THE GREAT LIFE

Lesson for September 7, 1969

Background Scripture: 1 Samuel 8 through 12; 16: 18-12; 23: 31-7.
Devotional Reading: Deuteronomy 17: 14-17.

In a few short months the American people will go once again to the polls. In the interval between now and then the game of politics will command a lion's share of our national attention and energy. In the midst of all the color, noise and high spirits that have become much a part of the American political scene, we are particularly vulnerable to a most dangerous deception. This Rev. Althouse deception goes far beyond what the various candidates will say about themselves, each other, the issues, or the parties.

"Thus says the Lord..."

In Romans 1:25, Paul says: "because they exchanged the truth about God for a lie and served the creature rather than the Creator..." In other words, Paul is saying, we often deceive ourselves and thus give to men the sovereignty and allegiance that belongs to God alone. We look to human beings with divine expectations and are thus doomed to disappointment in our political life.

Paul was not the first Biblical writer to sound this warning. We find this same concern in 1 Samuel. You will remember that when the Israelites entered the land of Canaan under Joshua, they then dispersed throughout the land, each tribe settling in its own designated territory. During the period of the Judges, other Israelites formed a loose confederacy of independent tribes. When the tribes were threatened with grave danger from time to time, they would co-operate briefly under the leadership of men like Gideon.

From these experiences of co-operation came a growing desire for a more permanent unity in the form of a centralized government. They wanted to abandon the confederacy and replace it with a monarchy. They had seen the kingdoms of their neighbors and witnessed all that could be accomplished with a strong central government. So they clamored for a king.

To fight our battles

Samuel, their spiritual leader, vigorously opposed this request. Yet, when he had had his say, "the people refused to listen to the voice of Samuel; and they said, 'No! but we will have a king over us that we also will be like all the nations, and that our king may govern us and fight our battles.'" Still Samuel resisted until at last the Lord intervened and told him: "Hearken to their voice and make them a king."

Now this story does not mean that the whole Old Testament is pessimistic about the establishment of a monarchy, but it does indicate that throughout the Old Testament there is a recurring uneasiness about it. Not that government in itself was evil; it was what men did with their governmental institutions. Among all the ancient peoples, therefore, the Hebrews were among the first to regard the monarchy, not as a divine institution handed down from heaven, but as one quite human. Though they realized the need for these human institutions, they also fully recognized the tendency of these institutions to become a substitute for God.

History's confirmation

How often history has confirmed the judgment of both Paul and Samuel. Not only has there been a willingness on the part of man to assume the role of political messiah, but there has also been an even greater willingness on the part of the great masses of people to accord to them almost superhuman or divine nature.

Samuel warned the people about this great self-deception and then helped them to choose a king. This is instructive for us, too: let us ask his aid in choosing our leaders, but when we have cast out ballots, let us not fail to continue to serve God in the responsibilities of our own Christian citizenship.

Should Be Enforced

During the past several days, we have heard a number of parents and children complaining about youngsters being stopped from riding two or more on bicycles and motor bikes.

We can't believe that those complaining actually realize just how dangerous such a practice can be. At the best, motor bikes and motorcycles are dangerous, especially when driven by youngsters of under high school age. With two riding, control of the vehicle becomes even more difficult, thus creating a hazard to themselves and to every motorist who has to meet or pass them.

We hope that city officials will rigidly enforce the law, and also, we would suggest that enforcement of the law requiring lights be stiffened.

Go To The Game

The Halls Tigers will start the 1969 season tonight with a game with Alamo.

Why not take time out from television, etc., and attend the game and give them your active support?

School Patrol Needed

Halls High School principal R. E. Anderson has told us that a school patrol is being planned and will be activated as quickly as details can be worked out.

After watching some of the small children stroll out across the street in front of cars, we feel that this plan should be carried out immediately.

Apparently some of the students don't realize the danger involved, and others seemingly are daring cars to run over them.

Motorists should drive with a little more care than has been demonstrated, and an extra effort should be made to drive carefully in the area of the schools.

