VOLUME 76—NUMBER 10

NO CHEAPER RATE!

Lesson for March 8, 1970

Background Scripture: Mark 8:34-36; Luke 14:25-33; 1 Kings 22:3-26; Matthew 10:16-20; Acts 6 through 7; Deuteronomy 1:1-5; 2 Kings 19:17-37; Isaiah 55:1-2

Singer Sarah Vaughn's little niece was having prayer explained to her. Prayers, she was told, are like telegrams to God. The little girl thought that over and then asked: "Oh, is that why we send them at night — to get the cheaper rate?"

Out of the mouths of babes and infants come some of the most profound thoughts to challenge the mind of man. Why the little girl said "Rev. Althouse that, I do not know, but perhaps she had already learned that a great deal of adult attention seems directed toward getting the cheaper rate, regardless of the commodity. Everyone wants a bargain, something marked down from its original price, a discount, a deal — even in religion!"

An Easter without Lent
Just as a Christmas without an Advent is quite meaningless, so is an Easter without a Lent. The resurrection, great and glorious news that it is, cannot be either understood or experienced apart from the passion and cross of our Lord. An Easter without the Passion of Christ is a bargain-basement religion that is really no bargain. It is a tragic attempt to get the cheaper rate.

Last spring immediately after Easter I saw a sign in a store window: "POST-EASTER SALE. . . CROSSES AND BUNNIES: ONE-HALF OFF!" The "crosses and bunnies" of course, were chocolate, but I couldn't help feeling there was a fair amount of unconscious irony in that poster. While Easter is a time of great excitement and joy, the post-Easter season seems to be a time of marked-down Christian discipleship. The pain and agony of the cross are quickly forgotten.

Jesus himself made it clear that there could be no cut-rate discipleship: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." And that's the way it was for his disciples. Peter, tradition tells us, was crucified head-down on a cross in Rome. Andrew was also crucified, Bartholomew was crucified and beheaded. Thomas was martyred in India. James the Less was stoned and clubbed to death. Jude and Simon met violent deaths, and even James, the brother of Jesus. There was nothing marked-down about their discipleship.

"Cheap grace"
Nor for us. The cost of discipleship for us is still a cross; if not of wood and nails, it is still a cross of some kind. There is no point in trying to seek a cheaper rate, for there is none. It does not necessarily mean that each of us must die for our faith — though it might — but that we must be willing to live or die for it, whichever is required. Sometimes it is more difficult to live for something than to die for something.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer was a German pastor who was put to death for his active resistance against Hitler and the Nazis. He has written a book which has become a modern classic. It is entitled, The Cost of Discipleship. In it he calls "cheap grace" the "deadly enemy of the Church." By "cheap grace" he means the bargain-counter approach to Christianity that assumes that because Christ has paid the price for us, the love of God costs us nothing. It pictures the Church as a benevolent welfare organization that has too much grace on hand and must give it away indiscriminately, and God as a senile philanthropist whose gift of grace costs him nothing.

Without a Cross
"Cheap grace," says Bonhoeffer, "is grace without discipleship, grace without a cross, grace without Jesus Christ, living and incarnate." We can congratulate the woman who by careful shopping is able to feel her family well for less money, but the family that tries to get the cheaper rate in its religion is doomed to disappointment. There is no "cheap grace." All grace is expensive. It cost Christ a cross to win a crown. It demands no less of us.

County To Share Ripley Chamber's Salute To Plants

Mayors, Magistrates Unite To Honor Ten Industries During Annual Banquet

Mayors of Lauderdale County's incorporated cities and members of the County Court will join Ripley Chamber of Commerce members and Lauderdale County Jaycees in honoring ten industries during the annual banquet at 7 p. m. Tuesday in Ripley High School.

"We just wanted to let these industries know that we are grateful for their location in our county," says Frank Keefe, new Chamber president. "And instead of importing some dignitary to headline the affair, we decided to let our home folks speak for themselves. We think we're going to have a real interesting evening."

Jaycees will present their annual awards to outstanding young men, and master of ceremonies Bill Klutts will be joined by the

Meetings Planned For Soybean And Cotton Producers

On Chemical Weed Control; Dr. Gossett To Be Speaker; Cockerbur Woes In Fore

By F. H. Paschal
Dr. D. M. Gossett, associate agronomist of the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, will be the main speaker in meetings next week on chemical weed control in cotton and soybeans.

