HALLS, TENNESSEE, FRIDAY FEBRUARY 6, 1970

THE WRONG KIND

Lesson for February 8, 1970

Background Scripture: Nehemiah 1:1-11; Hosea 14; Matthew 18:23-25; Luke 7:25-30; Devotional Reading: Psalm 139:1-12.

A certain young minister was fired by his congregation for what was termed "conduct unbecoming a minister of the Gospel." The minister's visits to a local American Legion Post, Disturbed because he had no contact with the people who patronized the Post, he decided to go there every Friday evening for supper. Perhaps he could meet and talk to some of these people that never "darkened the doors of the church."

The first Friday evening when he entered the Post, a hush fell over the people in the room when he appeared at the doorway. Although these people did not attend his church (or any, for that matter), they did know who he was and were astonished to see him there. They could hardly believe their eyes. No clergyman had ever before set foot in the Post. It was the one organization in town that had a bar and hard to place where one would expect to find a pastor.

Nothing to several of the people as he passed them, he sat down at a table and scanned the menu. In time, a waitress came to his table and he placed his order: a hot roast beef sandwich and a cup of coffee.

That first evening the people in the Post regarded him as an oddity and politely avoided him and his table. In the ensuing weeks, however, they grew more friendly and several people eventually sat down at his table and talked with him at some length.

At first they talked about many things in general: the new school tax, the high school football team, war, peace, Viet Nam, etc. Gradually, however, their conversations became more personal and several asked him his advice and counsel. One man confessed to him that he had once been a very active church member but had "gotten away from it" and found it difficult to get started again.

That kind of people After several months of his weekly visit for a sandwich and coffee, several people he met at the post began to come to his church. Some of the congregation welcomed the newcomers, but others gave them a chilly reception. Finally, a delegation of irate parishioners came to the pastor and complained that "these new people are just not our kind!" Either the minister would indicate to the newcomers that they would be more welcome some where else or they would ask for his resignation. He had brought "real disgrace upon the church with his visits to the post, they said."

The young minister refused to do as they demanded and the struggle began. The irate faction began a campaign to garner sufficient support to force him out. At last, they were successful. "A man of God," they said, "wouldn't associate with that kind of people in that kind of place."

What would Jesus do? What do you think? Was the pastor wrong in associating with these people? Was he wrong in going where they were instead of waiting for them to come to him? What would Jesus have done?

Actually, we do not have to speculate as to what Jesus would have done, for the New Testament tells us plainly what he did do. He not only told parables about seeking the lost, about the physician coming to heal the sick instead of the well, he himself went to them and sought them. He associated with the "wrong kind of people" and too often was found in the "wrong kind of place." He was condemned for associating with harlots, tax collectors and other moral "untouchables." He was denounced for going to their homes and sharing their hospitality.

What would we say to him today? More important, what would he say to us?

A Suggestion For Memphis

We have a great deal of sympathy for "poor" Memphis and its need for more money. So much that we feel they should be permitted to make their own laws without regard for the state constitution. In fact, it might be a great idea for Memphis to secede from Tennessee and set up an independent government.

For more years than we can easily remember Memphis has screamed that it pays more taxes than most of the remainder of the state and gets the least return. Highway funds spent within the city such as the expressways, the bridge across the Mississippi, etc., apparently don't count.

Only a few months past, the city commission passed and later repealed an ordinance requiring a $10 license for all motorists who drove on city streets more than four times a year and now the city commission has come up with an idea for a so-called "payroll tax." Any way you turn, it would be an income tax, forbidden by state law. The tax is proposed to permit Memphis to collect taxes from persons working in the city and residing elsewhere to defray some of the costs of operating the city government.

We wonder just how happy Memphis business firms would be if the Mid-South area citizens stopped shopping in Memphis and all salesmen and delivery trucks working the area were required to pay a percentage of their income to the various towns.

Of course, strictly speaking, all this isn't any of our business but the "payroll tax" could be the first step toward a state income tax.

Worth Hearing
Retired Navy Admiral Raymond Headdon, who will speak Sunday at First Baptist Church, should be well worth hearing. Using as his subject "What's Wrong With America," Admiral Headdon possibly could give us new insight into what we can do to help America.

