Sunday School Lesson

By Walter C. Davis, D. D., Tennessee School of Religion, University of Tennessee

Lesson for Sunday, Sept. 3, 1961
Acts 16:1-3; Philippians 2:19-33; Timothy 2:1-5, 22

"Timothy: Guardian of the Truth"

About 67 A. D., a once sturdily-built man, now bent with age, labor and exposure, lay chained in a lower cell of the Mamertine prison in Rome. It was late summer. He had come to Rome to renew his work in the city he coveted for his Lord.

Now, new charges had been brought against him and the future was dark. Only one old friend, Luke, was with him. Yet under these conditions the spirit of Paul was not crushed. He had no regrets of the past. He wrote his young friend, Timothy, and said: "I have fought the good fight; I have finished the race; I have kept the faith."

But he did have anxieties. He was being forced to lay down his work. What would happen when he was gone? Someone must be commissioned to carry on in his stead. He had decided on Timothy, a much younger man who had proved his worth.

As the first leaders of the young church began to pass from the scene, there were two things which gave great concern. First, the true Christian tradition must be transmitted by carefully selected preachers. So Paul wrote, "O Timothy, guard what has been entrusted to you (I Timothy 6: 20).

The second concern was that in accepting God's free grace in Christ men might not realize they were under stern obligation to lead lives "worthy of the Gospel." There must be a pattern of life in harmony with its claims. It was particularly important that the gospel preachers set an example worthy of the high calling. Timothy was charged to exhort other workers (I Timothy 2:8-10) to take his share of the suffer-

Funeral Rites for Mrs. Nora White

Services for Mrs. Nora Belle White, widow of E. E. White, Crockett County cotton farmer, were held at 3 p. m. Sunday at Lebanon Methodist Church in Crockett County with the Rev. E. B. Thurmond of Finley and the Rev. E. B. Raines officiating. Burial was in Lebanon Cemetery with Garner Ripley Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. White, who was 88, died at noon Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Enos C. Thurmond, in Halls. She was a member of Lebanon Methodist Church. Her husband died nine years ago.

A granddaughter of Asa Dean, first trustee of Crockett County, Mrs. White leaves another daughter, Mrs. Floy Curtis of Phoenix, Arizona; a brother, Dr. W. A. Dean, of Crockett Mills; nine grandchildren, and sixteen great-grandchildren.

SAY THANKS FOR MANY KINDNESSES SHOWN

To each and everyone of you who contributed in any way to mellow the passing of our much beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. Nora Belle White, we desire to express our heart-felt thanks. After the death of her late husband, E. E. White, it was a joyous experience, saturated with enrichment, to have her as a member of our family in our home. For eight years she went with us to our appointments in the Memphis Annual Conference and accepted this new way of life with grace and faith. We can truthfully state that she enjoyed meeting and knowing "new" people, and making new friends. (Don't let anyone make you believe that you cannot make and hold friends when you are "old." She did).

However, realizing that the end of her earthly journey could not be far away, her joy was boundless when we retired from the active ministry December 31, 1959 and moved to Halls where she had many relatives and "old" friends. So it was among these people that she had known and loved so long that her last days and months were spent. Her happiness could not have been greater. Conscious to the very end, she was glad to know that she was "Going Home."

We thank you for everything you did for her and us, and may His blessings be yours.

Sincerely,
Ruby and Enos C. Thurmond

Grain Marketing Report

A. W. Woodard, Extension Economist, is author of a new bulletin recently published by the Extension Service which provides an analysis of the price variations from October to June on soybeans, corn, and small grains over the period 1956 to 1960.

This information should help farmers decide whether it will pay them to sell beans and grain at harvest time or store part of it till some future date when the price might be higher.

How to get up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits — and if you use today's Super Shell, with 9 ingredients for top performance — you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

1. Don't race a cold engine. When your engine is cold, it uses up more fuel. You're also in danger of undue lubrication. You pay in greater engine wear.
2. Use a light touch on the accelerator. Tramping down on the pedal is an expensive habit. Starting up, it holds your automatic transmission in a lower "gear" longer — makes the engine turn faster, wastes fuel. Under way, seven pedal pressure is costly, too. Feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.
3. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. Then coast up to the stopping car, instead of looking heavily when you get there.
4. Don't let fuel costs creep up at the stop light. If your car "creeps" when idling with the automatic transmission engaged, have your idle speed adjusted. If you drive a stick shift, remember that pumping the accelerator won't change the light. It only uses up gasoline.
5. Don't indulge in jack rabbit starts. Racing starts are fine on race tracks — but the drivers of those cars are lucky to get 6 miles per gallon.
6. Check your tire pressure regularly. Under-inflated tires increase friction and cut mileage.
7. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for wheel drag next time you're in for a lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it every mile.

8. Get these fuel-saving adjustments. If spark timing is off, for example, you pay in wasted gasoline — and possibly in engine damage. A compression check can reveal power-wasting valve and ring conditions. Other essentials:
- A. Keep your spark plugs at peak efficiency. Use Super Shell gasoline with unique TCP² additive to give them extra life.
- B. Adjust carburetor.
- C. Have automatic choke checked.
- D. Clean or replace filters for air, fuel, oil as manufacturer recommends.
- E. Tighten fuel line connections.
- F. Have automatic transmission or clutch checked regularly.
9. Get regular oil changes and lubrication — including transmission and differential. Your Shell dealer knows what to do. And he has the finest equipment and lubricants. Your car will last longer. Your gasoline will go farther.
10. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car — especially if you pay their gasoline bills. We can't guarantee 30 extra miles per tankful — but the closer these suggestions are followed the better your mileage will be. To start off right, fill up with today's Super Shell. Its nine ingredients mean top performance.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP for power and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all knocks.
- #4 is Allylate to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is "catered" gasoline — for power.
- #7 is "anti-car" — added in cold weather.
- #8 is gain preservative for clean carburetor.
- #9 is Fluorinate for extra mileage.

