Cotton & Soybean Tips To Be Given Farmers At Halls

Luck, Paschal Will Repeat Presentations That Were Well Attended In Ripley

Meetings held recently at Ripley on cotton and soybean production were well attended, but in order to provide another opportunity for getting this important information, a meeting will be held at Halls Theatre at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, when Haywood Luck and F. H. Paschal will present information on chemical weed control in cotton and soybeans.

Whether farmers really want to fool with chemicals or not, they are now just about forced to use them to take the place of hoeing and to lower the costs of production.

Lawns Being Planned
Gean Jenkins and Junior Allmon, of Ripley, have built new homes this winter and are getting ready to grade their lawns and plant Bermuda grass late this month.

They plan to apply 50 pounds to 6-12-12 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet, disk this in three inches deep, smooth and firm the soil, and plant one pound of Bermuda seed per 1,000 square feet.

This will be lightly covered and watered each day just enough to keep the soil moist until the seeds germinate and bring forth a stand of grass.

Bluegrass may be over-seeded next September to keep a lawn green through the winter and thereafter on a year-round basis.

Bermuda Pasture Planned
C. S. Carney is planning to sprig the Midland variety of Bermuda about the first of May to establish a summer pasture for beef cattle on about twelve acres of land.

He will fertilize according to soil test and plant sprigs in 36-inch rows. He will apply Simazine in the middles to prevent weeds. He has a good prospect of getting full coverage of the land by the last of July.

The sprigs and spriggings will cost about $20 per acre, and the Midland variety will provide almost twice as much pasturage as common Bermuda.

After the pasture is established, clover may be over-seeded in September to provide spring pasture and increase the nutritive value of the pasturage in late spring.

Hams Need Protection
Cured hams being taken out of salt after the first of February need to be in a fully screened house or fully protected from fly moths, which lay eggs for skippers which can destroy the meat during the summer.

O. D. Sherrill, of Glimp, is this week hanging his meat and protecting it with cotton bags so that moths cannot get to it.

Brown paper bags can serve the same purpose, but plastics should not be used.

Community Club To Meet
Durhamville-Orysa Community Club will meet at the community center at Orysa at 7 p.m. Friday.

All families will bring food and all will eat together, as they have most of the months for the last 21 years.

The program this week will include discussions of community projects which should be undertaken by the club membership this year.

Termites Now Showing
Owners of homes, stores, and other buildings are reporting the sightings of flying termites coming out of places inside or outside of buildings.

These flying termites give notice that at least one colony of termites has found it possible to live and multiply at some place around the foundations of the building where they are showing.

So far, we only have what are called subterranean termites in this area. These termites can only live and do well where they can get a supply of moisture from damp soil near to a food supply of woody material.

Whenever pasteboard boxes or wood touch soil, this provides a perfect place for a termite colony.

The most practical way of protecting against this is to be sure that soil under houses is kept dry and ventilated and that no wood comes in contact with soil nor stays continually wet.

Where these situations cannot be prevented, it is advisable to saturate the dirt with a solution of Chlordane and Dieldrin or some other recommended poison.

These solutions are relatively cheap, about 17¢ a gallon.

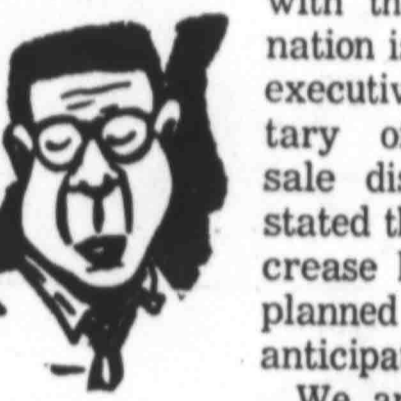

The soil must be trenched or dug up in order that the solution is actually put inside the dirt, but when the job is carefully done, it

Wonder Who Gained?

Milk prices went up in the stores this week, with distributors explaining that an "anticipated" rise in the wholesale cost of milk was the reason. The only trouble with that explanation is that the executive secretary of wholesale distributors stated that no increase had been planned nor was anticipated.

We are not in a position to charge that milk distributors raised the cost of milk without reason, but it seems that the low man on the totem pole, the farmer, is coming out on the small end of the deal.

Speaking of the farmer's plight, we can't help but repeat a remark made to us last week after farm leaders approved the lowering of the price guarantee on soybeans and cotton seed.

Charles Alsobrook, Halls farmer and landowner, more or less angrily stated, "They're insane, they need to be locked up as a protection to themselves as well as the farmer."