We're Waiting
Nell and your editor have been staying close to the telephone for the past few days as we "sweat out" our third grandchild. Chuck and Barbara are expecting their first some time within the next few days and we're just waiting to take off for Nashville.

Barbara says it will be a boy but "Grandpa" and "Grandma" don't care because we find our two granddaughters are just fine. However, if it is a boy we feel sorry for Buddy because Chuck can be depended on to give him fits.

Law, Order Given Stress In Taylor's Bid For Governor

Timid Must Grow Militant, Ripley Club Told Shortly After He Announces Race

Three hours after announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in August's primary, Court of Appeals Judge Robert L. Taylor, of Memphis, told Ripley Rotarians Tuesday that "it is time you tell your party leaders—Democratic, Republican, or otherwise—that this country has had enough unbounded and unpunished disorder and that it is time for law and order to be restored."

"We must be militant in our demands," he said, describing those of his persuasion as having been "the timid majority" in not speaking up for the rule of law.

"I am going to clamor for it every moment of my life," he added.

He carefully dissociated his words from racial implications by saying that a white majority's disregard of laws, such as liquor prohibitions, had existed long before civil rights leaders had defied existing laws.

Judge Taylor condemned the U. S. Supreme Court for over-protection of the rights of defendants in criminal cases and under-protection of the rights of citizens to be free from crime.

He said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had reported that criminal charges increased eleven times as fast as the population during the years from 1960 to 1965.

He said it had been estimated that an additional $5 billion spent for law enforcement would save citizens more than $10 billion in annual losses to crime.

Judge Taylor had announced in Memphis, before he came to Ripley, that he expected to resign his judgeship by April 15th to devote full time to his campaign for the office his grandfather, Robert L. Taylor, held from 1887 to 1891 and from 1897 to 1899.

Gov. Taylor was also a U. S. representative and died while a U. S. Senator.

Taylor's great-grandfather, Nathaniel G. Taylor, served two terms in the U. S. House and was Commissioner of Indian Affairs under President Andrew Johnson.

Born in Trenton, he is the son of Hillsman Taylor, speaker of the state House from 1909 to 1911 and district attorney general from 1914 to 1920.

Taylor is a direct descendant of Landon Carter, for whom Carter County was named. Elizabethon was named for Landon Carter's wife, Elizabeth.

Taylor was commissioner of insurance and banking under Gov. Gordon Browning, was elected Tenth Division Chancellor in Memphis in 1966, and was appointed to the Court of Appeals by Gov. Buford Ellington in October, 1968.

"Many problems will beset us in the next four years," he said in his formal announcement. "The most pressing of these, in my opinion, will be: "1. The great increase in drug addiction, particularly among our young people. "2. The great increase in crimes, particularly the crimes of violence. "3. The threat of organized crime and its resulting evils of bribery, extortion, prostitution, gambling and dope peddling. "4. The great loss of life and limb on our highways. "5. The continuing pollution of air and water. "6. The marketing and display of pornographic books, magazines and films. "7. Providing improved educational opportunities for the youth of our state. "8. The care and medical attention for the aged, the blind, the physically disabled, the mentally retarded and the mentally ill."

Cotton Producers Find Costs Show A Wide Variation

35 Compare Notes Tuesday; 25 County Demonstrations Earn $45.88 Per Acre

By F. H. Paschal

Clifford Sweat, of Ashport, explained the purpose of the cooperative whole-farm cotton demonstrations at the Farm Bureau Building in Ripley Tuesday to 38 other interested farmers and introduced Haywood Luck, named as Man-of-the-Year in Mid-South agriculture by The Progressive Farmer magazine, to lead a discussion on the factors of cost in the matter of growing cotton.

In the discussion that followed, it developed that different farmers had been able to make savings as compared to other farmers on the jobs of preparing the land and planting the cotton.

When it came to insect control, weed control, and cultivation, the costs vary considerably between producers, so that it is difficult to say just how each particular man can reduce costs.

At the same time, farmers present were encouraged to know that some other farmers were able to grow cotton at lower costs than the price it had cost them to produce it.

Yields above 700 pounds seem to be necessary now for satisfactory profits, and every cotton farmer needs to consider the cost of every operation and make each separate cost just as small as possible in order that the total cost will allow him to make profits.

The average profit per acre on the 74 demonstrations in 25 counties was $45.88. This did not include any government payments.

