Vacation Has Drawbacks

Three boys from Ripley and one from Halls have just returned from a ten-day vacation in Florida, but they are not certain that vacationing in Florida is all that it is claimed to be.

You see, the four, Jodie Walker, Joe Brown Barfield, and Butch Adkerson, all of Ripley, and Paul Brown, of Halls, were in Miami Beach when Hurricane Cleo struck. Although it had been suggested that they leave ahead of the hurricane, they decided that they wanted to spend one night in one of Miami Beach's fine hotels, and that's where they were when the big wind began to blow.

Reports are that Paul spent most of the night in a closet in the hotel room.

The other boys claim they were not in the closet because Paul pulled the door closed and wouldn't let them in.

Traffic Deaths Mount

The traffic toll in Tennessee continues to mount, with a total of 659 fatalities through Aug. 30th, as compared to 573 over the same period during 1963.

Lauderdale County highways have claimed nine lives this year, with only three over the same period in 1963.

Labor Day Weekend Ahead

With the Labor Day weekend just ahead, we feel that we should warn motorists that traffic safety experts consider it the most dangerous weekend of the entire year. The Tennessee Press Association has joined with the Tennessee Highway Patrol in striving to bring the danger before the public.

Stay at home, if at all possible, but if you must drive, drive with great caution.

Building Rising

Work on the building for the new factory is coming along nicely, according to city officials.

Grading and leveling of the parking lot has been completed, a new street has been laid out, some grade work has been done, and the foundation is set.

Mosquito Haven

Despite efforts of city officials, through spraying, cleaning out ditches, and other control methods, mosquitoes still make it almost impossible to stay outdoors early in the morning and late in the afternoon—although the pests are not particular, but will bite you at almost any hour of the day or night.

Some of the mosquitoes are so large that they will almost compare favorably with some of the tales about Mississippi River mosquitoes we used to talk about to the gullible while we were in college—and you may believe that those were pretty good sized mosquitoes.

Dang it, why do mosquitoes like to bite on us and leave other people alone?

Fort Pillow Vet's Widow, Mrs. Isom Sanders, Is Dead

Mrs. Mandy Walk Sanders, widow of Isom Sanders, Lauderdale County farmer and Civil War veteran who fought at Fort Pillow, died at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Castle, on Highway 19 East in Ripley. She was 90.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Friday in Garner's Ripley Funeral Home. Burial will be in Lauderdale County Memorial Gardens.

Born in Hardeman County, she resided in Dyer County about 35 years, moving here about 35 years ago.

She was a member of First Baptist Church in Ripley.

Her husband died in 1923.

She also leaves four other daughters, Mrs. Raymond Chipman, of Halls, Mrs. Lizzie Carnell, of Blytheville, Ark., Mrs. R. H. Goss, of West Memphis, Ark., and Mrs. George Cannon, of Torrance, Calif.; one brother, Steve Walk, of Somersville; three sisters, Mrs. Ben Tyler and Mrs. Erb Devison, both of Dyersburg, and Mrs. Tebe Stone, of Memphis; twelve grandchildren; 31 great-grandchildren; and eight great-great-grandchildren.

SHACKELTON'S CAR HIT

Dyersburg Crash Involves Former Ripley Resident

A 1960 Chevrolet sedan driven by Betty Press Hall, of Dyersburg, backed into a 1964 Rambler driven by Robert Louis Shackleton, of Route 4, Jackson, former Ripley, on Main in Dyersburg at 10:20 a. m. last Friday, police report.

Cotton Bollworm Reported Widely Through County

Peat Hits North & South; Late Crop On Level Land Is Good Prospect For It

By F. H. Paschal

Robert Craddock, of Halls, E. G. Parker, of Gates, Leonard Whitefield, of Lockett, and Jack Crutcher, of Ripley, reported severe infestations of bollworm in cotton this week.

Most of them applied mixtures of DDT, Toxaphene, and Methyl Parathion, but other recommended poisons were used also.

Worms must be controlled when small. Apply poison when three or more small worms per 100 plants are found in the tips, or start when 5% of the squares are damaged. Large worms inside bolls cannot be killed with poisons.

Late cotton now growing rapidly on level land seems to be infested more than early cotton which is more mature or less succulent because it is on higher land.

Micronaire Readings Not Required

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the United States Department of Agriculture announced this week that micronaire readings will not be required for upland cotton to be eligible for price support loans under the 1964 cotton loan program.

On loans made after August 29th the value of the cotton will be established as in prior years on the basis of grade and staple as determined by AMS cotton classing offices. Discounts are made for waxy cotton, spindle twist cotton, and cotton containing extraneous matter.

