Hard On Us

Don't get us wrong because we don't blame merchants at all for taking the Wednesday holiday but it "sho" is hard on the Graphic staff. If you get your Graphic on time we must work right on thru Wednesday afternoon and if we forget to get something we need or fail to get advertising copy on Tuesday then we are strictly in bad chape.

Raining, We Hear

One subscriber Tuesday asked us to report that it is raining. Probably by the time this is read it "ain't" but it surely was Tuesday.

Well Pleased

Morris Stallings of Stallings Implement Co. reports that he is well pleased with the response to the Home Cooking and Freezing School sponsored by the firm last Thursday night. Despite the extreme heat some sixty-five or seventy persons attended the school and stuck it out to the end. Incidentally, Nell attended and was presented with a fine broiled meal as one of the prizes.

Playground

Work was scheduled to start on the playground this week but the rain Monday night had delayed the work to some extent. The Playground Committee of the American Legion Auxiliary state that they hope to have the playground available to the youngsters of the town immediately. Tennis courts, sand boxes, swings, softball diamonds, etc. will be a part of the playground.

To Aid Playground

Several of the business men of the town have indicated their intent on to aid in preparing the playground on the old elementary school campus with bulldozers, tractors, etc. While none of the Playground Committee have so stated to us we feel certain that the Committee will appreciate assistance from any others or cash donations to the Playground Fund. This playground should and must be a community project although the American Legion Auxiliary has done a fine job in taking the leadership in plans for the playground.

Cease-Fire Plans

It is difficult for your editor to have much confidence in the cease-fire negotiations which have been set up for July 10. We are afraid that Red China will approach the conference with such demands that it will be impossible to accept them and reach an agreement. While we are more than anxious that the war in Korea be brought to an end we cannot believe it wise to concede even one point to the Reds. Let's look on both sides, top and bottom, before reaching any agreement.

Vacation Time

Many local people are taking advantage of the summer lull in business to either take their vacation or to set a time and alpe. From reports local people will visit a wide variety of places with the Gulf Coast being particularly popular.

New Money Order Forms In Use

Patrons of more than 42,000 Post Offices found the new and more convenient money order available Monday morning, July 2, 1951, according to Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson.

Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the depositing or cashing of a check.

The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip and purchasers will fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past. The regulation that money orders must be cashed as specified post offices has been eliminated. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a post office in another city an additional fee was charged.

The new system makes available most advanced electronic business to the Post Office Department of the machines. One machine, the IBM Type 808 Proof Machine, has been especially developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantages of the modern proof machine in widespread use by banks and large department stores throughout the country. Another of the principal machines to be used with the new system is the Electronic Statistical Machine, workhorse of the 1950 Census tabulation.

FILM MOVIE AT REELFOOT LAKE

TIPTONVILLE—A full-length motion picture, entitled "Mystery Lake," is now being filmed at Tennessee's unique Reelfoot Lake located near here.

Although the picture is a standard drama, picturesque Reelfoot and its activities form much of the background. Karl Maslowski and Woodrow Goodpasture, noted wildlife photographers, have made many of the outdoor scenes for the picture. Larry Lansbrough is the producer.

Buzzard Slough, Grassy Island, Cypress Point and some of the resorts along Reelfoot Lake will appear in the picture.

Go To Church Sunday.

CALENDAR of COMING EVENTS

Regular meeting of Halls Post No. 164 of the American Legion Monday night, July 9, at 8 o'clock at the Legion Hut. Chief business, election of officers for the forthcoming year.

Baptist Revival starting Wednesday, July 11, services twice daily. Rev. Thomas Pope, evangelist.

Clement, Gore Speak At Picnic

Despite the bad weather and poor condition of the park because of the continued rain, thousands of West Tennesseans were at Smith Bros. Park on Wednesday to hear two outstanding young Tennesseans, Rep. Albert Gore and past State Legion Commander Frank Clement.

While neither made an outright declaration, Gore is a definite candidate for the U. S. Senate in opposition to Sen. K. D. McKellar and Clement is an almost certain candidate for governor.

Probably the smallest crowd in some years was at the park for the annual Fourth of July Picnic and Barbecue but the annual event could still be classed as a success since the prolonged bad weather had handicapped the picnic greatly. The crowd enjoyed performances by Eddie Hill, Slim Rhodes and His Mountaineers and other radio and television performers.

County Tax Rate Remains At $4

RIPLEY—The Quarterly County Court of Lauderdale County, which met Monday, received news of the death of Magistrate Montell Bates while it was in session.

The principal matter before the Court was the setting of the tax rate of 1951. The rate was set at $4 per $100, the same as last year.

The request of U. S. Ross and other purchasers of Island 34 for a bridge across the gully from the island to the mainland of Arkansas was referred to the Highway Commission for investigation.

The manager of the Lauderdale County Hospital was requested to make a quarterly report of receipts and disbursements. The court decided not to make any specific appropriation now for operation of the hospital.

Mrs. Vernon McBride, C. S. Carney, Jr. and Rufus Campbell were re-elected members of the Board of Trustees of Sugar Hill Library.

ALAMO—The County Court in session Monday adopted the report of the county trustee, the county superintendent of schools, the road commissioner, and also that of the school budget. The tax rate for 1951 was set at $3, an increase of 22 cents over last year. Carmack Smothers of Bells was re-elected a member of the County School Board.

REVIVAL SERVICES ARE POSTPONED

Announcement is made that the revival which was scheduled to begin at the South Fork Baptist Church on the third Sunday in July has been postponed until the fifth Sunday in July.

The Rev. Loyd Cloud of Hodgenville, Ky. will bring the messages during the revival.

Veterans Training Deadline July 25

The deadline for starting GI Bill training for most World War II veterans is less than one month away, on July 25, Veterans Administration today reminded veterans.

The July 25 date applies to the vast majority of World War II veterans — those discharged before July 25, 1947, Kenneth A. Craft, Tennessee Regional Office Manager of the VA, said. Veterans discharged afterwards may begin their training within four years from the time they left the service.

A veteran actually must be in training by the cut-off date if he wants to continue his studies, Craft emphasized. A mere application for training, filed before the cut-off date, will not do.

VA, however, considers a veteran to be in training, even though he has temporarily interrupted his course for reasons beyond his control. The summer vacation is one such reason. Another would be the case of a veteran who had once started a course and now cannot resume it because he has returned to active duty.

The VA manager outlined the conditions veterans must meet for post-cut-off-date training:

They will be expected to pursue their training continuously until completion, except for conditions which normally would cause interruption by any student.

They may change their educational objective only while in training, and then for reasons satisfactory to VA.

And once they complete or discontinue their program of training after the cut-off date, they may not start another.

Senior 4-H Camp During Next Week

Ed White, Asst. County Agent

The District Camp for 4-H Club members who are 14-20 years of age will be held at the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, the week of July 9-14.

Older club members should make every effort to attend this week of Senior Camp. Special features to be enjoyed include supervised folk games and swimming, safe driving of cars, trucks, and tractors; Food Preservation Judging; and A 1 Star 4-H Program; motion pictures, singing; Vesper Services; and many more worthwhile activities.

Club members who plan to attend this camp should phone us at 234 and make reservations.

Junior 4-H Camp A Success

A total of 91 4-H Clubbers attended Junior Camp at Martin last week. This was the largest number ever to attend camp from Lauderdale County.

This county ranked third in total points for the week. Points were received for good house-keeping and winning athletic events.

We had a very orderly group from Lauderdale County. All the members attended most of the functions and had a good time in general.

Kitty Pitts, Patricia Pipkin, Anella Steelman, Buddy Denne, and Marshall Colvin attended the camp as Junior Leaders. Each of these leaders did a fine job of conducting the athletic and crafts program.

Chain Gilt Farrowing

Two of the 11 gilts in the county have farrowed recently. James Robert Wade's Duroc gilt farrowed 12 pigs on April 12 and raised 11 of them. Billy Griggs' Hampshire gilt farrowed 11 pigs the first of this week. Both of these boys have done a fine job with their swine program.

Insect Damage Is Great Menace Says County Agent

F. H. Paschal, County Agent

Gilreath Dyer of Halls this week sprayed 60 acres of soybeans with toxaphene by airplane to kill cutworms which were really cutting down soybeans about six inches tall. He used the plane, because the ground was so soft that he could not get in with a tractor, which would have done a more efficient job at less cost.

Climbing cutworms have appeared in many cotton fields over the county during the week, but these are not doing too much damage and will probably disappear if we ever have some really hot weather. We still have not found any boll weevils, but we certainly should continue to look. These other insects will damage crops and cut yields 10 to 15% but boll weevils will ruin us. They will cut our yields 90%, unless we really do a good job of controlling them. We Don't Believe In Insects

Tomato wilt was found in a number of gardens and fields this week. The only thing we can do to control this disease is to move the tomatoes to a new location next year and plant resistant varieties such as Rutgers and Marglobe.

I have not so far found any late blight in tomatoes. This disease is characterized by a browning of the outer edges of the leaves on the upper part of the plant. It can be controlled by the immediate use of copper dust or spray. The wilt is characterized by a yellowing of the end leaves on the lower part of the plant.

While inspecting tomatoes for diseases, I found in every case that growers would take much less by tomato fruit worms which have been going in the tiny tomatoes when they were the size of peas and growing up inside the tomatoes and eating their way out before going to other tomatoes. In order to control this worm, it is necessary to dust or spray or apply poison bait on the tomato vines once a week all the time they are blooming. This kills the small worms as they hatch and prevents the loss of so many tomatoes. This information has been available to tomato growers for many years, but evidently we believe that next year we will not have any insects.

We continue to kid ourselves into waiting to apply insecticides until after we have suffered the main part of the loss. Perhaps one-fourth of the loss of tomatoes can be prevented by dusting or spraying with cryolite, arsenic, rotenone, toxaphene, or other insecticides after the worms are seen in large numbers, but it is hard to do a good job on this unless a dust gun or pressure sprayer is used. Just shaking the insecticide over the plant out of a flour sack is a good way of salvaging our consciences. It does a very inefficient job of controlling the insects.

We Have Bean Beetles Too

Mexican bean beetles will this week destroy $10,000 worth of needed bunch and pole beans in the county because gardeners still believe they might not have these insects and do not have dust guns or sprayers which will efficiently apply cryolite or rotenone on the undersides of the bean leaves to kill the larvae of these bean beetles to keep them from absolutely destroying the bean vines just as they get to the highest producing ability.

A garden size dust gun will cost about $2.00 to $4.50 and will last 5 to 10 years. A 3 to 4 gallon pressure sprayer will cost $8.00 to $15.00 and last 5 to 10 years. Less than half as much poison is required to do a good job when a dust gun or sprayer is used as when the material is shaken out over the plants out of a flour sack. The plants are injured less by the insecticide and the insects can really be controlled.