One meeting will be in the Farm Bureau Building in Ripley at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday and the second at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the library of the new high school in Halls.

Controlling cocklebur in soybeans is becoming one of the worst weed problems. The best possible information on this will be presented in these meetings.

Post-emergence sprays will be recommended as one of the methods for getting cocklebur. One man near Halls used a post-emergence spray last year for the first time and got $2,000 worth of soybeans where he had been getting $300. That made a lot of difference.

Farmers are urged to attend one of these meetings.

Pig Sale Breaks Record

The pig sale at Brownsville last week broke all records on prices received. A total of 1,364 pigs averaging 64 lbs. in weight brought $53.46 per cwt. or an average price of $34.63 per pig.

Only 200 of the pigs were purchased by out-of-state buyers. Five producers in Lauderdale County sold pigs in this sale, but others are feeding their pigs to top hogs.

Roland Henderson has 14 broad sows and feeds the pigs to average weights of 220-240 pounds. A recent lot of these hogs brought him $61 apiece, and he was surprised that one old sow brought $22 a pound for a total of $111.

Roland recently built a new farrowing barn. He is using Poland Chinas, Durocs, and Hampshire and is considering the addition of some Yorkshire gills.

Strawberry Weeds Fought

Hiram Braden, of Arp, is planning to apply a solution of Dacthal over his strawberries some time this month to control crab grass and other annual grasses and weeds.

Dacthal will not kill the grasses that already have a root system, such as Bermuda, but it will kill other weeds as they germinate.

Mr. Braden has a small enough patch that he can use only a hand sprayer to make this application on his berries.

Clyde Younger, of Halls, is trying to get plants to set two acres of Dixieland berries this spring. Plants are reported much higher in price than usual.

To control weeds in these new berries, Mr. Younger will apply two weeks after setting, four to six pounds of Diphenamid per acre on clean soil to control weeds for seven weeks at a cost of about $20 per acre.

Testing Cottonseed

John Walk, of Route 2, Henning, is planning to send a sample of the cottonseed he saved last fall to a testing laboratory to determine the percentage of germination.

He says he has been doing this each year, and it lets him know whether to plant the seed and if so, how many he should plant per acre.

Experiment station tests show cottonseed with a germination percentage as low as 50 should not be planted, because the seed which do not germinate tend to harbor diseases in the soil and work against the plants which do try to grow.

Germination really needs to be above 70% for best results.

Club To Meet

Durhamville-Orysa Community Improvement Club, under the leadership of Billy Thomas, president, will meet at 6:30 p. m. this Friday to eat together and hear a program to include timely agricultural topics by F. H. Paschal.

This fine community group has been meeting monthly for 22 years and working together effectively to constantly improve their living standard.

PROMOTION FOR FINCHER

The 20-year-old soldier is a rifleman in Company C, 1st Battalion, 15th Infantry.

Maybe Some Progress

Despite the defeat of Mississippi Senator John Stennis' anti-bussing amendments, the fight against the total disruption of Southern schools may have made some progress during the past several days.

John D. Ehrlichman, chief domestic advisor to President Nixon, said Tuesday he is opposed to use of school integration solely for mixing the races if it did not improve overall educational standards. This could mean that bussing of students across school lines possibly would not be approved.

However, the most encouraging sign in our opinion came with the resignation of two HEW officials, Paul M. Rilling, director of the six-state Southern region, with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., and C. Peter Gall, special assistant in public relations to Leon Panetta, who resigned last week as head of HEW's Civil Rights division.

Mr. Rilling had been responsible for much of the drive for further integration in this immediate area and apparently operated under the theory that it didn't matter what harm was done to schools if integration was furthered.

On the other hand, the riots at Lamar, S.C., caused as much damage to the fight for common sense in school integration as other developments helped.

We repeat what we have often written before: School integration is here to stay, and there is nothing to be gained by fighting it — but the deliberate disruption of schools, such as occurred in Mississippi, and in Jackson, in West Tennessee, and seems a possibility in Memphis, should be halted now.

Schools are for education, and students should not be used for social changes, many of which are of doubtful value to all concerned.

Good Luck To Ripley

We, of course, wish it were Halls, but we still want to wish good luck to the Ripley High basketball team as it nears the state basketball tournament.

One more victory next Monday evening, in the Jackson Coliseum, and their trip to Knoxville will be assured.

Halls has had two trips to the state tournament, once meeting defeat in the championship game, so we wish Ripley well.

