Numerous Studies Of Cotton Methods Offered Farmers

Ripley Meetings Scheduled After 3-Day Milan Course Giving Newest Pointers

By F. H. Paschal
The physiology of the cotton plant and the best varieties to grow will be discussed by H. W. Luck and associates in a cotton production short course in Milan next Monday.

Tuesday, land forming, selection, seedbed preparation and planting will be taught by James Mullins, R. J. Goddard, and Joe Overton.

Dr. William Walker will teach fertilization Wednesday. Thursday, Luck will explain chemical and other weed control methods. Albert Chambers will teach cotton diseases, and Dr. Charles Thomas will discuss insect control. Friday's topics will include defoliation, by Luck, harvesting and handling, by Mullins, and cost of production, by Dr. Metell Hudson.

Farmers are urged to attend these courses on any day or for all five days.

Other Cotton Meetings

Especially for those farmers who do not attend the short course at Milan, Luck will be with the county agent in a meeting on chemical weed control to be held at the Farm Bureau building in Ripley at 9:30 a. m. Feb. 17th. Another meeting on best production methods for cotton, corn, and soy beans will be held at the Farm Bureau building at 9:30 a. m. Feb. 24th, with Luck assisting the county agent.

Early in March, meetings will be held by the county agent and agricultural engineers to explain handling of equipment in the application of chemicals for weed control, and other meetings will be held on the control of insects and diseases of horticultural crops.

Gary Arwood, of Old River, at left in front row, has a great interest in electricity, and his very complete record won for him first place recognition in this area for Lauderdale County. He learned to wire sockets and make extension cords, made a tool box to hold electrical equipment, and learned how to fix an electric iron, among other things relating to safety in the use of electricity.

Barry Webster, of Arp, at right in front row, completed the most outstanding horse and pony project during the year. Although there is not much profit to be shown in such a project, Barry kept a complete record of his expenses and labor and gained many hours of pleasure from working with his horse.

Other boys who excelled in the Dog Husbandry Program were Rodney Marbury, of Halls; Charles Carpenter, of Ripley; James Ramm, of Halls; and George Evans, of Hurricane Hill.

Jimmy Hartman, Ripley, was second place winner in the Electric Program; Hal Kirkpatrick, of Durhamville, third; Mickey Ward, of Halls, fourth; and Carl Hartsfield, of Nankipoo, fifth.

Bob Parish, of Gates, placed second in the Horse and Pony Program.

CROPS, STOCK STANDOUTS included Jerry Wakefield, of Luckett, at left in back row, champion 4-H cotton producer in Lauderdale County for 1964. Jerry's 1,336 pounds of lint won him seventh place in the state's cotton production contest. He produced the highest amount of lint in recent years among 4-H boys. As his county award, he will receive a trip to 4-H Camp this summer. Jerry was also the winner in the soy bean production program. He produced an average of 32 bushels of beans on his three acres.

Rickey Lazure, of Nankipoo, at center in back row, was first place winner in the wine program. His Duroc gilt produced enough pigs for him to make a nice profit.

George Sinclair, of Concord, at right in back row, produced 138 bushels of corn on his acre to top the winners in the corn production program. George used Funk's 144 hybrid and fertilized at the rate of 98 pounds of nitrogen per acre. George will receive a trip to 4-H Camp this summer.

Mickey Pittman and Rickey Pittman, of Luckett, left to right in front row, were county winners in the beef program. They started out with small calves. They fed them on starter and calf feed, in addition to the cow's milk, and besides gaining quite a bit of experience they made a reasonable profit based on the length of time they carried on their program.

Richard Pennington, of Ashport, was second place winner in the cotton program, with 1,187 pounds of lint; Larry Reece, of Gates, third, with 1,177 pounds; Edwin Hutcherson, of Curve, fourth, with 1,150 pounds; and Larry Sanders, fifth, with 1,071.

In the corn program Johnny Ford, of Curve, was second with 128 bushels on his acre and Terry Braden, of Arp, third with 127 bushels.

Father Of Seven Dies In Car-Train Collision In Halls

Robert Reynolds Had Just Left Wife A Block Away; Danny Meeks Hurt Badly

One employee of Custom-Craft Manufacturing Co., in Halls, was killed and another seriously injured about 11:25 p. m. last Friday when their car struck a train at the Tipton St. grade crossing in Halls.