Producers and ginners may continue to get micronaire readings at a cost of 6c per bale on a voluntary basis, but these readings are not required in order for producers to get government loans on the cotton.

Defoliate By The Rules

Our experiment station recommends that chemical defoliants not be applied until bolls are mature and at least one-third of the cotton is open. Bolls on the fourth and fifth limbs from the top of the plants should be firm to thumb pressure. When the bolls are sliced with a sharp knife the fiber should string out. The seed coats of the seeds should be dark in color.

Defoliation chemicals stop the growth of plants; so they reduce the yield of plants if they are applied too early. Defoliants work best at high temperature and high humidity on mature plants. Plant leaves should be fresh and turgid and not leathery from drought stress.

Afflicts Being Increased

Dr. J. G. Olds, of Halls, is planning to grow his first alfalfa. He is applying enough lime to lift the pH up toward 7 and is adding plenty of phosphate and potash for high yields of high quality hay.

Alfalfa will make twice as much feed per acre as good pasture, but it must have annual applications of potash and borax in order for stands to continue at least four years. Dr. Olds plans to use a cultipacker freely in providing the firm seedbed, necessary to succeed with this queen of hay crops.

Republican Rally Planned Tuesday

Republicans and Goldwater supporters are urged to attend a rally at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the county courthouse.

Dr. A. J. Butler, Jr., of Ripley, issued the call for the meeting.

OUR FAIR LADY Contralto Bette Stalneck, daughter of County Agent and Mrs. Farmer Paschal, has sung sacred music for scores of thousands of visitors to the New York World's Fair. Her grueling schedule has included 18 outdoor appearances daily, in the Protestant and Orthodox Center, together with Bibletown, U. S. A., concerts Saturdays and Sundays, for from 1,500 to 2,000 persons, in the Federal Pavilion. She has been featured often on Radio Corp. of America color television, screened throughout the fairgrounds and in hotel and motel rooms in Manhattan. After a winter revival and concert tour in the South, with two New York dates to tape television material, Bette, her husband, Ed (right), and her accompanist, David Tyson (left), will resume Fair appearances next spring.

Miss Lillian Lee, saleslady for 47 years for the Daileys' Store in Ripley, died at 9:30 a. m. last Friday in Baptist Hospital in Memphis, which she had entered two weeks earlier after long illness. She was 75.

Born in Lauderdale County, she was a daughter of the late J. H. and Anna Lucas Lee. She was a member of Gates Methodist Church.

Grade Pupil Loss Imperils Teachers In Eleven Schools

Only Five Summer Opening Units With Safe Margin; Bus Rules Become Issue

First month attendance figures from 16 elementary schools which opened in mid-summer show eleven in danger of losing a teacher should average attendance slip by only a few pupils. Five schools have apparently safe margins.

Attendance is usually weakest in November, during cotton harvest, though rural schools will be out for this purpose from Sept. 18th to Nov. 2nd.

The situation has brought a demand that bus rules long in force in the county's south end be extended to north end schools to prevent a teacher loss at Nankipoo.

The rules forbid students to ride busses past one school to another. Nankipoo parents stopped one bus Monday, but a truce has been effected under which some 30 students to Halls, past Nankipoo School, are continuing to do so until the school board considers the situation next Thursday evening.

One teacher requires 20 average attendance, two 40, three 75, and four or more 30 per teacher, but each school with four or more teachers may fall ten pupils short. Principals are counted as teachers in schools of less than 15 teachers.

Enrollments, daily average attendance, and margins for the retention of present faculties:

Ripley Foe: Bears Of Jackson, State Pacers Last Year

Team Journeying For Clash With Tom Fann's Weaker But Still Potent Bruins

Ripley's Tigers open their 1964 season at 8 p. m. this Friday evening in Rothrock Stadium in Jackson against the Golden Bears, defending 1963 champions in three of four statewide polls.

Coach Maurice Kelly will go with sophomore Bob Woodard as quarterback, in lieu of the injured Art Thompson. The Tigers have no new injuries.

Woodard kept for a 22-yard touchdown against Union City which knotted last Thursday evening's Knee Field jamboree, 6-6.

Halls' tally for the north team against Covington before Humboldt and Bartlett battled without scoring.

Bear coach Tom Fann has less backfield depth but some seasoned backs who are "probably faster, overall, than they were last year and will run with about the same power."

"Our passing attack must be rated as only average. Our receivers will be much smaller, and less experienced."