Mrs. Joe Baker

Mrs. Etta May Baker, 77, of Halls, died Wednesday last week in Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

She leaves two sons, Charles Baker, of Covington, and Billy Baker, of Memphis; three daughters, Mrs. Wilma Jones and Mrs. Ruth Johnson, both of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Jean Jordan, of Memphis; a brother, Edward Heath, of Chicago, Ill.; and three sisters, Mrs. Edna Haynes, of St. Louis, Mrs. Betty Gilliland, of Fowkes, and Mrs. Emma Baker, of Halls.

Viar Heads Tiger Fans 7th Time As Grid Play Begins

Westside Here This Friday As Ripley Team Pioneers Houston Option Offense

C. Wilson Viar was re-elected Monday evening to head the Ripley High School Booster Club for his seventh term as the Tigers practiced a new offense, the Houston option, in preparation for their grid opener as hosts to Memphis Westside at 8 p. m. this Friday.

This is the first of three non-conference games on the Tiger slate before they plunge into Big Ten competition in the last year of the historic conference. A state classification scheme will end conference ties after this season.

The Tigers have six home games this year. The schedule is: Sept. 5..... Westside Sept. 12..... At Lake County Sept. 19..... At Munford Sept. 26..... Covington Oct. 3..... Trenton Oct. 10..... At Dyersburg Oct. 17..... Milan Oct. 24..... Humboldt Oct. 31..... Brownsville Nov. 7..... At Dyersburg

Opponents are unchanged from last year, and coaches Maurice Kelly and Bob Mason expect almost all of the foes to be improved from their showing during last season.

Donnie Tatum is the Tiger quarterback who will take a pounding in the new offensive system, which minimizes blocking to gain flexibility and deception.

He will general a squad composed of only five seniors, 19 juniors, and 15 sophomores.

Mr. Viar's goal this year is to fulfill the late Irvin "Tiny" Kneel's dream of 400 Booster Club members. There were about 360 members last year.

To join, contact Mr. Viar or Mrs. Bob Mason at the school, or join at the game Friday to not only help the athletic program but entitle yourself to attend the Booster Banquet later this season.

Countians Protect Beans From Corn Earworm Attacks

Many Areas Report Insects In Large Enough Numbers To Justify Spray Use

James Criner, of Gates, Val Cannon, of Ripley, Robert Revere, of Goldsboro, and many other farmers over the county are this week applying insecticides to control corn earworms found feeding on precious soybean pods in large enough numbers to cause real loss in yields.

Growers with experience say that one corn earworm found on each three feet of row length can destroy enough soybeans to more than pay for spraying the beans one time.

A mixture of Toxaphene and DDT is being used in most fields for control of these worms, but one pound of actual Parathion or 1.6 pounds of actual Sevin per acre has given good results.

Fred Hinton, of Nankipoo, has some good orchard grass pasture which provides good feed at low cost to hogs, but he plans to improve the feed value in some new pastures being planned on which he will seed 12 pounds of orchard grass, four pounds of ladino clover, and four pounds of red clover.

Orchard grass is very attractive to all livestock and has high feed value in terms of minerals and vitamins, but somehow it has not been drought-resistant enough on most soils in this area to continue providing good pastures.

Mr. Hinton is fortunate in being able to grow this excellent pasture plant, and the addition of clovers to the new seed should further improve its feed value.

Lawn Weed Control

Mrs. Joe P. Beard has a good lawn covering of Bermuda and blue grass. She does not mow it too short, but she still has goose grass, Dallas grass, and crab grass which she wants to eliminate.

She is trying this week the application of three tablespoons of MSMA per gallon of water on this grass when the temperature is 65 to 85 degrees to kill these weed grasses without injuring the Bermuda and blue grass.

This is a precision job which can improve the attractiveness of lawn sods.

Wheat Seeded By Plane

Jack Crutcher for the last two years has seeded two bushels of wheat per acre in soybeans by airplane before time to harvest the soybeans.