The fatality was Robert Paul Reynolds, 32, father of seven; a truck driver for the furniture manufacturing firm.

Taken to Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg by a Halls Funeral Home ambulance was his assistant driver, Danny Meeks, 22, who suffered shoulder, rib and right leg fractures.

The men were on their way to board their tractor-trailer truck when Reynolds' 1967 Oldsmobile struck one of the first cars in the northbound Illinois Central Railroad freight train, operated by C. R. Brown, of Memphis, engineer.

Both men were thrown from the smashed car, Reynolds about 75 yards and Meeks 20.

The crossing has an electrically operated semaphore, light, and bell warning on the west side of the double track of the I. C. main line. From the east side, from which Reynolds and Meeks approached, the train passed between them and the signal.

The men had begun a trip without taking shipping documents with them and had returned to get them. Meanwhile, Mrs. Reynolds had discovered that they had not taken the papers and had gone, with her sister, Miss Marilyn Gipsen, to the home of Mr. W. H. Woodley, Custom-Craft bookkeeper, about a block east of the Tipton St. crossing, to see if they could phone ahead and stop the two men. All met at the Woodley residence.

The accident occurred in earshot of the Woodley home as the men had started back toward their truck, parked at a Mobil service station.

Services for Mr. Reynolds, a lifelong resident of Lauderdale County, were at 2 p. m. Sunday in First Baptist Church in Halls, of which he was a member. The Rev. Ray Cavness officiated. Burial was in Palestine Cemetery near Halls, Halls Funeral Home in charge.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Joy Gipsen Reynolds; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Reynolds, of Bruceville; four sons, Philip Reynolds, Stevie Reynolds, Gary Reynolds, and David Reynolds, and three daughters, Judy Reynolds, Anita Reynolds, and Carla Jo Reynolds, all at home; three brothers, Wymond Reynolds and Larry Willard Reynolds, of Chicago, Ill.; and four sisters, Mrs. Nadine Kilpatrick, of Halls, and Mrs. Ollie Rhodes, Mrs. Dorothy Gillon, and Mrs. Emma Sue VanConnyne, all of Memphis.

Rickey Gilliland's Courtesy Saluted

Rickey Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gilliland, of Moscow, formerly of Gates, has been chosen "Most Courteous Boy" by the Commercial Club of Fayette County High in Somerville.

His selection was a part of the observation of Courtesy Month by the club. Rickey is president of the Commercial Club, vice-president of the senior class, president of the student council, and captain of the varsity football team. He is also a member of the Beta Club and of the paper staff.

Rickey attended Halls High School as a freshman. He is 17.

GUM FLAT HOME BURNS

Donations Assist Eleven In Levoid London Family

Donations of food, clothing and money have been flowing in for the Levoid London family, who lost all of their possessions when their home was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon.

The fire totally destroyed the frame house on the Cherry farm in the Gum Flat community. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The Londons are the parents of nine children, including five girls and three boys at home. All but two small boys are of school age, ranging from Betty, a freshman in high school, down to a first grader.

The family for the present is residing with Mr. London's brother, Russell London, on East Tipton in Halls.

HUNTER SAFETY INSTRUCTOR

Joe F. Beard, of Route 2, Halls, was one of five persons in the state who were certified as Hunter Safety Instructors last month.

The group brought the total number certified under the program to 175.

The Tennessee Game and Fish Commission conducts certification in co-operation with the National Rifle Association.

Rep. Everett Cool To Metro Editors' Plaint For Remap

Also Cautious On Medicare, He Tells Milan Banquet; Sees Tax Costs Crucial

MILAN, Feb. 3.—Rep. Robert A. (Pat) Everett, Eighth District Congressman, took a swipe at urban forces favoring reapportionment in a speech here last Friday evening.

"The city boys are causing all the ruckus, not the country folk," Everett said.

He criticized "the metropolitan press" for urging redistricting and said he would tell the editors so.

Rep. Everett also threw darts at proponents of medical care for the aged tied to Social Security.

"Some politicians have painted Medicare as if it were pie-in-the-sky," he declared.

"All of us must realize that the taxpayers can stand just so much until needs of revolt have taken root," he added.