Gardens are the most profitable plots of ground we have around our homes in town and country. Insects are now just as ever-present as death and taxes and every gardener should provide himself

Do's and Don'ts for Your Summer Vacation Automobile Trip

Automobile travel on the nation's highways is expected to reach a new peak this summer. To help travelers get the most pleasure out of touring, and to help keep their cars in the best possible condition, the Buick Service Department reminds owners of the following DO's and DON'Ts:

- DO be particularly careful to watch crankcase oil level on long trips.
- DO remember to switch tires and to watch pressure, especially on hot days.
- DO wash your car once a week to remove road film and chemicals.
- DO sit in a comfortable, erect position and rest frequently.
- DO keep the windshield free of dust and dirt at all times.
- DO give your car a Lubricate treatment.
- DO remember that most drivers can get 10 per cent more miles per gallon by observing economy rules.
- DON'T neglect inspection and adjustment of brakes before starting a long trip.
- DON'T allow grime and dirt to accumulate on chrome. Clean as frequently as necessary.
- DON'T take chances with improperly aimed headlights. Your safety is at stake.
- DON'T put off having the air cleaner cleaned and refilled with new oil.
- DON'T forget in warm weather your battery needs water frequently. Check it often.
- DON'T block vision with gadgets and stickers.
- DON'T drive faster than conditions warrant, don't run risks on the highway, and don't drive if you are fatigued.

that would apply this oil to the grass without killing the cotton. He made an excellent sprayer for a total of $17.55 that will cover 3 to 4 acres per day. It applies 5 to 8 gallons of the oil per acre which costs 35 cents per gallon. Under the present situation of having fast growing grass taller than slow growing cotton, this chemical control of grass seemed highly practical, especially since hoe hands were just not available. Robert Craddock of Halls applied this same material to 10 acres of cotton this week with a two-row tractor mounted rig and also tried it on some soybeans.

Office Department, the General Accounting Office, the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board.

The Department urges users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, spindled or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery.

Last year more than 300,000,000 money orders, totaling upward to five billion dollars were issued and paid by the Post Office Department.

The new money order system will be under the management and supervision of Assistant Postmaster General Osborne A. Pearson, who directs the Department's Bureau of Finance.

All new money orders will clear Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. The Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional Post Offices.

The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of the postal service, as well as to effect economy and the better to serve the general public.

Gas Tax Take To Set New Record

NASHVILLE — With the vacation season moving into full swing, motorists in Tennessee are reported burning more than 1,650,000 gallons of gasoline a day — with the State reaping $115,500 daily in gasoline taxes.

A study of official figures for the first few months of the year indicates that use of automobiles and trucks will exceed last year's record, according to Chas. G. Gilbert, Jr., of the Tennessee Petroleum Industries Committee.

"With all signs pointing toward a boom vacation season, Tennessee drivers in 1951 undoubtedly will set new marks in mileage and gasoline consumption, while the State will break 1950's record of $44,241,000 in State gasoline tax collections," he said.

"On a daily basis, Tennessee highway users in the early months of last year averaged 1,640,000 gallons of gasoline on which the State took in $107,800 in State gas taxes each 24 hours."

Sunday School Lesson

By Walter C. Davis, D. D., Tennessee School of Religion, University of Tennessee (Luke 2:51-52; 10:38-42 II Tim. 1:1-6)

"Living Together In The Family"

There is a felt need today to instruct young people on home life in preparation for marriage. Universities are setting up courses on it. Books are being written for the use of pastors in counseling with young people. One denomination sets as an ideal that a minister should not marry a couple until he has first given this instruction. It certainly is of much greater significance than the practice for the marriage service, the arrangement of flowers, how to march in and out, the proper way to exchange rings in the ceremony.

I sat with a group of teen-age girls and gazed upon their wall motto: "The Future Homemakers of America." What a proud movement that is. Here are girls unashamed to own that they look forward to marriage, to homemaking, to rearing children. All honor to these girls who are candidates for woman's highest calling — homemaking.

"The family is the fundamental unit in human relationships. The home is the fortress, weak or strong, of the family. The family altar gives the family a spiritual background and viewpoint. The Church needs Christian homes; the world needs Christian homes; that is why the home needs the family altar." (by P. D. Brown)

Home is the place where young people begin to work at being Christians. Too many times we think the responsibility for the home rests altogether on the parents. The children too share this responsibility and can do much to make the home succeed or fail. Many a parent's heart has been broken by the stubborn disobedience of a child bent on having his own way.

The foundations of a happy family life are these:

- 1. Forebearance. "To treat with patience." "To refrain from some actions." "To refrain from enforcing a right." Kindness goes a long way in the home.
2. Forgiveness. Of all places the best place to say "I beg your pardon" is in the home. Forgive as you would be forgiven.
3. Respect. "Familiarity breeds contempt." We must not allow

Don't Forget To Meet Your Friends at PERRY'S 10c STORE Halls, Tennessee We're Always Glad To Have You that in the home. Let your own people be the ones to see you at your best.

4. Sharing. To share gifts, friendly conversation, family labors, happiness, good cheer, reading together.
5. Responsibility. The spirit and life of the home are the responsibilities of both husband and wife. Great Americans have come come from good homes. Webster, Lincoln, Lee and many others have given mother and home the credit for what they were. Many of them have even thanked their parents for the disciplines of life. A "Mother of the Year" whose four sons had found places of great usefulness was asked how she did so well in rearing them. She said: "I did it with much prayer and a good hickory."

How to make Wise Tracks to a Beauty

How do you buy a new car?
Are you one of those people who buy on love at first sight?
Or do you check cars feature for feature, price for price—then pick the one that gives you the most for your money?
Whichever you are, we'd like to suggest that you come in and see our 1951 Buicks.
It's a sure bet you'll go for the swift, smart look of a SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—fall seriously in love with the pace and power of its bonnet-filling engine.
And it's a cinch you'll go for the room and richness of those Buick interiors—the serene smoothness of Dynaflo Drive* and all-coil springing.
But don't let your emotion be the only judge—get the practical picture too.

Note that the power that gives you such a big kick here comes from Buick's famed valve-in-head Fireball Engine—which means you get a lot of miles from each gallon of gas you buy.
Note that the silken ease you enjoy with Dynaflo* goes hand in hand with real money savings in maintenance costs.
Above all, note what a Buick's price tag includes—how much more sheer automobile you get in a Buick than the same money would buy elsewhere.
How about making tracks to our showroom right soon—checking thoroughly into the matter—and see if you don't fall in love with a smart-buy Buick?

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

- DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL ENGINE
- 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DUAL VENTILATION
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
- WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING
- BODY BY FISHER

Parents' Problems

By DONALD M. MAYNARD

"BOSSY" YOUNGSTERS

What is the best approach to a five-year-old who is inclined to boss her younger playmates? Inasmuch as you imply your daughter's "bossiness is not extreme," there is no cause for alarm on your part. Five-year-olds frequently tend to boss younger children, although it also should be noted that many at this age become a bit less "bossy" than formerly.

As you supervise the play of these children, suggest to your daughter that "It's fun to take turns doing what each one wants to do," and quietly guide their activities so that the younger children have some of their wishes granted.

In doing this you may need to guard against the tendency to pay more attention to the young children's wishes than to your own child's desires. In other words, try to see that there is fair play on the part of all.

If your child should become extremely demanding in her play with younger children, it may reflect a resentment against older children who boss her, or even against you and your husband. I don't believe this is the cause of your daughter's behavior, however. Therefore, let me recommend quiet suggestions rather than scolding or any form of extraneous punishment. Sometimes parents tell their children that they can't play with younger children until they are willing to do so without bossing them.

At times this may be effective, although there is a danger that it may stifle qualities of leadership that temporarily are expressing themselves in this unfortunate manner.

PAYING FOR HOME WORK

Should children be paid for doing work at home—washing dishes, mowing the lawn, and so forth?

This problem of whether or not one should pay children for work done at home cannot be separated from that of an allowance.

As a member of the family each child should have some of the privileges that go with family membership. One of these is a share of the family income. This will take the form of an allowance, the amount to be determined by the age and needs of the child and the status of the family bank account.

Generally speaking, the allowance should be large enough to meet the basic needs of the child and to provide a few luxuries, but should not be so large that he feels no need for saving or wise spending.

Just as the child should have some of the privileges that go along with family membership, so should he assume some of the responsibilities that inhere in this relationship. These involve work around the home and yard. Let children and parents decide together what are to be the responsibilities of the children.

If, for example, washing dishes and mowing lawns are included, as well they may be, certainly children should not be paid for them. There will be emergencies, also, when it is necessary for the entire family to pitch in and help, without any thought of monetary reward.

On the other hand, if, over and above the duties regularly assigned to children, they are asked to do specific tasks for which the family ordinarily pays someone else, then I see no reason why they should not be paid for doing them. But these will be exceptional cases and I would guard at all times against letting children think of work at home primarily in terms of monetary award.

THE FAMILY CIRCLE

We hear much about how important it is for families to be together. Our children are reaching the age when they want to be with the gang most of the time. They don't like to hang around home, play games with the family, etc. Frankly, we like for them to be with their friends and we like to be with ours. Should we try harder to keep the family together?

I'm not sure that you should. When children are young, many happy hours may be spent playing games and have interesting experiences. There comes a time, as it has come for your children, when youngsters want to be out with members of the gang most of the time. You are quite right in feeling that they should have the privilege of being with their friends and you with yours. Certainly you should not hide them because they are not spending more time with you.

Nevertheless, it is unfortunate if, as children grow older, families never have fun together for fun and fellowship. Perhaps members of the family can make definite plans to stay at home and enjoy each other one night a week, or, if that is too often, one night a month.

Some families may enjoy making popcorn and candy and playing games together; others may enjoy listening to records; still others may want to work on individual hobbies, or just to talk. Occasional trips together as a family may be enjoyed. Some families enjoy going to a ball game together. In other words, it is wise to plan for occasional family "get-togethers."

It should not be forgotten that gangs usually must have some place to go! Encourage your children to bring their gangs to your house, and then to be sure to remain directly in the background while they are there. Let them use the living room and the kitchen for their activities.

Your house may not remain as epic and span as it would otherwise but after all, youngsters are more important than having a house in perfect condition.

Fast, Accurate Telephone Service is Vital to Civil Defense

Warnings of approaching planes, coming from air raid spotters or military radar screens, are flashed over networks of Long Distance and local telephone lines to Filter Centers.

Telephone reports are quickly charted on Filter Center Maps. Then Air Force interceptor planes are alerted. Rescue and relief work, too, are directed by telephone.

This is but one type of the many special telephone networks serving government and military forces to help protect our Nation.