More TV Troubles

Several local TV fans have called us during the past few days wanting to know just what can be done to stop interference by citizen band short wave radios.

We don't know, but it would seem to us that owners of such radios should be courteous enough to do what is necessary to prevent interference.

We have been told by some radio owners that normally the television set is at fault, while other persons have said that the radios will not interfere unless they have been stepped up beyond allowable limits.

Perhaps someone would write the Federal Communications Commission and find out just what is needed.

An Institution Passes

We don't know anything about the younger generation, but several older persons have mourned the passing of "lovers' lane" as work is being carried out to widen and surface the road leading from South College to Mitchell Lane.

Actually, opening the road, which had deteriorated into a barely passable lane, will make a number of fine home sites available.

Record Throng In House Gallery As Jones Takes Oath

Entire Sunday School Class Among 200 Escorting Him To Duties In Washington

More West Tennesseans packed the galleries of the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C., Tuesday to see Ed Jones, of Yorkville, take the oath of office as Eighth District Congressman than had ever come to the nation's capital with a new Congressman, House Speaker John McCormack said after administering the oath.

The group of more than 200 included all 19 youngsters of the Sunday School class Jones has been teaching in the Yorkville Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Rep. William R. Anderson escorted him down the aisle for the oath. After the ceremony, Rep. Anderson and the rest of the Tennessee delegation in the House honored Jones with a reception and buffet lunch in the Rayburn House Office Building.

Speaker McCormack and Rep. Wilbur Mills, of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic committee on committees, have assured Jones a seat on the House Agriculture Committee.

Jones told newsmen on a Memphis television program Sunday he would also try for the Public Works Committee, on which Rep. Everett served.

Jones is in Suite 1118 of the Longworth House Office Building. He is retaining four of the late Rep. Robert A. Everett's staff—Woodfin McLain, of Alamo, administrative assistant, and Marilu C. Rowe, Andrea Mays, and Linda Perry.

He plans field offices in Trenton and Frayser.

Jones said he will seek a home in Washington but will maintain his residence at Yorkville and plans to spend much of his time in West Tennessee, whenever Congressional duties permit.

Rochelle Leaving School Supt. Post

J. H. Rochelle, who resigned as Ripley Grammar School principal four years ago to become superintendent of schools in Union City, Tuesday asked the Union City Board of Education "to change my contract, a year before its maturity, to become effective this summer, at the convenience of my successor, and to let me step down to a less responsible position."

"Since the latter part of January," Rochelle's letter said, "when I spent several days in the hospital, I have been giving serious thought to the future welfare of myself and my family."

Board chairman Tommy Thompson said Rochelle's letter cited several reasons for his decision to step down. Thompson said Rochelle will remain with the school system, if he wishes to.

Traffic Survey Studying Shift For Highway 19

The Traffic Survey Section of the Research and Planning Division of the state Department of Highways will survey traffic in Ripley next week to finalize re-location of Highway 19's passage through the city.

Preliminary surveys have already been made to eliminate the 90-degree turn in the highway at the intersection of Highland and Highland Extended and run the highway straight west, near Ripley Grammar School, to intersect present and new Highways 51 west of town.

City officials are concerned that this plan would increase traffic near Ripley schools.

Next week's traffic survey will be considered in evaluating this and other proposed routes.

The survey will include the taking of machine counts, classification counts, and origin and destination interviews.

The interviews will include such questions as "Where did this trip begin?", "Where will this trip end?", and "What is the purpose of this trip?"

The full co-operation of all parties concerned is requested by the Department.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS Lesson for April 13, 1969

GO! TELL! Lesson for April 13, 1969

Have you ever been the bearer of good news?

"Did you see the exam?" "You passed the exam?" "I found your wallet?"

"We won the championship!" "We found your little boy's ma'am!"

"She's going to be all right!" Search your imagination for the most welcome news you might ever carry to someone else.

No matter who you come up with, this will always be the best news you can bring to anyone: CHRIST IS RISEN!

How to say it Many people have proclaimed this message in many different ways.

Charles Wesley said it with a hymn: "Hallelujah! The Lord is risen today, Alleluia!"

Some of men and angels say, "Alleluia! Raise your joys and triumphs almighty God, Sing, ye heavens, and earth, reply, Alleluia!"

Thero della Francesco said it with a magnificent painting, "The Resurrection Morn."

The Apostle Peter said it from a cross in Rome.

Missionaries the world over say it with quinine, powdered milk, books, tractors, and the sweat of their faces.