Rep. Everett spoke to more than 150 attending the annual Distinguished Service Awards Banquet of the Milan Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Spicing serious comment with back-country humor, he ranged over these other Capitol Hill topics:

Centralized Government: "We've got it and we must adjust to it."

Foreign Affairs: "You know as much as I do about it—what we read in the newspaper."

Population Explosion: "Leadership for the six billion people expected on the earth by 2000 is one of the greatest challenges we face."

Education: "It is imperative that the drop-out become extinct so as not to be a drain on society."

Cotton Legislation: "The legislation so far has worked very well. We must realize that the cotton belt extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific—all interests must be considered to make cotton competitive. Cotton incomes must be kept high."

Aid For The Mentally Retarded: "Everything humanly possible must be done to help these people. Schools already have been set up for training parents of the retarded with low incomes."

Space Exploration: "We must keep pace with other nations to stay in the ball game. The moon effort should be carried forward."

Veterans' Legislation: "Sixty-one cents of every dollar in the new national budget goes to international affairs—only five cents for those who fought for our country."

Public Works: "I am glad to be on the public works committee, to see that we're protected in things the area is interested in—things like highways for example."

The banquets' success, widely known by his party figure, four-in-hand "Kentucky Colonel" tie, and glasses, stemmed all food at the banquet and fried chicken dinner. "It's on a diet," he said.

Confidential Corner

In Great Need

The Levoid London family is in great need following the loss of all its possessions in a fire Saturday afternoon.

Donations have been pouring in, but further help is greatly needed.

Mr. and Mrs. London have eight children at home, including three boys and five girls.

If you have outgrown clothing, usable furniture, or any item that might help them, why not help?

Safety Record Improved

Tennessee's traffic safety record so far this year is showing much improvement over the record-breaking death toll during 1964, but there are still too many dying in traffic accidents.

Highway deaths in Tennessee through Jan. 31st were 63, as compared to 58 during January, 1964. Any improvement should be acknowledged, but there is still the record of 63 dead during January, most of them completely unnecessary.

If you have seat belts, use them; if you don't have them, get them.

Drive in such a manner as to anticipate danger and always remember the life you save may be your own.

A Tragic Accident

The tragic accident which caused the death of Robert Reynolds and critical injuries to Danny Meeks is difficult to understand, but it should bring home to all of us the great danger in approaching railroad crossings without your eyes completely under control.

Our sympathies go out to the families of Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Meeks.

Halls Cagers Into District 34 Meets

With Covington as their opponents, the Halls High basketball team will ring down the curtain on the regular 1964-65 season Friday evening, with games on the Halls floor starting at 7 p. m.

During the weekend, Halls girls took victories over Brighton, 25-26, and Brownsville, 61-24, while the Halls boys were dropping two games, losing to Brighton, 54-42, and Brownsville, 73-51.

The girls' district tournament is slated to start in Covington, Feb. 11th and the boys' tourney will be in Somerville beginning Feb. 18th. Drawings for tournament opponents will be held Saturday.

INDEPENDENTS HOST DIXIE

The Halls Independent basketball team will host Dixie at 7 p. m. Saturday in the high school gymnasium.

Dixie has not lost a game during the past three years and features Joe Parker, who had an 88 point average last year and has scored more than 100 points in several games.

TOP 4-H GARDENERS, among 125 enrolled in the program for the 1964 club year, were (left to right) Tommy Kelly and Mike Harris, of the Gates Club; Joe Woodard, of the Halls 7th Club; Bobby Cooper, of the Arp 5th & 6th Club; and Rodney Moore, of the Gates Club.

Tommy Kelly planted both an early and late garden and produced 94 bushels of vegetables for fresh use and for preservation. He estimated the value of his garden at $200. Mike Harris raised many of his own plants and his family preserved over 300 quarts of canned and frozen vegetables. Joe Woodard grew twelve different kinds of vegetables, harvesting 55 bushels and preserving 367 quarts. Bobby Cooper reported the highest number of quarts of vegetables canned and frozen which was 431. He worked many hours in his garden learning methods of cultivation and insect control. He estimated the value of his garden at $200. Rodney Moore canned all his 353 quarts of vegetables.

The records these boys returned contained their garden plans, the varieties of vegetables used, the number of feet of rows planted, and dates planted. The amount harvested and the preservation record are the elements considered in determining the boys who excelled in this program. Most of them fertilized their gardens, kept a record of the cultivation dates and times, the insecticides used, and the problems encountered.