This great and growing telephone system was built to serve America in peace. But it is just as ready to serve in any emergency.

The value of this nationwide telephone network was never greater—never clearer—than it is today.

Zoot Suiter

William French has recently joined the "zoot suit" brigade according to a picture on a recent issue of the Dealer News which is published by the International Harvester concern. Seems that William made a bet with a firm in Dunn, North Carolina that they would sell a total of 44 tractors within a three month period. Actually they sold 123 and were forced to pay up on their bet which must have been a suit of clothes. What William actually got was a colorful "zoot" suit and hat which included a grey hat, yellow shirt, green tie and socks, plaid coat, black "reef-pleat" trousers, brown and white shoes, and for a conservative touch, a suit of long red underwear. William as we remember him is just the guy who can wear 'em too. William is a native of Halls, a graduate of Halls High School and has been in the employ of International Harvester since finishing high school in 1935. He is presently assistant manager of the Charlotte, N. C. district.

Cotton Hands

We hear that J. N. Roberts has recently hired some new cotton choppers, 13 geese. A number of farmers in this section have geese and most of them seem well pleased with the results.

Congratulations

Our congratulations to Dr. J. W. Todd upon being named head of the Halls Post of the American Legion for the forthcoming year. We feel that the post has made a good selection.

Advertising Pays

In the classified adv. this week may be found an announcement by Hilliard Radio & Appliance Co. that they have no more used sewing machines. Seems that their classified adv. has been doing too good a job and they have more calls for machines than they have machines. It pays to advertise in the want ads.

Public Spirit

Much appreciation should be shown to Mr. Lon Viar, Charles Viar, Bill Campbell, J. W. Warren and Clyde Younger for their work, advice and leadership in grading the elementary school campus for the playground. All have assisted the project greatly and members of the American Legion Auxiliary have asked us to state their thanks. A fine public spirit has been shown by these men. Incidentally, it is amazing just what can be done with a bulldozer and to us Bill Campbell has worked wonders.

How About Boy Scouts?

Now that the old elementary school will probably become available for use as a community center, teen-age canteen, etc. it seems to us the movement to set up a boy scout troop here should be revived. One of the major obstacles in the path of a good, active troop has been a meeting place but this problem could possibly be answered if anyone is interested since one of the rooms in the old building could be set aside exclusively for scout use. Of course there still remains the problem of a scoutmaster but perhaps this can be worked out if other obstacles are surmounted.

Unbelievable

Sometimes we are quite dubious of reporting news which has been given us and we have a report before us which we think needs verifying. Seems that R. V. and Ora Agee drove over to see Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edens in Cotton Plant, Ark. and found that Kenneth had recently purchased a new FISHING boat. You may believe this of Kenneth or not just as you prefer but we are acting only as a reporter of so-called facts. Incidentally, the Agees report that the Edens are doing nicely in their home at Cotton Plant.

Rules Outlined For SS Payments

"If you have a laundry for at least part of one day a week, and employ the same person on part of another day in the same week to clean house or get dinner, the chances are that this person is covered by Social Security."

In making this statement, Joe P. Tipton, Manager of the Dyersburg Social Security office, points out that it must be the same maid on both days, and she must be employed by you on not less than two days, week after week.

"For example," Mr. Tipton says, "if you employ one person as a laundress on Mondays, and another as a cook on Fridays, the work they do for you would not count toward social security. Each employee must work for you on not less than 24 days in a 3-month period. Since there are 13 weeks in a calendar quarter, a maid employed by you on an average of one day a week would not meet the 24-day regularity test. In addition she must be paid by you not less than $50 in cash wages during a 3-month period."

The Social Security Administration has a booklet "Do You Have a Maid?" It enables employers to determine quickly whether their household workers come under the new social security law. This new booklet can be obtained by writing to the Social Security Administration, Box 368, Dyersburg, Tennessee.

Scrap Metal Is Vitally Needed

Farmers, industrial leaders and owners of automobile 'graveyards' of Lauderdale county were asked by the Federal Government this week to cooperate in relieving the present nationwide shortage of scrap supplies at steel mills so that the national program of rearmament could be carried out.

A concerted effort in ferretting out scrap steel and iron from plants, warehouses and other industrial centers, from farms and from automobile "graveyards" and getting it moved to market channels to save the nation from a grave shortage at this time was requested in an appeal received here from Merrill C. Lofton, southeastern regional director of the U. S. Department of Commerce, Atlanta.

Inventories of scrap iron and steel at the nation's 200 mills and foundries are "dangerously low," Mr. Lofton stated, "and unless scrap supplies are appreciably expanded within the next four months the steel production program faces a serious crippling threat."

"Without sufficient supplies of scrap steel, which is essential to the production of new steel, a lag in the steel program would affect not only defense and defense-supporting industries but would limit production of civilian consumer goods such as automobiles, refrigerators and stoves," he added.

"As evidence of the seriousness of the situation, the Commerce Department official pointed to the fact that two large producers recently were operating with less than a two-day supply of scrap and that most other mills have less than a two-week supply compared with a normal 60-day or larger inventory."

The present consumption of scrap steel is the highest in history, Mr. Lofton said, "even higher than in the peak years of World War II. The highest wartime consumption was 24 1-2 million tons a year. Last year, 29 1-2 million tons were used, and this year the consumption is expected to rise to 32 1-2 million tons or more, an increase over 1950 of at least 3 million tons."

"Lauderdale countians can help in this worthy campaign by 'spotting' any scrap metal that may be lying around and getting in touch with the nearest scrap dealer so that it can be moved to market and thence to the steel mills which need it very badly," Mr. Lofton said. "It will find its way eventually into some weapon of defense, or some defense, or some defense-supporting instrument which will help us in our present fight against the aggression of communism."

Rose To Supervise Playground

The Rev. Albert L. Rose, pastor of First Christian Church, has been named as playground supervisor according to an announcement by the American Legion Auxiliary which has headed the drive to establish the playground. The Rev. Rose will take active charge as quickly as work on the playground is completed.

Work on grading and leveling the old elementary school campus for the playground was started last Thursday and was carried on at a rapid rate with most of the grading completed by the end of the week. Bulldozers and motor patrols were used to do the grading with a six-foot terrace established just at the rear of the building.

Construction on the tennis courts, etc. will be delayed for a few days but will be in use by the end of the month and possibly sooner.

Included in the playground will be swings, slides, see-saws, etc. for the smaller children, croquet, softball, tennis and other games for the larger children. Present plans call for the playground to be under supervision several hours each day.

QUARANTINE LAKE COUNTY LIVESTOCK

As the result of a recent outbreak of anthrax in Lake county a quarantine has been placed in effect in the movement of all livestock by the state veterinarian of the Department of Agriculture.

The quarantine prohibits the movement of livestock into or out of Lake County and also prohibits the movement of livestock within the county, that is, from one farm to another. The quarantine will remain in effect for fifteen days after the last livestock death from the disease occurs.

The outbreak occurred about 2 weeks ago. In the meantime approximately one hundred mules, about a dozen head of cattle and a number of hogs have died of the disease.

Mrs. Gerrard resigned to accompany her husband to Grenada, Miss. where he has recently been named head coach. He was assistant coach at Ripley this past year.

Boll Weevils Are Found In Cotton

F. H. Paschal
County Agent

John Upchurch of Henry County is President of the Farmers' and Homemakers' Institute which will meet at 9:00 o'clock at the West Tennessee Experiment Station on Tuesday, July 24.

The men will study experiments on plant diseases and varieties of cotton, corn, alfalfa, soybeans, and small grains, look over pastures, see chemical weed control methods demonstrated and hear a discussion on controlling cotton insects during the morning session.

The women will see a frozen foods demonstration given by Dorothy Barbee, a Ripley girl, now Home Economist with TVA, and see a Wash Dress Revue in the morning.

Dr. John R. Hutcheson, Chancellor, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Virginia, will make the main address of the afternoon session.

Each year a hundred or more Lauderdale County farmers, eager to learn of the newest developments in farming, attend this Farmers' Institute at the Experiment Station. Certainly it is a good idea for every farm family to go to the institute every year or so to keep up to date on the newest developments in agriculture and homemaking. We shall be glad to provide a program on request.

B. M. Griffin and Sidney Carmack of Dry Hill Community found boll weevil larvae in cotton squares this week in large numbers in small spots. The squares had already fallen off the cotton.

Since these weevils were in small spots which were near fence rows where the weevils no doubt hibernated, this cotton will be sprayed or dusted three times at four day intervals to kill the weevils in these areas and further weevils will be watched for in the remainder of the crop.

Boll Weevils have not been found in great numbers over wide areas anywhere in the county yet, but farmers should certainly continue examining squares which fall to the ground and observe other squares on the cotton for signs of boll weevils. Boll worms are doing more visible damage in cotton fields now than any other insects. They are very difficult to find, but in many fields the damage may be easily seen by a close examination of the squares which will be found to have a hole fully 1/4 of an inch in diameter cut in the center of the square. DDT is the specific insecticide for this worm, although Toxophene will control the small worms in a satisfactory manner when used at the rate of one pound of actual Toxophene per acre. Aldrin does not kill the insect; so DDT should be added where this worm is present.

When small squares are found on the ground and where there is other evidence that small squares have been caused to fall off the cotton, the Tarnished Plant Bug and Fleashopper should be suspected. Aldrin, Toxophene, or 3-5-0 BHC either in dust or liquid form will control these insects.

Several farmers every week are buying four-row liquid sprayers for mounting on tractors and are buying insecticides just as a matter of good insurance. If we keep having hot dry weather, we are not likely to have too many boll weevils and other insects, but cool damp weather sees to favor the greater multiplication and increase the threat from these insects.

Tennessee Is Green
Pink Johnson of Luckett and Louis Johnson of Pleasant Hill used chemical oil to kill crab grass in cotton this week and many other farmers made a determined fight against the worst grass situation we have had in several years.

The difficulty in using chemicals to kill the grass is the fact that the same chemical will kill the cotton if it hits the leaves or hits on the stalk to a great extent. Some farmers have complained in the last two weeks that this keep Tennessee green idea had been carried too far. Certainly we have had a chance to see that grass grows wonderfully well here when it is fertilized and that it

Chipped Beef on a Bun

Use toasted enriched hamburger buns to make excellent open-face sandwiches as well as to shelter 'burgers. Here these good buns are topped with creamed chipped beef and kernel corn.

When you buy hamburger buns at your baker's for summer picnics, get an extra supply of these thrifty breads to make tempting sandwiches for the family lunch.

Big brown sandwich buns are delicious toasted and topped with creamed fillings of various types. Spoon creamed chipped beef combined with kernel corn liberally over the buns for a flavorful and quick-to-fix main dish. Another good topping is creamed tuna with green peas, or a golden cheese sauce garnished with bacon. This type of menu is easy to complete with a cooked fresh vegetable or salad, milk, and cookies for dessert.