He did this in order to have pasturage well started by the time his soybeans were harvested.

He has decided that he should have been planting the wheat earlier, so he is seeding the wheat this week in order to give it a good start before harvest of the soybeans and before cold weather.

Jack saves his own seed wheat, which this year was worth about $1.25 at harvest time. It costs $1 an acre to hire the airplane to seed the wheat, and he has had good stands from this method in previous years.

He says he gets good pasturage for cattle at a low cost, because no soil preparation is necessary.

The wheat with the soybeans stubble and straw almost eliminate erosion on sloping land, and he believes that this is worth at least $2 an acre.

Nitrogen fertilizer is applied to the wheat late in February, and cattle are taken off the pasture the last of March, when grain is to be harvested.

To Exhibit At Fair

Will Spence, of Halls, will be showing a beef heifer calf in the Junior Beef Show next Friday at the West Tennessee State Fair in Jackson.

Don't you read before you buy?

Before you buy hats or bonnets? Washing machines or Welch Terrers? Cardigans or cars? Most people do. Because only print can tell you everything you want to know about a product when you're really ready to buy. How much it costs, how it looks, what color it is, and where to find it. Only print lets you read and re-read. Linger and compare. Clip and save. Think away in your pocket or purse. When ready-to-buy customers look for your product to print, will they find it? Or will they have to settle for some other brand? Print makes sense because print makes sales.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE
OUTWARD APPEARANCE
Lesson for September 14, 1969

On the day that President Abraham Lincoln died among the graves on Cemetery Hill and delivered what we know today as the Gettysburg Address, a paper editor from Harrisburg, Pa. stood in the audience and put away his notepad when the president finished speaking. There would be no need for it, he thought, because Lincoln had just said what he wanted to say. He was Rev. Althouse Harrisburg, he wrote. He was a void in the life of the nation, he wrote. He was a void in the life of the nation, he wrote. He was a void in the life of the nation, he wrote.

Looking part
Like so many of Lincoln's contemporaries, the editor had judged him on the basis of his appearance which was hardly attractive. His face might be described as "homely," and his whole stance and bearing had an air of awkwardness that seemed more in keeping with the "backwoods" of the frontier from which he had come. Lincoln did not look the part of a President, let alone a great President.

Yet, often we find that a man does not have to "look the part." Long before David had become king of Israel, God had warned Saul concerning him: "Do not look upon his appearance, yet yet his stature... for the Lord sees not as man sees; man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart" (1 Samuel 16:7).

Apparently David was not nearly so impressive-looking as Saul. David, it seems, was quite short in stature, while Saul was strikingly tall. David did not look the part of either warrior or monarch. Yet God chose David to replace Saul for reasons of his own wisdom. In time, however, the people realized that Saul was not nearly the leader that David was. What was the reason for David's success, they wondered? The answer: his commitment to God and the covenant.

An ambitious program
At the death of Saul, therefore, the people began to look to David. First the southern tribes sought him out and established him as their leader. For seven and one-half years he ruled the tribes of Judah from Hebron, a hill town about twenty miles southwest of Jerusalem. During this period the northern tribes of Israel watched him and gradually were won over to him. Finally, a delegation of Israelites came to him at Hebron and asked him to be their king as well. The man who had not "looked the part" made the twelve tribes one nation.

For the first time, then, the people of the various tribes were seeing themselves as one people under God. The reason for their unity would not lie in their similarities (for each tribe had unique characteristics and heritage), nor in their common geography (for the north and south were geographically un-likely), nor in their mutual dependence (the northerners did not really need their cousins in the south), rather, their unity could be traced to one factor alone: the one God they desired to be his people. Incapacitous, but...

When he had made his covenant with the people at Hebron, David set about to begin a three-point program: (1) to unify the tribes of north and south into one; (2) to capture the city of Jerusalem and make it the central capital of the new nation; (3) to establish amicable relationships of mutual respect with neighboring nations. It was an ambitious program, but this inconspicuous-looking man, the shepherd of God accomplished all this and more.

