MY BROTHER'S FACE

Lesson for August 8, 1971

Background Scriptures: Genesis 27:1 through 28:3; 32; Matthew 21:28-32.

Devotional Reading: Colossians 3:12-17.

Frederick the Great of Prussia, shortly before his death, was counseled to forgive his enemies. After some contemplation of this advice, he said to the queen: "Dorothea, write to your brother that I forgive him all the evil he has done me . . . but wait until I am dead first!"

It is often said that family feuds are the bitterest of all. Some people find it is harder to be reconciled with someone with whom they were closely related because this "closeness" often makes the hurt harder to bear. People who are closer to us have the greater opportunities to cause us pain and anguish.

A troubled house

When we read the first portion of the story of Jacob and Esau it seems that these two brothers are never likely to be reconciled. The wounds and the hurts have been made too deep, it seems. There was favoritism in the family; Esau was Isaac's favorite while Jacob was a "mother's boy." There was also dishonesty and deception: twice Jacob had tricked Esau out of something that belonged to him. We can well understand why his mother advised Jacob to go away for a while until things "cooled down."

So Jacob left home and made a long journey to visit his uncle Laban. On the way to Haran, Laban's home, Jacob has a mystical experience of a ladder reaching to heaven in a dream. When Jacob arrives at his uncle's place, he seems a changed man. He becomes hard-working, honest, productive, even though his uncle manages to cheat him with his daughters.

At last there comes a time when Jacob decides to return home. Many years have passed and he has not seen his family. He remembers his brother's hatred: will he still be seeking vengeance? Nevertheless, Jacob decides to face the consequences. He must take this risk if he is to be re-united with his family.

But Esau ran . . .

Can you imagine what Jacob must have felt and thought as he approached his brother's land? Esau might very well kill him as he had once vowed. Yet, the writer of Genesis tells us: "But Esau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck and kissed him, and they wept" (33:4). Is there anywhere a more poignant reconciliation scene than that!

No one can deny that Jacob had been a scoundrel and that he had rightly earned Esau's hatred. Yet, sweeter than would have been Esau's vengeance was the reconciliation, the forgiveness between these two men. Overjoyed, Jacob says: ". . . truly to see your face is like seeing the face of God" (33:10).

The key to reconciliation is to see God in my brother's face.

Light Trap Giving Crop Insect Tally

Shift To Net Weight Basis For Cotton Lifts Pricing Above Previous Levels

By F. H. Paschal

The Tennessee Department of Agriculture has set up a light trap to catch adult insects in Lauderdale County.

In the last two weeks, the trap caught 31 boll worm adults, 51 adults of the European corn borer, 28 adults of Southwestern corn borers, and 32 army worm adults.

A report being mailed to the Extension Office every Monday will give some warning of build-ups of insects that can destroy crops.

Fall Pastures Planned

John M. Morris is planning to seed two to three bushels of rye or wheat by Aug. 15th to make fall pastures.

He will use Balbo rye or Monon, Knox 62, or Arthur wheat, since these varieties are resistant to Hessian fly. He will apply 300 lbs. of 15-15-15 fertilizer or 60 lbs. of nitrogen from other material.

He will start grazing these pastures when the plants are eight inches high, graze it down to two to four inches, and then let the pasture recover before it is grazed again.

Such pastures can make cheap gains on young cattle weighing 300 pounds and up.

Soil Being Tested

O. E. Dunaway, Dr. J. G. Olds, C. M. Arwood, T. G. Langley, J. W. Pittman, Jack Gause, Lowell Tillman, James White, and Fort Plow State Farm are getting soil tested for alfalfa, small grains, pastures, and other crops to determine the amount of lime, phosphate, and potash needed for highest yields at lowest cost for fertilizer and lime.

Farmers are using more and more nitrogen fertilizers which increase the acidity of soils and which by making extra growth cause crops to take out more phosphate and potash as well as lime. These soil tests can pay good dividends.

Forage Testing Considered

Leonard Meeks had some good corn silage left from last year, but he wonders about the feed value and whether the leaf blight has had any effect on the quality of the silage.

He is considering sending samples of the silage to the Forage Testing Laboratory of the University of Tennessee to find out the digestible protein, the carbohydrate content, and other information on how he can use this silage to best advantage for cattle in the months ahead.

Bagworms On Shrubs

Mrs. Leonard Wakefield says bagworms are showing up all over her cedar shrubs. She plans to spray with a mixture of one tablespoon of 50% Malathion per gallon of water to control these insects without injuring the shrubs.

Bagworms have shown up later this year than usual, and many other householders may need to do a thorough job of spraying with this material or Sevin.

Calibration Guide Printed

Jack Gause has been using a calibration guide which has been available from Extension Offices over the last three years. He says that he finds this guide so useful that he would not take $50 for it if he could not get another one.