Think for a minute what it costs to replant an acre of cotton that doesn't make a stand. There's the cost of seed, fertilizer, herbicides, insecticides, equipment, operators and the precious time. Multiply that by the number of acres you could lose to seed and seeding disease.

Now think about Terracolor Super-X Fungicide. It could very well eliminate replanting. Here's why: Terracolor Super-X is a combination of two Olin discoveries that effectively control the fungi that cause cotton seeding disease.

How important is this to you? The regional Cotton Disease Council reports that losses average $60,000,000 a year to seeding diseases alone.

Terracolor Super-X is applied while you plant. Your cotton seed is protected in the furrow, where it germinates and the seedling emerges, the fungi that kill protected plants are held off by Terracolor Super-X. You get a healthy, vigorous stand from only one planting.

About seed treatments: They are great... as far as they go. But seed treatment protection lasts only until the seed coat opens and the seedling grows into untreated soil. That's when you need Terracolor Super-X in the furrow.

Terracolor Super-X is available from your Olin dealer in three formulations: granular, liquid and dust.

A special formulation is available with a quality soil systemic insecticide impregnated in the granules for combination fungus and insect control.

If you don't know your local Olin dealer, write to Terracolor Super-X, P. O. Box 991, Little Rock, AR 72203 for his name.

You ought to get to know him. He can help you get a good stand from only one planting. That's one good reason he is known as the man in the budging. Olin

CO-OP CATTLE AUCTIONS ARE AID IN PROFITABLE FARMING

By F. H. Farnham

Russell Evans, president of the Lauderdale County Livestock Association, is calling producers and the County Agent learned at the annual meeting and steak dinner of the Brownsville Feeders' Sales Association this week that 4,500 calves were sold through six sales last year with average weights of 480 pounds, bringing an average price of $2.36, of $15 per head, for a grand total of $754,413.

Producers believe they get higher prices by working together in these cooperative sales, and they believe the sales provide effective competition which can keep prices at higher levels than they would be otherwise.

In the first sale this year, April 17th, all breeds of cattle may be marketed at 300 to 700 pounds, provided they are of acceptable quality.

The Progressive Farmer magazine recently carried a story telling of the high opinion of calves that go from the Brownsville sales. These impressions can mean additional income in the future.

Farmers are hearing from various sources great claims about what can be done through cooperative marketing. These cattle producers believe that their bargaining association can do three things for them, and only three: (1) Get the full value of their calves, based upon market conditions; (2) earn more by supplying products and services that are worth more to buyers; and (3) perform special services for members of the association that are not available to non-members.

Other cattle producers are invited to become members of this marketing association.

Sprayers Being Readied

Cotton and soybean producers who came to meetings in Ripley and Halls this week to study chemical weed control must decide within the next few weeks what chemicals they will use and exactly how they will be applied.

These decisions about every separate component of the sprayers and getting the sprayers calibrated so that exactly the right amount of chemical is applied per acre make a lot of difference in the cost of using herbicides and their effectiveness in controlling weeds.

Farmers began using pre-emergence chemicals in the 1950's. These chemicals can easily handle 70 to 85% of the weeds, but there are not too many ways to go through the fields to get the remainder of the weeds. This is forcing more and more farmers to buy and learn to use sprayers which apply chemicals after the crops have come up to stands.

These machines cost money, but the chemicals are not any

TENNESSEE'S TENTH ANNUAL

Profitable Farming

AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

A Tennessee Farmer...

Mighty Important to All of Us!

One farmer provides the food and fiber needs sufficient for 45 non-farm persons. In the past decade, according to the national average, this same farmer provided for only 23 persons. It is predicted that by the end of this decade one farmer will be providing for 75 non-farm persons. In order to uphold this trend, figures show this farmer must seek more efficient production and he will need to invest more in equipment and other farm needs.

The expectations continue toward fewer but larger farms... they are becoming more industrialized. Due to the industrialization of the farm, it has been predicted that the farmer will be using more credit in the 70's. Thus, the larger expenditure of the farmer will be benefiting your community.

"The new decade will be a time of change and challenge for our Tennessee farmers. Their importance to our State must be recognized and appreciated by all Tennesseans, in all fields of endeavor."

Byrd Ellington
BUFORD ELLINGTON
Governor of Tennessee

"We in your Department of Agriculture are charged with broad areas of responsibilities involving all the citizens of Tennessee. We must be constantly aware of, and keep pace with, the changes which accompany progress."

who'd want a new dress if it were just like your old one?