And you...? How do you and your church say it?

Saying it is important, for that's how Christianity began. On that first Easter morning three sorrowing women went to a tomb, but their hearts lingered in sorrow.

And there, something wonderful happened!

The empty tomb First of all, they found an empty tomb. Strange things had happened since they had last been there.

The huge stone that had covered the entrance was found moved to one side. Going within they found that the tomb of Jesus was not there.

It was not to be found in the tomb, nor is he to be found there today. The graveyards, the burial vaults, the tombs—all to be found in any of these.

Secondly, they received a message of good news.

Jesus was not missing from the tomb because his body had been stolen away, nor had it disappeared into thin air.

He was not there now because he had been awakened from the slabs of death and found the world once again.

They had come expecting to find dead bodies, but they found the living Jesus.

Thirdly, they received a commission. But to tell his disciples and Peter that he is going before you to Gallilee.

He will see him as he told you. (Mark 16:7) It was a wonderful moment, perhaps the most thrilling moment of their lives, to stand within that tomb and discover that Jesus had conquered death and was alive. Yet, they were not to stand there for long.

For the moment for themselves, for the moment to "go, tell" others that the greatest news story

Isn't that what Easter must mean for us too? In fact, isn't this the very heart of what Easter means to be a Christian?

To discover for ourselves that "He is risen?"

To "go, tell" others that glorious news?

That is why the Christian message is called the "good news." That is why the Christian message is called the "good news."

Perhaps as we have studied Mark's gospel we have regarded Jesus as someone who lived long ago. Yet, let us know that he is also our contemporary.

Important though it may be that he once lived, it is even more important to know that still he lives! That is what, we are called to "go, tell."

NOTICE!

Liming IS PROFITABLE

There are any number of reasons why the application of agricultural limestone should be a regular practice on every farm. But the most important reason of all is that liming makes money.

Most Agricultural Experiment Station reports show that the regular application of agricultural limestone results in much larger yields of better crops than where no lime is used. Depending on the type of soil and the crop or crop rotation, these authoritative reports show that every dollar invested in limestone returns from $2.00 to over $10.00.

You can greatly increase the earning power of your farm by using our limestone regularly.

The Bank of Halls is now offering an exciting new passbook savings plan in addition to our regular passbook savings accounts. Here are its features:

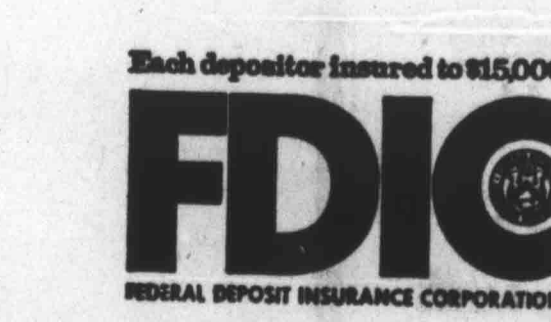

- Interest paid at rate of 5% per year but compounded daily to give you highest earnings.
- A minimum balance of $100 is required to maintain your Golden Passbook Savings Account.
- Additional deposits may be made in any amount at any time.
- Your money must remain on deposit for one full calendar quarter. Calendar quarters are January 1-March 31, April 1-June 30, July 1-September 30, October 1-December 31.
- Withdrawals may be made within the first 10 days following the end of a calendar quarter. The withdrawal periods are January 1-10, April 1-10, July 1-10 and October 1-10.
- You get passbook convenience, with all deposits, interest payments and withdrawals recorded in your passbook for permanent reference.
- Individuals, institutions, and corporations and other business firms all may use Golden Passbook Savings Accounts.
- Golden Passbook Savings Accounts are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and further protected by the resources and stability of the Bank of Halls.

A Golden Passbook Savings Account does not replace our Regular Passbook Savings Account, which has the advantage of greater flexibility in withdrawals. Regular passbook savings pay the maximum allowable rate of 4% compounded daily.

Chamber Wins Re-Study Of Highway 19 Route

A Ripley Chamber of Commerce delegation conferred Wednesday morning with state highway planners in Nashville and was given encouragement that the state would abandon its original proposal for re-routing Highway 19 through Ripley.

Officials said they would study alternative routes both north and south of Ripley, skirting it rather than cutting through it between Ripley Grammar and Ripley High Schools.

Construction is not contemplated before 1971.

Chamber directors voted unanimously last week to oppose a proposal to extend Highway 19's eastern approach to Ripley so that it would cross South Jefferson between Ripley Grammar School and Ripley High School. This would have taken the road straight west from the corner of Highland and Highland Extended.

