

Confidential Corner

By Henry Marchison

Slightly Confused

Some members of the graduating class of Halls High School were apparently slightly confused last Friday evening. They acted more as if it were Hallowe'en than the completion of their four years in high school. Seats were taken from in front of several stores, concrete blocks were placed across a street along the east side of the football field, and other pranks were perpetrated which are usually associated with Hallowe'en.

Important Decisions

The incoming Mayor and Aldermen of Halls won't have time to catch their breaths and become acquainted with their jobs before having to make some vital decisions. The recently announced federal grant for the improvement of the city water and sewer systems must be acted on within the near future, and certainly the new officials are not likely to face a matter of greater importance during their term of office. The need for the improvement of the water and sewer systems cannot be questioned, but approval of the board is needed and decisions must be reached on how the necessary $250,000 will be repaid and on several other vital matters.

Big Haal

Jerry Baxter came by our home late one evening last week to show us a huge string of fish which he and his mother, Mrs. Floyd Baxter, had caught. The string contained more than 150 fish, mostly small crappie.

Witness In Hanoi Calls Griffin Raid Flak Worst Seen

Captured Pilots, One Hurt Taken Thru Viet Capital In Command Car, Report

Foreign news sources have supplied further details about the air raids on Hanoi, the capital city of North Viet Nam, in which Lt. Commander James L. Griffin, 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher (Billy) Griffin, of Forked Deer, was shot down Friday before last.

The Hanoi radio reported Griffin's capture and said he was wounded in the legs.

Griffin's was one of five Navy planes from three carriers lost in the day's raids on and near Hanoi. He flew from the Kitty Hawk in one of two strikes at the army depot at Vandien, five miles south of Hanoi, while planes from the carrier Bon Homme Richard bombed downtown Hanoi for the first time.

Jacques Moalic, correspondent of Agence France-Presse in Hanoi, said the raids brought "the most terrible barrage of anti-aircraft fire I have ever seen."

"Early in the afternoon, three or four United States fighter-bombers were shot down in a matter of 20 seconds.

"In a sky dotted with exploding missiles, I suddenly saw an F-105 jet blow up. In a second, it was transformed into a ball of fire that fell twisting downward over the western suburbs.

"Other witnesses said they had seen another plane, this one unidentified, falling in flames over eastern Hanoi as all the anti-aircraft guns opened up in a frightful blast of sound.

"Scarcely had the first fighter-bombers dumped their loads and swept upward again when heavy clouds of gray smoke rose from the area they had hit.

"Then, as the waves of F-105s turned and began to fly off, the slaughter began.

"Everywhere around the planes, little black clouds scattered in all directions with bursts of anti-aircraft fire and the reddish flash of exploding surface-to-air missiles.

"It was a fearful 20 seconds for the United States aircraft.
"Shortly after the second alert, a command car drove through the city carrying two captured American pilots. One seemed to be wounded, according to witnesses."

The Soviet press agency Tass reported that U.S. pilots in dark green coveralls parachuted into the streets of Hanoi after their planes were shot down.

Farmer Can Make Diversion Change

Rep. Robert A. Everett announced Wednesday that the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture had agreed to permit Lauderdale County farmers to substitute for originally designated "diverted acreage" lands treated with atrazine or other chemicals which make it impossible to plant any crop on them at the present time.
Such lands must have been planted in a workman like manner, and farmers making such substitutions must notify the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office of them and must treat the substitute acreage in the same manner as that originally diverted.

M. Harrell, of Dry Hill, Earl Baldrige, of Memphis, Burt Baldrige, of Bells, and Cooper Baldrige, of Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Harrell and Mrs. Charles Anderson attended funeral services in Alamo Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edith Howard, of Edith, visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scoggins Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Coy Critfield entered Lauderdale County Hospital Monday for treatment of a back injury.

Mr. Critfield and children are with Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Eara. Clifton Eara made a business trip to Florida last week.

Westate Field Day Studies Controls For Farm Pests

Twelve Stations Explaining How To Handle Diseases, Insects, And Nematodes

By F. H. Paschal

Field crop diseases, insects, and nematodes will be studied in a West Tennessee Field Day at Jackson next Wednesday, beginning at 8 to 10 a. m.

A series of 12 stops will be made after a beginning at the main building headquarters of the experiment station. They will take about two hours.

Cotton seedling diseases, wilt, and nematodes cost farmers many dollars in losses each year. Three stops will be devoted to their study.

Corn borers and stalk diseases limit yields and profits to this crop each year. These will be studied at three stops on the tour.

Diseases and insects of soybeans, alfalfa, and small grains will be covered in other stops.

Chigger Control Started

J. W. Knox, of Poplar Grove, sprayed the Poplar Grove Church lawn with Toxaphene this week to control chiggers before a homecoming planned Sunday.

St. Jude Hospital March Is Sunday

The fourth annual march for the support of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. Sunday, under the county-wide chairmanship of Nolan Criner, Lauderdale County register.

Patients have been admitted to St. Jude from over one-half of the United States, including Alaska. Treatment is free and open to children of every race, creed, and economic status.

St. Jude has done extensive work in the fields of childhood cancer, leukemia, and muscle disorders. One major breakthrough has already been reported by the American Medical Association Journal. St. Jude scientists have reversed the technics formerly used in treatment of solid tumors, using chemotherapy, then radiation to reduce the tumor and finally surgery to remove it. This method of treatment has been successful in 20 cancer-inflicted children who, after 20 months, still have no recurrence of the disease.