"In the line, we are lighter, without the reserve strength we had, and we are lacking in experience."

"You just don't give up 27 lettermen and expect depth, every position."

"I don't see how we can score as much as last year, but we'll move the ball well."

The ends are probably weakest points, with only Herb Hamilton well proven. Wayne Green lettered in limited action.

Ripley's first home game is next Friday, when the Tigers host Mumfords.

Mrs. Clifford Robinson, of Dyersburg; and five grandchildren.

Jordan Cancels Introduction Of Dan Kuykendall

Halls Mayor Vows Loyalty As Democrat, Shies From Tie With GOP Candidate

Halls Mayor Jerry Jordan cancelled Saturday his engagement to introduce Dan Kuykendall, Republican U. S. Senate candidate opposing Democrat Albert Gore, as Kuykendall opened his campaign in Covington at noon Monday.

"I'm a Democrat. I'll be voting the Democratic ticket on Nov. 3rd. I don't think Mr. Kuykendall had any misunderstanding about that," Jordan said.

Jordan said he had introduced Kuykendall when he visited Halls and would do the same for any visitor.

He said he accepted Kuykendall's invitation to introduce him at Covington in the same spirit but later realized that geography would make a difference.

"I think it best," Jordan said, "that I not be identified in any way with a Republican candidate."

Mrs. Clifford Robinson, of Dyersburg; and five grandchildren.

Pete Anderson's Tigers Vol Loop Title Contenders

SAVANNAH, Sept. 2.—Former Halls coach Pete Anderson, named Volunteer Conference coach of the year in 1962, after his Maroon Tigers of Savannah snapped Huntington's 19-game victory streak in the playoff, 27-6, believes this year's Tigers may prove as potent as the 1962 circuit champs.

The previous year, Huntington had bettered Savannah in the playoff tilt, 40-20.

The Tigers were off last fall, yielding southern division leadership to Bolivar, but they made the Natchez Bowl and won there against Centerville, 19-13.

They launched their new season last Friday by rolling over Henderson, 31-13.

Anderson calls Eddie Farris and Gary Pinchon the Vol loop's finest ends, has plenty of experience at tackle, and boasts some promising backfield material.

Anderson was an all-state honorable mention in both basketball and football in Bowling Green, Ky., high school days. He moved to Savannah in 1957.

The Andersons have a daughter, 7. Along with coaching, he teaches civics, geography, and two physical education classes.

Halls Tigers Visit Alamo Red Devils, Who've Lost Once

Hosts To Countians' Debut Bowed Last Friday, 20-13, To Eleven From Dresden

Halls High's Tigers journey Friday night to Alamo to open their season as guests of the Red Devils, who lost their opener last week to Dresden, 20-13.

Dresden previously defeated South Fulton, 25-0.

The Tigers surprised Covington 6-0 last Thursday night in the jamboree in Ripley.

Coaches Ralph Mays and Clendon Dailey say their boys are ready to go against Alamo, with only one boy, Andy Pugh, likely to miss the game because of injuries.

The Halls roster shows 27 men, with nine seniors, four juniors, and fourteen sophomores.

The players are: Gary Jackson, Butch Baker, Ray Pickard, Bobby Lindley, Freddie Williams, Paul Henderson, Glenn Joyner, Bobby Thompson, Dwight Agee, Darrell

Fort Pillow Felon Is Slain In Break From Work Crew

Second Puts Up His Hands 500 Yds. From Guards As Fire Is Opened On Pair

A Fort Pillow State Prison Farm inmate was killed last Friday afternoon when guards fired at him and at another prisoner who bolted from a line returning from field work, according to warden W. L. (Bill) Hunt.

The slain man was James Edward Brit, 30, of Greenville, who had been in the prison since November, 1962, serving a nine-year sentence for six Greene County burglary convictions. He died shortly after reaching medical facilities in Ripley.

Recaptured unhurt was Armon Leroy Gipson, 20, of Nashville, who heeded warnings to halt and threw his hands up 50 yards from the two guards who fired three or four shots at Brit. Gipson is serving four years for two convictions for third degree burglary in Clarksville, the Montgomery County seat.

There were two other guards with the 35 men who had been filling ditches on the west side of the 5,000 acre prison farm on Highway 87 west of Henning.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

And don't you sometimes re-read, study, compare, figure, clip, save, and show to friends? When you're on the brink of buying, aren't you hungry for facts, features, dimensions, styles, colors, capacities, prices?

Print advertising puts people who are close to a purchase close to the kind of information they demand. Newspapers, magazines and brochures let them linger with your message for as long as they like.

