A Loss, An Addition

We are sorry to report that Nellie's prize Siamese cat was so badly injured in his accident that he was unable to recover, but the Murchison family is still WELL supplied with Siamese cats.

After learning that Nellie's cat had to be put to sleep, Chuck got a two-months old Siamese kitten and brought it to his mother last Saturday. That kitten is undoubtedly the most mischievous bit of life that we have ever encountered. Incidentally, he is working hard to help us as we write the Corner.

Bloodmobile Is Coming

We wonder if most people realize just how much the blood bank means to the people of Lauderdale County?

A county-wide blood bank means that any person in Lauderdale County needing a transfusion can get it simply by paying the cost of administering the blood. No special donors are needed, no special arrangements must be made. Just think what this can mean toward saving lives.

Keeping in mind just what the blood bank can mean, may we remind you that the Red Cross bloodmobile will be in Halls between 11:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. next Wednesday, May 6th, at First Baptist Church.

A quota of 125 pints of blood has been set for Halls, but even should Halls fail to meet its quota you cannot lose since any donor can receive blood, although the county quota is not attained.

However, there seems to be little reason to fear that Halls will fail to do its part.

Thanks For The Flowers

Your editor and Nell wish to say thanks to all of those who have given us iris bulbs, multiflora roses and other flowers, but your editor has one gripe.

We appreciate Alice Nunn digging and bringing us flowers, but Oliver isn't as neighborly as Alice. You see, he didn't come along to help dig the beds, but instead informed us that there were plenty more if we would come and dig them.

Seems to us that he couldn't leave Alice and Nell alone but had to start meddling.

Judge Who Pitied 16 Year Old Gives Him Three Years

Charles Edward Smith, 16, of Curve, whose problems won 18 months' probation from U. S. District Judge Marion S. Boyd in Memphis Jan. 24th, was sentenced Tuesday by Judge Boyd to three years in the National Training School for Boys in Washington, D. C.

The youth had admitted crossing wires on a car at Mayfield, Ky., Jan. 6th and driving it to Curve to visit his sick grandfather.

Boyd had felt the boy's mother, Mrs. Pauline Smith, needed his help in the support of her family. Court employees collected about $20 for the lad, of which 70 cents bought trousers to replace the tattered blue jeans he wore to court. He was arrested again Apr. 15th for car thefts from Fleetwood Cates, Nankipoo, and William T. Wells, Gates.

White Station Tops Ripley Relay Field With Hosts Fourth

By Steve Climer

White Station High, of Memphis, which finished far down the list last year, emerged on top Saturday night in the annual Ripley Relay, edging Humboldt by a single point.

A strong Ripley team finished fourth, only one-third of a point behind third place Memphis Central.

Ripley had a good shot at first place but snuffed the last baton exchange in the 440-yard relay, in which it was leading.

Richard Cotham, of Ripley, set a meet record in the pole vault, soaring twelve feet—six inches better than the old record.

Meet records were also set in the long jump and the 440-meter relay, in which Ripley finished a close second.

Ripley scored heavily in the relay, taking three fourth places—in the distance medley, the sprint medley, and the two-mile relay. It also finished third in the 880-yard relay.

Russell Langley took third place in the high hurdles.

Robert Tibbs and Butch Adkerson, along with Cotham, paced Ripley in the field events. Besides Cotham's record vault, Tibbs scored a third place for Ripley in the shotput, and Adkerson came in second in the discus.

RIPLEY HIGH APPRAISAL ASKS MAIN BUILDING BE REPLACED

Dozen Visiting Educators Representing Southern Assn. Say This Should Be Done Within Next Three Years, Other Plant Improvements Even More Urgent

Twelve visiting educators who studied Ripley High School for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools recommend replacement of the main building, opened in 1927, "in the next three years."

Complete recommendations concerning the school plant in the report as submitted by Dr. Earl Crader, visiting committee chairman:

1. The cafeteria needs remodeling—facilities are not adequate to handle students without imposing on time that should be used for other school purposes.
2. The gymnasium should be improved so as to provide facilities for a modern physical fitness program for all the students.
3. The agriculture shop needs improvement in heating system.
4. The trades and industry shop needs extensive renovation or replacement.
5. The old section of the main building should be replaced. The committee feels that this should be done in the next three years.
6. All existing parts of the main building which are kept, such as the new addition, the gymnasium, and the cafeteria, should be put in first class condition immediately.
7. Present facilities to be replaced should be repaired for the safety of the student body. (These repairs cannot wait for a new building.)
8. Plans should be made immediately for temporary facilities to be used during the construction of the new building.
9. A study should be made to determine such things as public access and traffic flow, parking, and (Continued on Page 2)

New Cotton Setup Offering A Choice To Some Farmers

Supports Differ For Under 15 Acres, 15-22.5 Acres, And Over 22.5 Acres

By F. H. Paschal

Under the new federal cotton program, operators with farm allotments of 15 acres or less may grow the full allotments and get loans of 30¢ a pound on one-inch middling cotton, plus 3/4¢ a pound payment on the normal yield on the acres planted.

Operators of farms with allotments between 15 and 22.4 acres must plant no more than 15 acres in order to earn the 3/4¢ per pound payment on their normal yield on the acres planted. This can be attractive for farms with allotments of 15 to 18 acres.

On a farm having an allotment of 22.5 acres or more, producers are offered loans of 30¢ a pound on inch middling cotton, unless acreage is reduced by one-third of the allotment, in which case payments are earned which total 3/4¢ per pound on the normal yield of the acres planted.

The program has the effect of reducing loan values 2.67¢ from those in effect in 1963, but the government, by paying 6 1/4¢ a pound to cotton mills, allows domestic buyers to get the cotton at the same price foreign buyers pay.

