is ten per cent," said Megan quietly. "That's -seven hundred dollars."

She stared at her father in despair, but he merely extended his cup for more coffée and said pleasantly, "So I think it would be much better if we just let the sale go through-don't you? I'm afraid seven hundred dollars is rather a lot of money in the present state of our finances—isn't it?"

"Not you, darling," he countered gaily. "I don't believe it-you're covering for somebody else."

"Well, perhaps-in a way," she admitted reluctantly. Then as briefly as she could, she related her father's conversation with Matthews. When she had finished, she asked anxiously, "Do I have to pay Matthews' commission, even if the sale does not go through?"

"Not unless you and your father both signed the papers with him authorizing him to make the sale, Laurence assured her promptly. "Thank goodness!" said Megan

There is no alternative . . . either we share the secret of the atomic bomb and not only outlaw it internationally as a weapon of war, and outlaw war itself, or we surely are hezded toward a third world war of annihilation. This nation and no other nation can protect itself against atomic power merely by outlawing it as we have outlawed poison gas. There is a defense against poison gas. Within a few years other nations will have mastered the secret of the manufacture of atomic bombs, and against these bombs there is and there will be no door shoes and stockings, a skirt and | defense.

I say that Christian morality. not as practiced during the last 1900 years, but as Jesus himself taught it, has finally become the most practical thing in the world.

"The golden rule means that we look at things from the other fellow's point of view as well as our own. If every nation in the world could, for one week, drop its selfish. hateful, maneuvering and adopt the golden rule, we would work out an international moral code that would permit us to use atomic energy door after another to abundance and joyous living."

discovered and successfully manufactured the atomic bomb are the most international-minded people in the world. They have real international co-operation and international thinking. International peace will not come until the rest of the peoples of the world have this same feeling of co-operation. Scientists are aware of the horror they have created in the atomic bomb . they are aware of the danger of the Frankenstein boomerang . . . and no group has been more vocal than they in urging that their secret, now our secret, be given to all the nations and that international control for protection be set up in the United Nations.

The committee report pointed out that the bureau of ships is studying the results of the Bikini tests and says, "undoubtedly they will point the way towards changes in ship size, design and structure." The report further says that such changes in ships can offer increased immunity from flash and blast effect, but such changes will not protect manpower from the catastro phe of deadly gamma and neutror radiation.

This reporter believes that once atomic energy is let loose in war there will be no need for navies There will be nothing for them t protect, no cities, no navy yards nor harbor installations. Neithe will there be any need for armies For war with atomic bombs will mean a war of extermination c civilian populations. The wises minds now working in our militar establishment can see no adequat defense, not even much chance o minimizing the terrible destruction which would ensue even by goin deep underground.

It Seems Bathing Wasn't So Popular in Early Days

Through the years personal hygiene has come a long way. Especially from the days when Peter, the Hermit, thanked God that water had not touched his body for more than forty years, and Queen Isabella of Spain boasted of having taken only two baths in her entire lifetime.

In 1842 in Massachusetts, anyone who wished to bathe more than once a week had to have a doctor's certificate certifying he needed it and could stand it.

Philadelphia once had a law, in force for many years, forbidding bathing of any sort between November 1 and March 15.

States, like men, should not be judged by hearsay. If you have been reading stale joke books, or listening to radio comics, you may have some preconceived and erroneous ideas about one of the greatest of the 48 states. It is time for you to re-appraise Arkansas.

A few weeks ago I made an automobile trip through Arkansas, following the general course of U. S. Highway No. 67 from Poplar Bluffs, Mo., to Texarkana. We visited Corn-Walnut Ridge, Newport, Searcy, Little Rock, Arkadelphia and other towns.

We saw fields of rice, corn, cotton and other staples on that was black and rich. We heard the sharp ring of saws biting into both soft and hard woods. We heard factory whistles, too, and saw hundreds of men carrying dinner pails. Horses, mules and tractors furnished power for farming, while huge trucks hauled loads of giant watermelons, fat cattle, milk, oil, lumber, logs, poles, crates of fruits and berries and other products. Fruit trees were heavily laden, the boughs bending low. Progress is Evident.

We traveled over splendid paved roads, across rich coastal plains and through mountain scenery as majestic as any traveler could ever want. There were fine homes, big barns and well-kept acres on either side of the road. There was construction everywhere, for Arkansas is building new homes, stores, garages and other structures. Steel, cement, brick and bright new lumber were going into those buildings. New homes, in every stage of construction, were to be seen. Some were near mansions, while others were simple structures. Barns, sheds and fences were going up too.

When we talked to the people of Arkansas, we found them friendly, courteous, intelligent. They smiled easily, were proud of their state, and sure of its future. Tourists who had visited every part of the Ozark and Ouachita forest and mountain areas in the northwestern part of the state as well as the lower coastal plains in the southeast had seen just what we saw - construction, progress and resolute faith.

First settlers of Arkansas were the Indians, the Quapaws who lived south of the Arkansas river and the Osages who lived north of it. They called the land Akansa, but somewhere along the way an "r" was inserted and a final "s" added. It is pronounced Ar-kan-

After discovery by De Soto in 1541, Arkansas was tossed like a ball between Spain and France. The few people who came to the area were soldiers and traders. There were no farmrs and few merchants. No permanent settlements were made except around military posts.

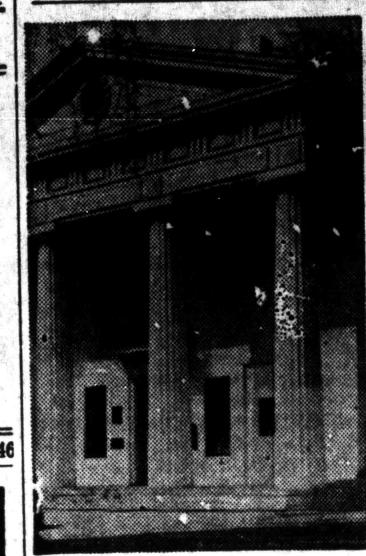

After the United States came into possession of Louisiana territory. including Arkansas, the country was settled rapidly by Anglo-Saxon pioneers.

Territory Formed. In 1819, Arkansas was organized as a separate territory, and the capital was moved from Arkansas Post to Little Rock. (Incidentally, Little Rock was so named because of a ledge of rocks projecting into the river and to distinguish it from CLASSIC STRUCTURE Originally occupied in 1836. Arkansas' old state house, now converted into a war memorial building, is one of the classic colonial buildings of the nation.

NATIVE RESIDENT . . . Ben Laney, governor of Arkansas, is a native and lifelong resident of the state. He was born in a small rural area of Ouachita county called "Cooterneck." Before his election as governor, he was a school teacher, drug store operator, oil man, agriculturist and twice mayor of Camden. Veteran of World War I, he is married and has three children.

sas was a part of Louisiana from 1804 to 1812, and from 1812 to 1819 a part of Missouri. In 1836, Arkansas became a state.

Arkansas is a great agricultural state, with soil new and fertile. Levees, ditches and canals have redeemed alluvial lands along the St. Francis, the Arkansas and Mississippi rivers. The state has an almost inexhaustible timber supply. with forests of pine and hardwoods covering nearly two-thirds of the state. At Eureka, Heber and Hot Springs, health-giving waters have long been used.

Industries of Arkansas are de voted almost entirely to extracting or processing products which originate within the state's boundaries.

There are 28 oil and gas producing six southern Arkansas counties and 16 gas fields in five counties. Petroleum reserves are estimated at more than 300 million barrels and reserves of natural gas at over 1,000 billion cubic feet.

Climate, scenic attractions, recreational facilities and curawaters combine to bring numbers of tourists and seekers to Arkansas year. The state's most widely known attraction is Hot Springs National park, containing 47 hot springs with temperatures up to 145 degrees. Adjacent to Hot Springs are Lakes

Catherine and Hamilton with more than 450 miles of shoreline. Annual spring racing meets are held at Oak Lawn jockey club. Golf is played the year around. The state's scenic highlands include two mountain groups, the Ozarks and the Ouachitas, both easily accessible. State parks provide exceptional recreational facilities.

Sportsman's Paradise.

Arkansas' duck shooting is nationally famous. Rice fields in the prairie section attract mallards during the winter migration. Deer, quail and turkey provide plenty of hunting, and fishing may be enjoyed in the numerous lakes and streams. "Float fishing" on the White river and some of its tributaries is a unique Arkansas pastime, which is becoming increasingly popular with visitors.

"I am fully convinced that Arkansas is destined to become one of the great playgrounds of America," said Franklin D. Roosevelt at Booneville, Ark., when he visited there in 1938.

And many of the rest of us who have visited that state can heartily endorse the late President's words!

Does Your Family Go to Church?

faces radiant as they contemplate the safe arrival of Tom's son, the happy marriage of lonely 30-year-old Sister Annie.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

HE beauty of the old days when everyone went to church was that religion gives people a code -a rule by which to live and by which to judge their own actions and those of others. Without religion it is hard to hold young persons to moral law. Their natural question "Why"? has no an-

Some years ago, the 17-year-old daughter of a friend of mine secretly rented a small Park avenue apartment and entertained her friends there while her mother thought she was merely dining and visiting with perfectly nice school fellows. Her expenses and the apartment were shared by a boy of 18. To all of her heartbroken parents subsequent reproaches she only pertly answered why "why?" Why shouldn't she spend Granny's legacy that way? Why shouldn't girls and boys live together if they wanted to? Why should she tell her father and mother anything? What was there to be ashamed of? She really did not know the answers.