These guides are available on request to the Extension Office.

Pig Sale Scheduled

Russell Evans, president of Lauderdale County Livestock Association, reminds pig producers that a co-operative sale will be held at Brownsville Aug. 18th. Tags and other information are available at the County Extension Office.

A total of 1,487 pigs were sold at the sale July 14th which weighed an average of 55 pounds and brought an average $11.30 per pig.

Cotton Weights Change

All trading in cotton beginning Aug. 1st will be on a net weight basis. This change has been talked about for many years but has finally been put in effect by the Department of Agriculture.

Cotton warehouse receipts will show for each bale the total or gross weight, the weight of bagging and ties, and the net weight of the bale. All prices quoted hereafter will be net prices.

The new prices may not be as much higher as they sound. For instance, a 28¢ contract for 1971 cotton is equivalent to 24.9¢ under gross weight trading. All prices will vary in the same proportion.

On the basis of net weight prices, some so called experts are advising farmers not to sell cotton for less than 30¢ a pound for fall delivery.

This sounds good to cotton producers and should encourage them to do everything possible to make the best yields they can make and harvest and gin.

CITY TAXES RISE

Many city property owners are in for a shock when they learn that city tax bills are considerably higher this year.

City officials say the law requires them to use a 35% base of the assessed valuation for tax purposes and that the city must either use county figures as assessed by a professional or hire its own professional.

The board has voted to use the county's figures and to keep the original tax rate of $1.75, which means that for the first time, city taxes in dollars and cents will be greater than county taxes.

Average increase will be about 28%, although many property owners will pay a much greater increase, while others will have their taxes lowered.

Continually increased operating costs have made it imperative that the city increase taxes, Mayor Arnold says. But he says the tax rate in Halls remains under the average in Tennessee, the city has no sewer tax, and it has only a $1 per month garbage fee.

Failure to appoint an equalization board has created problems with taxpayers, since many feel they have no recourse if they believe their taxes are excessive.

Mayor Arnold says an equalization board will be created immediately, since failure to do so was through a misunderstanding.

The city charter calls for an equalization board to meet during July each year.

SCHOOL PLANS LAID

The Board of Education has been advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare that in the 1970-71 school year, out-of-county students were attending Lauderdale County schools.

Upon being told by HEW that this was a violation of compliance with desegregation requirements, the Board reaffirmed the motion made a year ago that no out-of-county resident students would be registered in Lauderdale County schools for the 1971-72 school term.

The Board has set this following schedule for the school year: Aug. 19—Pre-school conference (all teachers and aides) Aug. 20—Registration of all students grades 1-9. Children entering for the first time must be six years of age on or before October 31, 1971. Each child enrolling for the first time must have proof of age (birth certificate) and proof of immunization against diphtheria, measles (rubella), poliomylitis, smallpox, tetanus, and whooping cough. This is required by state law (Tenn. Code Annotated 49-1767-1769) before the school can accept the child for enrollment.

Aug. 22—Teacher in-service training.

Aug. 30—First full day of school for grades 1-3; sophomores register.

Aug. 31—Seniors register.

Sept. 1—Seniors register.

Sept. 2—Full day for grades 1-12.

School attendance zones will be the same as last year's.

Looking Around

Mountains climbing has a new "potentially" offer in Denver, Colorado. Apparently these years by literally climbing the school walls at Alameda High with bells and ropes and a 40-foot drop, the students of this school are preparing high school students for competing the Rocky Mountain peaks.

A Dawsonville, Georgia museum devotes itself exclusively to the illegal art of moonshine and boasts of moonshine equipment to "heat the whole state off on a sea of white lightning," but the AAA points out its location is not as ideal as it's right near the city jail.

New York City streets had 70,000 abandoned cars removed by the Sanitation Department in 1970 . . . compare this figure to 38,000 in 1969 and 37,000 in 1968 and you have a projected view!

For want of his false teeth, Warren Freeman put a $150 bill on the city of Minneapolis, claiming he lost his upper denture while cleaning a sewer from inside a manhole. A motion picture disclosed them!

If there's confusion at the state house in Columbus, Ohio, blame the Browns—not the Smiths. John W. BROWN is Lieutenant Governor, Ted W. BROWN is Secretary of State, and William J. BROWN is Attorney General.

A St. Patrick's Day celebration was held at the Harbor Rehabilitation Center for the aged, but was called "Mary Duddy Day!" The salute by 475 elderly men and women was for ready-checked Mary Duddy who joined the Center 14 years ago after landing in the Hub from County Donegal.

GAS WITH CLASS—Miss Coleen Hofmann, daughter of a retired major living in Columbia, S.C., goes about her work at the P.K. gas station at Ft. Jackson, S.C. Coleen was hired by the station manager, Mr. William Pringle. Since that time, according to Mr. Pringle, business has really gone up. (U.S. Army Photo by Sgt John Hanson)

Hollie Chilton, a 100-year-old Kentucky, summed it all up nicely on the misadventure situation . . . said he: "It's got to be a woman's face anymore, but I know all the women in my neighborhood by their legs!"