Print imparts important details, allows for colorful presentations, makes lasting impressions, takes people straight to the point-of-purchase. If you've something to sell, it will pay you to promote it regularly in print—where ready-to-buy people can keep their eyes on it, get their hands on it, make the most of it. Print makes sense because print makes sales.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Where but in print can you get so close to the advertising messages that interest you? Where else can a woman clip the coupons and recipes that intrigue her? Or tear out tips to try on leifovers? Or mark, for future marketing, any of the colorful food ideas which strike her fancy? And where else can she circle and compare the colors and styles of clothing and furnishings that appeal to her?

Where else, in fact, can any message be re-run at will by an interested audience? So make sure a good part of your advertising message gets into print. Let somebody's eyes linger over it as long as they like. Let somebody's scissors clip it free of competition. And then watch someone's pocket or purse carry it to the place of purchase. Print makes sense because print makes sales.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Give Us A King
Lesson for September 28, 1964

Background Scriptures: 1 Samuel 8 through 12.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 71:1-7, 18-19.

THERE USED to be a comic character named Popeye. He once got to be king of some imaginary country, and wore the biggest crown the cartoonist could invent for him. Then one day there was a revolution. The streets were filled with people yelling, "Down with King Popeye!" Old Popeye had a fast cure for the revolution. (This was back in the days when revolutions could sound funny.) He came

Dr. Foreman but on the balcony, took off his crown and threw it to the mob. Then an attendant handed him a derby hat, which he put on. So everybody began to shout, "Long live President Popeye!" This little tale illustrates a point: leadership there must always be. What name the leader has is not important, it's how and where he leads that is the question.

Power in the people
Now the little "nation" of Israel wanted a king. (We put "nation" in quotes because in the time of Saul it was hardly more than a confederation of tribes.) They had had great leadership from Samuel, but as he grew old the people began to worry about what would happen next. So they demanded: Give us a King! If you read the story it may raise in your mind an old and yet quite modern question: Where is the root of power in a nation?

The United States has the same answer the ancient Hebrews had: The people choose their leaders, the people's power is delegated to those leaders. What the people give the people can take; Mussolini, "Il Duce," leader of Italy, once operated Italy as if it belonged to him. But there came a time when the people no longer supported him; and they hanged him in a public place. Power rises and resides with the people. They can misuse it, they may neglect it and let someone else take it; but the Hebrew nation, and our own, believe and believe that government can be only by consent of the governed.

Power corrupts
Give us a King! the populace shouted; and when they got one, named Saul, and had vowed loyalty to him, they all went home. Now we have a King our troubles are over, they thought, and half-drunk with delight they tramped away through the dust. But there was one sober man there present, the prophet Samuel. He had in God's name selected and anointed this new king. But he could see the dangers in having a king at all. Saul's power to be king was conferred on him by choice of the people and of Samuel too. But as someone would say more than a thousand years afterwards, power corrupts; and it would corrupt Saul. This new king would forget that his power had been given to him, not born with him; Samuel realized this and drew a bitter word-picture of what a king would be. In describing the king, any future monarch, the verb Samuel uses is mostly "he will take..."

Rights and duties
Is this inevitable? Does all power always corrupt? Not always; but the danger is that possessors of power are in constant danger of being corrupted by it. Samuel must have thought the future was not loaded against the nation, for he wrote a document (a "white paper" as we might call it today) giving the "rights and duties of the kingship." This, in germ at least, was a Constitution. A truly democratic system was there in essence. One of the original thirteen colonies, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, wrote into its constitution the phrase "that this may be a government of laws, not of men..." In dictatorships of all kinds the law is what the dictator says it is—"I AM the State!" Monarchs have lived above the law, yet when they have done so, they have forgotten the first law of all, the law of God. What became of Samuel's book? Destroyed perhaps by some greedy king. But the laws of God are not so easy to destroy.

Wildcats At Ripley

Ripley's Tiger eleven, which last Friday dominated Munford as completely as it had been dominated by the Golden Bears of Jackson the week before, remains on home turf to face Covington, its second Big Ten opponent, at 8 p. m. this Friday evening.

Covington was initially from Millington, 64, bowing in Dyersburg last Friday, 137.

Dyersburg turned back an early Covington threat, building on its 15 after Covington got 47 yards in four plays. Covington's fourth down play was a fake field goal which didn't work.

Dyersburg scored in the second and third periods before Covington went wild, accumulating enough points to also get another late score, with 1:26 left.

In Tennessee... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, fishing, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Tennessee... beer goes with fun, with relaxation