Defeating the 90-degree turn at that corner, and would have crossed Jefferson near the J. L. Sloan residence.

Chamber directors objected to congestion of traffic near schools and suggested that the state consider instead a route around the northeast corner of Ripley, past near Rolling Hills Country Club, crossing the Illinois Central Railroad tracks at or near the depot, and perhaps following West Road west past Northwest Community Center.

The idea is to check and adjust the tractor with desired pressure and nozzle spray pattern, then measure 300 feet in the field where the spray is to be applied. The tractor is then operated at the desired speed over the 300 feet and the time is measured in seconds. The tractor is then operated at the same throttle setting, and the liquid from one nozzle or nozzle is collected for the same number of seconds and measured in ounces.

The guide has a wide variety of numbers which pass by windows, and when the number corresponding to the ounces caught shows, then the gallons per acre shows in another opening.

The guides are provided free on request from the County Extension Office. An eight-ounce baby bottle is handy for use in measuring ounces.

Bees Aerate Courtyard

Several people last week noticed reddish soil being scattered over grass in the courtyard at Ripley and numerous bees working in the grass and coming out of holes bored in the ground.

We got samples of the bees, then identified them and found them to be ground nesting bees of the genus Coleoptera. These bees holes 18 to 24 inches down and then tunnel laterally to make their nests.

The bees do not sting, but seven or eight bees will control them and other bees, if this seems desirable.

These holes being bored by these bees had the effect of aerating the soil in the courtyard, which may make it produce more luxuriant grass in the months ahead.

Another, more common bee is the carpenter bee, which bores holes in wood in the rafters and roofs of barns and garages or in the undersides of window sills in homes. These can be controlled with Sevyn or DDT.

We have felt that Head Start was the most successful of all the poverty programs but also that perhaps there were some things in it that needed correcting.

For instance, we believe that an educational program should be completely under the direction of the state and county board of education. That has not been entirely true in the past.

Also, we have been told that instructors have been told that they must not correct children in other directions if they are non-operative or mischievous.

One of the primary reasons assigned for Head Start was to teach unruly children how to live with and get along with others, and certainly discipline is required.

Also, a two month period, for one-half day, can do little or no good several years of a different way of life.

We think that Head Start should be continued but probably needs in some rather drastic changes.

Confidential Corner

By Henry Murchison

Day Of Reckoning Here

Lauderdale County Quarterly Court and County Judge Paul Dew are faced with a major decision for which blame can be placed on magistrates of years past.

For at least 20 years, we have been urging magistrates and others to do something to equalize the assessments in Lauderdale County and set a much lower tax rate. Immediately, we would receive the argument that utilities would pay less, and property taxes would have to be increased. That, of course, was true enough, but we felt that the goose that laid the golden egg was going to die some day, and the county would be faced with a drastic decision.

It seems to us that this day is here. Judge Paul Dew Monday told the court that county assessments—by state orders—must be increased two and one-half times, to 25% instead of the present 10%. That means that property owners will be paying two and one-half times as many dollars in taxes, and the court must cut the tax rate.

A cut in the tax rate to exactly equal the increase in assessment would result in a loss of approximately $100,000 in taxes received from public utilities, whose assessments are set by the state, are not being increased.

At this time, when the resistance to tax increases is so strong, it is too bad that an increase may be necessary, but property owners may as well brace themselves.

Head Start Downgraded

A recent research on the value of Head Start has revealed that there is apparently little or no difference among those children who attend Head Start and those who do not by the time they reach the second or third grade in school.

We have felt that Head Start was the most successful of all the poverty programs but also that perhaps there were some things in it that needed correcting.

For instance, we believe that an educational program should be completely under the direction of the state and county board of education. That has not been entirely true in the past.

Also, we have been told that instructors have been told that they must not correct children in other directions if they are non-operative or mischievous.

One of the primary reasons assigned for Head Start was to teach unruly children how to live with and get along with others, and certainly discipline is required.

Also, a two month period, for one-half day, can do little or no good several years of a different way of life.

School & Road Budgets Ask 26% Tax Increase

County Court referred to committee Monday requests from the Board of Education and from the county highway department for increased appropriations which would raise the real estate tax rate 26%.

The school board is asking an $82,000 increase, and the highway department is seeking an increase of $55,000.

Judge Paul Dew told the court that the county would lose another $108,000 in revenues as the state requires that assessments be raised by 150%, to be in line with other assessments throughout Tennessee at 25% of actual market value.