How much fun would be left in fashion if all style were standardized? This system would cut down on shopping time. But it would also cut down on your individuality.

In turn, standardization would cut down on advertising, there'd be a cutback in production. And if we worked hard to do so, we might wreck the economy.

Wouldn't we be better off to leave things the way they are? Today's advertising is already polluted by the world's smartest detective . . . the American consumer.

PEOPLE PROTECTORS

Did you ever think of ads as guardians of your individuality? They are, you know. In a time when the edges are being eaten off our personalities and we're all being reduced to cardboard numbers, we need to hang on to some things.

Like our freedom of choice. And that choice is yours only as long as competition and free enterprise and advertising are working for you. Guard them. For they stand between you and a dull and standardized life.

Apply Terraclor Super-X the first time you plant cotton.

Think for a minute what it costs to replant an acre of cotton that doesn't make a stand. There's the cost of seed, fertilizer, herbicides, insecticides, equipment, operator and the precious time. Multiply that by the number of acres you could lose to seed and seedling disease.

Now think about Terraclor Super-X Soil Fungicide. It could very well eliminate replanting. Here's why: Terraclor Super-X is a combination of two Olin discoveries that effectively control the fungi that cause cotton seedling disease.

How important is this to you? The regional Cotton Disease Council reports that losses average $60,000,000 a year to seedling diseases alone.

Terraclor Super-X is applied while you plant. Your cotton seed is surrounded by protection in the furrow, where it counts. As the seed germinates and the seedling emerges, the fungi that kill unprotected plants are held off by Terraclor Super-X. You get a healthy, vigorous stand from only one planting.

About seed treatments: They are great... as far as they go. But seed treatment protection lasts only until the seed coat opens and the seedling grows into untreated soil. That's when you need Terraclor Super-X in the furrow.

Terraclor Super-X is available from your Olin dealer in three formulations: granular, liquid and dust. A special formulation is available with a quality soil systemic insecticide impregnated in the granules for combination fungus and insect control.

If you don't know your local Olin dealer, write to Terraclor Super-X, P. O. Box 991, Little Rock, Ark. 72203 for his name.

You ought to get to know him. He can help you get a good stand from only one planting. That's one good reason he is known as the man with the business. Olin.

Confidential Corner

Wait And See Some local people have become very envious over President Nixon's school desegregation statement, while others, including your editor, are not so certain that there will be any appreciable amount of change.

It seems to us that President Nixon merely faced the fact that it is going to be virtually impossible to integrate every school to any particular degree without putting an unbearable tax load on the tax-paying citizen to carry out integration orders.

It has always been apparent to your editor, and should have been apparent to others, that total integration of schools is not the answer to all social ills, and education should not be made to bear the whole load.

Perhaps we even hope - President Nixon's statement will be the first move toward a more practical approach to the integration of schools and the improvement, not the degrading, of education.

Dangerous Practice City officials are becoming more and more concerned with the practice of some school-age youngsters of riding their bicycles at night without adequate lighting and on dangerous highways.

One city policeman recently told of finding several children about 9:30 p.m. who had just completed a bicycle ride from Halls to Gates and back.

Parents should see that their children are not on the streets on their bikes after 7 p.m. City officials will insist that this rule be carried out.

Legal Liquor Vote Principal Interest In Ripley Election

Mayor Criner Is Unopposed; Board Return Contested By Three Others Running

A legal liquor referendum is generating most of the interest in next Thursday's city election in Ripley, with Mayor Rozelle Criner unopposed for re-election.

All incumbent aldermen are seeking re-election at Richard Douglas, Ben Emerson, Frank Garner, Leon Hargett, Dr. J. S. Scott, and Wilby Walker. Other candidates are former mayor and alderman C. Wilson Vair and two Negroes, Lester Currie and Odell Morgan.

Ripley last voted on legal liquor in the county-wide referendum in which it was defeated in 1966. The county vote was 2,930 to 2,285.

In that referendum, the Ripley box, which included some voters not eligible to vote in city elections, went against legal liquor, 901 to 804.

Agricultural engineers and machinery manufacturers have developed several different ways by which farmers can use sprayers to apply chemicals while cultivating middles or in separate operations to control weeds before they show up in fields, but before they are two inches tall. These are more effective than many market sprayers used against legal liquor, before planting but before weeds have emerged.