At first glance youngsters do no see the connection between decency and religion. Religion itself - as demonstrated by many of its exponents - has done little to connect the two. Rituals, long sermons, incomprehensible formulas, greedy concern for interest, capital, bequests, collections, money-making schemes have clouded the light. Our children see only these, and they decline to believe the gr mystical and unproven truths upon which all real religion is based. If the lives of the teachers were different, then their effect upon our children's lives would be different.

Greed, Stupidity Hide Glory. As it is, they are too often cheated out of their birthright of belief, partly because the blinding glory of faith is dimmed by so much human stupidity, partly because their parents have gone that same road before them and have decided that religion is merely a profitable business into which certain men enter: a "good thing," if you happen to be that unthinking, hypocritical sort of man, willing to fool along murmuring things you don't believe or or practice them either. But, thank God, under beavy crust of age-old accumulated human stupidity, there works conognized saints, who have probed further than this mere outer seeming, who have discovered the magic spreading it with every word they speak and every contact they

Such persons may be the humblest of mothers and fathers, work ing all their lives for food and shelter for those they love, but their boys and girls will grow up strong in true morality, believing that they must keep their hearts and their lips clean, that they must pay what they owe, that they must keep their word, and give to those in need, comfort the sorrowing, forget self in service.

There is no more to it than that Only-somehow we don't find that unless we find God. It is belief in God, in our service to God, in the

Much of it is alluring and apparently satisfying. What they don't see, Miss Norris points out, is the thousands and millions of humble people who obey the laws of God and American children have not been deprived of moral teaching; it floods over them all during their home and school years. They have been deprived of the one thing that makes that teaching valuable.

You never hear that phrase ex cept from believers. They see the surface-scun of human frailty is their leaders; they know of the wars, the slums, the selfishness and dishonesty of the so-called "Chris tian civilization." Everyone see that.

But they see further, too. They see that faith and the rule save young lives. The very leaders themselves may be lost. But the children to whom they taught love of God and love of neighbor, are the only safe children in the world. Rob your children of everything else for which you are working and strain ing, but give them faith.

Potatoes for Breakfast From a caloric standpoint, potatoes make an excellent substitute for bread. In addition, they contain many valuable vitamins and minerals. Fresh from the garden as they are at this time of year, they have a high vitamin C content and they are a good source of vitamins B and G. Farm families have served potatoes boiled or fried for breakfast for a long time, bu few urban homes have adopted th practice. Potato pancakes make good breakfast dish.

They are the cream of 130 years of Stark-Burbank fruit and tree improvements.

Our Government asks every family with available space to plant fruit trees. There is now a serious national fruit shortage. Many authorities predict that in years to come only those who grow their own fruit will be able to supply their table plentifully with the sugar-laden, health-giving, vitamin-filled fruits to which they have been accustomed. To be sure that your family has enough of this delicious and healthful food, grow your own delicious tree-ripened fruit supply.

Let me show you how you can plant now—enjoy delicious fruits amazingly soon—increase the value of your property. See, telephone or write me. No obligation,

If you want a coat to wear with your suits, select a loose, sporty ype, one with full sleeves and full pack, so that it will fit well over a suit which is naturally more bulky han a sheer dress.

Fips Given for Easy Sewing

A large table is one of the best assets which a home seamstress can have. Select a table without tracks or buckling as it will enable rou to lay the fabric smooth, and simplify cutting.

You, who have an old coat no onger wearable, may find that the ining or interlining in that coat is still in good condition. Having this already made, with only a little itting necessary to place it in the new coat, will save lots of time and work. Remove the lining carefully and hang aside until ready to use. Be sure to brush off any stray hreads.

Adjust the pattern to yourself before cutting out the coat as this will save many hours of fitting and reoutting and sewing. Make sure the sleeves and length of the coat are proper for you.

A good rule to follow is to pin beore basting and fit before sewing. Once basted the coat will look on it is to make alterations without naving to rip out fine machine gence of opinion as to whether the rabid fanatic is entitled to boo a good ball player on an off day and feed him the Old Bronx Cheer in his time of trouble. As you may know, there are two sides to every argument, the same as a plank. Usually both are just as wooden, leading nowhere, but in this case the argument at hand is a big part of baseball.

Booing a visiting or hostile player is another matter. This is often > er has slipped the home club. The argument we are taking up here concerns the ethical side in riding ing on the soapy chute, otherwise known as a slump. The fan's argument is that as long as he pays his entrance fee and the game is offering him no particular thrill for the money invested, he has a perfect right to pick up his enjoyment and entertainment over another route, which is letting the erring or futile ball player know just what the fan thinks about him.

The fan has a good case here as long as he doesn't move into personal invective, involving the player's ancestry and his present family, which often happens. The only half-way shock I ever picked up over a booing incident occurred many years age when Pittsburgh fans started riding Honus Wagner.

Wagner was then in his 41st year. He had been an outstanding star for over 20 seasons. He had given millions as many thrills as any ball player had ever displayed up to the reign of Babe Ruth, the alltime thrill king. His brilliant work at short with his bushel-basket hands, his great base running, his tremendous hitting through two decades seemed to be quite enough to allow for a few lapses in his fading days.

Home and Visiting Boos

But the theme song of the baseball crowd is: "It isn't what you used to be - it's what you are today." Just what the Flying Dutchman thought of the vocal raspberries thrown his way no one ever will know. But I've figured ever since that if a home crowd could boo Wagner, no one else should be immune. Ball players tell me they have no feeling about being booed in hostile hamlets. I know John McGraw relished the dislike he deliberately Most coats have a lining through- free time. Then-"They wrote me | built up in Chicago, St. Louis and out, including the sleeves, as this that 'My Pal Trigger' was showing other cities away from New York. I've heard Matty booed in New York-but not McGraw, although he may have been. The swiftest and most effective reaction to booing from a rival crowd came from Cobb years ago. Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, had just been killed by Carl Mays in a Yankee game. Cobb had been quoted in an interview denouncing Mays. Cobb denied the interview with considerable fervor. The next day, appearing with the Tigers against the Yankees, Ty took a terrific vocal lathering from some 35,000 Yankee fans. "It's no fun," Cobb told me that night, "to be boord, hissed and cursed by 35,000 American citizens,"

But in place of curling up or growing sour, Cobb stepped out that day and got four hits, stole two or three bases, scored several runs and broke up the ball game, The cheering him in his last time up.

Showing Up the Mob

This seems to be the best answer. The best reply to a boo or a vocal cataclysm of hate and derision is to show up the maudlin mob of goat-getters. You rarely hear them booing a fellow who is making good. No ball player ever took the terrific vocal riding Babe Ruth absorbed in the Yankee-Cub world series years ago when he came to bat against Jack Root in Chicago Packed stands howled and yelled and called Babe names they wouldn't print in the press of purgatory. The Babe applied even viler epithets, one against 45,000, as he pointed to the center field flag pole. That was the most famous home run Babe ever hit in his collection of more than 700.

"All I know about it," the Babe told me later, "is that ball was kinder egg-shaped or flattened out after they found it."

Genealogies of Chinese

Some of the oldest records in the world today are genealogies of the Chinese, who for numerous centuries have supplemented the history of their ancestors with facts about their own families and passed on the documents to their descendants, says Collier's.

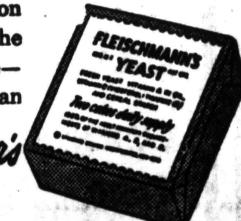

One of these genealogies, published in 1535 and now preserved in the United States, covers 81 generations of a family that origin nated before 1100 B. C.

Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Provisions of Terminal Pay

Veterans' Service Bureau today contains the answers to countless inquiries which have come to our Washington office concerning provisions of the new terminal pay law for enlisted men, recently signed by the President. Official title to the act is the armed forces leave act of 1946, which, by the way, is the first major revision of armed forces leave policies in 70 years, since the basic law respecting army and navy officers' leaves dates from 1874, with an amendment in 1876.

Here's what the act does: Overall, gives to about 15 million former army, navy, marine and coast guard members an estimated 2.7 billion dollars in cash and interest bearing five-year bonds.

Essentially the act gives officers and enlisted men and women of all services identical leave rights and limits the amount of leave which any individual may accrue to 60 days, instead of the maximum of 120 days for officers as heretofore.

Men still in active service who have accumulated from 61 to 120 days leave as of September 1, 1946, will be reimbursed in cash and bonds for the balance over 60 days, and on September 1 will have to their credit 60 days leave. As more leave time accrues to these persons, they must take their leave or lose credit for it.

All veterans who already have left the service will be paid in cash and bonds for accumulated leave not taken up to 120 days between September 8, 1939, and September 1, 1946. The treasury, the army and the navy have outlined the following steps to be taken by veterans applying for their payments: 1. Obtain from any post office in the country a form entitled, "Claim for Settlement Unused Leave" and the instruction sheet which goes with it. 2. Fill out this form, following the instruction sheet. If assistance is desired it may be obtained at any the 3,000 - odd veterans' community information or advisory centers throughout the nation, or at the office of any state or county veterans' service officer. 3. Swear to or affirm the statements made in the form before a notary public or other civil officer authorized to administer oaths. The majority of the community information or advisory centers will provide this notarial service free of charge.