Let us remember that when next we look only "outward appearance."

Confidential Corner
By Henry Marchion
Can Happen Anywhere
It is a shame that the schools of Fayette County have been disrupted this week by demonstrations, absenteeism, etc., but all of us should realize that it can happen anywhere.

It seems to us that one of the major problems has been created by the federal government in its efforts to further integration in the schools. Apparently the federal authorities are not at all interested in the education of the children, whether black or white, but simply pushing integration.

Integration is a fact. It is the law of the land. Any efforts to fight it, it is to say the least, misguided, but federal authorities should go slowly and consider the welfare of the students above all else. Many of the blacks are having communication troubles. They feel lost and as a result in some instances have reacted badly without really considering what they are doing.

Halls has been fortunate and we hope that it can continue to be so, but it will take a continued effort on the part of both races. Congratulations
We take pleasure in extending our congratulations to Ross W. Dyer, of Halls, who last week was selected Chief Justice of Tennessee's Supreme Court.

Will Be Missed
The passing of Senator Everett Dickson will leave a void in the United States Senate which may never be filled. We have often differed with him, sometimes agreed with him, but he has always realized the great influence which he had over our government. The United States could ill afford to lose him at this time.

Dresden To Visit Halls Team Which Alamo Topped 8-6
Tigers Did Everything But Win With 13 First Downs To Four For Opponents
Still smarting from an unexpected defeat by Alamo, 8-6, the Halls Tigers will host Dresden at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Dresden is rated as a dark horse in the Reelfoot Conference. The Tigers did everything but win a football game last Friday evening as they racked up 13 first downs while holding Alamo to four and completely stopping the Alamo offense.

Alamo, playing alertly, capitalized on eight Tiger fumbles with Ken Davis, Alamo guard, matching up a Tiger fumble in the second quarter and racing 81 yards for the Alamo touchdown. Jim Jernan, Alamo quarterback, nearly crossed the line to give Alamo a two-point conversion and the margin of victory. Jernan's pass, however, was intercepted by Halls, slammed across the line in the fourth quarter for the Halls points, but Gary Jennings' pass intended for Blackwood, was intercepted by Alamo's Steve Kal to end Halls' scoring.

The Tigers lost the services of back Jimmy Jones in the second quarter with a knee injury. Whether Jones is out for the season is yet to be determined. The Tigers lost the ball five times through fumbles and twice by interceptions, while recovering two Alamo fumbles and intercepting one pass.

Andrew Vaughan Fatally Stabbed
Andrew Vaughan, 43, son of Mrs. Paul Miller, Route 2, Halls, was fatally stabbed Saturday night in Joliet, Ill., where he was employed as a printer for Shelby White Co. Services were at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Halls Funeral Home. Burial was in a private cemetery in Illinois. Vaughan believed that he was killed in a robbery attempt while on his way home from work.

Mrs. Raley
Mrs. Audrey Maxine Raley, 46, of Dyersburg, a daughter of Everett Fowler, of Halls, died last Friday in Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg. She was a member of the Church of Christ. She also leaves her mother, Mrs. Annie Mae Lee, of Dyersburg; a daughter, Mrs. Audrey E. Cowan, of Halls; and a sister, Mrs. Lois Reedy, of Halls.

Lawrence Fincher
Lawrence Fincher, Jr., 11, of Rt. 2, Halls, died of leukemia at 3:10 p. m. last Friday in St. Jude Hospital in Memphis, which he had entered two months earlier. He had been ill since October of 1968. Services were at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Lebanon Methodist Church, with burial in Lebanon Cemetery, Ripley Funeral Home in charge.

DR SCOTT TO SPEAK
Dr. J. S. Scott, of Ripley, will be the speaker for the meeting of Halls Parent-Teacher Association at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 18th in the elementary school auditorium. All persons interested in Halls schools are urged to attend.