Democrats Set Primary For Judges April 15th, Should Contests Develop

Should opposition develop for re-election of Circuit Judge Mark Walker, of Covington, or Chancellor John Gray, of Brownsville, to new terms of eight years on the bench, the Democratic primary will be held Thursday, April 15th.

There has been no hint of an opponent for Judge Walker's re-election. Clerk and Master Bill Kinton, of Trenton, has weighed opposing Judge Gray, but the decision of James D. Senter, of Humboldt, not to seek re-election as Thirtieth Circuit attorney general has prevented speculation that Kinton may become a candidate for that post, giving Gray his third unopposed term.

The date for the primary, if needed, was set Saturday in Jackson by the Democratic Executive Judicial Committee, for all four Circuit and three Chancery Court judges.

Forester Serving Woodland Owners

The services of Harold Curtis, forester for Lauderdale, Tipton and Shelby Counties, in inventory and marking timber and providing technical assistance in woodlands improvement are available free of charge to landowners.
County woodland owners on request to him at the Soil Conservation District office in Covington.
Mr. Curtis has been obtained in Covington after his graduation in December from the University of Georgia and a month's training at Dresden.
"with some technical training," he said, "more progress is made in finding out where timberland is located."
Timberland associations are working with health departments, he said, in testing in various counties.
"The test is not an immunization," he said, "and it does not tell who has tuberculosis. It tells only if tuberculosis germs are in the body."
He was honored, he said, that tuberculosis control would soon progress to the point when it would aim at testing every child before he reaches school age, and the tuberculosis test would be made one of the requirements for school entrance.
He said tuberculosis testing can be done at a public health department or at a private physician's office.
Fred Silverman, of Brainerd, newly elected president of the District Tuberculosis Association, presided and welcomed Dr. Hale to the meeting.
Dr. Hale was introduced by L. W. Morgan, of Brainerd.

Geo. A. Jackson

George A. Jackson, clerk in Carter's Blount High in Ripley, took his own life at 8 a. m. last Friday in his home in Mary's Chapel, according to Dr. A. J. Butler, Jr., Lauderdale County medical examiner.
Mr. Jackson, who was 37, had been in ill health.
His body was found hanging from a door frame in his home with a nylon fishing cord.
Services were held at 3 p. m. Sunday in Corner Assembly of God Church, of which he was a member.
The Rev. W. H. Hiler officiated. Burial was in Mary's Chapel Cemetery.
Born in Dyer County, he had lived in Lauderdale County 47 years.
He leaves his wife, Mrs. Helen Land Jackson; his mother, Mrs. Alice Robinson; his father, Mr. James Jackson, of Chicago, Ill.; two daughters, Mrs. George L. Bridgeway, 44, Mrs. Marjorie Crowder, both of Ripley; three sons, James Jackson, of Halls, and Tom Jackson, of Memphis, three sisters, Mrs. Earl Daniels, of Ripley, Mrs. Lela Webb, of Halls, and Mrs. Lela Mae Pullin, of Dyer County, Tenn.; and five grandsons.

Forester Serving Woodland Owners

The services of Harold Curtis, forester for Lauderdale, Tipton and Shelby Counties, in inventory and marking timber and providing technical assistance in woodlands improvement are available free of charge to landowners.
County woodland owners on request to him at the Soil Conservation District office in Covington.
Mr. Curtis has been obtained in Covington after his graduation in December from the University of Georgia and a month's training at Dresden.
"with some technical training," he said, "more progress is made in finding out where timberland is located."
Timberland associations are working with health departments, he said, in testing in various counties.
"The test is not an immunization," he said, "and it does not tell who has tuberculosis. It tells only if tuberculosis germs are in the body."
He was honored, he said, that tuberculosis control would soon progress to the point when it would aim at testing every child before he reaches school age, and the tuberculosis test would be made one of the requirements for school entrance.
He said tuberculosis testing can be done at a public health department or at a private physician's office.
Fred Silverman, of Brainerd, newly elected president of the District Tuberculosis Association, presided and welcomed Dr. Hale to the meeting.
Dr. Hale was introduced by L. W. Morgan, of Brainerd.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Because, no matter what the purchase, don't you want to get the facts? What does the cost? Where's the maker? How's the best brand? How much will it need? How long will it last? And where should I see? Like yourself, most of your customers look to print advertising for answers, when they're really ready to buy. They look to newspapers and magazines, to booklets and brochures. Because print advertising lets people read and re-read, study and clip, save and show, linger and compare—as much and as many times as they wish. That's the beauty of print. When people look for your product in print, will it be there? Your competitor's will. Print makes sure, because print makes sure.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
 BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Must I Forgive?
 Lesson for February 22, 1965

Background Scripture: Matthew 17 and 18.
 Devotional Reading: Romans 12:3
 through 1:2.