4. Mail the completed form, together with your discharge certificate, or certification of service for each period of service covered in the claim, to the appropriate army, navy, marine corps or coast guard paying officer listed on the reverse side of the claim form. Your discharge certificate may be the original, a photostatic copy, or a certified copy. If the original discharge certificate has been lost or destroyed, a certificate in lieu of discharge, which will be considered as valid evidence for payment, will be issued on application to the apagencies: For example the Adjutant general's office, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo.; for navy -Chief of Naval Personnel, Navy department, Washington 25, D./C.; for marine corps — Headquarters S. Marine Corps, Washington 25, C.; for coast guard-Commandant of the Coast Guard, Washington 25, D. C.

In case of veterans from the army, a form for which to apply for a certificate may be obtained at any recruiting office. It is a good idea to have at least one photostatic copy of your original discharge certificate made for your own files.

5. Upon receipt of the claim and supporting papers, the paying officer will examine all documents to make certain they are in proper form for payment, and after the supporting documents have served their purpose, they will be mailed back to you. Payment will be made as soon as possible, possibly by October 1. But do not write or call in person to paying officers in quiring about your claim. It will only delay speedy settlement a claims. 6. If the amount of the claim less than $50, or if the claimant was last separated from active service before January 1, 1943, payment will be made in full by treasury For claims over $50 pay ment will be in bonds in multiples of $25, with a check for the balance. For instance, if the leave claim is for $219, the veteran will get $200 in $25 bonds and a check for $19. In cases where veterans save died, or in cases where they save been adjudged incompetent, heck to survivors.

JESUS AND SINCERITY OF SPEECH

LESSON TEXT-Exodus 20:16; Proverbs 26:23-28; Matt. 26:69-75. MEMORY SELECTION — Wherefore putting away lying, speak every mar truth with his neighbor.—Ephesians 4:25

God is truth, and therefore any kind of lie is evidence of godlessness. Satan is the father of lies (John 8:44) and the father of all

I. The Prohibition of Lying (Exod. 20:16).

This "thou shalt not" of God has to do primarily with perjury; that is, the telling of an untruth in court. This is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the one against whom it is practiced losing his liberty, his life or his property, or the destruction of his good

It is obvious, however, that the commandment covers all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters and others (see Lev. 19:16; II Cor. 12:20).

II. The Purpose of Lying (Prov.

Sometimes as one hears the continuous stream of lies which flow from the lips of some men, one is apt to feel that it is just a bad habit of careless talking which has become a part of the life.

There is, however, a real purpose behind the lies of men, and that is to deceive in order to get gain or advantage, or to cover up hatred. How much of all this there is in the world today-yes, and in the church. Those who profess to b the followers of Christ use the devices of the devil in their relations with fellow members of the church. Christian workers who wish to appear greater than they are, or to look greater than others, use deceit and lying. With what results? III. The Punishment of Lying (Prov. 26:26-28; Matt. 26:75). One lie leads to, in fact calls for another, and soon the liar ha digged a pit so big that he stumble: and falls into it. He is like one who starts a great stone rolling, and lo it rolls back on him and crushes him. Yes, in due time he is shown up before the entire congregation

Then, too, the lie does harm to others. No matter what its nature -a half truth, or a truth used to deceive, or an outright falsehoodit bears awful fruit in the life of the one toward whom it is directed, or whose name is involved (v. 28). Once started, it is often impossible to stop. One cannot ever eatch up with a lie.

But there is also a horrible and bitter fruitage of lies in the life and the heart of the liar. Lies do "come home to roost," and they make the heart and life of anyone who has a vestige of decency and honor left, miserably unhappy. Consider Peter (Matt. 26:75).

It is of the utmost importance that we stress before children and young people the awful results of lying, as well as its sinfulness. Lying and deceit are so commonly accepted in our day that many regard it as all right-if you don't get caught. But the fact is, you always do get caught/by God-yes, and by your

IV. The Practice of Lying (Matt.

Sadly enough, the constant lying of the world seems to have infected the minds and hearts of Christians Instead of being cleansed from this worldly defilement they carry its awful tendencies into the church. The great lie within the Church, and one of Satan's prize exhibits, is the falsehood of modern religious liberalism (so-called), which is essentially a denial of real New Testament Christianity. Jesus said (v. 42) that if God is our Father we will accept him as the Christ. The one who speaks sweet words about the example, the manhood, the leadership of the Master, and who denies him his place as God, is clearly in mind here as the follower of the father of lies. Someone has suggested that the great spiritual problem of our day is not the conflict between the Church and the world: nor is it to determine how the Church can best serve in the world, but rather what to do about the world which has gotten into the Church. How did worldliness get into the Church? The members brought it there after they had gone out and warmed themselves at the world's fire, and fellowshiped with the world in un-godly living. The denials made by Peter seem almost unbelievable in the fife of one who had been in immediate fellowship with the Lord and who had seen his glory. We have here a rev elation of the fact that "the heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it?" (Jer. 17:9).

That Costs You Less Today Than it Did

WEARS AGO

Although your cost of living has steadily increased, here is one thing-an important thing in your life-that actually costs you less today than it did twenty years ago. It's your telephone!

This record of low cost performance, in these times of rising prices, is enough alone to stand out like a beacon in the night.

In addition the service has greatly expanded and as more telephones have been added the relative cost of the user has steadily declined. Today you can reach many more people by telephone—the better to serve your needs for business or personal use.

This record—which stands out as an achievement-is becoming more and more difficult to maintain as the costs of everything going into the furnishing of telephone service continue to rise.

Still More School

The dire need for additiona and better school Lauderdale county was again emphasized during the past weekend when a mass meeting of citizens with the county school court house in Ripley. It was the contention of the citizens that their children should be allowed to attend the better schools in the county despite a ruling of ceive. the school board that pupils would not be allowed to ride past or away from a school. The board finally agreed to ask for more funds after some controversy. The need of a better school system in the county and throughout the state is obvious to anyone who has visited or been in any of the rural schools in the county. Only a very few of the rural schools have sufficient equipment, teachers or space to adequately teach a child. Halls and Ripley are overloaded as are other of the better equipped schools in the county. It seems to us that the time has come when the parents and citizens of Lauderdale county are placing their children under a handicap when they fail to meet the needs for school buildings and equipment. We are not in a position to make any decision concerning the dispute over the board bus ruling but we can readily see that both sides have a good deal of right with them. There is no reason why a child or a rural resident should at the Hillcrest Avenue church in not have the same school advantages as those dwelling in Ripley program at the Williams Chapel or Halls but the facts are that to Baptist Church in the Poplar a large extent they do not. An Explanation It seems that a wrong impression might have been created by our story on the board meeting last week and the action of some of the citizens in calling on the board in regard to the beer question in Halls. Some seem to have interpreted the story to say that the committee had asked the board to take certain actions in regard to the beer question and that the board refused to follow their suggestion. We believe that a little more careful reading of the news item will reveal that we did not make such a statement but merely reported the action of the committee and of the board. As we were informed by those in attendance and taking part in the meeting the request WAS made but no recommendations as to how were offered and we did not ay so in our news story. We like to be as reliable as possible in our reporting of the news and we make every effort to keep our personal opinion out of the news. That is why we write this column so we can state our own opinions. We are very sorry that a wrong impression was created but do not feel that we are responsible.

At a open meeting of the county school board held Saturday of last week the county Board voted to appear before the County Court at its October term and request funds for additional buses so that school children may attend any school they may wish.

Despite a ruling of the school board that students might not ride past a school building to an other school to attend any other school if they live within two miles of a school, many parents have been placing their children on buses and sending them to t larger schools.

Attending the meeting were number of parents who were protesting the ruling and contending that their children should be permitted to ride the buses to the school of their choice.

Fortilize Strawberries Now Strawberries top-dressed now with 500 pounds of 4-8-8 fertilizer per acre will produce far more berries of high quality next spring than they can possibly produce if they are simply fertilized with some Soda or even with 4-8-8 next

Strawberries are actually produced from plant food stored in the stems and roots of the plants beforehand. Potash and phosphate dissolve slowly and are taken up by plants gradually. Plants grow is cold. For these reasons, it is necessary to fertilize strawberries this month to get the highest production next spring.

Mrs. Nimitz doesn't feel the same way at all about Washington society—which perhaps is one reason why the admiral wants to get out of the capital. She admitted now, forlornly, in the first moment of her emotional reaction, that she had never liked her father. But now she hated him! The thought shocked her. But she had to admit its truth.

She was bitterly ashamed of her weakness when she awoke in the crisp coolness of the dawn a few hours later. She was startled to see that it was almost eight o'clock, a good two hours later than she was accustomed to rise, but she remembered that it was Sunday, and Amos would have finished long ago the milking and the early morning

THE somewhat dusty files show that a Boston club has never lost a world series contest, with six vicpries out of six starts - five for the Red Sox and one for the Braves. This world series mop up began 13 years ago. It began when the

> Boston A. L. entry of 1903 came from behind to whip the able Pirates with such stars aboard as Hans Wagner. Tommy Leach, Fred Clarke, Sam Leever. Deacon Phillippe, Jimmy Sebring and a few others. Apparently beaten, the Bos-

Grantland Rice rallied to ride home on the stout right arm and the stouter heart of Big Bill Dineen. That was victory No. 1, although the world series of 1903 was on the unofficial side.

Nine years later the Red Sox found John McGraw and his Giants "But-I'm willing to be broad in the road. Earlier in this meeting around the fifth inning. Harry Hooper saved the day for Boston with the most spectacular of all world series catches when he pulled down Larry Doyle's almost sure home run over the right field fence. The ball already had passed over the fence when Hooper made the miracle catch, crashing into the crowd. He must have used a net.