Hamburger buns are popular with children and add interesting variety to the day's servings of enriched breads. These are important, you know, for their contribution of protein, essential B-vitamins, food iron, and food energy.

When you bake yeast rolls, plan to shape part of the dough into hamburger buns for sandwich meals.

CHIPPED BEEF TOASTWICHES

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup chipped beef
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup cooked kernel corn
1/4 cup chipped beef
Sandwich buns, split and toasted

Melt shortening in top of double boiler. Add flour and gradually pour in milk. Add kernel corn. Stir constantly until thickened. Rinse chipped beef with boiling water and add to cream sauce. Cook over double boiler 10 minutes. Serve hot over split, toasted sandwich buns. Makes 4 servings.

Another point is to "put action in your copy, have things happening." The U-T professor explains that a word picture of a family cooking hamburgers in the open is much more effective than the line, "picnic kit for sale."

The article suggests that businessmen do a little research to find out what qualities their products have which satisfy consumer wants and desires. A dairy which queried its customers on milk qualities and delivery service, then keyed advertising to the results, increased its business by 25 percent.

Long-range profits should also be considered in advertising, says the article. "Institutional" advertisements describing services such as free parking and other unique facilities, or emphasizing the care taken in filling prescriptions, all help to give a store a personality of its own — one that customers feel they "know."

MR. AND NUNN ARE HOSTS

BUY MORE FOOD

An hour of factory work will buy, on the average, a larger quantity of nearly all kinds of food than it would a generation ago. For example, the average wage for an hour of factory work in 1929 would buy 6.4 loaves of bread, compared with 10 loaves last February.

Planned Advertising Pays Dividends

KNOXVILLE—Advertising is big business but it won't bring big sales if the businessman pushes "lemons," knocks his competitors, or spends a lot once in a while and nothing in between.

That's the advice to Tennessee businessmen by a University of Tennessee marketing specialist, Prof. Robert B. Wentworth. Professor Wentworth advances some guides to good advertising in the current issue of "Tennessee Business," publication distributed by the U-T College of Business Administration.

Since advertising is big business, it should be handled by experts, according to the U-T man, but even the beginner can stretch his advertising dollars by avoiding common mistakes.

Here are some of the things "not" to do: brag about your business, advertise merchandise that hasn't moved and probably won't move, overspend once or twice yet underspend the rest of the time, criticize the competition, imitate advertisements of others, and speak in glib generalities.

Most important, according to the article, "don't push the merchandise you want to sell rather than find out what customers want to buy."

Professor Wentworth advises businessmen to be specific, truthful, informative, and to put the "you attitude" in their advertising. Instead of saying "this car is economical," tell the customer to "put a gallon of gas in the tank and you can go from here to Dyersburg and back."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Right Under Our Nose!

Sometime back, we got word from the Governor, asking if we wanted to use the State Fire Inspection Team—a group of experts they send around to communities to inspect public buildings.

We sent a letter saying: "Okay! Give us the once-over!" They came down, all right—last week.

After the inspection, we got their report. Came out pretty well, all told. Town Hall and the School were O.K. Post Office just needed more sandbuckets. In fact, everything got a clean bill of health, except—the Fire Station!

From where I sit, we volunteer firemen had just been too busy keeping everyone else on the ball—and not realizing our own firehouse was not up to snuff. Like the man who worries so much about his neighbors—about whether they work hard enough, about whether they can really afford their new car, about their enjoying a temperate glass of beer—that he forgets to take a good critical look at himself now and then.

Louis S. Clapper
State Game and Fish Commission
The number of drownings on Tennessee's 600,000 acres of water this Spring is appalling. Conservation officers of the State Game and Fish Commission report seeing daily examples of careless or foolhardy behavior in boats, while fishing from banks or in swimming.

With more and more people turning to the lakes and streams for recreation, the Tennessee Safety Council has drawn up a list of common-sense precautions which will prevent, if followed, many of the drownings. For boaters, these suggestions are offered:

- 1. Never overload your boat; seats do not always indicate the safe capacity of the load.
2. Never stay out in open water during a storm—heed weather signs.
3. Never stand in a boat that is moving.
4. Never smoke while refueling.
5. Never jump into a boat; step in the center.
6. Make sure the motor is not too powerful for the boat.

U. S. Coast Guard regulations require that all occupants of boat wear approved life preservers.

Hungry appetites account for most of the fish taken by Tennessee anglers but few of the piscatorial prizes get in troubles comparable to those encountered by two big bass. M. E. Davidson, of Columbia, was fishing for bluegills at Negro Island on Duck River recently and hooked what seems to be a beauty weighing some three-quarters of a pound. However, as he played the fish, it must have looked attractive to a 5-lb. largemouth. The lunger hit, knocking the bluegill off the line but hooking itself. Mr. Davidson was happy about the trade, to say the least! This oddity, however, gives way to a situation enjoyed by four Collierville anglers. Fishing near Pickwick Dam, the quartet saw a huge fish slowly swimming on the surface. Moving up cautiously, one of the men reached down and

Weekend Chowder

If Saturday lunches and Sunday night suppers pose a menu problem for you, here's a suggestion that should work into the scheme of things to everyone's enjoyment. A hearty vegetable chowder, studded with crisp bacon, and served with rolled egg sandwiches will prove to be more than just a weekend favorite. Ac'cent, (pure monosodium glutamate) included in the chowder and sandwich fillings will assure you of top-flight taste.

VEGETABLE CHOWDER

2 cups water
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 package (12 ounces) frozen mixed vegetables
4 strips bacon, diced
1 medium sized onion, diced
3 tablespoons flour
1 quart milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent (monosodium glutamate)
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon pepper
Bring water to boil in covered saucepan; add celery and frozen mixed vegetables. Cover and bring to boil; boil gently until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Saute bacon and onion in heavy pot, stirring frequently until bacon is brown and crisp, 10 to 15 minutes. Add flour and stir until smoothly blended. Stir in milk slowly. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Boil gently for 2 minutes. Add the mixed vegetables with their liquid. Reheat. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts soup or 5 servings.

Rolls Egg Sandwich Filling
Blend chopped hard-cooked egg with minced celery and mayonnaise. Season with Ac'cent (1/2 teaspoon per four eggs), salt and pepper and prepared mustard. Garnish with watercress.

flipped the 6 1/2-pound largemouth into the boat. A three-quarter pound crappie was lodged in its throat, thus accounting for the peculiar behavior. Both fish wound up in the frying pan!

Officials of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park caution visitors not to feed the wild bears. The bears do not realize it when a generous donor runs out of food and they sometimes decide to try to try the taste of an arm or leg.

What some folks do to catch fish! Vess Maynard, conservation officer stationed at Dale Hollow Lake, caught a man who was using a harpoon gun to take bass. The gadget, some 7 feet long, held a harpoon which was "shot" by a spring mechanism. A reel allowed the line to play out and secure the hooked fish. The gun had a trigger and sights and apparently was manufactured in Nice, France, at a cost of some 6500 francs. A man, obviously a foreigner who gave his name as S. A. Birn of Louisville, was caught using the contraption and he had taken two small bass. He used diving goggles and would shoot fish under water. The harpoon could be aimed accurately for 25 - 30 feet in the air, less in the water. Birn forfeited bond. Tom L. Bingham, Chief of Law Enforcement, believes the unusual gadget was responsible for the giant bass found giggered last summer at Dale Hollow.

CHIGGERS
If chiggers infest favorite spots around the home or farm, they can be cleared out with any one of several insecticides. Three new insecticides effective against chiggers are chlordane, toxaphene, and lindane, as sprays or dusts. Gardens should not be treated with these materials; and dust or spray should not be allowed to drift into fish ponds.

If you spill grease on the kitchen floor, pour ice water over the spot immediately. This will harden the grease before it has time to soak in; then scrape it off with a dull-bladed knife.
Proper seedbed preparation makes pasture establishment easier and less expensive. Start early enough to do the job right, advise specialists of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service.

THREATS OF PUNISHMENT

Should the refusal of a ride to Sunday school be held as a constant threat of punishment over children in one's neighborhood and should I ever accept that ride again even after an apology?

The answer to the first question is an obvious "no." In fact, threats of any kind are poor disciplinary measures. It would seem especially undesirable to associate Sunday school with the idea of punishment. Unfortunately, too for some children, the inability to get to Sunday School might not be deemed punishment.

The answer to your second question is obviously "yes." It's a pretty small person that will not accept a sincere apology in good faith and try to let "bygones be bygones."

silly to adults. Nevertheless, a certain amount of learning by trial and error is essential if children are to develop normally.

Sometimes this deviation from standard behavior is for the purpose of seeing the reaction of the parents will be. Punching holes in the bread may belong to this category. If your child sees it doesn't bother you and you make no comment about it, he will probably stop it in a short time.

You must not expect "adult manners" of children, however.

Sunday School Lesson

By Walter C. Davis, D. D., Tennessee School of Religion, University of Tennessee

(Matt. 19:3-9; I Cor. 13:4-7)

"HOMES THAT DO NOT FAIL"

The title of our lesson is arresting. It is recognized that the home does not run automatically. It will have its trials. Its interests must be safeguarded the same as any other institution. It will need and deserves love and planning and sacrifice and devotion.

All who enter marriage should ask themselves seriously, "How can we keep love warm and ardent and at the same time be practical? How can we be at our best in the home? How can we best share our happiness and make home our happiest place?"

I think we can take this as an axiom: "Every child has a right to be brought up in the Christian way of life." If that is the best way, as nearly everybody in America believes it is, then parents are not fair to their children if they fail to give them this chance.

Under Bible teachings the head of the family is the husband and father. It was made his responsibility to teach religion to the children.

CLOVERLEAF
NONFAT DRY MILK SOLIDS

Suppose the above picture does not fit your daughter at all. What then? It may be that she is just one of the generous souls that, although often imposed upon, nevertheless brings much more happiness than gloom to the world. Do not be too disturbed about it.

You may, however, want to help her see that it is not wise always to do for others that which they should do for themselves. By being generous and helpful she can keep her friends from developing the inner disciplines they so sorely need.

Remind her of one of the queer quirks of human nature, which is that we are likely to care less for those who go out of their way to help us than for those whom we ourselves go out of our way to help.

In other words, one way to get persons to like you is to let them do things for you.

THAT "SILLY AGE"

Must our children, age 5-8, go through a "silly age" when they greet visitors with a funny face instead of a courteous "how do you do," when they punch holes in the bread instead of eating in a mannerly fashion, etc.? I want my children to have fun, but I want them to be well bred.