By adjusting its tax rate per $100 assessed valuation, the county could raise the same revenue from real estate as now, $481,000, with a tax rate of $2.28, instead of the $5.66 rate now imposed.

But public utility property, assessed by the state and not being increased, would bring in only $73,225 in tax revenue on the $2.28 rate, against $181,000 now being collected—a loss in revenue of $108,000.

Judge Dew says excess debt service funds can make up the $108,000 loss next year and also take care of appreciation increases which the court voted Monday—a $10,308 increase for public welfare, a $3,408 increase for the county health department, and $10,000 more per year travel expense for the county rabies control officer, who now draws $250 per month in salary and $100 per month travel expense.

If no other appropriations are increased, Judge Dew said, a new tax rate of $2.28 on the new assessments, 150% higher than at present, would cover the new county budget, with taxpayers paying the same real estate tax as they pay now.

Dew warned, however, that every additional appropriation increase will require a tax rate for each $234.3 of the increase. The school and highway requests would add 50¢ to the $2.28 rate.

Receiving unchanged appropriations were the county agents of $9,850; Lauderdale County Library, $6,300; and the Soil Conservation Service, $1,800.

The county will be asked to budget slightly less next year for crippled children, $1,385 instead of $1,605, and for indigent hospitalization, $2,882 instead of $3,407. Of these amounts, the effect on the county budget will be tiny.

Library To Show Dolph Smith's Art
Wednesday Book Club III's Evening To Offer Paintings By Widely Hailed Artist

Wednesday Book Club III will present an art exhibit by Dolph Smith, former Lauderdale County...

There will be no admission charge. One painting will be given away to a lucky ticket holder.

Born in Memphis, he attended Ripley High School, Memphis State University, and Memphis Academy of Arts...

On my bookshelves there are a number of books that are left over from my childhood...

Rev. Althouse says that he is not a preacher, and knowing that he had preached from this book...

Where we live
Today I see them differently. Although most of these books were written only twenty-five or thirty years ago...

The few exceptions to the above judgment are those books that deal with themes and ideas that do not become obsolete with the passage of time...

Someone has defined good literature as "news that stays news." The Bible is the news that stays news.

The authority of the Bible, therefore, is its ability to remain the same generation after generation...

It would seem logical to say that editor that Harvard would be well supplied with the type of college liberals that have fanned the flames on the campuses of colleges and universities throughout the nation.

College campuses throughout the nation have been taken over, with students attempting to dictate policies of the schools...

Latest is an attempt at Memphis State University to force the university to pay a lecture fee to bring Rev. Adam Clayton Powell to the campus...

It is not what the writer of Deuteronomy was saying "And these words which I command you this day shall be upon your heart..."

Worthwhile
Lauderdale County citizens should find the Dolph Smith art exhibit next Saturday and Sunday very interesting...

TIME TO CHANGE
Better get that extra nap in some time during the next couple of days, because daylight savings time becomes effective Sunday...

Lankford Battling Pests In Berries
Weevil Infestation Severe: Wilbur Maxwell Pursuing Weevil Control In Corn

Strawberry growers have to contend with a cute little flying weevil which cuts notches on strawberry stems exactly one-half inch below tiny strawberries...

Wilbur Maxwell, of Fort Pillow, this week made a broadcast application of two pounds of atrazine per acre on corn already four inches tall.

He could not apply this chemical immediately after planting, so he is trying the next best thing—applying it after the corn is up, and before the weeds are one inch tall.

This will depend on the stage of the insect in particular fields. Growers are advised to apply insecticides when half the top other cultural plants have weevils.

Liming
IS PROFITABLE

There are any number of reasons why the application of agricultural limestone should be a regular practice on every farm. But the most important reason of all is that liming makes money.
Most Agricultural Experiment Station reports show that the regular application of agricultural limestone results in much larger yields of better crops than where no lime is used.
Depending on the type of soil and the crop or crop rotation, these authoritative reports show that every dollar invested in limestone returns from $3.00 to over $10.00.
You can greatly increase the earning power of your farm by using our limestone regularly.

For quick results and longer lasting materials use only ground limestone

Nothing peps up any office machine's performance—and actually

Yet some folks persist in using cheaper quality ribbons which date from the pre-nylon era—and actually pay more for them than our $1.25 price for nylon. By handling one grade in volume, we're holding the price line on the best ribbon you can buy. At that price, you can't afford any other ribbon for your machine.
