Lewis Crawford, of Martin, was a last Friday night supper guest of Roger Harris. ---

Faith costs the effort, sometimes a heroic effort, to live by it—a faith you cannot live by and fight for is no true faith. But it wins the approval of God in the end. Faith is like a power-tool. A good one may be expensive; but you do not save by taking a cheap one instead. "Quality remains after the price is forgotten." Pay for faith or unfaith you must; but in the long run you will wish (as the Israelites dying in the wilderness no doubt wished many a time) that you had chosen the way of faith. Yet this too is

More Fire Hydrants Needed

Despite several promises, so far no fire hydrants have been placed on Circle Drive, and also, there are other sections of town which do not have adequate fire protection.

We are told that the fire department has sufficient hose to reach from present fire hydrants to any place they may be needed, but in some cases the distance is so great that a disastrous loss in time

Traffic Problems

Local traffic problems—our pet gripe—are still with us, as double parking, speeding and running traffic lights continue to plague those citizens who try to obey traffic laws.

Now that school is starting again and children will be on the streets in large numbers several times during the day, it would seem to be vital that local officials make every effort to slow down speeding vehicles and see that send in the fellow of the principal series.

Mrs. Sumrow Steelman and Ralph Mays.

Mrs. Jamie Brown has been elected secretary to Mr. Overton. She succeeds Mrs. James McKee, who resigned when Mr. McKee accepted the principal ship of Obion County Central High in Troy.

Mrs. Wadsworth will teach in Ripley Grammar School, as will miss Anita Hutcherson, of Central, who graduated from Union University in Jackson this spring.

66 DROMISED Land"—what does any it suggests a land of rest, a ire. This was not the origins surface of this planet, about the size of the state ican farmers would consider

Dr. Foreman a land without good roads, a land of very crude culture compared with our own.
It was promised to a rather unpromising set of desert tribes, children of slaves. They needed a place in the sun, and the Promised Land was it.

The land The land is still there, much changed, with the dust of centuries of misuse thick upon it, and yet a land which today is beginning to blossom again. When the Israelites began to edge their way in, it was a fresher land than now. There were forests in which men might be lost, there were clear streams, there were wild beasts such as lions. Partly, it is still there. You can buy a ticket to places in it. Some of are still in existence. This writer has telephoned to Jerusalem from the top of Mt. Carmel. You can drive the length of the whole ancient kingdom of the ten tribes in an afternoon. But while the centuries have made many differences, and the wars and neglects of man have damaged the land in many ways, the Promised Land is still there, with the same rivers and mountains, desert and seacoast that were there when Joshus was fighting his way in. One notable difference between those eing split into dozens of tiny city-states, each city almost a only two, Israel and Jordan.

Palestine is not now a peaceful country, it almost never was, If Jew and Arab are at each other's throats today, they are only keeping up with an ancient tradition. land in league against him, but if they had not been fighting him they would have been fighting each other. This brings up an old estion. Today wars of extermination are regarded by all the world as criminal. We have a name for what Joshua tried to do: genocide, the complete slaughter of a nation. Can we today approve of genocide when Joshua committed it (or tried to-the attempt was not wholly successful), while thinking of it as a horrible crime today? One thing we can say: A Christian, even a non-Christian in a world which has long had the influence of Christianity, has a light which Joshua did not have. Joshua had never heard of the Sermon on the

Mrs. Jim Taylor and son, Danny, cruel ugliness of what actually of Mt. Vernon, Ill., spent last week went on, one hopes that heaven is not like what the Hebrews found and did in the Promised Land! It would be better to take those wars as an example of how God can bring good out of evil, using "the wrath of men to praise him." Let us be grateful that victory came not to the sprawling tribes who worshipped animals, but to a people who for all their faults and sins still were aware of a God of purity and justice, a God of truth, King of all the Kings and kinglets of this earth.