A certain amount of so-called "silly" behavior is more or less normal for children and as a rule should cause parents no alarm. Whether such behavior is desirable or not depends largely upon the reason for it. There are at least three:

1. There is that type of silliness which occurs when children are tired or have been unduly excited. At the close of a busy day, for example, brothers and sisters may get hilarious and giggly. They shout with glee at inane remarks made by others; they make funny faces and laugh uproariously; they may bounce up and down on the sofa or bed or throw themselves around on the floor with abandon, landing in all sorts of grotesque positions. Should visitors arrive at such a time, they almost certainly will be greeted by a funny face.

This type of silliness is not to be considered undesirable unless the frequency of its occurrence suggests that the children do not get sufficient rest or have too many exciting experiences.

2. Children sometimes are silly because they do not know what to do or say and consequently are embarrassed. If they have not been taught how to greet guests, or even so have had little experience in doing so, the funny face may be simply an attempt to cover up their embarrassment.

3. Children get tired of doing everything the same way all the time. They like to experiment and many times their experiments seem gregational singing. I can still hear his baritone voice start the old doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." That memory of my father will never fade, and it is a richer heritage than money or lands.

The foundations of the home rest in the word of God. Human society cannot exist without them, and the best possible home is the Christian home.

Here is a family with five good, wholesome children. They love sports. They love to sing. They love school and church. Their mother takes an interest in all their interests, and manages to be with them a great deal, and how they love her!

They love the father, too, for children naturally love father if they have a chance. He is kind in a way, works hard, supports his family. He declares, however, that his responsibility ends when he supplies them shelter, food, clothing, books and spending money. He never goes with them to church or Sunday School. He spends the evenings away from them with other men cronies. If one wins an honor in school he is not present to witness its presentation. He does not even go to see a child graduate. In spite of the fact he supports them well he is failing his children. He will regret it some day, when it is too late.

My heritage is different. Being one of seven, the money inheritance was not great. But I can still hear my mother and father sing together as we gathered around the open fire. Then we all sang, not just religious songs, but folk songs and even silly ones. He had time to hear our speeches we were to deliver at school and taught us how to say them better. He took us in the old farm wagon to the country meeting house every preaching day. It was he who "lifted the hymns" for the con-

Information Free On Social Security

You don't need to pay a dollar, or any other sum, to get full information about your rights under social security. It's yours for the asking at the social security office, either in printed booklet form or in direct, authoritative advice straight across the desk.

So says Joe P. Tipton, manager of the local social security office, who is concerned about inquiries on a direct-mail promotion that has been soliciting residents with offers of social security information in exchange for one dollar.

"The individuals behind this promotion scheme have no connection whatever with the Social Security Administration," said Mr. Tipton. "We have investigated their offer and find that the 'advice' they advertise consists solely of a small booklet, principally reprinted from the text of one of our pamphlets. There is no information in the booklet that is not available free of charge in our office." "Furthermore, your social security office is the only place," said Mr. Tipton, "which can give you advice or information concerning your own specific account or claim under old-age and survivors insurance, the Federal social security program. You never need to employ legal aid or pay any fees to get complete service."

Mr. Tipton said he had just received supplies of the newest social security publication, a 48-page edition listed as Booklet 35. Containing a complete review of the new social security law, in easy-to-read language. It will be sent without charge upon request by mail or telephone, or may be picked up at the office, which is located in the First-Citizens National Bank Building, Dyersburg.

MRS. MERRITT SAYS NAGGING AGES AND PAINS LEFT HER AFTER TAKING HADACOL

HADACOL Relieves Nagging Aches and Pains When Due to Deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

Mrs. Louise Merritt of Earling, West Virginia, suffered from nagging aches and pains, a poor appetite and a tired, run-down feeling which can be caused by a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron and the pains bothered her so that she was unable to do much house work. But let Mrs. Merritt tell her story in her own words:

Louise Merritt

"I am 27 years old, married, and I am a housewife. Before I started taking HADACOL I didn't have any appetite. I felt tired all the time and I suffered from nagging aches and pains, and I was unable to do much house work. Now, I am on my 4th bottle of HADACOL and I am eating well and the nagging aches and pains and tired feelings have all left me. I was also underweight before taking HADACOL. Now I have gained a few pounds. I intend to continue taking HADACOL."

Yes, now Mrs. Merritt is able to enjoy life once again.

HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron in the system. AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL's wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

PARDON us if we play switchman with a familiar railroad phrase, but we aim to flag down some certain people...

Those folks who've always had a great big yen for a new Buick, but a big worry that Buick prices ran too high for their budgets.

Now we'll have to grant you that — on style and beauty and size and impressive appearance — a 1951 Buick looks like a pretty high price tag.

And we'll have to grant, too, that the zooming power and the luxurious ride and the heavyweight steadiness you get in a Buick would also indicate prices beyond the reach of most people.

But honestly, could anything be farther from the truth when you note the sample prices for 1951 Buicks in the panel yonder?

Isn't that beauty—with the big-power, big-mileage, eight-cylinder, valve-in-head Fireball Engine—and with prices starting below those of many of today's sixes—really within your budget picture?

Won't you admit here and now that you can have Buick room and comfort, can have Buick ride and handling, can have Buick style and size—for little, if any, more than you've been paying for lesser cars?

That leaves the next step up to you—stopping in to see us.

Come in soon, look over the SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER you've always wanted — and let that happy glow go surging all through you as you sign up for your smart-buy Buick.

(Continued From Page 1) grows while we sleep. It has caused us to wonder whether we are right in thinking that cotton is the only crop we should grow as our "cash crop" when grass grows so well and the climate is so well suited to the production of beef cattle, hogs, sheep and dairy cows.

Winter Legumes Count

Practically all the cotton I have seen in the last month which was planted in April on land which had plenty of organic matter in it was growing vigorously and had come up to a good stand. The seeding of vetch in cotton middles during August and September and October for turning under in early April is certainly a most practical farm practice. Many farmers claim they could not get through their interlocked cotton in August or September should even try seeding vetch in late October after the second picking, but the vast majority of the land (which so desperately needs vetch) could easily be gone through in August or September with a drill or with a sweep which would cover the vetch seed to a good depth.

Even our wonderful Lauderdale County soil will reward us for good practices diligently followed and will disappoint us when we continually try to get everything out of the land we can without ever putting anything back.

Get The Chiggers

If chiggers infest favorite spots around the home or farm, they can be cleared out with any one of several insecticides. Three new insecticides effective against chiggers are chlordane, toxaphene, and lindane, as sprays or dusts.

PAYS TO KNOW COTTON GRADES

The farmer who knows the official grades of his cotton is in the best bargaining position when the time comes to sell it, say specialists of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service, in reminding growers that Federal cotton classing and market news services will be available again this year.

Farmers are reminded that August 15 is the deadline for cotton improvement groups to file application for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Services.

Under authority of the Smith-Doxey Act, cotton classing and market news services are free to the grower-members of any group organized to promote the improvement of cotton.

Under the program specialists explain that cotton samples are pulled from each bale, usually by ginners cooperating with the improvement groups, and sent to the nearest USDA classing office. As each sample is officially classed, the classing officer prepares and returns to the farmer a "green card" showing the official grade and staple length.

Farmers who are not now members of cotton improvement groups are urged to contact their county agent for information on groups already organized in the county, or for help in obtaining the service.

MORE POWER

Electric power on the farm has become a necessity, and more than five million farms are using some applications known to modern agriculture. Since the beginning of World War II, the REA notes, farms of more than three million families have been newly connected to power lines.

READ SEED TAGS, DON'T SOW WEEDS

It pays to read the analysis tag on seed bags, and to beware of seed containing weed seeds, says Lewis Dickson, assistant agronomist of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service.

In various ways, weeds cost Tennessee farmers millions of dollars every year. Reliable estimates indicate a 10% decrease in corn and cotton yields because of weeds. This means a loss of about seven and a fourth million bushels of corn and 40,000 bales of cotton based on 1950 production of these crops in Tennessee. Weeds reduce small grain yields some 15%, and total loss of forage in pasture and hay crops runs to an estimated 15 to 25% annually. In addition, about two-thirds of cultivation required for row crops is to control weeds, which runs the labor bill into millions of dollars.

Chemical weed control has made great progress within recent years, Dickson points out. But this is no substitute for cultivation, crop rotation, and other long-established weed control practices. But prevention of infestation is easier and less expensive than control. Read the tags, and avoid spreading weeds.

Broilers and fryers take the leading places on the July plentiful foods list compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Fair Warning, Don't Run A Red Light

Mayor P. W. Crittendon has issued fair warning to motorists of Halls and those passing through Halls that running the local traffic lights is going to become expensive. Mayor Crittendon states that a tendency to ignore the lights has developed to the point where several wrecks have occurred and others have been narrowly avoided during the past few months. He states that a fine of $7.50 will be placed on those found guilty of running a light and the fine will be doubled on each repeated offense. Mayor Crittendon warns that there will be no exception to this fine.

Your Help Please

As possibly many of you know, the Graphic office will be moved to a new location during next week. We plan to publish a paper as usual but expect to get out a day early—Wednesday—rather than Thursday in order to have more time to get back in operation. We will greatly appreciate it if our readers and correspondents cooperate with us by getting their copy in not later than Tuesday at noon. Beginning Friday, July 27, the Graphic will be in its new location in the Gilliland building at the rear of Bank of Halls on Highway 51.

Stray Dogs

Mayor Crittendon states this week that evidently some of the citizens of Halls have forgotten the law requiring all dogs be vaccinated for rabies and are allowing their dogs to roam the streets without vaccination tags. He warns that these dogs will be killed if they are found on the streets.

Local Persons Hurt In Weekend Wrecks

Wrecks Saturday night and Monday night caused injuries to two local people which are quite painful but probably not too serious.

Saturday night Oscar Keene, resident of the Hale point community and former resident of Halls, lost the small finger on his right hand when the car driven by his son hit the rear end of a parked truck. The accident occurred about 11 o'clock on West Main Street.

Mr. Keene was rolling down a car window when the car hit the truck and the truck sliced through the side of the car severing his finger and otherwise injuring his hand. The driver of the car is said to have been blinded by the lights of an approaching car so that he was unable to see the truck. The truck is owned by Hobart Critchfield of Gates.

Monday night Mrs. Helen Flynn was bruised and received a back injury when a Dixie Greyhound bus struck a car which was parked on the highway about two miles north of Crosstown on Highway 51 in Tipton County. Extent of Mrs. Flynn's injuries were not known Wednesday but they were not believed to be serious. Mrs. Flynn, along with her two sons, Tommy and Mike, were en route to Albuquerque, New Mexico. They are presently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson in Memphis but expect to continue their journey if Mrs. Flynn's injuries are not serious. Neither Tommy nor Mike were injured.