Molybdenum Use Planned

H. E. Jordan, new owner of the Avery farm near Gates, is planning to use molybdenum on 200 acres of soy beans on this and other farms, so farmers in that area can get a good demonstration of whether we need this extra fertilizing element for soy beans on land which needs liming.

Liming of the soils according to soil test recommendations makes the molybdenum in the soil readily available to soy beans and other plants and makes potash and phosphate in fertilizer readily available.

Lime also increases the total bacteria in the soil, so that the best possible conditions prevail toward getting the highest practical yields on the land at the lowest cost year after year.

New Potatoes Recommended

Guy Hall, of Edith, planted a bag of Cozosa potatoes last spring and did so well with them that he is using the same variety again.

This variety has shallow eyes, high yielding ability, immunity to late blight, and high resistance to scab. The skin is red.

Seed are available this year and the experiment station recommends this as being superior to the varieties normally grown in this area.

Agents To Conference

All county Extension Agents are called to a state conference for the week of May 11th.

Such conferences are usually held every other year. The conference this year will be in the War Memorial Building in Nashville.

The county Extension Office will be open as usual.

New Weed Control

A new weed control chemical for strawberries, which provides season-long control with one application to new berries, has just been approved.

The new chemical is diphenamid, which has been under test for several years. Many strawberry producers hoe new berries until they are almost ready to put out new runners and then they apply a chemical on top of the rows to keep the berries clean for the remainder of the season. This greatly reduces the cost of keeping strawberries clean the first year.

The new chemical is a welcome addition to the list of chemicals approved for this purpose.

Skip Repeat Inoculation

Recent experiments carried out at State College, Miss., and at other stations indicate that soy bean inoculants live in the soil for at least six years when no beans are planted on the land.

Yields on land which had been in cotton for six years were the same for inoculated and uninoculated soy beans.

The tests also indicate there is very little difference between the various types of soy bean inoculants.

When soy beans are planted on land for the first time, they should definitely be inoculated with the correct type of inoculation, but it appears that it is not necessary to inoculate beans to be planted to this same land year after year.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Newspaper ads. Magazine ads. Catalogs and brochures. This is where sales get started. This is where people turn to ferret out the facts which allow an intelligent buying decision.

One of a series presented by the Print Advertising Association

People can linger with a printed page: two minutes, five minutes, ten. They can come back to it again and again. They can compare one product with another. They can study styles, features, sizes, prices at their own pace. They can rip out a printed ad, save it, show it to friends, make notes on it, clip coupons. They can and they do. Don't you? If you've something to sell, it will pay to promote it in print—where people on the brink of buying can get their hands on it. Print makes sense because print makes sales.

AS OF October 25, 1962, there were 110 nations in the United Nations Organization. (How many can you name?) Nations are there which did not exist when World War II ended. Nations are there whose very territory was marked on maps UN-KNOWN or UN-EXPLORED just a few generations ago, when the writer's father was a boy. People all over the world who never gave much thought to Dr. Foreman it before, now want to belong to a nation, able to take its place, perhaps a small place but a real one all the same, among the nations of the world. Great nations that used to take themselves more or less for granted, now are keenly aware of their role in the world of nations.

The good in nationalism Nationalism is a state of mind. It is no more visible than the "Spirit of Old Siwash" on the college campus; yet as with the college, so with the nation; the kind of spirit it is, the kind of national outlook and inlook that prevails, determines what Siwash. College or the nation itself shall be. Like all states of mind, nationalism is not just one thing but a combination of things. At base it is patriotism, the love of one's own country, a wish to work for its welfare; it is pride in the achievements of the pioneers, a sense of the living reality of the history of the nation; it can be a sense of national ideals, an "image" of what one's country wants to be; an awareness of her resources, a sympathy with one's fellow-citizens, a proud and happy sense of belonging.

The bad in nationalism Like all good things, nationalism can be spoiled. It is like family feeling in some respects. It is good to be pleased with one's family, even to be proud of it and to uphold its standards; but the very words "family pride" have a bad sound, because in practice it means, too often, nothing but snobbishness, family conceit. So nationalism can degenerate. It can take the form of bragging. American tourists are in many places unpopular. They go to poorer countries and keep complaining all the time about the food and the language and the people; they never see anything abroad without telling you how much better they do or make things back in good old Siwash, U.S.A. They are like rich people going on a trip through the slums and making loud unfunny remarks about the way the people in the slums live. But when a slum clearance program comes up, these same people don't want any part of it. They are willing to tour around and make fun of the way those who are miserable have to live; but they aren't on hand to help when something is being done to make the slum more livable. Likewise nationalism can easily become simple conceit, unwillingness to co-operate in progress.

"Man's other religion" Nationalism has been called "man's other religion." This is the greatest danger in it; no imaginary danger, as history plainly shows. Nationalism becomes a religion when the citizens think of their nation as beyond criticism; when devotion to it becomes fanaticism; when many forms of anti-social behavior are tolerated in society sooner than brave and intelligent criticism of elements in national life that call for criticism. It becomes a religion when its commands are taken to be the highest authority on earth.

The prophets of the Old Testament had a good deal to say about nationalism. They were not heeded. It might be truly said that the Hebrew nation perished of repeated attacks of nationalism. One thing, however, the prophets made perfectly clear: God has no pet nations. Some nations acknowledge him, some pretend to honor him, some perhaps really do. But every nation is "under God." What will be his verdict on us?

CARD OF THANKS I would like to take this moment of trying to express my sincere thanks to our many friends who have been so thoughtful during my illness; for all the phone calls, the visits, the many cards, and most of all, for the prayers. May God bless every one of you in my prayer.