After that Fred Snodgrass dropped Clyde Engle's easy fly to center that popped into his glovereaching second. That was a bit on, Matty fed Tris Speaker a slow floater and Tris lifted the ball on a high foul pop-up near first base that Fred Merkle lost. Chief Myers made a futile chase as Merkle was vainly looking in various directions for the ball. The high pop-up dropped between these two only 10 feet from first base. Then Speaker broke it up with a single scoring

Two years later the Braves crashed into the big show by beating the Athletics four straight. Rudolph, Tyler and James did it. The famous Athletics curled up like a feather attached to a burning match. In these three world series Boston was three up.

In 1915 the Red Sox broke back into the great white spotlight again. They lost to Alexander, one of the great pitchers of all time, and then won the next four games.

In 1916 they won the pennant again and took on the Dodgers. The main feature here was Babe Ruth's extra inning victory over "Well it ain't no matteh. An' ha'd ar yo' wu'ks, Miss Meggie, I like Sherred Smith. The Babe was then

Paper was invented in 105 A. by Ta'ai Lun, chief eunuch at the court of China's Emperor Ho Ti. Not until the middle of the last century, however, was it introduced in one of its most widespread present day forms—as a folding box for packaging consumer goods.

Boxes Strongly Made

Those familiar folding pape boxes which are used to package food items and other consumer products generally contain three separate layers of paperboard. Nearly two million tons of folding paper boxes are being produced annually in the United States for packaging hundreds of different consumer products ranging from ash trays to automotive accessories and from soap to spaghetti.

Oklahoma Sets Sesquicentennial Noting First White Settlement

Historical Pageant Planned As Highlight of State Fair

By WNU Features.

MUSKOGEE, OKLA.—To the astronomer and the geologist 150 years is the merest fragment of time. Even the student of recorded history stands in no awe of such a period. But to the more finite-minded people of Oklahoma it represents a considerable span of time. In fact, it measures the period that has elapsed since the first white settlement in their state. That is why they're going all out this year to celebrate the 150th anniversary of that event. In accordance with a joint resolution of the state senate and house of representatives passed @ in 1939, Oklahoma will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the day when Maj. Jean Pierre Chouteau, a French fur trader, led a peaceful invasion into the uncharted Southwest and set up a trading post at the site of the present-day city of Salina in Mayes county of northeastern Oklahoma.

In Muskogee, some 50 miles south of the site of Chouteau's settlement, plans are being pushed for a celebration to carry out the legislative Seeks Trading Post. In the early spring of 1796, Chouteau left St. Louis, where he was a member of an influential family of traders and merchants, to find a suitable location for a new trading post among the Indians of the South-

Traveling southward along the Grand river, the Frenchman found the site he had dreamed of-a place where an abundant supply of game, mostly deer and wild turkeys. abounded among thick timber which would provide a ready source of building material. By what Chouteau must have regarded as providential good luck, the site also stood near an inexhaustible supply of salt, a vital necessity to his men and animals. To crown the good features of the location, the river itself would furnish transportation facilities.

The pioneer lost no time in constructing a large log trading post at what is now Salina.

Post Abandoned.

Economic reverses, however, disappointed the French explorer, who discovered that the territory was not the permanent home of any Indian tribe and that prospects of supporting a trading post, however propitious the location in other respects, were insufficient to justify making the venture a permanent settlement in the area.

Chouteau returned to St. Louis and for six years the little trading post stood silent and abandoned in the wild loveliness of a primitive forts the Osage Indians of the Mis- of the Five Civilized tribes.

souri valley removed their homes to eastern Oklahoma.

It was a double victory for the Frenchman. He had sought revenge on the Spanish government which had taken his trading monopoly and given it to one of its subjects. By the migration of the Indian from the Spaniard's trade territory, his business was virtually ruined.

In addition, it created a market for Chouteau's abandoned trading post to which he returned to start the 150-year parade of progress which has made a great, modern state from a wilderness.

A celebration to be held in connection with the annual Free State fair at Muskogee, scheduled for the week of September 29 through October 6, will bear Gov. Robert S. Kerr's stamp as the "official" Oklahoma commemoration of her sesquicentennial.

Pioneers to Participate. During three days of the fair, a colorful pageant will be presented. Several hundred eastern Oklahomans, many of them direct descendants of early-day pioneers, will appear in the pageant, which will portray the arrival of Chouteau in the state and the story of the little trading post.

C. E. Chouteau, an official of the Indian agency at Muskogee, will fill the role of his illustrious ancestor. The fair, a gala panorama of midway gaiety and agricultural and educational exhibits, yearly draws thousands of visitors from eastern Oklahoma and adjacent Arkansas. In addition to the sesquicentennial pageant, fair visitors will be able to view a comprehensive display of the state's agricultural and industrial outputs. The fertile farms which dot Oklahoma will contribute their animal and vegetable produce to the fair and the modern educational institutions of the section will present exhibits.

Program To Stress Value of Citizenship To New Prospects

WASHINGTON.-Plans for a na tionwide program to emphasize the "worth and meaning of American citizenship" to prospective citizens were announced by the justice department.

The department said the program "will be a continuous effort to stress the ideals of this country and the significance of American citizenship from the time of entry of a poten tial citizen to the moment when citizenship is granted him by the court and even beyond that."

A national advisory committee of citizenship is to be named by Atty Gen. Tom Clark to assist with the program.

The program will include: 1. Publication of a pamphlet containing significant facts about the United States to be given to prospective citizens and visitors to this country.

2. Preparation of a booklet to be given to each new citizen to emphasize his responsibilities to this

3. Enlisting the aid of the bench and bar, civil and educational authorities and patriotic organizations in the effort to stress the significance of citizenship.

This is the opening game of the season for the local boys and also their first game under their new coach, Jim Peery. Let's give the boys and Coach Peery a big sendoff for a successful season and whoop them to opening the season with a game in the victory column. Let's have a record crowd on hand. Remember, 8 o'clock, Friday night, September 13, on Halls Field.

Before starting wardrobe plans, check over the blouses you now have and consider wearable. Some of the castoffs might be made usable with new and perky cuffs or a smart neckline. Then you can fill in those spots that blouses you now have do not fill. Be sure to have a tailored blouse, a dressy one, and one sort of "in-between."

You'll find a wealth of new materials in the shops, provided you go early. Then, too, there's another source which possibly hasn't even occurred to you-the attic or storage closet.

Make Blouse Collar Fit Material, Suit

Much has been said of the importance of selecting material to fit your pattern, but this no longer offers much of a problem. Your patwork. Dinah's still a swell kid; tern is a good guide to the mateshe doesn't brush off autograph rial to be used. Most people learn the ins and outs of sewing very easily, but sleeve and armhole fitting may remain a mystery to them. I've compiled some tips I consider essential for making sleeves fit properly. There's real help in them for your particular problem: 1. Lay the sleeve on the fabric

On-the-Farm Training

One year after V-J Day saw 1,250,000 veterans of World War II enrolled in some form of education or training under the two laws providing such facilities for war vet-

According to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, VA director, the greatest problem facing the G.I. educational and training program is that of the colleges in securing teachers and in providing classrooms and living quarters for this tremendous influx of students. General Bradley predicted that in the next year this figure would be doubled.

One of the newer forms of education is on-the-farm training, combining class work with practical supervised farming. To supplement the educational program, VA has prevailed upon the army and navy for release of more than 2,000,000 text books for veterans studying under Public Law 16 and the G.I. Bill.

General Bradley expressed concern over failure of the veterans to take advantage of their government insurance. 'Less than one out dears it to children. One of the important objectives of VA during the coming year will be help to veterans in reinstating their insurance.

TITO DEAL EXPOSED

WASHINGTON. - When the full details of the Teheran conference are told, they will show that after Josef Stalin and Winston Churchill anished dividing up the Balkansone of the worst things FDR let them do-Stalin then sold Churchill on the trigger-happy little dictator who recently caused such a crisis between the United States and Yugoslavia.

Marshal Stalin, at that stage of the Teheran conference, was expansive mood. He had beaten down Churchill's insistence that the second front against Hitler be staged through the Balkans and had put across an agreement instead that Russia take over Romania and Bulgaria, with Britain getting Greece and Yugoslavia.

So at this point, Stalin gave his friend Churchill some advice. The Adriatic coast of Yugoslavia and the areas in which Britain is especially interested, he said, are Croatian, not Serb. Therefore General Mihailovitch, a Serb, was the wrong man to run Yugoslavia. Instead, Stalin offered Churchill his man Tito, a Croat.

Those are the inside facts on how Churchill happened to take on Tito, and how the United States immediately switched tons of valuable lend-lease equipment to Stalin's puppet-in-disguise. The finishing touches to this tragic error were applied when Churchill sent his bungling son, Randolph, together with equally bungling Brig. Fitzroy McLean, to serve as liaison officers to Tito They, in turn, played right into the hands of Stalin's shrewd plan to steal Yugoslavia right out from under the British.

When Dictator Tito fired on U. S. airplanes recently it was not the first time he had shown his teeth. His first snarling display of force came toward the end of the war as relations between himself and the British began to cool.

One night Tito's headquarters were raided by a Nazi airborne division and he barely escaped. It so happened that on this particular night, Randolph Churchill and all other Britishers left Tito's headquarters for the first time in two months.