Local Girl Honored At 4-H Club Camp

Ed White, Ass't. County Agent The eleven club members from this county who attended Senior 4-H Camp at Martin last week were well pleased with the activities carried on there.

The girls received instructions in record keeping, preserved foods judging, study lamps, Better Electric Methods and Personality Development.

The boys' program of educational activities was not quite so elaborate. They received instructions in Tractor Maintenance and Better Electric Methods. Foul weather prevented the usual tour of the University farm.

Other than class work, members received instructions in craft work, swimming and safety.

The recreational program was entered into very enthusiastically by almost every club member. A competitive athletic program was carried and folk games were played each night.

The high light of the Senior Camp came Thursday night, July 12, when new 4-H Club members were taken into the All Stars. Anella Steeman of Halls and Mary Ann White of Orysa were honored with membership in this organization.

The object of this All Star organization is to encourage service through both individual and co-

County Pasture Tours Planned

F. H. Paschal County Agent

County Agents and representatives of other agencies working with farmers met at Jackson last Wednesday to get facts about the boll weevil situation and to discuss methods of control. So far, there are no substantial outbreaks of boll weevil closer to Lauderdale County than the southern parts of Tipton and Haywood Counties. The only boll weevils north of Lauderdale County are those in Carroll County, although the weevils are really bad in Decatur, Henderson and Madison Counties, which are as far north as Lauderdale.

Cotton fleahoppers, tarnished plant bugs and other minor insects are causing tiny squares to drop from some fields of cotton all over the county, but the damage seems more severe in the northern part than in the southern. Many farmers are spraying with Aldrin, Toxaphene and BHC with mixtures of DDT to control these insects. They are spraying at intervals of seven to ten days, which is entirely adequate for these insects.

Cotton in some parts of the county is already getting too large to go over with tractor sprayers. If boll weevils attack, rotary hand dusters, saddle dusters, and airplanes will have to be used on this large cotton. Many farmers last year controlled boll weevils on as much as 30 to 40 acres of cotton with rotary hand dusters. It may be most practical for us to depend on this type of dusters, especially for spot infestations.

Farmers Institute July 24

Farm men and women will find it profitable and interesting to attend the Farmers and Homemakers Institute at the West Tennessee Experiment Station in Jackson next Tuesday, July 24. The program begins at 9:00 o'clock in the morning and ends at 3:00 o'clock.

Pasture Tours Planned

As a part of the Keep Tennessee Green Campaign for August a pasture tour is being planned for the southern part of the county to begin at Jack Crutcher's farm at 1:00 o'clock on Wednesday, August 1. A second tour for the middle part of the county will begin at Eylau Farm at 1:00 o'clock on Thursday, August 2.

A tour for the farmers of the northern part of the county will begin at the farm of Jim Meeks at 1:00 o'clock on Friday afternoon, August 3. The complete list of farms to be visited on each tour will be listed in next week's paper.

On each of the tours farmers will have opportunity to see cotton, corn, and other crops planted after vetch, crimson clover, and other winter cover crops. They will see pastures seeded from 1943 through 1950 with recommended mixtures of fescue and ladino, orchard grass, and other pasture plants. They will have opportunity to see pastures that are limed and fertilized by different methods and to see how these pastures look after having carried various livestock for certain periods of time.

Lauderdale County Board of Education Passes School Zoning Resolution

The Lauderdale County Board of Education met on Tuesday morning, July 17th, 1951, and adopted a School Zoning Resolution, which is copied hereinbelow in full.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
TO CHARLES E. ATTAWAY
CLARA TICHENOR ATTAWAY
vs.
CHARLES E. ATTAWAY

In the County Court at Ripley, Tennessee.

In this cause it appearing to me from the bill filed herein which is sworn to, that the defendant, Charles E. Attaway, is a non-resident of the State of Tennessee, and resident of the State of Texas, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served on him. It is therefore ordered by the Court that the said Charles E. Attaway appear before the Judge of the County Court of Lauderdale County on or before the 3rd Monday in August (it being the 20th day of said month and one of the rule days of said term of this Court) and make defense to the bill filed herein against him or the same will be taken for confessed as true and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to him.

It is further ordered that this notice be published in the Halls Graphic, a newspaper printed and published in Lauderdale County, for four consecutive weeks, requiring him to so appear.

This 10th day of July, 1951.

operative efforts and their motto is "Service."

In order to qualify for All Star membership, the club member must be at least 15 years of age and must have completed four years of club work. Other qualifications which are considered include leadership ability, personal character and characteristics, outstanding achievement in some activity, and type and quality of project work.

With the two additions this year, the Lauderdale County enrollment of All Stars has now advanced to four — Ann Holmes and Patricia Pjkin became members last year.

Systems of terraces and ponds will be observed on each tour. A sound system will be taken on the tour in order that everybody can understand exactly how every pasture has been managed, how vetch has been planted in cotton, and otherwise get the most profitable information from each farm operator visited.

Phosphate Scarce
We have known for several months that phosphate fertilizers were scarce because sulphuric acid is scarce, but the U. S. Department of Agriculture published a report on June 18 to the effect that Uranium may be shortly extracted from triple superphosphate which is made with sulphuric acid.

This report definitely indicates that a greater shortage of phosphate fertilizers may be expected for the next year or two. Farmers are advised to purchase phosphate fertilizers whenever they are available and to use only the required amounts for various crops on the basis of soil tests.

Soil samples sent to the laboratory now will be tested and a report returned in less than a week. This will not be true in August nor certainly in September. Telephone or write the County Agent for soil test boxes and get samples sent in right away from fields to be seeded in permanent pastures and alfalfa this fall.

Mrs. A. C. Smith and Mrs. S. C. Rainwater were guests of Mrs. W. D. Dodson at Unionville Wednesday.

DOROTHY MARCHBANKS WEDS JAMES HARBER

Miss Dorothy Marchbanks became the bride of James Harber of Frayser in a quiet ceremony at the Baptist parsonage Monday afternoon. Miss Marchbanks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Marchbanks of Frayser. Mr. Harber is the son of Mrs. Raymond Harber of Frayser.

The Rev. R. J. Cooper read the double ring ceremony in the presence of a few close friends.

Miss Stella Cooper was her only attendant. Jack Harrell of Covington served as best man.

The bride wore a model of white and white accessories. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip.

RECENT BRIDE HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. E. C. Burroughs, Sr., Mrs. Morley Young and Mrs. M. A. Martin were hostesses Friday evening at a Miscellaneous Shower honoring Mrs. Don Hilliard, recent bride. The event was held at the home of Mrs. Burroughs.

Guests arrived at 8 o'clock and placed their gifts in a blue and white wishing well which was beside the bride's chair in the dining room. The living room fireplace was decorated with yellow carnations and ferns amid which nestled a doll dressed in pink representing a bride. On the desk a larger doll dressed as a bride-maid stood over the bride's book in which each guest registered.

Gladioli and a tiny bride's doll dressed in white satin and two maids in pink and blue satin centered the dining table which was covered with a lace table cloth.

On the buffet was a five tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and groom and decorated with tiny rose buds made from the cake frosting. Cakes and the cake, which was cut by the honoree, were served.

BIGGER PACKAGE... HIGHER QUALITY

And up in price far less than most things

...That's your TELEPHONE SERVICE

Today you can call a lot more local telephones than you could ten years ago. The service is faster and more efficient. Yet the price has gone up far less than most things you buy.

In this fast growing state the telephone keeps on growing more useful for business and social needs... and for national defense. Southern Bell is spending millions to bring telephone service to still more people of the state.

C. J. YATES, Tennessee Manager

BIG AND GROWING VALUE!

Although Tennesseans can call more than twice as many local telephones as they could ten years ago, telephone rates in the overall have gone up less than half as much as prices in general. Even with the rate adjustment needed to meet higher wages, taxes and other increased costs, telephone service will be a good buy.

Go To Church Sunday.

This one says You've Arrived

HERE pictured is an automobile that may well be the fulfillment of any man's dream of a fine motorcar.

For you've a right to expect, when you pay a fine-car price, that your money will buy more distinction, more comfort, more performance than are to be found in vehicles of lesser worth.

So mark well the things that a ROADMASTER offers.

No other car on the American scene has a prouder bearing.

No other automobile has more spacious dimensions, more luxurious comfort, or finer appointments.

No other car has a ride more serenely smooth on curve or straightaway, highway or byway.

And no other car, at ROADMASTER'S price or above, has Dynaflow, and the supreme command of every traffic condition which it provides.

So you, at the wheel of Buick's biggest and best, have a right to feel distinguished.

But there's a joy of possession which goes deeper than visible things.

There's the feel of a power plant as brilliantly eager as this great car's valve-in-head Fireball Engine — and the satisfying companionship of a brawny traveler instantly responsive to your every wish.

And there's one thing more, which only ROADMASTER can give you in such generous measure. That is the pride of a wise investment, based on the fact that this car stands alone in price per pound, among fine cars similarly equipped.

So why not take that very important first step — and come in and see us soon?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

We're Moving
Due to the stress of moving we have found it impossible to write the usual column this week. Instead, we are including some articles which should be of interest and importance to every citizen of Halls and surrounding communities.

Fast Driving
There have been a lot of complaints about fast driving in town. We are doing everything in our efforts to stop this fast driving. We are going to make the first fine $7.50, second offense will be doubled and 3rd offense doubled.

Just remember, when you drive too fast — drive on up to the Mayor's Office and pay your fine.
P. W. CRITTENDON

Help Needed
The playground at the old grammar school site will be sodded Wednesday, August 1, 1951.

The American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring this, but we need your help and that means every man, woman and child who can and will help.

We want you to feel that this is your project as well as ours. When we have accomplished what we are striving so hard to do the people of Halls will realize they not only have a playground but a Community Center to be enjoyed by every one.

So far we have accomplished a great deal with your help. To get the sod, we again call on you to send a hand.

Any one who has a truck available that day and will help pick up the sod come to the Air Base entrance on Highway 51 N. at about 8 a. m. There will be some one there to direct you.

Those that will help us put down the sod come to the old grammar school. We will be there around 8 o'clock.

American Legion Auxiliary Playground Committee

Polio Clean-Up
Mayor P. W. Crittendon would like to call the public's attention to the fact that Polio is now raging again.

We, as good citizens, must meet this situation and clean up, cut our weeds and those who have outdoor toilets should especially endeavor to make them fly-proof to prevent, not only Polio, but also malaria and other diseases. I feel that the people of Halls will cooperate with us on this important matter.

The people have asked me to spray the ditches and we will do so, expecting the people to spray their premises to avoid these dreadful diseases. Wherever you have garbage cans, etc. if you will call the Mayor's Office we will send for it.

