Postal Rates Up

We don't suppose that any of you are like a lady who bought a supply of stamps prior to the increase from 2¢ to 3¢ first class rates many years ago. We were never able to convince the lady in question that she wasn't being thrifty, and she was somewhat upset with us when she found that she had to buy an additional 1¢ stamp. We're not quite clear just how we got involved in the first place.

Anyhow, this is just to remind you that all postage rates will increase Sunday.

Rates will be 6¢ for first class mail and 10¢ for air mail. Postal cards will be 5¢ and air mail postal cards 8¢.

In addition to the 20% increase on first class mail, there will be a 24% increase in rates for mailing newspapers, a 34% increase on advertising circulars, etc.

Congratulations

To Mr. and Mrs. O. L. White, of East Tipton Street, Halls, who celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary this Thursday.

Due to ill health, Mr. and Mrs. White have been confined to their home much of the time for the past two years; but they are still quite cheerful and enjoying having friends call upon them.

Court Considers Schools

Lauderdale County Quarterly Court will meet next Monday, with major business to be the approval of the proposed new high school building in Ripley.

The court will also be asked to find some means of improving the present buildings at Halls High School.

It is to be hoped that the Ripley High building may be approved and also that some reasonable means may be found to help Halls.

There can be no doubt of the need for all of this, and we fervently hope that something can be worked out without further rancor and ill feeling.

Incidentally, it is unfortunate that a member of the school board saw fit to state before a public meeting that Halls students would receive an inferior education if they continued to attend Halls High School.

We believe that comparison of Halls High graduates with most of other schools, including Ripley, would reveal that they are on a par with other students in college work; and also, the remark did nothing to heal any breach between Halls and Ripley.

U. S. Studies Hints Hanoi Has Shifted Terms For Talks

Diplomatic Sources Report North Viet Nam Feelers; Bomb Halt Still Sought

Reports from Saigon and Paris Thursday hinted that North Viet Nam has changed its conditions for peace talks—but its new terms remained unclear.

In the South Viet Namese capital, diplomatic sources said Hanoi's ambassador to Indonesia has informed his government that North Viet Nam is ready to talk peace when the U. S. halts bombing of the Communist country. The Hanoi diplomat reportedly said North Viet Nam would "gladly accept" Indonesia's offer to mediate the conflict.

But a weekend statement by the North Viet Namese Foreign Minister seemed to add a second condition for negotiations. Nguyen Duy Trinh said peace talks "will" begin when the U. S. stops the bombing and also "all other acts of war" against North Viet Nam.

Hanoi in the past would say only that talks "could" begin if the bombing were stopped "permanently."

In Paris, French Information Minister George Gorse indicated to newsmen that the French government is convinced Hanoi will come to the bargaining table as soon as the bombing is halted. But Gorse had no comment on reports from well-informed sources that Paris has told Washington it believes Hanoi has now furnished the long-awaited "sign" it is ready to get peace talks going.

In London, the British Foreign Office said it had received the official version of the statement by North Viet Nam's foreign minister. Diplomats in London said it is still unclear what Hanoi wants to discuss once a meeting gets under way. They are not sure whether or not North Viet Nam merely wants to repeat its demands for U. S. withdrawal.

Tobacco Top State Crop
Tobacco led all other Tennessee crops in total sales for last year, followed by soy beans, hay, corn, and cotton—the latter being the state's worst cotton crop in 100 years.

$3,800,000 Factory Bonds Approved

Industrial revenue bonds totaling $3,800,000 were approved last week when Town of Halls officials met with officers of Tupperware, U.S. in New York City.

Short term bonds totaling $860,000 have interest rates ranging from 4.6% to 5.15%. An additional $3,940,000 in bonds, maturing Nov. 1, 1992, will sell at 5 7/8%.

The bonds will be issued under the title "Industrial Development Revenue Bonds (Rexall), Series 1967."

Officials of Tupperware say about a week of dirt work remains before construction begins, as soon as weather will permit.

The contract for construction of the building has not yet been awarded.

Burial At Edith For Gunshot Victim, 9

Services for Glen Hazelrig, 9-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Crews, of Edith, who was accidentally shot to death Saturday, were at 10 a. m. Tuesday in Wells Station Baptist Church in Memphis, with burial in Pleasant Grove Cemetery at Edith Methodist Church.