Training For Dairymen

State Livestock Meeting
Russell Evans, president of the Lauderdale County Livestock Association, will lead a delegation to attend the meeting of the state association next Tuesday and Wednesday in Nashville.

Most producers will go early Wednesday morning and spend that night in Nashville.

Dates for all feeder calf sales and other activities to be coordinated on a state basis will be worked out at this conference.

Eminent speakers will be on the program, and producers who attend usually feel well paid for the time and effort by what they learn.

Chemicals Are Studied

Good businessmen are improving efficiency and earning credit on income tax returns.

Before you invest unwisely in office tools of obsolete design, don't fail to see the newest and best.

Standard keyboard, standard large plates, every big-machine feature including half-spacing, tabulation—now even automatic indentation—yet minute size techniques have reduced bulk and weight so that this heavy duty machine is easily carried. This all-purpose typewriter shames flimsy lightweight costing far more... outperforms expensive giants. It's writing sales history for Underwood. Fully guaranteed, naturally!

They perform far beyond simple addition—subtract, give credit balance, multiply, calculate discounts and percentages, total capacity 99,999,999,999! Just 5 1/2 inches high, desk space 9 1/2" x 14 1/2"—yet with big machines' high efficiency and rugged dependability! Choose one-hand-operated Prima 20 at $99.50, the electric Quanta at $122.50, or the automatic multiplication, heavy-duty Multisumma, $245.00.

Nothing peeps up any office machine's performance—and actually prolongs its life—like a first quality NYLON ribbon... the only ribbon we handle because it's the only one we can sell with pride... Yet some folks persist in using cheaper quality ribbons which date from the pre-nylon era—and actually pay more for them than our $1.25 price for nylon. By handling one grade in volume, we're holding the price line on the best ribbon you can buy. At that price, you can't afford any other ribbon for your machine.

Good businessmen are improving efficiency and earning credit on income tax returns.

Before you invest unwisely in office tools of obsolete design, don't fail to see the newest and best.

Standard keyboard, standard large plates, every big-machine feature including half-spacing, tabulation—now even automatic indentation—yet minute size techniques have reduced bulk and weight so that this heavy duty machine is easily carried. This all-purpose typewriter shames flimsy lightweight costing far more... outperforms expensive giants. It's writing sales history for Underwood. Fully guaranteed, naturally!

They perform far beyond simple addition—subtract, give credit balance, multiply, calculate discounts and percentages, total capacity 99,999,999,999! Just 5 1/2 inches high, desk space 9 1/2" x 14 1/2"—yet with big machines' high efficiency and rugged dependability! Choose one-hand-operated Prima 20 at $99.50, the electric Quanta at $122.50, or the automatic multiplication, heavy-duty Multisumma, $245.00.

Nothing peeps up any office machine's performance—and actually prolongs its life—like a first quality NYLON ribbon... the only ribbon we handle because it's the only one we can sell with pride... Yet some folks persist in using cheaper quality ribbons which date from the pre-nylon era—and actually pay more for them than our $1.25 price for nylon. By handling one grade in volume, we're holding the price line on the best ribbon you can buy. At that price, you can't afford any other ribbon for your machine.

There's A NEW FRONTIER In Office Efficiency. Significant break-throughs in design and production of familiar products are revolutionizing the office supply field. Good businessmen are improving efficiency and earning credit on income tax returns. Before you invest unwisely in office tools of obsolete design, don't fail to see the newest and best.

NEW COMPACT STANDARD TYPEWRITER underwood. Standard keyboard, standard large platen, every big-machine feature including half-spacing, tabulation—now even automatic indentation—yet missile age techniques have reduced bulk and weight so that this heavy duty machine is easily carried. This all-purpose typewriter shames flimsy lightweight coating for more... outperforms expensive giants. It's writing sales history for Underwood. Fully guaranteed, naturally!

Yet some folks persist in using cheaper quality ribbons which date from the pre-nylon era—and actually pay more for them than our $1.25 price for nylon. By handling one grade in volume, we're holding the price line on the best ribbon you can buy. At that price, you can't afford any other ribbon for your machine.

Birthday Marked

Mrs. Yellie P. Warren, of Forked Deer, celebrated her 83rd birthday last Friday with a quiet dinner in the home of her oldest son, J. W. Warren, and his wife in Halls.