A high-fashion barber in San Francisco with $150,000 of fire insurance uses the latest thing in men's hair styling—a blowtorch to seal up hair ends that split. Mr. Eckhardt charges $10 for the clipping, three for the blowtorch in free, and said he hasn't lost a customer yet!

The Middlesex County News of Southern Maine ran an ad for a cow with a basic list price of $100-$200 . . . plus itemized accessories! Two-tone exterior, four dispensing spots, $40; product storage compartment, $60; genuine cowhide upholstery $45; automatic fly swatter, $35; and dual horns, $30. The clever rancher remained anonymous!

The culinary department at the Royal Air Force Base in Stafford, England, learned a surgical technique for re-creating 12 cakes with icing when laundry was inadvertently omitted from the ingredients. Medical officers at the base came to the rescue of the cooks and used a kerosene syringe for a quick intravenous injection of the plus factor.

fresh, clean electricity

Grime stops at the door when your home is all-electric. The appliances that do your cooking, water heating, laundering, food preservation, dishwashing and a host of other tasks produce no dirt or other by-products to contaminate the air. And, your heating and air conditioning systems do their part in keeping the inside atmosphere clean by removing dust and fine particles that would otherwise find their way into your home.

Electricity—the grime stopper—is the cleanest energy you can use. Anywhere.

Bressler and wife, Lottie Bressler, did convey in trust to O. J. Nunn as Trustee, the hereinafter described property to secure an indebtedness as described in said deed of trust; and

WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of said indebtedness, and the holder of said indebtedness having requested me as Trustee to foreclose the same;

NOW THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that on SATURDAY, September 11, 1971, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. at the front door of the Bank of Halls, Halls, Tennessee, the undersigned as Trustee will sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash the following described property: Beginning at a stake in the west boundary line of 38 acre tract of land which this is a part 3/4 of a pole south of the northwest corner of the same and in the south margin of 14 ft. roadway reserved to H. C. Cousins as a roadway north of a spring branch; runs thence south 74 degrees east to said road 12.7 poles to a stake in the north line of said original tract; thence south with Cousins' west line 12.7 poles to a stake in the south side of the said tract; thence north 74 degrees west to a stake in the west boundary line of the 38 acre tract; thence north with said line 12.7 poles to the beginning, containing one acre, more or less.

The above named tract No. 1 in a deed from Ora Lee Hubbard to Winchester to Wesley Doss and his wife, Jessie Bell Doss, which deed is of record in the Register's Office for Lauderdale County, Tennessee, in Record Book 14, page 633. This being the same property purchased by me from Wesley Doss and wife, Jessie Bell Doss, deed of trust noted in not book 11, page 111 and registered in Record Book 35, page 328-330.

Taxes for the year 1970 and prior years will be paid by the Trustee from the proceeds of sale, and purchaser will be entitled to immediate possession of the premises and will assume 1971 taxes on said real estate.

Said real estate will be sold free from all homestead, dower and equity of redemption. The title to said property is believed to be good, but the Trustee does not warrant title to said real estate, but will sell and convey said property as Trustee only.

WITNESS my hand, this 17th day of August, 1971.
O. J. Nunn, Trustee

Looking Around

A cat burglar in a series of raids carried off baby toys, balls of wool, slippers and such. The culprit was busy, a Siamese apparently trying to provide for her litter of six kittens. Her owner said, "The neighbors are very understanding."

The county ambulance went speeding through the streets of Fall City, Neb. its siren screaming. Police first gave it right of way but forced it off the road when they learned it was operated by three prisoners who had broken from jail.

You can buy a lot of land in Hong Kong for $1.75 but you would have a hard time putting foot on it without trespassing. Lots are sold with a fancy certificate as souvenirs, but the lots are just one inch square.

Fish were in high spirits after a trailer loaded with beer was struck by a freight train in Plymouth Meeting, Pa., and beer flowed freely into a nearby creek.

The City of Miami Beach ordered Mr. Edith Harding to get five junk cars off her property so she had them, moved into the street. It cost her $20. Police made her move them back on the lot. That cost her another $20. She said she had been informed that police towed away cars abandoned on the street, but police explained they didn't make a wholesale practice of it. The cars stayed in the lot.

I. P. Tuttle of Coleman, Texas, sells horned toads to gardeners all over the country. The toads eat insects.

The mall was all ready to go about a train in Pampe, Texas, when a clerk heard package ticking. An explosives specialist opened it and found a battery powered shoe polisher whining away.

Food with a housing shortage for workers on hydroelectric power projects, the Soviet government is building huge floating apartment houses with 74 living units, snack bar and repair shop, all mounted on reinforced concrete hulls. They can be floated from one dam to another.