At Shell, 1967 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

The work we are doing for Christ cannot be finished in our lifetime, and that adds to its importance. We reach our maturity when we realize the importance of our work. We labor and others enter into our labor. The communion of saints reaches across the boundaries of time. It is a fellowship of work, as well as of worship.

Instructor Billy Reynolds (turning front wheel) and Shell dealers check out a car at one of Shell's 123 training centers.

HOW TO SPOT TROUBLE:

Shell instructor Billy Reynolds reveals 10 trouble signals he tells Shell dealers to watch for. You should know about them too. They may help you spot trouble before it starts.

- 1. Mushy brakes. When your car is standing still, push your brake pedal down with a firm, steady pressure. If the pedal feels soft and sinks all the way to the floor board, you've got trouble that should be fixed right away. Could be a leaking wheel cylinder. Or, more likely, a leaky master brake cylinder. A well-trained Shell dealer can track down brake troubles quickly.
2. Wandering wheels. If your front tires show more wear on one side of the tread than the other, your wheel alignment is probably off.
3. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, an inspection of your electrical system is in order.
4. Decrepit tail pipe. If your tail pipe is rusted through in spots, it should be replaced. Same thing for your muffler. A worn-out exhaust system can make your car roar like a wounded hippo.
5. "Blotted" radiator hose. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked or swollen, they can fall at any time and cause your engine to overheat. Replacing hoses is a simple task for any Shell dealer.
6. Marred windshield. Feel the blades on your windshield wipers. If they're hard, they can scar the glass. If they're frayed, they can streak it. Ask your Shell dealer to check the spring pressure on your wiper arms too. If the blades rest too lightly against the windshield, they can blow away from the glass and let the rain swamp your view.
7. Strange noises. Listen for squeaks, rattles, rumbles and other suspicious noises. Strange noises are often warnings of trouble on the way. So, don't be afraid to ask your Shell dealer about sounds you haven't heard before.
8. Under-the-hood class. You can learn a lot just by looking at your engine. Wash for oil, fuel or water leaks. Even tiny leaks can lead to big trouble later on. You can also make a quick visual check of wiring and electrical connections. If wires are hanging loose—or insulation has worn away—see your Shell dealer.
9. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, an inspection of your electrical system is in order.
10. Oil-streaked sidewalls. It may take a bit of back bending, but it's worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see—the side facing in. Look for signs of leaking fluid on the tire walls. Could be a leaking brake cylinder, or faulty oil seals on the rear wheels. Both can be serious.
Any trained Shell dealer knows many more trouble signals than the ten listed here. Ask him to give you a complete bumper-to-bumper inspection next time you say in for a Shell lubrication—or any service job. One last tip: when you've got your car in top condition, keep it filled with the gasoline that's made for top performance—today's Super Shell with 9 ingredients.
Super Shell's 9 Ingredients for top performance:
#1 is TCP—for power, mileage, longer plug life.
#2 is Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups.
#3 is anti-knock mix—for resistance to all kinds of knocks.
#4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
#5 is Butane—for quick starts.
#6 is "cracked" gasoline—for power.
#7 is an "anti-ice" Added in cold weather.
#8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.
#9 is Formulate for extra mileage.

Fumigation of corn can be done for 3c per bushel in cribs or bins which are made tight enough to contain the heavier-than-air gas for the four days necessary.

Fumigation leaves no residual effect. The corn can still be used for food or feed. Instructions are available at the County Agent's Office.

SOCIAL SECURITY (Continued from Page 1) who were 62 before 1958, for example, now need credit for only six quarters (about 1 1/2 years) of work under social security to qualify for benefits.

For each year after 1956 a man was under 65 or a woman was under 62, an additional quarter of work is his social security card available figured.

Mr. Vaden went on to explain that a farm worker who is paid $150 or more in cash farm wages in a year by an employer, or who works for a farm employer on 20 or more days in a year for cash pay figured on a time basis, receives social security credit for his earnings.

If such a farm worker is paid as much as $400 a year for farm work, he gets credit for four quarters of work; $200 will provide credit for two quarters of work. Farm work doesn't have to be done all through the year to get credit for the full four quarters of a year.

Four hundred dollars or more paid during a summer harvest season gives credit for four quarters of work for that year.

Employers are required by law to keep accurate payroll records. A farm worker can help his employer in this respect by having his social security card available when he reports for work. The farm employer who has a record of each employee's number and total amount of cash wages paid in a year will be able to make up his social security return accurately at the close of the year when it is due.

A worker can check on his social security account at any time to see if past wages have been credited properly. Requests for such on accounting may be made at any social security office.

Next, the crib or bin is thoroughly cleaned by sweeping and dusting to clear out all cobwebs, trash, and grain particles.

Then spray the inside of the bin thoroughly with a 4 percent DDT solution. This can be made by mixing one pound of 50 percent wettable DDT powder per gallon of water or by putting one gallon of 25 percent DDT solution in 5 gallons of water.

One gallon of spray will usually cover 1000 square feet of wall and floor.