Danny Thomas, entertainment star who sponsors the hospital, says "it is good that teen-agers especially, combine the talents of their healthy bodies to help other children who are less fortunate. With such an army of dedicated young people, we can move mountains."

John A. Gilliland, of Gates, was moved Saturday from Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg to Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Mrs. Jodie Cooper, of Route 3, Ripley, entered Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg Monday.

Don't you read before you buy?

Before you buy hats or houses? Washing machines or Wash Tubs? Crockers or stoves? Most people buy because only retail can tell you everything you want to know about a product when you're really ready to buy. How much it costs, how it looks, what color it is, and where to find it. Only retail lets you read and read. Larger and bigger. City and town. Think away in your pocket or purse. When ready-to-buy customers look for your product in print, will they find it? Or will they have to settle for some other brand? Print makes sense because print makes sales.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Because, no matter what the purchase, don't you want to get the facts? What does it cost? Where's the maker? What's the best brand? How much will it need? How long will it last? And when should I see? Like yourself, most of your customers look to print advertising for answers, when they're really ready to buy. They look to newspapers and magazines, to booklets and brochures. Because print advertising lets you people read and re-read, study and clip, save and show, linger and compare—as much and as many times as you wish. That's the beauty of print. When people look for your product in print, will it be there? Your competitor's will. Print makes sure, because print makes sure.

Changes May Be Indicated

We do not believe the general public is in a mood to accept the suggested increase in income tax, unless a sharp cut in spending is accomplished.

In general, the public seems to feel that entirely too much money is being spent for the "great society," for foreign aid to countries which immediately turn against the United States, for the $1.2 billion program, and for other domestic spending.

Members of the Congress who support the income tax increase but do not work toward a drastic cut in spending find the going "rough" at the polls when they again come up for election.

It seems to your editor that action of the federal courts in re-districting Tennessee, and probably in other states, is taking representation away from one group and giving it to another.

The one man, one vote theory would seem to make sense; but when a group is minority of rural voters with a majority of urban voters, then the rural voters will have little or no voice in their government.

In theory, a Congressman should represent all of the people in his district, but practical politics says that he must represent the larger group, if he expects to continue to be elected.

Our sympathy is with the rural voters who are being represented in Congress.

Most people do. Because only print can tell you everything you want to know about a product when you're really ready to buy. How much it costs, how it looks, what color it is, and when to buy it. Only print lets you read and re-read. Longer and cheaper. Clip and save. Tuck away in your pocket or purse. When ready-to-buy customers look for your product in print, will they find it? Or will they have to settle for some other brand? Print makes sense because print makes sales.'

No Loitering!
Lesson for July 2, 1967

For too many of us, evangelism means welcoming the new church families that move into our community and persuading them to transfer their membership to our church instead of another. This concern, of course, is legitimate, but it is something considerably less than the proper response to "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations..."

The great majority of people who join our churches today — youth confirmands the exception — are persons who already are church members.

But what of the great numbers who are not committed to Jesus Christ? The command was not to seek letters of transfer, but to win people to Christ. We are to seek, not a change of membership, but a change of life. Nevertheless, our evangelism, if we have any at all, seems directed to the "solid" people, the "solid citizens," the people whose lives do not seem to need much in the way of radical change.

More Than Welcome
In our city there is a coffee house sponsored by various churches in the area. Its purpose is to minister to the rootless young adults of the area. As I was speaking of this ministry with someone, they wanted to know "Are there likely to be any hoodlums or bachelors coming here?" The words were spoken with distaste. My answer: "I sincerely hope so. God is concerned about these people too; the alcoholic, the dope addict, the 'dropout,' the 'hipster,' the delinquent, the homosexual, the bearded and the unwashed."

Too often today we Christians pat ourselves on the back if our church makes an attempt to welcome anyone who happens to cross its threshold. Yet, necessary as it is for churches to receive all who come, our mission is not one of sitting and waiting. We are called to reach out, to go "where the action is," to the places where we will find those who need the Gospel of Christ. We are too often content to be found when our mission is to go and find.

Not Content To Wait
This is the strategy we find in Acts 13. The church at Antioch was not waiting for someone to come in; it was willing to be sent forth. When the guidance they sought was given, they set apart two of their own number, commissioned them, and sent them out to find those who needed the Gospel of Christ. They were a congregation that reached out. Once before, when the Mother Church in Jerusalem had come upon hard times, the people at Antioch took up a relief collection for them. Now they were reaching out again.

Barnabas and Paul went forth as preachers, for there was an era when people still listened eagerly to the spoken word. Today this is no longer true. Accustomed to television, radio, and ever-present loud speakers, people today turn a deaf ear to street-corner preaching and even close their eyes to tracts, Bibles, and other media. Words seem to have become cheap.

Deeds So Loud
The most effective communication today is witness, deeds that speak so loudly that they cannot be ignored, deeds that make people want to know what is behind them. Those who need our message today, for the most part, will not come to our churches. Nor will they even attend evangelism crusades in tents or public stadiums. We have made it quite clear that before they are acceptable, they must first shave their beards, cut their hair, change their clothes, and stop doing whatever it is they do and we would not.

The "No Loitering" sign should be posted, not for the stranger outside our churches, but for the believer within. The "outsider" will not come, so we must go. That is how it was for Paul and Barnabas. It is no less true for us.