The boy's uncle, Aubrey Crews, of 1339 Oak Ridge, Memphis, had loaned a 20-gauge shotgun to Glen's brother, Danny, 15, for hunting during the holidays.

Police said Danny had varnished the stock and was putting the gun into a living room closet in his home at 1538 Wells Station Road when it fired. The blast struck Glen in the chest as he sat in a chair.

He was taken to St. Joseph Hospital by a fire department ambulance and was pronounced dead at 3 p. m.

His mother, Mrs. Peggy Hazelrig Kirk, was on her way home from work as a nurse's aid in the hospital.

Her husband, Leonard Kirk, is a Memphis Transit Authority driver.

The boy's father is William Wade Hazelrig, of 574 Berclair Road.

He also leaves a sister, Rachel, 12.

He was a third grade student in Wells Station Elementary School and attended Wells Station Baptist Church.

Mrs. Oscar Jones
Mrs. Hilda Beanna Smith Jones, 62, widow of Oscar Jones, milk contractor, of Covington, died at 10 a. m. Tuesday in Tipton County Hospital in Covington, which she had just entered after an apparent heart attack.

Services were at 2 p. m. Thursday in Archer's Chapel Methodist Church, of which she was a member. Burial was in the church cemetery, Halls Funeral Home in charge.

Born in Crockett County, she moved to Covington in 1960.

Her husband died last year. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Stephenson, of Martin, and Mrs. Betty Lou Rylant, of Covington; a brother, Grover Smith, of Halls; a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Gilliland, of near Gates; eight grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

F. C. Dingler
Word has been received in Halls of the death of F. C. "Sid" Dingler at his home in Charlotte, N. C., after a heart attack. No further details were given.

Mr. Dingler was stationed on the old Dyersburg Air Base in Halls for more than two years during World War II.

During most of that time, he and Mrs. Dingler made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Millo Hurt.

While in Halls, he was active in Halls Methodist Church.

The Dinglers have visited in Halls on numerous occasions since World War II and had planned to visit here this summer.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ann Dingler, and a son, David.

Rice Bequests To Hospital, Library

Mrs. Lucie Livingston Rice, 94, who died in her home in Ripley Dec. 18th, bequeathed two Lauderdale County institutions a total of $125,000, her will discloses.

Mrs. Rice left $100,000 to Lauderdale County Hospital with the suggestion that an addition be considered, to be named the "Rice Memorial Addition." However, the use of the funds was left to the discretion of the trustees of the hospital.

Mrs. Rice left $25,000 to be invested as an endowment for Sugar Hill, Lauderdale County Library, with the income only to be used each year and not more than half of the income to be used for operating expenses. The library was also left some china.

The public bequests were among a number of bequests to relatives. The will was dated Jan. 31, 1953.

Mrs. Rice was the widow of W. G. L. Rice, Ripley landowner, who bequeathed to the people of Ripley Park and a park on Cleveland and who left Lauderdale County the Sugar Hill mansion which was converted into a library.

Mrs. Rice, a close friend of Mrs. Vernon Peters, long-time library board chairman, took great interest in the progress of Sugar Hill into one of the finest small libraries in the state before her advancing age curtailed her participation in its affairs.

The library bequests were left to Mrs. Peters as chairman of the Board of trustees of the library, or to her successors in office. Mrs. Peters has been succeeded by Mrs. Tollie Caldwell at the helm of the institution but remains a member of the board.

DAVID DWAYNE AGEE, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Agee, Jr., of Halls, has joined the crew of the nuclear powered submarine Scamp after training at the Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Base. Commander J. F. Drain, commander of the submarine, has written Agee's parents, telling of some of the work the youth will be doing with sophisticated equipment and the qualities required to become a member of the Scamp's crew.

Operating from a naval base at San Francisco, Calif., the submarine has recently visited Guam, Hawaii, and other points in the Pacific Ocean.

Farmers Figure Taxes
Farmers are this week beginning their final work on income tax returns.

A farmer, by Internal Revenue definition, is a taxpayer who gets at least two-thirds of his income from the business of farming.

"Farmers" may make estimated returns and pay two-thirds of the calculated tax by Jan. 15th and make final returns by April 15th, or they can just make final returns by Feb. 15th.