The host Falcons enter the fray as runaway victors over fumble plagued Obion Central High School last Friday. Lake topped the Rebels 29-0. For three quarters, Ripley seemed to be headed for a similar runaway in its opponent in the mid-western here last weekend as Westside, saddled with 106 yards in penalties, allowed Ripley to score in every period except the last. Quarterback Donnie Tatum took three and three and from the line, and halfback Bobby Graves went seven yards for a TD.

Burns Fatal For Aldreich Tomas
Aldrich Tomas, a three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tomas, was burned to death about 9 a. m. Saturday when flames ravaged his home in the Frog Jump community in Crockett County. Relatives said they believed that the youngster turned on a gas stove and that accumulated gas exploded.

Somebean growers from Hale's Point to Crays and from Fulton to Halls are checking their precious fields of beans and sorting out the types of worms according to the destructive ability of each in order to know whether to spray or not. Some older beans are well loaded with a good prospective crop of beans and with few worms at present threaten good yields. Some late beans have been severely damaged.

Other fields are in between these conditions and most farmers applying insecticides to 30,000 acres of the bean fields of the country at an average cost of about $2.25 per acre. Plane operators from Covington, Finley, Dyersburg, and Osceola, Ark., will finish applying insecticides to 30,000 acres this week, and the end is not in sight. Other generations of worms can continue to attack, and farmers are fighting back in order to protect the prospective new wealth that is needed by all in this area.

Other generations of worms can continue to attack, and farmers are fighting back in order to protect the prospective new wealth that is needed by all in this area.

Prices for calves have recently been so high that producers are tempted to sell units of co-operative sales. Success of previous sales, however, will cause most of them to continue supporting these sales. Vetch Seed Crop Planned
James C. Williams, of Ripley, is planting 30 pounds of vetch seed per acre this week over 100 pounds of 15-15-15 fertilizer with the idea of growing vetch to be harvested for seed next May. Vetch has been grown as a winter cover crop for many years, usually in combination with small grains, because it is a winter green which adds some nitrogen to the soil.

Farmers can buy nitrogen now at a lower cost than formerly, and they are using this cheaper nitrogen most effectively to increase the production of roots in the soil from corn, cotton, and soybeans to provide needed organic matter. At the same time, some vetch is still being planted and is needed for the seed crop for Mr. Williams. Reduce Cotton Losses
Gilfred Cotton, of Lightfoot, this week went over all his turnrows along cotton and soybean fields the second time with a heavy rotary weed cutter in preparation for harvesting days ahead, when smooth firm, weed-free turn rows can be of real help toward preventing losses near the ends of rows. Cotton rows need a turn row space at the end 1 1/2 times as wide as the picker is long. This is usually 25 feet. H. W. Luck, Extension agronomist, recommends using the pasture clipper over the practice of discing turn rows, because turn rows are usually firmer and do not stay muddy as long as turn rows which are kept clean by disking.

Mr. Luck suggests that if it is not practical to provide turn rows 25 feet wide at the ends of rows in order to allow mechanical pickers to get up to the correct speed before entering the cotton. This will prevent loss of cotton and will keep up the grade. Pig Sale Coming Up
The next co-operative feeder pig sale will be held at Mid-South Livestock Center at Brownsville, Sept. 17th. A new state law working toward complete eradication of hog chlamydia is a star. Thus a quarantined star is a star. Thus a quarantined star is a star. Thus a quarantined star is a star.

Quasars are stellar objects very far away from the earth. Astronomers have observed about a hundred quasars through their telescopes. The word "quasar" is an abbreviation for "quasi-stellar radio source." "Quasi-stellar" means "somewhat like a star." Thus a quarant

Don't you read before you buy?

Below you buy late or broken? Washing machines or Wash-Terries? Cardigans or sweaters? Most people do! Because only print can tell you everything you want to know about a product when you're really ready to buy. How much it costs, how it looks, what color it is, and where to find it. Only print lets you read and reread. Compare. Buy and save. Tuck away in your pocket or purse. When ready-to-buy customers look for your product in print, will they find it? Or will they have to settle for some other brand? Print makes sense because print makes sense!