The chemicals developed by these manufacturers are called post-emergence sprays cost as little as 50¢ per acre and average about $4 per acre per application to control weeds before they show up in fields, but before they are two inches tall. These are more effective than many market sprayers used against legal liquor, before planting but before weeds have emerged.

Readers Speak Editor: I have just read with great interest and discuss the article you published in the Halls Graphic on our 18-year-olds being given the right to vote. We now have three states that allow 18-year-olds to vote, so are we to say those states are ahead or behind all the other states? I will say I think they are way ahead of the rest.

We have thousands of 18-21 year olds in our combat zones. So I very much wonder what they would say if we asked them if they were mature or sufficiently informed to decide what is best for them or their country.

I have a close friend whose son was in the military service in Vietnam. He was the son of 30 men that were in his patrol, but maybe he did not know what was right for his country. He is now in Vietnam. He is now in Vietnam. He is now in Vietnam.

Edric Owen B. H. L. Owen, and Douglas B. Harrell have sent soil samples for testing. Samples can be taken any time when the ground is dry enough to plow.

Stonewille Fields Highest Stonewille 213 made highest yields of the six recommended varieties in 24 cotton counties a year and also made highest yields in ten West Tennessee Counties on bottom soils and in nine Tennessee counties on upland soil. It averaged 846 pounds of lint per acre.

Delaplane is made second highest yields of 778 pounds, Delta-64 454 made 771, Hancock averaged 732, Dixie King averaged 727, and Auburn M averaged 728. The micronaire reading varied between 3.9 and 4.1 for all varieties except Stonewille which averaged 4.6.

In other tests, Stonewille made the highest yield of lint cotton. All the varieties averaged better than 1.16 inch staple, except Hancock, which went a little below 1.1.

All the recommended varieties have the same fiber strength and earliness. Not Grass Harts Gardens

Roy Carrington and Walker Kirkpatrick very much want to get nut grass out of their gardens. The recommended method is methyl bromide gas applied under plastic sheets, but it is dangerous to use. The next best method is repeated applications of MSMA when temperatures are 75 degrees or more and the nut grass is growing rapidly, but it is necessary to keep this material off the vegetables.

Roy has decided to forget the vegetables for one year and try to kill out the nut grass. Mrs. Irene Saul, of Gates, says she killed it out in her garden in a year's time by just cultivating it to death.

Mrs. Saul this year has a problem with chickweed in her lawn. The only chemical that will kill this weed is Silver. Silver is applied when the temperature is above 60 degrees when the plants are growing. It is necessary to keep it off flowers and other plants that are not to be killed.

Sup Crab Grass Goes Householders who do not want crab grass coming up in lawns and around shrubs and flowers this summer may avoid this by applying Daclon solution to the area to be protected within the next week.

Mrs. one-fourth pound of 75% Daclon powder in enough water to cover 1,000 square feet. The Daclon is already growing. But it will kill the crab grass seed as it germinates.

Apply Terraclor Super-X and only the first time you plant cotton.

Think for a minute what it costs to replant an acre of cotton that doesn't make a stand. There's the cost of seed, fertilizer, herbicides, insecticides, equipment, operators and the precious time. Multiply that by the number of acres you could lose to seed and seedling disease.

Now think about Terraclor Super-X Soil Fungicide. It could very well eliminate replanting. Here's why: Terraclor Super-X is a combination of two Olin discoveries that effectively control the fungi that cause cotton seedling disease.

How important is this to you? The regional Cotton Disease Council reports that losses average $60,000,000 a year to seedling diseases alone.

Terraclor Super-X is applied while you plant. Your cotton seed is surrounded by protection in the furrow, where it counts. As the seed germinates and the seedling emerges, the fungi that kill unprotected plants are held off by Terraclor Super-X. You get a healthy, vigorous stand from only one planting.

About seed treatments: They are great... as far as they go. But seed treatment protection lasts only until the seed coat opens and the seedling grows into untreated soil. That's when you need Terraclor Super-X in the furrow.

Terraclor Super-X is available from your Olin dealer in three formulations: granular, liquid and dust. A special formulation is available with a quality soil systemic insecticide impregnated in the granules for combination fungus and insect control.

If you don't know your local Olin dealer, write to Terraclor Super-X, P. O. Box 991, Little Rock, Ark. 72203 for his name.

You ought to get to know him. He can help you get a good stand from only one planting. That's one good reason he is known as the man in the furrow.