The necessity for paying Social Security and income taxes emphasizes the need for carefully kept, accurate farm records.

Such records can also help farmers see more clearly how to manage their business for higher incomes in future years.

Mice Are Unwelcome
Mickey and Minnie Mouse have delighted both children and adults with their cartoon antics for decades. However, their "real life" cousins are unwelcome guests around the home and farm.

"Mice are filthy and often cause considerable damage," says Harry Williams, University of Tennessee Extension assistant entomologist. "If you see one mouse or more in the daytime, you have a heavy infestation, since they are active mostly at night."

"A good sanitation program is the best way to keep mice under control," he advises. "Remove their sources of food, water, and shelter for nesting, and supplement these practices with baiting and trapping."

Mice travel regular runways along the base of walls or other objects and seldom range more than 30 feet from their nests, he explains. Set baits and traps along these runways.

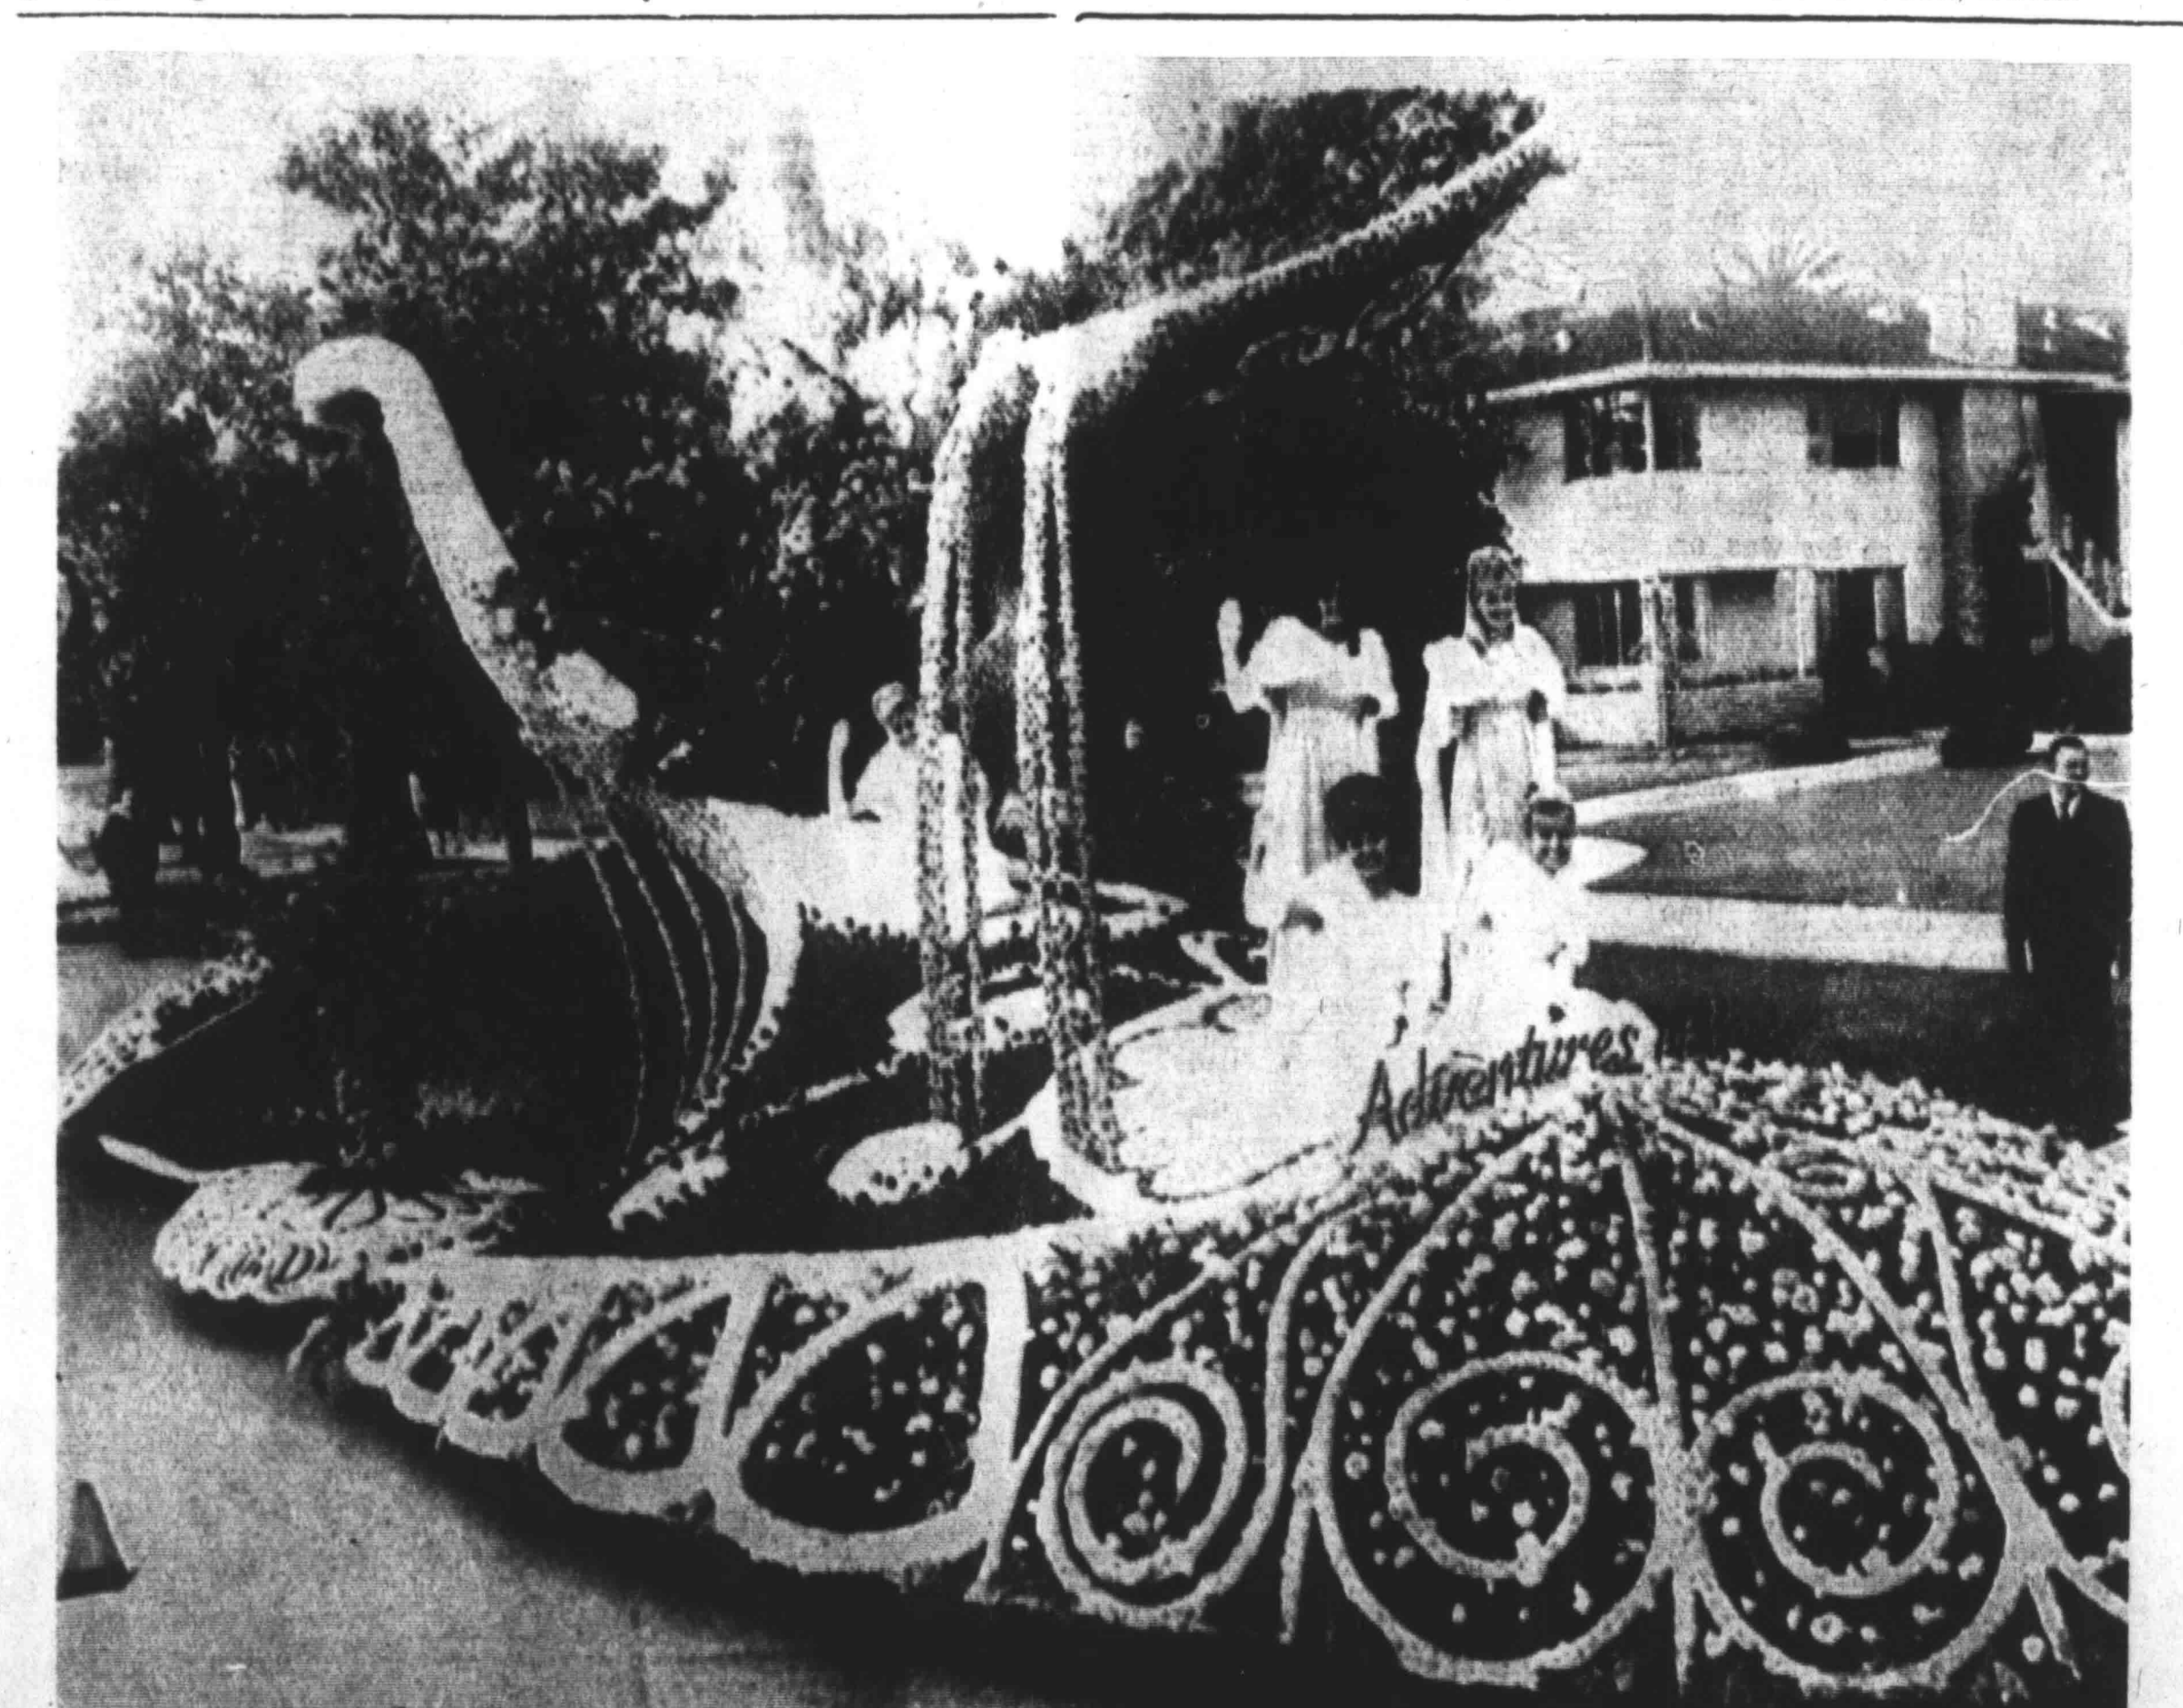

Place the trigger mechanism of the trap against the wall where the mice travel, and don't be afraid to use too many traps. Peanut butter, cheese, bacon, or candy are good baits to use. Keep the baits clean and fresh.