There are several vacant lots in town that have weeds and rubbish on them. We would like for the owners to clean them up.
P. W. CRITTENDON

Vacation Means Careful Driving

Vacation time means a period of freedom from worries and day-to-day responsibilities. Unfortunately many of us over-do the festive spirit to the extent that we even shed ordinary, good driving habits as completely as we do our regular business clothes.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce pointed out how this relaxation of ordinary courtesies combines with the abnormally high mileage drive in July to produce a constant hazard to the millions of persons who take their vacations at this time of the year.

If all vacationists will bear in mind that they are someone's guest every moment that they are away from home that every discourteous example of driving reflects both on them personally and on the state represented by their license plates, and that death never has two weeks off with pay—then this dangerous thoughtlessness will drop to a negligible level.

Calls For Cleanup Of Halls Property

There have been many complaints of obnoxious odors due to the unsanitary conditions of outdoor toilets, hog pens, etc. Many can piles and garbage dumps are existing which breed mosquitoes and flies.

After being elected to serve as an Alderman, Mr. Crittendon, the Mayor, appointed me as a member of the Sanitary Committee—to check complaints of the above mentioned nature and to make report of those complaints to the Mayor so that he would know and could enforce those duties that are his as Mayor and enforcing officer.

I have gone to those citizens where complaints have been made known to me and I appreciate the courteous manner in which they have discussed in an open minded way this personal subject.

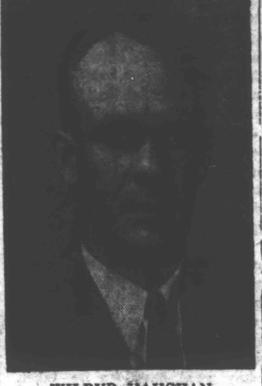

The following is my recommendation to the Mayor: Since this City has been empowered by incorporation and State approved Charter to enforce measures of sanitation, that all property owners who are not hooked on to the sewer system, where sewer line is available, be notified to do so within a period of ninety days. That no structure be erected within the City limits in the future without adequate sewage disposal facilities.

NOTE: The First Citizen Bank of Dyersburg has been authorized to make FHA loans for home improvements at a low interest rate. As an illustration a $230.00 loan for thirty months calls for a monthly payment by the borrower of $8.00 per month. The landlord can lawfully add approximately $5.00 rental which would soon pay the loan off.

Fly and mosquito control must be carried forth with daily diligence by every person with all garbage disposed of. For those who are raising hogs within the city limits, the people of this community have worked for years to do away with this cause of flies and bad odor. It is my conviction that no individual be allowed to raise hogs after this season within the city limits.

Now this report will cause me to be very unpopular with some citizens and I ask you to fully consider the fact that many are sick in Halls today of dysentery and other diseases. Flies are believed to be carriers of Polio, Typhoid and other dread diseases. There is no place for filth and sources of contamination when the health of our citizens and their children are concerned.

Wage Earners Over 75 Can Get SS

Many employed wage earners over 75 years of age have applied for old-age and survivors insurance benefits payments, according to Joe P. Tipton, manager of the Dyersburg Social Security Office.

While Mr. Tipton is greatly surprised at the comparatively large number of insured persons in this age group, his office has no way of knowing the total number. The reason for this lack of information is that many insured workers who have passed their seventy-fifth birthday have not applied for benefit payments. "They do not yet realize that they and their dependents can now have these monthly payments," he says.

Before the new social security law, payments could not be made to any insured worker over 65 who continued in a job covered by social security and earned over $14.99 in a month. Under the amended law, a worker over 75 may engage in any kind of employment or self-employment and have benefit payments regardless of the amount of his earnings. Between the ages 65 and 75, the insured person may now have $50 a month in work covered by social security.

Mr. Tipton says it has been found that most people are reluctant to stop working at any age if they are still in good health. He further points out that this new provision for insured people over age 75 will be an incentive (Continued On Page 6)

Pasture Tour Dates Are Changed

F. H. Paschal
County Agent

Dates of pasture tours have been changed from the dates announced last week, in order that they would not interfere with the worthy effort to be made on August 2 to provide our Armed Services with 175 pint of blood.

Our first pasture tour will begin at the farm of Jim Meeks on Friday, August 3, at 1:00 o'clock sharp. At Jim's farm we will see fescue and orchard grass pastures, cotton planted the seventh year after vetch on the same ground, and other good practices. We will go from Jim's farm to Lon Viar's farm to see clipped pastures, a cattle feeding barn, pond, and beef cattle herd. From Lon Viar's we will go to Joe Sumrow's farm near Gates to see fescue pastures four years old, some excellent farm gates, a new cattle feed barn, and cotton after vetch. From thence, we will go to Dave Garrett's place near Curve to see more pastures, a new feeding barn and other good practices. The tour will end here at about 4:00 o'clock.

The second tour will begin at Eylan Farm at 8:30 on Saturday morning, August 4. Here we will see orchard grass and fescue pastures carrying a dairy herd of 110 cows. We will see the system of terraces and the Grade A dairy barn. From there we will go to E. L. Grammar's farm toward Arp to see Lynnwood Grammar's fescue pasture, his Sudan and lespedeza pastures, and beef cattle herd. From there we will go to Dr. Keltner's farm beyond Arp to see fescue and ladino pastures and cotton and corn grown after cover crops on this livestock farm. The tour will end here at 11:30 to 12:00.

The third tour will begin on Highway 51 on the top of the hill beyond the entrance to Donrovin Farm west of Henning where Jack Crutcher will be our host at 1:00 o'clock on Monday afternoon, August 6. Here we will see some living fences, ponds, terraces, and orchard grass pastures seeded last fall. From there we will go to Reid Dunavant's farm to see a planting of sericea and orchard grass, orchard grass and fescue pastures, corn after cover crops, and hog houses. From there we will go to W. D. Barfield's farm beyond Pleasant Hill to see a field reclaimed with fescue and ladino, a system of terraces, contour fences, a planting of sericea, and a field of cotton after vetch where four acres made 11 bales in 1950.

Farmers from any section of the county are invited to go on any of these tours.

Scores Proposed Beef Price Cutback

"Recent statements by OPS officials on what will happen if controls are lifted are designed to scare people," Roy L. Carrington, president of Lauderdale County Farm Bureau, this week. "One statement goes like this, 'If controls are lifted, the cost of living can be expected to rise $1.00 per day, per family.' Such irresponsible statements are without foundation," said Mr. Carrington. "They are designed to scare people into supporting controls."

"OPS Administrator DiSalle is saying removal of the 10% rollback on live beef prices means a 10% increase in meat prices at the store. If this is true, why did the 10% rollback in May not cut beef prices 10% in stores? Farmers took a 10% cut in prices on May 29, and beef actually went up in most stores," Mr. Carrington explained. "Such action and propaganda by these OPS officials indicates the danger of deleting too much authority to an individual," Carrington further commented. "It can destroy confidence of our people in government, and should be stopped."

In regard to rise in cost of living if controls are lifted, Carrington had this to say, "We might consider salaries for thousands of OPS employees, travel expenses, office expense, legal counsel, and time spent on radio and television propagandizing the American people. This, likewise, is a daily cost to each family." Carrington concluded by saying, "That is a thing they never mention."

In washing your linoleum use soap and water sparingly, homemakers are reminded by Agricultural Extension Service specialists. If water gets under the linoleum, it will tend to rot the linoleum.

Tennessee Outdoors

Louis S. Clapper State Game and Fish Commission Reports from over the State indicate that fishing in Tennessee is approaching the usual mid-summer doldrums. But, this doesn't mean that anglers should stay home because many, many fish can be taken.

July and August usually are "slow months" in fishing, with several factors contributing to the situation. With the Spring hatch of small fry developing and the number of insects at a maximum, the sizeable game fish have so much natural food that fewer are interested in artificial lures or baits. Too, the surface waters are so warm that many of the big boys have gone deep where they are harder to reach. Hot water also makes some species less active, just as really cold water does.

Technicians of the State Game and Fish Commission suggest that anglers emphasize fishing for the smaller but gamey bluegills and crappie, possibly using fly rods more, during this period. However, particularly in the cool early morning good bass can be taken, and late evenings. Fish catches will zoom upward again in the Fall when the water temperatures drop and the supply of insects and small fry declines.

Perhaps psychiatrists could offer an explanation but to most people the deliberate poisoning of a stream is beyond understanding. Certainly, such people have a misplaced quirk. Yet, two streams in Middle Tennessee were poisoned in recent weeks, apparently even without the motive of a free fish fry. Vandals placed poison in the Buffalo River near Hohenwald and in the Harpeth River near Franklin. Conservation officers report that considerable numbers of fish were destroyed and left to rot in each case. Ordinary pollution was not involved and the culprits left the scenes too quickly to have benefitted greatly from their depredations.

One of the biggest recent single fines for game and fish law offenses was levied in Texas. A Houston man was caught bringing in by airplane from Mexico 180 dressed quail. He was fined $900 and costs.

Henpecked husbands will be glad to know that in the pheasant kingdom at least the male still rules the roost. Up in Pennsylvania 2 conservation officers were moving a heavy tractor used in lands development work when two ring-necked pheasant hens blocked the road and refused to budge, despite all the noise the officers could make. Just as they were about to use physical force a cock pheasant cackled in the bush and the obedient hens immediately trotted off.

Conservation officers of the State Game and Fish Commission made 367 arrests during the month of June that resulted in a total of $4,443.35 being levied in fines.

Navy To Seek More Aviation Cadets

MEMPHIS—The Naval Aviation Cadet Program is to be reopened on August 1st according to an announcement recently received from the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit here.

Buzz And The Off-Key Baritones

Reverend Lester of the church on Hillsboro Road coaches his Young Peoples' Choir late Thursday afternoons—after high school basketball practice lets out.

Buzz Ellis pastures cows next to that church. Around 5 o'clock they used to make a lot of racket about wanting to go home. That made it kind of rough on the choir.

When Buzz learned what was going on he said to Reverend Lester: "I never yet heard of a cow that could moo on key. So, I'll just move 'em in a little earlier..." This started me to thinking. Buzz doesn't go to that church. And he's so tone-deaf he couldn't carry a tune in a bucket!

From where I sit, you might say that Buzz didn't have much in common with those singers. But he doesn't divide folks into groups he's "with" or "agin." Your politics, your personal preferences—or the fact that you like a moderate glass of beer—mean nothing either way to Buzz. He's a real neighbor to everybody!

Ranch owner George Stephens proved for himself, in the big Economy Run, just how little it costs to run his Ford Truck!

"The Lazy J's Ford Express did itself proud in the Ford Truck Economy Run," says Stephens. "Daily records kept during the entire six months show that our Ford Truck ran up a total of 5,109 miles. My out-of-pocket expense for gas, oil, maintenance and repairs was exactly $123.51 ... about a $20 bill each month ... only 2 2/5 cents a mile!"