Tito was beside himself with rage and suspicion, figured the British were out to doublecross him, and shortly thereafter flew to Bari, Italy, then headquarters for refugee Yugoslavs.

"I say, marshal," remarked General Wilson, "isn't this a most unusuai procedure?" "This, general," replied Tito,

"is a most unusual war." Next day he flew to Bucharest, conferred with Russian officials. then returned to Yugoslavia. His cooperation with the British was absolutely dead. He was now openly working for Russia. Meanwhile the United States had poured millions in lend-lease material into Tito's

BALKANS BREED CUTTHROATS Today in Yugoslavia, Tito is any thing but popular and, if it wasn' for the support of Russia, he would be out on his ear. The Serbs, who formerly ran the country, don't like him, because he is a Croat and they have been put on the sidelines. The Croat people don't particularly like him because they are strong Romar Catholics and he is a Communist Only people who really like Tito are the Montenegrins, and their lead ers adore him-for a very specia reason. The Montenegrins are the born fighters of Yugoslavia. Living in one of the rockiest countries in the world, they have nothing to do bu fight-or migrate to America, which they did in large numbers before the war. They went hand in hand up the path and to the flat rock that crowned the very top of the hill. Megan sat down and Laurence followed her to the rock. They sat close together for a moment, looking out over the scene spread below them.

Megan knew the thought that was in his mind, and she tried hard to marshal all her arguments so that he could understand; but when he a hand in a helpless gesture. "I-I turned his head and looked at her. and smiled, he said quietly, "I can't say I blame you for not being willing to give all this up! We are going to be very happy here."

Megan felt as though she had taken a step in the dark and plunged headlong into space. She could only stare at him, wide-eyed, her mouth open a little. Laurence laughed and leaned forward and kissed her.

"Did you think, darling, that I've known you almost your whole life and been in love with you since I was fifteen, and didn't know what your own land meant to you?" he asked her quietly. "I admit that I was fool enough to hope, for just a little while, that you loved me enough to be happy in Meadersville. But when you telephoned me in alarm because you had been offered what we both know is a very generous price for the land, and you didn't want to take it-well, I faced facts then and got busy to see about just what could be done. Because make no mistake about it. my love-you're going to marry me, whether we live in Meadersville or Pleasant Grove!"

There were quick tears in her eyes, but she smiled tremulously. "Thank you for understanding,

Larry," she told him huskily. "It's -a tremendous relief."

Laurence frowned as though not quite sure that he liked that.

"You mean you didn't think would understand?" he protested. "Well, for Pete's sake, why not? After all, we've grown up together. These last years since your mother As Tito's plane landed, several died, I've watched you fighting hundred Yugoslavs armed with tom- drouth and flood and hail, boll weemy guns surrounded it. Never having owned a square foot of real estate in my life, having grown up on a sharecropper's place—the thought of becoming landowner-in partnership, anyway -seems pretty swell!"

> He grinned at her and said hastily. "Not of course that I want you to get the idea that I'm merely marrying you for your farm-perish the thought! I'd marry you if you didn't have a foot of land!"

She laughed and let him kiss her. But when you thought of setting a date for our marriage and realized that you couldn't give up the farm or the dogs and cats and cows and chickens, to make a new life with me somewhere or anywherel-that was all I needed to convince me that you're not ready to marry me yet. If you loved me as I love you, Meggie, nothing in the world would be as important to you as being with me anywhere,

He broke off as though searching for words with which to make his thoughts clear to her.

"It isn't that I'd want you to make even the smallest sacrifice to be with me, Meggie," he pointed out. "It's just that if you loved me the only way I could want you to-you'd be willing to sacrifice anything and everything just so that we could be together. Do you understand, Meg-

ARRIAGES are brittle affairs, these days. We older persons looking on, can see the difficulties of young husbands and wives, and suffer with them If gallant sturdy little Bets decides that she simply can' stick it any longer we are ap to be sympathetic. Not that we are happy over the young divorces, not that we approve of that way out-but we can't help being sorry.

"Bets did her best," we say. "She really tried. She was learning to cook, she loved her little apartment and the baby, but Kenneth really was impossible. Crabby and critical, and wanting her to entertain his friends when all she could do was struggle along with the housework - and then, of course, drinking. Oh, yes, he did. She never could depend on him, and when he' drinking. Ken Taylor can be hor ribly disagreeable.

Divorce is socially a very atom bomb; no group can survive it. It splits into fragments families, friendships, little boys and girls, never to be united again. We waste millions on privileges for our children, but we deprive them of rights. Now, since the success or failure of a marriage lies much more in the hands of the woman than the man, it is to young wives that address these reminders.

However your husband fails you -however serious his faults, it pays you to stick it. These are hard times on nerves, perhaps the hardest since history began. You and your husband are both under strain that your father and mothe hardly knew and your grandparent never dreamed.

Your marriage has survived the lever of the greatest war of all time. But it is in that weakened and bewildered condition that follows raging fever. For many years only four fibers-cotton, linen, silk, wool-were used, but now synthetic fiber seems to dominate the market. Aralac is a protein fiber which has a wool-like appearance but does not have the springiness and lightness of wool. Aralac is used today as a blending fiber with rayon, wool, cotton, er combinations of these fibers. It is mixed in definitely planned proportions with other fibers before the yard is spun. The Aralac content of these blended yarns range from 20 to 50 per cent. Because it resembles wool in its characteristics, it adds the properties of wool to the fabric in which it is blended.

Law Observance Through Education

Lack of knowledge, rather than willful intent, frequently is the reason for infractions of the law.

Recognizing this fact, the Tennessee Committee of the United States Brewers Foundation has carried out a continuing program of education as to the legal and social responsibility which must be accepted by every beer licensee in Ten-

This program includes the issuance of bulletins periodically, the holding of retailer meetings in the cities and county seats, personal interviews and letters.

With constantly decreasing exceptions, Tennessce beer retailers observe the spirit, as well as the letter, of the law and conduct their businesses in accordance with the high standards of the Foundation.

But, where education fails, sterner measures are used in obstinate cases and chronic violators of the law are put out of the beer business either by having their supply of beer shut-off by the brewers and wholesalers or by having their permits revoked by local beer boards on evidence of law violations furnished by the Tennessee Committee,

During the three-month trial, fall seedings gave much more satisfactory stands than the spring seedings. Best stands from fall seedings were sown between the middle of August and the middle of September. Those made from October 1 to 15 had satisfactory stands of grass, but no legumes the year after seeding. Seedings after November 1 were too late. In the spring, the best stands were obtained from March 1 and March 15 seedings. April 1 and provision for the feeding of those who had no fields. The corners of time, some of the grapes were to be left on the vine, etc., so that the poor could enjoy the sense of selfrespect as they picked for themselves what God had provided (see Lev. 19:9, 10; 23:22; Deut. 24:19-21, and other passages).

The poor man who found work was to receive his pay when needed. For the one who hired him to do otherwise was to bring upon himself the judgment of God. He listens to the cry of the hungry worker and his family (Deut. 24:18)

Strangers were in a peculiar way subject to the possibility of extortion. They are even today the easy sneak thief.

If any such person reads these notes let me warn him solemnly to keep his tricky hands off the stranger, for God is watching and will hear their cry (Exod. 22:23). The same is true of widows and orphans. God is their keeper and their defender. Someone may say that all this is Old Testament in its background and principle. What about the fo think of his brethren, after the flesh, the people of the Jewish race. Scripture reveals again and again that God is watching over his chosen people, even though they are now scattered in judgment for their unbelief. He will not hold any guiltless who harm his people (Gen. 12:1-3).

The word "brethren" is also used in such a passage as Matthew 12: of God. That suggests a broader application of these words. Our attitude toward God ex

It may be posale to so becloud the thinking of our triends and neighbors that we may go through life looking something like a Christian, but when Christ judges, it will all be revealed

COTTON GROWER HELPS SELF BY HELPING GINNER

Picking and ginning cotton for high grade, and the resultant higher profits, are measures wherein the cotton grower can help himself, says Harrold B. Jones, Extension ginning specialists, U-T College of Agriculture.

For example, farmers can help themselves by helping the ginner maintain his machinery, Jones points out. Gin fires start more often from matches than from any other cause. This means that workers should be careful not to drop LESSON TEXT—Exodus 22:21-23; Deuteronomy 24:14, 15; Matthew 25:34-41.

Fabric Facts

Fibers that are smooth and straight reflect light on their sur faces and produce a lustrous effect. This process is usually called mercerization, and is used often on cottons. Silk and rayon have naturally lustrous fibers To deluster rayons, colories: pigments are used in the spin ning solution. This is used frequently in rayon stockings, and prevents that shiny surface. Rough surfaces on fabrics catch dirt and hold dust more easily than smooth-surfaced fabrics. Smooth-surfaced fabrics. however, will stain and spot more readily. Consider these points in selecting fabric for special uses. Wool fabrics dye well and evenly, too. The ease with which a fiber absorbs dye has a bearing upon the appearance and durability of a fabric.

Chrome dyes are used often or wool to give it increased fastness to light and washing.