If you use baits, place them along the runways where the mice will find them. The anti-coagulant types of poisons are stable. Warfarin, Pival, Diphacin, Fumarin, PMP, and Prolen are commercial baits which are effective. Use them according to the manufacturer's instructions.

ages and under at home.

Talking in a low, soft voice, so other patients will not be disturbed.

If you follow the few suggestions above, then you will become a good hospital visitor.

Your hospital's responsibility is to provide and render medical care when needed. This, of course, is accomplished by a group of people dedicated to the medical profession, striving to make your stay in the hospital as comfortable and pleasant as possible.

It is a proven fact that when patients have an excessive amount of visitors, hospital stays are prolonged by one to three days.

HOSPITAL VISITORS' GUIDE

The hospital staff can best fulfill its mission when you cooperate by:

- 1. Complimenting with the posted visiting hours.
2. Making your visit short—five to ten minutes at most. The patient will probably have other visitors.
3. Not having more than two visitors per patient at a time.
4. Being cheerful—not discussing your problems with the patient.
5. Not smoking in patient's room.
6. Not sitting on patient's bed.
7. Not bringing in food (this could be harmful).
8. Leaving children 12 years of

Don't you read before you buy?

Before you buy hats or houses? Waiting machines or Wash Terrors? Cardigan or cats? Most people do. Because only print can tell you everything you want to know about a product when you're really ready to buy. How much it costs, how it looks, what color it is, and where to find it. Only print lets you read and re-read. Linger and compare. Clip and save. Tuck away in your pocket or purse. When ready-to-buy customers look for your product to print, will they find it? Or will they have to settle for some other brand? Print makes sense because print makes sales.

Looking Around

Police in Porterville, California, are on the lookout for a woman with "lumpy red hair and large red eyes" who caused a stir in the business district by claiming to be a witch. They said she cast spells on salaried men in two stores and pulled down several shelves before driving out of town.

Giorgio Gandullini is the new pipe smoking champion of Milan, Italy. He kept three grams of tobacco burning one hour, 15 minutes, 28 seconds, beating runner-up Guido Brandelli by 17 seconds.

The musical "Hello, Dolly!" tells the story of one Dolly Gallagher Levi, whose trade is matchmaking. Apparently her magic is rubbing off on the show's cast. When dancer Gene Gebauer married in New York, he was the 10th member of the cast to marry since "Dolly" opened three years ago.

New Mexico governor David Cargo now has his own hotline. A 60-second tape recording of his daily press conferences is available by dialing a Santa Fe telephone number. Governor Cargo personally narrates the reports.

Mary Willis is baseball's all-time basestealing champion, but Michael Kistel of Pittsburgh tried to do him one better. In a game between the Pirates and Dodgers, Kistel dropped from the grandstand, ran out the field, and tried to run off with second base. He was stopped by park police and charged with attempted larceny.

The story goes that a man bet the late President Calvin Coolidge he could not say at least three words at a banquet. Coolidge looked at the man and said, "You lose."

Yugoslav Radivoje Momirski claims to have written the shortest book. Twenty-seven years ago he published a book with the title "Who Rules the World?" Inside was a single page with just one word: "money."

Gerardo Jesus caused a stir when he turned up at his home in Porto Alegre, Brazil, half an hour before his funeral. His mother had mistakenly identified him as one of the victims of a fire in a Porto Alegre suburb. Mr. Jesus explained that he had been away on business.

Psychologists tell us that it is bad to be an orphan, terrible to be an only child, damaging to be the youngest, crushing to be in the middle and taxing to be the oldest. There's no way out except to be born an adult.

For obeying the law, Abdul Butts and Mark Younas were arrested in London. They were being chased by the police when a traffic light turned red, and like good citizens they stopped. The trailing policeman seized them and jailed them on narcotics charges.