Catania, Sicily, a seaside city at the foot of Mt. Etna, not only washes its streets, it disinfects and perfumes them.

Thieves escaped with $84,000 in liquor from a London, England, warehouse. It was a long, hard job for them and they stopped at times and drank bottles-of milk.

One night a truck driven by Donald Akers of Winston, Oregon, accidentally spilled nails all over Interstate Route 5. Before morning 60 cars reported flat tires including a tractor-trailer rig that had 35 flats.

An appropriate christening was given the John James Memorial Hospital in Canberra, Australia when Sir Clarence Ripper cracked a bottle of his treasonous saline solution against the commiseration.

An American flag decorating the seat of her pants brought 21-year old Deborah Luscomb plenty of attention as she registered for classes at Holyoke Community College, and a derriere blow of a $89 fine.

A Pittsburgh housewife ran up telephone bills of $40 a month, so she had a pay telephone installed in the downstairs bathroom to end marital quarrels. "Please withhold my name," said she, "I'd really be in hot water with my husband. I'd be locked in the john without a dime."

Ten-year old Jack Usher went when his football got stuck in the chimney of his Buckinghamshire home in England 23 years ago, but when the house was demolished, he got his ball back. "The bladder had rotted and there was a small hole in the case, but apart from that it was fine."

A service station manager in Coventry, England kept the Christmas lights on a main road too long after the holiday season because the blind maid he was blind and couldn't see his lights were off. He had her "blind" improved over time.

A hero in two World Wars for stealing horses from the enemy, Cyril Hamak of Poland pressed his luck too far. He stole two blood stallions from a Polish government farm and may go to jail for eight years.

Thirty-seven years ago the owner of a submarine car took it to a garage in Chesham, England, and left it for minor repairs. He never came back. Waiting patiently since 1928 the garage owner finally sold the old car. Being a real antique, it brought $3,215.

An 18-yr. old high school senior from Fairmont, Miss., pointed the differences between Democrats and Republicans in fashionable terminology. After a week in the nation's capital, he said "Democrats wear colored shirts, large double Windsor knot ties, longer hair and sideburns. Republicans wear white shirts, smaller knots in their ties, shorter hair and no sideburns."

Well, What Do You Know?
fun, games and knowledge

By MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Would you like to make a finger painting?

Anybody can make a finger painting. By moving your hand in free, sweeping strokes over glossy paper that has been coated with wet, paintlike paint, it is easy to make a painting.

The materials are inexpensive and available anywhere. You can use special paper, but any glossy or coated paper may be used.

Wet a large sheet of glossy paper and spread it evenly on a table, without air bubbles. Place a tablespoon of finger paint on paper and spread it uniformly over entire surface.

Using palm, fingertips, and all parts of your hand, you can create patterns and designs. Experiment - make a fist or scratch with your fingernails. Use your imagination and express your ideas through your fingers.

For a free booklet, "The Magic Carpet," illustrated in color from The New Book of Knowledge, send address to Martha Glauber Shapp, Box 47, Putnam Valley, New York 10779.

WITH SID HATHAWAY

Charlie McCarthy is "old hat" in ventriloquist circles, and he is the form of garbage disposal installer turned Mayor who generally creates an uproar wherever he changes. At 20, he rose to the city in his Super Car-a-Ming limousine-chasing criminals, fire engines and automobiles—all to keep his campaign promise of making St. Paul the safest city in America.

Sixteen-year old Claudia Angeliari can't see many things glances at her boyfriend on her job at a Milan, Italy factory, and was dismissed for distracting fellow workers and harming production. A judge said she was fired arbitrarily and illegally, and ordered her reinstatement.

Grand theft by "hocus-pocus": Police in Nancy, France reported that a man in a turban and a woman in a sari answered a clerk in a jewelry store and walked off with a $9,000 diamond ring.

A package mailed from the Park Sheraton Hotel, New York to a person just 27 blocks away was returned undelivered. . . after 33 years. The parcel was sent by P. J. Leary nine days before Christmas, 1937 to Miss S. Jaerpe of 10 E. 3rd St.

Spinsters and widows can shrug off cries of "It's a woman driver!" Statistics from the claim files of a national insurance company have shown that those in that category between the ages of 31 and 64 are the best drivers on the road today.

A San Francisco bus operator applied psychology and got good results when he asked "Will some good shepherd please lead the flock to the rear?"

PEOPLE PROTECTORS

Did you ever think of ads as guardians of your individuality? They are, you know. In a time when the edges are being eaten off our personalities and we're all being reduced to card-index numbers, we need to hang on to some things. Like our freedom of choice. And that choice is yours only as long as competition and free enterprise and advertising are working for you. Guard them. For they stand between you and a dull and standardized life.