HETHER it is Eddie Dyer's Cardinals or Leo Durocher's Dodgers who will be called on to meet Joe Cronin's Red Sox this fall, there is one basic idea you can keep in mind-neither National league team is going to surrender in ad-

No other teams in baseball have been so well seasoned under fire from April into the stretch. There has been so resting spot for either club - no loafing time or any recess in the dayby-day battle for the top. Both Cardinals and Dodgers by now should have steel - shod nerves

under the pressure that has kept both teams hustling to the limit in an all summer dog fight that has been one of the best in many years. Both Cardinals and Dodgers are loaded with dead-game ball players out to give all they have such men as Pete Reiser, Peewee Reese, Ed Stankey, Dixie Walker, Stan Musial, Marty Marion, Country Slaughter, Whitey Kurowski, Terry Moore and others from both scrappy camps. Their batting records show no such power as the Red Sox command. Howie Pollet may be their only 20 - game winner. But there is more than enough class on either team to give anyone a battle over the sprint route that a world series calls for. While neither Musial nor Walker has been able to turn on Ted Williams' power, both have been outhitting the Red Sox star through the greater part of the

The averages tell you that Reiser, in condition, is one of the most valuable ball players baseball can show when you consider his worth at bat, in a pinch, in the field and around the bases.

The averages and the records of the field also prove that Musial is quite likely to out-hit Williams by a rather wide margin; not in the way of home runs, but in league leadership. Musial is one of the finest hitters we've seen in many years. His lifetime average is close to Williams', who has slipped a trifle from .356 to something around .353, which isn't too soggy for several years.

Outside of Musial and Walker, neither Cardinals nor Dodgers has other run-making hitters to match Pesky, Doerr and York, slashing Ted's three aiding musketeers.

Eddie Dyer on Pitching After all, the pitching can play a star part in any world series, as pitching usually does. We were talking with Eddie Dyer, the Cardinal manager, about this section of the world series argu-

"In the first place," Dyer said, "the Cardinals haven't yet won the National league pennant this season. The Dodgers are a tough team to catch and shake loose. They don't seem to discourage easily. But i the Cardinals do manage to break in and get a shot at the Red Sox, I have a rather hazy idea our pitching staff can worry them a lot

"We have some left-handers that Williams and a number of others might not like too well. And it George Munger can work back to his old form in the next few weeks we'll have our share of good righthanders to match any staff, - and that includes the Red Sox staff."

No one can be sure yet just how good the Red Sox pitching is. There have been too many games where a Red Sox pitcher could dish out : flock of hits and runs, and rebreeze home. We were rather astonished to see that Dave Ferris and Tex Hughson, two Red Sox mainstays, had allowed more hostile hits than any two pitchers in their circuit. Both had been tapped safely well over 200 times, where Spud Chandler had allowed only 151 hits and Hal Newhouser only 173, far below the Ferris-Hughson totals.

The Red Sox have wrecked the American league through a killing margin in runs, base hits and runs batted in. Their stampede has been based on raw power, on attack, no on defense. Hughson, undoubtedly one of the best pitchers now at work, has had a rather spotty year, being slightly over the .500 mark with a great run-making machine at his back Ferris has been their star workman, but even the able Ferris has absorbed his share of manhandling more than ence.

Street Cleaning

Last week we griped a little bit about the street cleaning and where it stopped in the business section. Well, it seems that we didn't have much influence as the streets are still dirty. Across the street from the office along side the building occupied by the post office and former location of the cleaners there is still a huge accumulation of paper and trash that to our certain knowledge has been there for some time. It is impossible to prevent paper and trash from being thrown along the sidewalks and streets but it does seem to us that the man cleaning the streets could be instructed to clean it up. That does not mention coming on down in front of our building, the theatre, and the other business houses in this block but a section that is directly across from the Mayor's Office. At one time Halls had the reputation of an unusually clean town but we can't boast of such a reputation now. How about it Mr. Mayor and Mr. Alderman, can we get the streets cleaned

The Farm Bureau Elsewhere in this issue of the Graphic will be found an advertisement from the Farm Bureau urging that farmers join that organization. It is our belief that the farmers of the nation are nezlecting their own rights and needs when they fail to support such an institution which is working so hard to better the lot of the farmers in relation to other businesses and labor in general. Why not lend your name and support to this effort to improve farm conditions and prices by joining at once.

COOLS TOWARD PRESS

WASHINGTON.-Newsmen probably won't write about it, but President Truman's Bermuda trip climaxed a significant change in his relations with the press. The old days of intimate, chummy talks now have vanished! Truman was cool, aloof, even chilly.

And for good reason. Some of his supposedly most trusted news friends let him down. Off-the-record talks which the President thought were going only to half a dozen people leaked out and became the property of millions.

Most disillusioning of these was a reunion of the "Hard Rock Club," a group of a dozen newsmen who covered Truman's vice presidential campaign when he was ignored by the rest of the country.

Several weeks ago the President invited the boys to an evening on yacht Williamsburg. They played poker, drank bourbon and especially the President. He was nie had brought the shirt to herthe Russian situation and what he thought of Chester Bowles - then OPA administrator.

His remarks were not complimentary. Truman minced no words about either Bowles or the Russians and it was hard to say which he liked least. Although he favored OPA, he thought the fight to win its approval from congress would not have been so hard if Bowles had not issued so much propaganda and talked so much.

Shortly afterward. Time magazine published a brief account of this very confidential evening. Blame for the leak fell upon Edward Lockett, Time staffer who is a member of the Hard Rock club. Truman was so indignant that for a long time he would not speak to Lockett. Other club members virtually ostracized him.

Later, the Chicago Sun's Tom Reynolds, no member of the club, wrote another account of the President's off-the-record remarks on that memorable evening. Naturally. Truman's views got back to the Russians. This made him even more vexed-and worried.

So from now on the chief executive has decided not to be the naive and trusting gentleman he once was with his supposed close friends of the press. During the Bermuda trip. for instance, he gave press secretary Charlie Ross instructions that newsmen were to ask no questions which did not pertain directly to the trip. And when one man violated this rule to ask why Rhode Island's Sen. Theodore Green was not invited aboard the Williamsburg, the President nearly snapped his head

. . . LEARN OF SPEECH

Final decision for the Jimmy Byrnes speech on Germany was imparted to high officials in Washington about 12 days before he made it. The suspicion is that the Russians learned about it at the same time.

Byrnes phoned President Truman about 12 days in advance, told him the Russians were on the rampage, that nothing could be done to satisfy them. He therefore proposed that the United States and Great Britain try to set up a German government which could be won over to democracy and which could serve as a bulwark against Rus-

President Truman, who has come to put complete trust in Byrnes judgment, agreed.

Whether or not the Russians tapped the trans-Atlantic phone. or whether they had other ways of knowing what was going on is anyone's guess. Maybe it was just coincidence.

Anyway, it was shortly after this that Foreign Minister Moloto made his sudden, mystery flight to Moscow. Simultaneously, inspired stories began to leak out of Poland that Russia would take Silesia away from Poland and give it to Germany. Obviously this was German bait to counteract the offer Byrnes was going to make to Germany.

If Russia goes ahead with this policy of "The Soviet giveth and the Soviet taketh away." it wil cause the toughest showdown so far experienced between Moscow and

Washington. The categorical Byrnes-Truman position is that the Soviet can neither "giveth nor taketh" without the consent of its allies, that Germany's boundaries are to be decided only at the final peace treaty -which Russia so far has refused

There "My dear!" her father protested, was lipstick on it. She mentioned it to Jim that night.

CHAPTER IX

The next morning when she was assembling the laundry, Annie came to Megan carrying a shirt of Jim's and held it out, saying in that colorless voice, "Do I wash dis one, Miss Meggie?"

Megan looked at the shirt, puzzled. And then she saw the unmistakable signs of lipstick on the collar! That generally let their hair down- of course, had been the reason Anindiscreet enought to tell all about so that she might see the lipstick

Megan drew a breath and said quietly, "Of course, Annie-what a silly question!"

Megan sat quietly, her hands clenched in her lap. But after all there was surely no reason why her father should not see Alicia Stevenson, if he liked—even to the extent of getting her lipstick on his shirt collar! Alicia was a widow, Jim a widower.

But that night when Annie and Amos had departed for their own two-room cabin at the back of the barn, and Megan and her father were alone in the house, Megan said quietly, "I understand, Dad, that you've been seeing a lot of Mrs.

Stevenson?" Jim looked up at her from his newspaper, and his eyes darkened with anger. "Have you any objections?" he demanded curtly.

"None at all," she answered him evenly. "It's just that I was a little surprised, that's all—to hear a thing like that from the neighbors, instead of from you-"

"A thing like what?" Jim's anger had deepened. "You sound as though I'd been conducting an-er -affair with a very charming and pleasant woman." "I know nothing about it, except that—it seems people are talking—" "Pleasant Grove people? Do you think I give a darn what the-scum in this place talk about?" "They are my friends," she point-

"That's your own fault," he reminded her. "You don't have to live in this-this hick hole! You had a chance to get out of it-" "We're getting away from the subject, don't you think?"

"If you're prying, trying to find out about my intentions towards Mrs. Stevenson," Jim said distinctly, a little malicious light in his eyes. "I have no objection to telling you the truth. I hope to marry Mrs. Stevenson—as soon as I can persuade her! She's selling her place, and I think we can make her happy here, don't you?"

"You would bring her-here?" Megan gasped, appalled. Jim's eyebrows went up in pre tended surprise, though his eye laughed at her. "And where else would a man home?" he asked, "You aren't forgetting that it is my own homequite as much as it is yours?" Megan sat very still, stunned with the unexpectedness of the blow. "Of course." Jim went on after a moment, "when Matthews was so sure he could get seven thousand for this place, Alicia and I planned to keep her place and live there. because her place won't bring over two or three thousand. But when you decided not to sell-well, Alicia gave the listing of hers to Matthews. and we feel sure that we can all be quite cozy here together."