Reports say that Sam is recuperating nicely in his Miami home after an operation. A tumor the size of a golf ball was removed from his side. Doctors used tiny instruments usually reserved for eye surgery in the operation. Sam is a pet parakeet owned by Milton Baker and the surgery went off without a flutter.

King, a year-old German shepherd, went on duty at the Dutchess County Jail in Poughkeepsie, New York, to protect the guards and prevent jail breaks. A few hours after reporting for work, King went into action. He bit Deputy Sheriff Lee Dorn.

There's A New Frontier In Office Efficiency
 Significant break-throughs in design and production of familiar products are revolutionizing the office supply field.

Good businessmen are improving efficiency and earning credit on income tax returns.

Before you invest unwisely in office tools of obsolete design, don't fail to see the newest and best.

NEW COMPACT STANDARD TYPEWRITER
 Standard keyboard, standard large platen, every big-machine feature including half-spacing, tabulation, even automatic indentation—yet miniature size techniques have reduced bulk and weight so that this heavy duty machine is easily carried.

Support The Scouts
 In January, 1968, the first Boy Scout troop was formed to start a movement which has benefited many individuals but to any one thing that we can recall which is neither church nor school connected.

Farm Wages Up
 Farmers are reminded that effective Feb. 1st minimum wages for farm employees will go up from $1 and $1.15 per hour.

SCHOOL SCOOPS From Halls High
 Richards Stone, of the Tupperware Co., had lunch with the teachers Tuesday.

Principal Dale Overton has sent a letter from Dr. Archie Dykes, president of The University of Tennessee in Martin, complimenting the Halls High School faculty on the outstanding records being made by graduates enrolled in Martin.

Nothing pops up any office machine's performance—and actually prolongs its life—like a first quality WFO ribbon. . . the only ribbon we handle because it's the only one we can sell with pride. . . Yet some folks persist in using cheaper quality ribbons which date from the pre-nylon era—and actually pay more for them than our $1.25 price for nylon. By handling one grade in volume, we're holding the price line on the best ribbon you can buy. At that price, you can't afford any other ribbons for your machine.

Sure you do. Because, like most people, you're careful about what happens to your hard-earned money. So you look at products that appear in newspapers, magazines and brochures. Where the facts are captured for you, often in full color. Where you can study them for as long as you want. And even come back for more. If you have something to sell, shouldn't you consider giving the power of print?

Don't you read before you buy?

When people see your print advertisement, you can be pretty sure they're not painting a room at the same time, or running in the kitchen for a snack, or carrying on a conversation.

What you get when your printed message meets the eye is the kind of attention that makes cash registers ring.

Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

County School Mix Tops Shelby Level

(Continued From Page 1) West Tennessee scheduled for the loss of federal aid for schools, when several nearby counties have done far less toward integrating their schools, one of the agents said "these other counties are just not in trouble yet," hinting that they soon will be.

"In fact," he said, "Shelby County is probably the only county in West Tennessee which is not going to have trouble in showing it is meeting the current guidelines."

Board members noted that this county has larger percentages of integration in its schools than Shelby County.

Last school year, 3% of county students crossed racial school lines. This year, the figure is 11.6%.

The county has 21 teachers crossing racial school lines this year. Enrollment in the new area vocational school is about 40 white and 40 Negro.

For the first time this year, the county has a homebound teacher teaching both races.

Supt. Keith Hill said a new special education class in Halls Elementary School would start Monday, including Negro students being transferred from Halls Consolidated.

Telephone Talk

By ROGER GANIER, Your Telephone Manager

THIS MONTH TELEPHONE USERS in the Lauderdale County area will hear a new response when calling Southern Bell for telephone information. Operators will answer calls by saying "Directory Assistance."

This response more accurately describes the type of service available when you need assistance in locating a number. However, most of the telephone numbers you call are listed in the telephone directory, so why make two calls when one will do?

You'll save time by first looking in the directory for the number you want. If it is not there, the "Directory Assistance" operator will help you locate the number.

VERY OFTEN A DOCTOR WILL SUSPECT HEART TROUBLE but, because he's not a cardiologist, can't be certain. He can take an electrocardiogram—but it takes an expert to interpret it. But, if the nearest expert is hundreds of miles away—and a few hours could make the difference between life and death—what then?