A NECESSARY MIRACLE — that what forgiveness is. It is necessary because without it the entire world, and the church too, — all human life in fact, would no longer be human, but only a bloody meaningless weller of anger, hate and revenge. Nothing in life is more certain than quarrels, injustices, insults and injuries. All around the world today we see the effects of hatred. Dr. Foreman and revenge and memories of past offenses, all leading to private feuds and public wars. But forgiveness is not only necessary to keep life from being a hell on earth. It is a miracle. It calls for a kind of divine make-believe, for true forgiveness wipes out the past as if it had never been. Men acknowledge it is a miracle every time some one says: "I can't forgive that!"

iffy situation
 One thing you can always count on, no matter who you are or where you live. Some or later, and maybe every day, somebody is going to do you wrong. They will lie about you, or accuse you of bad motives you never thought of, or take (perhaps legally, perhaps not) something that by rights belongs to you. There are a thousand ways you can be hurt, and the most dreadful way is to hurt you by bringing pain or trouble to those you love. And yet, while the wrong (of some kind) is a future certainty, the wrong itself produces an "iffy" situation. You see, necessary as forgiveness may be, the Bible always — as between man and man, or between man and God — assures that before forgiveness there must be repentance. Call it sorrow, regret, repentance, — without it forgiveness is only a dream. So Jesus (Matt. 18:15-17) gives some very practical directions on how to persuade the one who has harmed you into admitting he was wrong, or did wrong. You begin with a private personal interview. There's no use in spreading your quarrel beyond yourselves. But if the rascal won't listen? The reader will note the word "IF" coming five times in these three verses. Jesus suggests how you can get through these IF's — all but one. It is clear that as the Master knew only too well, there are situations so bad that nothing can save them.

No limits
 As Jesus was speaking Simon Peter was thinking. He was thinking in figures, not a good way to think about forgiveness. Suppose I succeed every time in making my enemy admit he was wrong, do I have to forgive him every time he repents? What's the status of limitations on forgiveness? How many times am I required to forgive — perhaps seven times? Peter may have thought he was being generous. If so, he must have been set back suddenly by Jesus' answer — Seventy times seven!

From the heart
 It's your heart you are responsible for — not somebody else's. You may not be quite sure when "I am sorry" is sincerely meant; but you can be pretty sure whether your own forgiveness comes from your heart or is just a pretty speech. Forgiveness not from the heart is no miracle; anybody can say the words. But heartlessness forgiveness is a miracle. "I will forgive but I'll never forget" is not Christian forgiveness, for it keeps the old wound fresh and sore. Forgiveness is a healing medicine; grudging half-forgiveness is no forgiveness at all; it is infection poured into the wound. Forgiveness from the heart means forgiving and forgetting, it means starting over again, it means brotherhood in fact as well as in name. You know Jesus often called God "your Father," but to the unforgiving he says, "My Father will" (punish you.) God will not be called "Father" of unforgiving men.

Why more and more people are heating water electrically . . .

NO VENT NEEDED . . . SHORTER PIPE RUNS

The quick-recovery electric water heater needs no vent or flue. This permits you to install it at the point of greatest hot water use, thereby eliminating heat-wasting pipe runs. (Long pipe runs mean more hot water will be left standing in the pipe to lose heat, mean higher installation costs.)

Or you may install your quick-recovery electric water heater in an out-of-the-way spot—under a stairway or even in a closet. This saves valuable usable space.

These two features alone can mean big savings with the quick-recovery electric water heater. But it has other features just as valuable — cleanliness, appearance, safety, quietness, dependability, and efficiency.

Count up the features only the electric water heater has—then join the growing group that insists on heating water electrically. See your appliance dealer today!