BOLL WEEVIL MENACE HERE, SURVEYS SHOW

Boll weevils are coming out of hibernation in Tennessee, and they will continue to emerge for several weeks, specialists of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service say.

Indications now are that unless control measures are followed, the weevil will cause heavy damage. In fact specialists say, if cool, damp weather prevails, infestations easily could be as bad as last year, when weevils and other insects cost Tennessee cotton producers some 20-odd million dollars. Several insecticides afford boll weevil control, such as toxaphene, BHC, aldrin, dieldrin. County agents can recommend insecticides and rates of application; and they can supply bulletins giving information on weevil control.

Federal and U-T specialists last week checked 21 cotton fields in Fayette, Hardeman, McNairy and Shelby counties. Thirteen of the fields contained weevils, with an average infestation of 150 weevils per acre.

'GREEN' PROGRAM NITRATE AVAILABLE AT REDUCED RATES

Farmers of the Tennessee Valley area can obtain extra growth of fall-seeded pastures and cover crops by taking advantage of ammonium nitrate being made available by the TVA for such crops as a reduced price, say specialists of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service.

Discounts for this material average about 25% of the f. o. b. plant price to distributors. While They're talking about you again Mid-America!

A century ago the East and Europe buzzed with stories of Mid-America. "It's the Land of Opportunity," people said.

Today, business men everywhere are echoing the century-old phrase. For Mid-America is the land where a new industry is born every 48 hours ... where the number of wage earners has grown a third faster than the U. S. average ... where new industry is stimulated by abundant raw materials, low-cost fuel and power ... and where business finds rich markets.

In this, its centennial year, the Illinois Central continues to encourage enterprise in Mid-America by finding suitable plant sites, by providing pertinent business data and by assuring the transportation essential to successful commerce. For the Illinois Central is well aware that its own growth goes hand-in-hand with the growth of the Mid-America it serves.

Parents' Problems

By DONALD M. MAYNARD

THE CHOICE OF PLAYMATES

Do you think little children should be permitted to play with the same child (or children) day after day—as they usually do—even though the others may not be up to our standard of living, hoping that the others may be helped in their attitudes and behavior or should we choose other playmates (say our adult choice) who may be more on a level with our own thinking, etc.?

It is more or less inevitable, as you suggest, that children should play day after day with neighborhood children even though these children may not have the same standards as we do. Fortunately, mothers can have a part in directing the play and building up proper attitudes where perhaps they were not present before.

There is no reason, however, why parents should not also encourage their children to make friends with playmates who seem to them to be more desirable. This may entail the inviting of such friends to your home for a day, as well as permitting your children to visit them.

It would be well to guard against giving your children the impression, however, that you think these particular friends are "better for them than the neighborhood children. Children resent criticism of their friends, and are not likely to be too fond of those whom you consider to be good for them.

The answer to your question, therefore, would seem to be to "do both."

age it. And strange as it may seem, sometimes the admitting of a fear and the talking about it helps to reduce it.

Let me suggest, therefore, that you and your son talk quite frankly about your fear of storms and of lightning. Consider ways by which you think the fear may be overcome.

It may help, for example, to go to an encyclopedia and find out all you can about storms and lightning. Note, too, how unlikely it is that either of you will ever again have an experience similar to the one when your house was struck. Talk about how you plan to act when a storm comes again. Suggest that you have a contest to see which can act the least afraid during the storm.

When the storm is on, be sure to have something interesting to do, something that will help take your minds off it. It may help to visit or have friends in during a storm. We don't like to show fear before others and their presence may help both of you act as if you were not afraid.

Don't expect to overcome your fear completely, but try out these suggestions and see if it is not reduced.

Sunday School Lesson

By Walter C. Davis, D. D., Tennessee School of Religion, University of Tennessee

(Romans 12:1-2; I Cor. 8:1-14)

"CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE"

Longfellow said, Every man has his secret sorrows, which the world knows not of; and oftentimes we call a man cold when he is only sad.

If we could know the secret anxieties which others bear there would be more sympathy and sharing of life's burdens and less of criticism.

Our way of life may help others to faith and trust. For many, life becomes a grind of unpleasant duties. The bird, says Victor Hugo, pauses in her flight on boughs to light that sway and give, and ye she sings, "knowing that she hath wings."

Archibald Rutledge tells of crossing a river in an old tugboat. It had been made spic and span. The motor was polished and running smoothly. The negro engineer sat with a Bible upon his knee and a glow of peace on his face. On being asked how he had come to clean up the boat, he answered, "Well, you see, Cap'n, it's dis way. I'se got a glory."

Let no one think he can do just as he pleases and that it is nobody's business. We can insist too much upon our individual rights. Someone has said that before we do or say anything we should ask, Is it right? Then we should ask, Is it kind? Will it help or hinder someone else?

As a golden text for this lesson I would suggest, "I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some."

One of the truths which the early Church had to establish is the fact that there is one God. The heathen world had many gods although of course they were not real. The Christian message declared the divinity of Christ and also that the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ is the one and true God. This is stated in I Cor. 8:1-6.

Many converts from heathenism then stumbled over the eating of meat. To others it made no difference. Whether it was killed as a sort of oblation to these idols had no effect on it whatever. But suppose your brother thinks it is wrong? "In that case I will eat no meat," said Paul.

The thing has endless applications. Ought a Christian dance? Ought a Christian to do this or that? You can argue endlessly about such things. The one supreme question about such things is, What influence will it have upon others? Not everything that is right is expedient. Your conscience may be clear in doing a thing, but that doesn't make it wise to do it.

My influence upon others is one of the important questions of life. Channing said, "Others are affected by what I am and say and do. These others have also their sphere of influence. So that a single act of mine may spread in widening circles through a nation of humanity."

ANNE CONLEY IS WED TO OWEN CRAIG REYNOLDS

In a setting of quiet dignity and beauty, Miss Anne Lewis Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hallum Goodloe Conley, became the bride of Owen Craig Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Reynolds of Little Rock, Ark., on Saturday the twenty-first of July, in the home of her parents.

Miss Conley is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bird Thomas Lewis of Bells and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Hansford Conley of Alamo.

The vows of the double ring ceremony were read in the presence of the immediate families by the Reverend J. David Kidwell of Union City. A screen of wood-wardia fern, flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli formed an altar which was lighted by slender white tapers in candelabra garlanded with ivy.

Wedding music was played by Miss Shelby Reynolds, sister of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite ballerina-length wedding gown fashioned of sheerest white organza over satin, imported from Switzerland, and featuring a deep scalloped hem of hand-made embroidery and applique. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a halo of braided tulle. She carried a bride's Bible topped with a gold-throated white orchid, tied with satin ribbons and illusion.

Mrs. Edward P. McMahon of Memphis, the former Miss Lee Conley, was her sister's only attendant. Her ballerina-length gown was of lilac French net over taffeta, worn with an orchid corsage.

Roy Reynolds of Memphis attended his brother as best man.

Mrs. Conley, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon dress of cafe au lait silk shantung, with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Reynolds wore a model of navy and white sheer accented by a white corsage.

For the reception the bride's tapers in five-branched silver table, softly lighted by glowing candelabra, held a tiered wedding cake encircled by ivy interspersed with white blossoms. Punch was served from a crystal bowl wreathed with ivy.

The couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a smart ensemble of green and black, with black velvet accessories, and a white orchid corsage. They will be at home temporarily in Little Rock until the groom enters the armed forces at an early date.

8% infestation were found in 6 out of 9 fields checked in the county this week. The largest were found on the farms of Luther McBride in the Asbury Community with 6% and A. C. Carter on the Curve and Dry Hill Road with 8% infestation in a small field near an orchard where the weevils evidently had a good chance to hibernate. The weevils on Mr. McBride's farm were also in a small spot near a good hibernating place.

These boll weevils were found by walking across the field diagonally and pulling 100 squares at random, getting an equal number of squares from the top, middle, and the lower parts of the plants. The number of squares found to contain a boll weevil larva or egg is the percent infestation. When this percentage reaches 10, it is time to begin a series of three sprays or dusts at four or five day intervals to prevent further build up.

When weevils are found just in certain fields on a farm or in spots, it seems advisable to begin spraying or dusting those spots immediately in the hope of preventing a spread of the infestation.

This week Clifford Sweat and Francis Middleton of Arp and W. A. Hughes, Maynard Harrell, and Coy Hilliard of Nankipoo, and a number of other farmers over the county have purchased sprayers and sprayed their cotton to control minor insects such as Tarnished Plant Bugs, Fleahoppers, and Boll Worms which may be

Farm Safety Week

This is National Farm Safety Week, a special time set apart to call the attention of farm people to the terrible toll in time, money, and anguish taken by accidents on farms which are largely avoidable. In this mechanical age, we just must develop safety habits or pay a terrible price for failure to do so.

To continue in gainful work. He urges all insured workers aged 75 or older, and who have not yet applied for benefit payments to do so without delay. Back payments can be made for as many as six months, but failure to make application at the social security office promptly, may result in the loss of one or more months benefit payments to workers or their dependents.

Farm Bureau

(continued from front page) the purpose of seeing where we are in Farm Bureau, and where we are going, it is not a legislative body," Mr. Carrington pointed out. "However, many plans and ideas will be discussed for presentation to the County Farm Bureaus and later to the Resolutions Committee at the annual state convention in November." The 1951 State Farm Bureau Resolutions Committee will attend the conference.

Mr. Carrington said the annual conference is one of the most important meetings in the Farm Bureau program, for it enables County Farm Bureaus and the state organization to render an expanded and more efficient service to members.

sale will be held Friday, July 27, at the fair grounds in Dyersburg. The program will begin at 10 a. m. Fifty heifers, which were selected from production tested herds in Wisconsin and Illinois, will be sold at auction on a non-profit basis. Ages of the animals vary from calves to springing heifers. The West Tennessee Artificial Breeding Association has come fine Holstein bulls available to service these heifers.

The Field Day and Sale are sponsored by the Dyer County Dairy Club, Tennessee Extension Service, and the Tennessee Holstein-Friesian Association.

Governors To Meet At Gatlinburg

NASHVILLE—The 43rd Annual Governors' Conference will be held this year, September 30 through October 3, at Gatlinburg, Tenn., amidst the grandeur of the Great Smoky Mountains, according to an official announcement from the office of Tennessee's Governor Gordon Browning.

The Governors' Conference was held at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, last year at which time Gov. Browning was selected as the host governor for 1951. This will mark the first time in the 42 years the Conferences have been held that Tennessee has been so honored.

Some 53 Governors and their staffs representing the states and territories of the United States will converge on the "capital" of the Great Smoky Mountains in east Tennessee. They will travel distances ranging all the way from a mere 150 miles to over 6,000 miles across the Pacific from our outermost territory of Guam.