Today there's an answer. A special Bell System Data-Phone® data communications set enables the doctor to transmit an electrocardiogram for diagnosis over conventional telephone lines. The Bell System is especially happy to be able to make such a direct contribution to the saving of human lives.

*Trademark of the Bell System.

"PLAY-A-FEEN CRINK-A-NOPE." ANYONE? Actually, it's not a game. It's the way the words "Telephone Company" sound after being turned upside down and sideways by a scrambling device that assures privacy on ship-to-shore telephone calls. (The call is unscrambled when it reaches regular land line telephone facilities).

Meanwhile, on shore, radiotelephone stations daily chart the courses of the larger ocean liners, to help facilitate antenna positioning when calls like these are placed.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IN PERSON!
Lesson for January 28, 1968

Background Scripture John 4:1-42.
Devotional Reading Luke 19:1-10.

"I can't find it anywhere," says the salesman. Though the package had borne my name and had been placed on the "hold" shelf, one of the clerks had obviously sold the item which was to have been held for me. Intended as a gift, it was the last one in stock and in town. I was angry and she was indifferent, but both of us managed to keep our masks in place. "I'm sorry," she said and it was obvious that she wasn't really. "All right," I replied in a way that implied it was anything but all right.

Chance Encounters
This brief encounter is but one of the great number of encounters that make up so much of our daily lives. A few words are spoken to someone, meaningful looks are exchanged, prophecies are observed, and that's it. Perhaps we never see these persons again or perhaps we see them regularly but the relationship remains essentially the same. They seem to us totally unimportant, not the kind of thing one would enter in a diary or a journal.

In John's gospel, however, we find that even the so-called "chance encounters" of Jesus were deeply significant. How well this is illustrated in chapter four when Jesus encounters the Samaritan woman at the well. A thirsty Galilean, a hostile Samaritan woman, a request for water, a sarcastic refusal. Nothing extraordinary here and yet John asks us to look beyond the mere events and words themselves and see the transforming power of God at work in even this common situation.

Her reaction is hardly unexpected. She taunts him sarcastically. Why should a Jew ask water of a Samaritan, if, as Jews so obviously believed, Samaritans were beneath their contempt? When Jesus does not make the anticipated hostile reply, she resorts to arguing with him, baiting him. And still Jesus refuses to become involved in a petty dispute.

"Go, call your husband, and come here," he suggests. Now he has struck a nerve: your husband! "I have no husband," she replies. Can you imagine how his parting words shocked her? You are right in saying, "I have no husband," for you have had five husbands and he whom you now have is not your husband." You are a prophet, she exclaims, but she soon realizes that he is more than that: he is the long-awaited Messiah.

Come, See A Man
Excitedly the woman dashes off. She is so excited that she forgets the water jug and leaves it at the well as she hurries to the city to tell everyone there of this strange man from Galilee. Often this is the way people are affected when they encounter Jesus Christ personally. He makes such an impression that lesser things are forgotten or put aside and there is felt a compulsion to tell others about him.

The woman's testimony was compelling enough to bring many Samaritans to him at the well. They ask him to stay longer and he does. As a result, many Samaritans from that city believed in him. A simple encounter between two strangers at a well has become the occasion for people to come to know Jesus Christ.

Jesus might have accepted the woman's refusal and left it go at that, but he did not. So because Jesus persisted, because a woman witnessed to her encounter, because a town was receptive, a large number of people encountered the Christ.

Thomas Carlyle once said, "What this parish needs is what every parish needs, a man who knows God at more than second-hand." We all need a first-hand encounter with Christ. For the people of the Samaritan town, the woman's testimony was the beginning of their encounter, but many more believed because of his word. A second-hand Christ may be all right for a starter, but what we really need is to encounter him in person.

CARD OF THANKS
I would like to take this means of saying "Thank You" to everyone who was so thoughtful and considerate of me after I had the misfortune to fall and break my leg. The visits, the cards, the gifts and delicious food were gratefully received. God bless all of you.
Mrs. Gussie Riddick.

CARD OF THANKS
I would like to express my sincere thanks to everyone who was so kind and thoughtful of me while I was in Parkview Hospital. I am grateful for the cards, the visits, the phone calls and flowers, and I am especially grateful to the doctors and nurses who worked so hard with me. Thank you.
Paul Bradshaw.