Megan drew a hard breath. "You know that wouldn't work out, Dad," she said. "I can't see why not! There is surely ample room-four big bedrooms upstairs, five rooms downstairs-why, there's room enough here for half a dozen people-" "If there were forty rooms, there wouldn't be enough room under one roof for Alicia Stevenson and me both!" Megan told him rashly. "I think you're taking a very unreasonable attitude, my dear," said her father gently, malice twinkling in his eyes. "After all, having Alicia here will make things much easier for you. She will take over the mangement of the house, while you can give all your time to your beloved farming! I think it will be very good arrangement, all around."

"It's an impossible arranger and you know it," Megan told him

He shrugged ever so slightly and said gently, "Oh, well, if you are going to take that attitude-" He pretended to lose interest, but Megan knew that he was alert, that he was waiting tensely for her answer.

"I know why you are doing this Father." she said at last, one of the fearing "Dad." "You think you will I suppose she's a very attractive

"But, my dear girl, I thought we'd settled all that," he pointed out gently. "That's the reason Alicia decided that she might as well let Matthews see what he could do with the sale of her place. When you come to think of it, it would be rather

"And you wouldn't consider sharing her place?" Megan could not stop the words in time, and knew that a frantic hope threaded them.

hurt. "What do you take me for? A man without pride, or the natural desire to take care of his wife? Most certainly I wouldn't consider moving into Alicia's place. This one is much larger and more comfortable and there's plenty of room. No. think the whole arrangement is ideal. You are always so overworked with the outdoor labor in spring and summer, that I think it will be very nice to have the worry and responsibility of the housekeeping taken off your shoulders."

"It won't work, Father," she told

There was something in stealth, the furtiveness of his tread on the stairs-

"No?" His tone and smile were tantalizing.

"No! I'm not selling! And that's that!" she told him again, her jaw hard and set, her voice unshaken.

She got up suddenly and caught sorry-" her sweater. The night was mild for winter, yet there was a dampness and a chill in it that made the sweater, and the scarf about her head very welcome, as she stepped from the back door into the yard.

The meadow was washed with thin cold moonlight, but under the trees the darkness was so intense that she had to feel her way from moonlit patch to moonlit patch-until she reached the flat stone beneath the tallest pine: and as she reached it, her heart turned over in her breast, and terror clutched at her, for a shadow moved in the darkness, and she knew that she was not alone. The next moment the shadow had moved swiftly into a patch of moonlight, and she saw it white on Tom Fallon's face.

"I frightened you-I'm sorry-Megan managed an unsteady laugh. "And I imagine I trightened you, too," she answered him.

"Well, as a matter of fact, you did," he admitted. Then as the moonlight touched her white face he added hurriedly, concerned: "Why, what's happened? You're III-"

"Oh, no-just-well, upset-and ever since I was a child I have brought my troubles, big and little, to this spot and tried to find a way out of them! It's a habit that's hard to break," she added with an attempted galety that had an almost macabre quality. "Could-a friend help?" She shook her head.

"I-I'm afraid nobody can, really -that is, the only two people who can have no intention of doing it. sound as confused and mixed up as feel-so if you could just overlook

And to Megan's own horror, and Tom's shocked surprise, she burst into tears!

After a stunned moment, Tom put his arm about her and held her close as though she were a frightened, bewildered child, and his soothing words were the words one would have used to a grieving child.

"My father is going to marry Alicia Stevenson," she told him, and so strong was the bond of friendship between them that it did not occur to her to be surprised that she should confide in him.

She found it very soothing to here with him. It was surprising to discover that they knew each other well enough for silence to be pleasant and companionable so that speech was unnecessary.

three daughters have all obtained divorces and returned home, asks Miss Norris what has happened to the "oldfashioned" attitude toward marriage. He says the girls are all young-under 25, and that they had no real grounds for divorce. They simply came up against some difficulties and disillusionments, normal enough, even in the happiest unions, and they quickly determined to get out of a situation that wasn't entirely satisfactory. Now they are in their father's house, with their babies. While it is a big house, there isn't room for four families. Bickering and criticising is unavoidable.

He goes on to explain each girl's situation and the history of her marriage. Then he tells Miss Norris that he isn't exactly asking for advice, but he wants sympathy. If modern girls had a little more endurance and courage, he says, they could stick it out, and make successes of their mar-

Down in Columbus, Ohio, the unbounded faith of one man has proved the major factor in formation and development of the Columbus Boychoir School, which in the short span of six years has been accorded national and international acclaim in the realm of youth projects and educational

The idea of a boy school choir was conceived by Herbert Huffman, musical director of the school, who for several years had been minister of music in a Columbus church.

Founded on Faith. When the school opened its doors in September, 1940, its chief assets were Huffman's faith and the enthusiasm of Harry C. Marshall, head-

In launching the unique educational project, the founders termed it a "venture into choral training using music as the means, not the enda motivation, not a goal." The directors decided that choral training held untold possibilities for the educational and moral development of each boy.

Actually, the choir had existed two years prior to founding of the school. The boys had rehearsed after their own schools let out, but time did not permit sufficient personal contact between teacher and boys.

Adequate Service Depends on Adequate Earnings

Your Telephone Company is doing the largest volume of business in its history, yet telephone earnings continue to go down rapidly. The reason is perfectly clear. While your telephone rate has remained the same for many years, the costs of furnishing you service have increased. Wages, building costs, telephone materials, services, all have been going up so fast that-

The amount of money Paid Out to provide service is increasing faster than the amount Taken In. Actually telephone earnings today are the lowest in our history!

It is basic with any business that good service depends on reasonable earnings. To render good telephone service and to continually improve and expand it, reasonable telephone earnings are essential.

- 1 The amount of money Paid Out to provide telephone service is increasing faster than the amount Taken In.
- 2 Telephone earnings are the lowest in history.
- Reasonable telephone earnings are essential to good telephone service.

Our public duty demands that we give you these facts.

Will Advance to

SEDO FER VEAR

We deeply regret that we have found it necessary to make this advance in price but continually rising costs of newsprint, materials and operating expense has made it necessary. We have made an effort to maintain the price of $1.50 per year but no longer find it possible.

Until October I we will continue to accept subscriptions, new and renewals, at the present price of $1.50 per year. In addition should our subscribers wish to do so they may extend their subscription twelve months from their present expiration date regardless of when that may be. In no case will subscriptions be accepted for periods longer than twelve months from the present expiration date.

We hope and believe that our subscribers will understand the need for this move. May we continue to serve you as in the past.

Two Worn Dresses Often Yield One Good Wearable Garment

By Ertta Haley

Have you ever thought of combin-It's as funny as anything Hope has ing the wearable portions of each ever done, maybe even funnier. Of dress and making a chic dress

Yes, it can be done, and with but who'd expect any resemblance, really take, the care to mold the two into one complete garment.

First of all, you may have several dresses as possibilities. For the combination, select two dresses which have a harmonious color scheme, and what is even more important, harmonious fabrics. In other words, don't try to combine a cheap cotton with a rich rayon crepe or a jersey with a wool.

Here are some combinations which you will find compatible: velvet or velveteen with lace or taffeta; two kinds of rayons, provided the texture doesn't clash; wool with silk or rayon or even taffeta (provided there isn't too much of the latter); cotton with cotton, wool with wool, etc.

It's best not to try to match colors, since this is really too diffiit includes Joan Caulfield, don't go together, you might try ing combinations. And if the print does not match the solid, it often can be dyed so that the shade will contrast well, without ruining the print.

Hints on Combining

Two Dresses Properly No combination of two-dressesinto-one will be successful unless you do the combining completely. First of all, the dresses must be either washed or cleaned properly.

Every piece of the garment must be pressed carefully so that it can then be re-cut and sewed properly -just as though it were new fabin putting together a dress of this type as many of them show how to combine two fabrics cleverly Many fashions are adaptable to remodeling of this type, and it won't be hard to put the garment together if you have a guide. Don't waste work by trying to reclaim garments that do not have material worth sewing on If you find just one dress that's good enough to remodel, then buy enough

Secrets of Combining Dresses Smartly

To give you some help selecting dresses that really go together, I'm going to give some concrete ideas that have worked and may be useful to you.

Dressmaker Sleeves

Molly uses the Norfolk silhouette with dressmaker sleeves and a wide turn-back collar in this suit of gray gabardine. Note the well-tailored detail and button interest.

Let's say that you have a plaid dress and a plain one and fabrics and colors harmonize. You might make the skirt and sleeves from the plaid with a bodice that extends below the waistline of the plain material.

Or, if you're shy on the plaid material, just reverse the procedure and make a bodice of the plaid with a yoke, sleeves and skirt of the plain material. Another interesting combination seen recently was a skirt made of velvet or velveten with a peplumed bodice of a plaid taffeta. To add interest to this rather simple costume, the cuffs and the collar of the dress were made very chic with generous amounts of material. One of the simplest ways of remodeling two garments into one. especially if the usable material of one garment is rather on the slim side, is to make a yoke and sleeves or just yoke of the one dress while the remainder of the garment is in the other material. If you can make only a simple dress of one material, say the reclaimed wool, then make the out- tional scandal unless there is a sudfit smart by making a jacket-long den check. The fight for young or short, whichever you look best stars, plus inducements offered, alin-from the velvet or velveteen ready have broken all past records. you have on hand. This latter might be salvaged from an old evening gown or dinner dress, or formal street dress which is now out-of-

Guarding Your Woolens Dry cleaning is preferable for cleaning most woolens as it preserves the nap, but many knit garments, flannels and challies wash well with tepid water and a mild soap.