Mrs. Warren's daughter, Mrs. Oliver Nunn, and Mr. Nunn, and Mrs. Warren's youngest son, Willis Warren, and Mrs. Warren, all of Halls, were guests.

"Miss Katie" was born near Forked Deer and has spent her life there except for attending the Female Academy for Young Women in Brownsville.

She married Dr. J. W. Warren in her beloved Zurich Methodist Church on Dec. 18, 1912, and can relate many interesting experiences as the wife of a country doctor before his death on May 16, 1930.

She puts her church activities first and is still active in all of them.

Among the blessings she counts is that of being able to telephone all her children without a long distance call.

She has ten grandchildren, Keith Warren, Miss Sue Ellen Warren, Willis Duke Warren, Jr., and Carl Pearson Warren, all of Forked Deer, J. W. Warren III, of Halls, Leslie Warren and Oliver Joshua Nunn, Jr., both of Memphis, Mrs. Joshua Gerow III, of Fort Wayne, Ind., James Willis Nunn, of Camarillo, Calif., and Miss Blanche Rosemond Nunn, of Washington, D.C.

Her delight is her great granddaughter, Jennifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Duke Warren, of Forked Deer.

Chokichi Saito hid $111, his month's pay, in his shoe and calmly rode his bicycle away from the factory where he worked. He made one mistake. ## Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Do you know what fermentation is?
 If certain foods are allowed to stand in a warm, dark place, they undergo chemical changes. Very often, gas is given off. Such food is said to ferment; the process is called fermentation. The word "ferment" comes from a Latin word meaning "to boil." When fruit juices ferment, the gas bubbles up slowly and the liquid looks as though it were boiling.

Do you know how fossils are formed?
 A fossil may be formed when a plant or an animal, such as a fish, dies. When it falls to the floor of a lake, the fish may be covered with a layer of sand or silt. Other layers build up over a period of many years. Gradually, the layers of sand turn to rock. The soft parts of the fish decay. Minerals replace the bone cavities of the fish, making a fossil in the rock. Eventually, folding, cracking, and erosion cause changes in the surface of the earth. Such changes may uncover a fossil that has been buried for many years.

What is a foreign service?
 Since the days of ancient Egypt, there have been people who represent the government of their own country in a foreign country. Today we say that these people are members of the foreign service or diplomatic corps of their own country. The rules of modern foreign services were established at the Congress of Vienna in 1816. Most countries of the world have a foreign service modeled on these rules.

Do you know who John Henry was?
 John Henry is the hero of the American work song of the same name. The ballad tells a story that is related to an important problem of American life. It is about a super-strong Negro named John Henry.

Do you know what an ichthyologist does?
 An ichthyologist is a scientist who studies fishes. The word comes from two Greek words: ichthyo, meaning "fish," and logos, meaning "study." There are many scientists who study the evolution and grouping of fishes. Other scientists study the way fishes' bodies work, their development, and their behavior. Much is known about fishes, but there is still much for ichthyologists to learn.

What do you know about calcium?
 Calcium is a silver-white, alkaline-earth metal. It is essential to life and is found in considerable quantity in bones and teeth. It is also found in eggshells and in the shells of creatures such as clams and oysters. It is the fifth most common element in the earth's crust and is found in such common rocks as gypsum and limestone. Calcium is used in mortar, plaster, cement, and concrete. It is also important in fertilizers.

Don't you read before you buy?

When people see your print advertisement, you can be pretty sure they're not painting a room at the same time, or running in the kitchen for a snack, or carrying on a conversation.

What you get when your printed message meets the eye is the kind of attention that makes cash registers ring.

Print makes sense, because print makes sales.

Now is the time to Topdress pastures:

Why it pays to topdress pastures:
Pastures produce better grazing, and yield more hay and silage, too, when you provide extra nitrogen by topdressing with Gulf Ura-Green. The earlier, the better, because your forage crops awaken from winter dormancy with a big appetite for nitrogen... their primary source of grow-power.
Why it pays to do it with Gulf Ura-Green:
One shot lasts all season when you rely on Ura-Green's special blend of all 3 forms of nitrogen for smooth, even release throughout the entire growing period. Non-pressure Ura-Green can be applied with almost any tank equipment. Just spray, or dribble it on. Or we can apply Ura-Green for you if you prefer.