Aveid rubbing as this gets the fibers out of place. Hot water and strong soaps are taboo; so are clorine bleaches. Mend woolens before washing them or the holes will easily stretch larger by the washing procedure. If blankets show strains of yanking and pulling (because they weren't long enough to begin with) place a strip of cloth at top or bottom or around all sides before the blanket ruined. Satin ribbon or binding is well used in this case.

Never iron wool with a hot iron. Follow the guide on your iron if you have one of this type. It's always a good idea to use a damp cloth over the wool when ironing, both to prevent scorching and also to give the fabric a nicer, softer finish.

Fashion Forecast

Look for the side fringe on slim skirts this season. It's very new. And gray flannel skirts are a must -can be worn with anything.

Sandals for lounging still show very definite effects of Greek in spiration. There are lots of straps and grace to them, and the colors are an inspiration to see.

Stripes have not passed along with summer. They are here to stay in the soft, lightweight woolen that make up such nice tailored dresses for business, shopping or

DED BLAIK'S brilliant Army football team is on the march again. With a record of 18 consecutive victories picked up in 1944 and 1945, Army's first team should carry it through another big year, even if its spotless record so far happens to be dented before December arrives. At least no one should expect any further wild romp-Michigan, Dame. Duke, Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Navy. "Our first line strength is extremely good," Red Blaik tells you as he looks over his eager talenttalent that includes such backfield stars as Blanchard, Davis, McWilliams and Tucker. "But we are no longer three deep. We are no long er even two deep. In addition to our starting backfield, which will match any in football, we have Fu son at center, Poole and Foldbers at ends and two good guards." As good as Blanchard and Davis the entire show again from such fine backs as young Tucker at quarter and Shorty McWilliams at halfback

A look at the complete records in McWilliams' case proved the Army was entirely blameless in connec tion with Coach McKean's charges from Mississippi State. It was Mo Williams, backed up by his fam ily, who wanted to come to West Point. McWilliams made applica tion while still in high school, be fore he ever entered Mississippi State. Letter after letter has proved

The trouble started on his home furlough when rather luscious financial inducements, apart from any Mississippi State official connection, were made. And don't believe this was the only large financial inducement offered a college football player this year.

A Smart Choice

McWilliams elected to stay at West Point of his own free will. It was a smart move in his case, as too many leaving service football have come under the gossip of ducking the draft, whether or not the charges are true. I might add that his opponents will find the able entry from Mississippi is one of the best backs in football. He is a great kid with unusual ability. And if there is a better quarterback in college football than young Tucker, or a much better passer, I'd like to have his name. This year of 1946 may be the last season in some time that Army can field any winning team. For one reason, too many colleges are paying good football players money that West Point and Annapolis won't and have no desire to meet. For another reason, too many young men have no yearning to get up at 5 a. m. and work 16 hours a day. It is my belief that college pay-

In my opinion Army will have the best backfield in college football-Blanchard, Davis, McWilliams and Ducker-power, speed, smartness and spirit. Once again, keep more open eye on McWilliams and known since 1943," Blaik says. "Frank Lahey at Notre Dame three deep with a flock of vetera s who range back to his great team of 1943. Many have picked Notre Dame as the best team in football It may be Pennsylvania will give us all the trouble we can handle. Navy had some hard luck in losing men, but Tom Hamilton will do a fine job with a squad that will give anyone a battle.

"Few men on our squad," Red added, "have ever known defeat. They love football. They are all fine officer material, and that is what West Point is supposed to turn out. We can be beaten and we may be beaten, but unless we are handicapped by injuries to key men, it will take quite a team to turn the trick."

At this point, Athletic Director Colonel Biff Jones was gazing moodily into the autumn sky.

"I was just thinking," he said, "that if we had enough parking space for the human body, we could play to at least 300,000 in the Michigan game, and over 800,000 in the Notre Dame and Navy games. We might do 300,000 in the Pennsylvania

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D.C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No realies can be made direct by mail, replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Effect of Blue Discharges

As the G.I. Bill of Rights states that a veteran who has received a discharge other than dishonorable is entitled to benefits, Veterans' administration is required to pass on each individual blue discharge case to determine if the veteran is entitled under the law.

When application is made by a veteran with a discharge without honor, it is investigated thoroughly. The service department in which the veteran was enlisted is contacted to determine the reason for a discharge without honor.

These include those who were discharged for desertion without trial, fraudulent enlistment (in which never existed), and probable undesirability, which type of discharge usually is given for cases involving moral turpitude. In such cases a man usually is given the privilege of accepting a discharge without honor in lieu of trial by court martial.

Questions and Answers

Q. My son was killed in service and my husband and myself are unable to do any hard work and we have three children under 18. Is there anything I can do to claim a pension for the death of my son? I am receiving his insurance but from what you tell me, to a service bracelet length sleeves are inconnected dependent's parents pension for the death of your son and should draw at least $25 each for yourself and your husband if he is the boy's father. Suggest you write or go see either of the Veterans' administration offices at Federal Office building at Houston or at 106 East 6th street, Austin, and give them all details. They will determine your eligibility for a pension. Q. Is it possible for me to visit my son's grave at government expense? If so, how soon?-R. S.,

Denver, Colo. A. There is no law at present which provides for any appropriation which may be used for expenses of civilians for travel to graves of veterans buried overseas.

Q. My former husband served in the army three years. During that time I received an allotment for my two children. We were divorced a year before he joined the army. The divorce papers state he has to pay alimony for the children and myself. The government sent us $40 we were getting as alimony and now I'm told all that the governyou answer this?-Mrs. G. L. D.

A. This is a legal case and you should consult an attorney. You might write to the office of Dependency Benefits, 215 Washington street, Newark 2, N. J., giving them full details.

Q. My husband served with Boals-burg troops in Texas and Mexico at His discharge was destroyed by fire quite a few years ago. On August 24, 1945, he passed away and I am a widow and have been unable to work since October, 1945. My hunband was an invalid for five years before he died. I would like to know If I am in any way entitled to a pension or a small income. We have a medal he received for Mexican border service in 1916 and he also served with the Pennsylvania, National Guard .- Mrs. M. L. R.; Lewistown, Pa.

A. I do not like to arouse your hopes then have them killed, but it is possible that you may be entitled to a pension. Write to the Office of the Adjutant General, War department. Washington 25, D. C., and ask for a certified copy of your husband's discharge and as much of his service record as they will send you. You might also contact the National Guard headquarters in Pennsylvania for any additional data concerning his service. Would suggest that you enlist the aid of the Red Cross or of the American Legion post in your town. When you have all possible information apply to your nearest office of the Veterans' administration and they will determine your eligibility for a pen-opposite? Put Good Above Goods. Read Proverbs 11: 23, 24. It is sometimes assumed that if the righteous desire only good, it must be wrong for them to be interested at all in money. Is that true or false? (False. The desire for good indicates the kind of interest they will have in money,) Notice what is said about him that "scattereth." What is he supposed to be scattering? (Money or goods.) How much do you have to own before you can start scattering, or giving or investing it where it will do good? (A dime, perhaps.) According to the principle stated a moment ago (above), if we ever find ourselves coveting money, we should start giving away or using for good some of the money we already have. If you think that would be an effective antidote to the covetous spirit, tell why. (Though it might be painful at first, the satisfaction you gain from doing or achieving something good with the aid of your money would give yo ua growing love for good to take the place of your love for money and goods.)

Value Life Above Things. Read Luke 12: 13-15. Here Jesus teaches us to put brotherly relations above personal possessions and to Free Estimates On All Make value that kind of abundant life which is not dependent upon an abundance of things. What does it take to make a successful life, if we rule out money and property as tests of success) Would you say, for example, that your success as a person is to be measured by the degree of skill you acquire in your chosen work or profession, or by how near the top you can climb as compared with your competitors? Or, do you agree with the view that your success as a person is not to be measured by that of anyone else? What light does Jesus' Parable of the Talents throw on this? (Each man was praised or blamed according to what he did with the talents entrusted to him. The two-talent man was adjudged to have been as successful as the five-talent

We all realize that if the making of a Christlike life is our big aim, we shall be saved from excessive desire to accumulate money and things. Read Luke 12: 16-21. It takes planning to achieve

Some young men know what they want and plan for it. Others are still looking for their niche. The new Regular Army can help both.

Perhaps you want to go to college but can't afford it. If you enlist in the Army, you'll get your chance. Honorably discharged after a three-year enlistment, you are eligible for 48 months of education at any college, trade, or business school for which you can qualify. The Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, plus $65 a month living allowance-$90 a month if you have dependents.

If you haven't found your spot, an Army enlistment offers you training in any of 200 trades and skills. You leave the service eligible for further training at the best civilian schools.

You can assure yourself of the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights if you enter the Army on or before October 5, 1946. See your nearest Army Recruiting Station for details.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REGULAR ARMY ENLISTMENT

1. Enlistments for 11/2, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)

2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.

3. A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.

4. A furfough for men who reenlist within 20 days. Full details of other furlough privileges can be obtained from Recruiting Officers.

5. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to enlist or rees 6. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All pre-vious active federal military service counts toward retirement.

7. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater (of those still open) on 3-year enlistments.
