Seeley Heading Taxpayer Assn.

Jim Seeley, Bank of Ripley executive, is president and John Sneed, Farmers Union Bank executive, treasurer of a newly organized Lauderdale County Taxpayers Association.

The association, similar to those operating in other counties, now has 20 members and is actively seeking more.

"We want to work for economy and efficiency in public expenditures to hold down the increasingly serious tax problem," says Seeley.

"We plan to stick to proven facts, without any prejudices or partisanship, and under no circumstances endorse political candidates, directly or indirectly," he adds.

"I hope anyone interested will contact me for details."

Births

In Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg:

To Mr. and Mrs. Butch Latham, of Ripley, a 7 lb., 11 oz. son, Feb. 23rd.

To Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jones, of Gates, a son, Timothy Lawrence, Feb. 18th. Grandparents are Mrs. L. M. Larue and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Charest, of Halls.

TEMPLE OFF TO MED

Seaman Jerry L. Temple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temple, of 206 Barbee, Ripley, has departed for an extended deployment in the Mediterranean Sea aboard the replenishment oiler Kalamazoo, home ported in Mayport, Fla.

COUNTIAN EARNS 2 STARS

CHOSEN FOR PROMOTION TO REAR ADMIRAL, Conrad J. Rorie, son of Mrs. Elvy Rorie, of Fulton, is believed to be the first Lauderdale Countian ever to attain two-star military rank. A 1948 graduate of Ripley High School, he was commissioned in the Navy after taking a bachelor of science degree from Union University in Jackson in 1952. Union awarded him its Distinguished Alumnus Anniversary Award last year. Rorie took a master of science degree in electrical engineering from the Naval Postgraduate School and a doctor of philosophy degree in the same field from Vanderbilt University in Nashville in 1970. His last assignment was in command of the Naval Surface Weapons Center, the Navy's largest research and development activity, employing more than 5,000 persons, in Dahlgren, Va., and White Oaks, Md. His assignment as an admiral has not yet been announced by the Department of the Navy.

Stabbing Kills Prison Inmate

Bobby Lee and Johnny Mack Porter have been charged with second degree murder in the fatal stabbing last Friday morning of Clarence Newson, a fellow prisoner at Fort Pillow State Prison Farm.

Newson, 26, serving a 10-year term for robbery with a deadly weapon, was stabbed numerous times about 7:30 a. m., in a restroom between cellblocks A and B, Warden Robert A. Moore said.

He was convicted of the Nov. 2, 1973 armed robbery of the Speedy Drive-In Liquor Store at 277 E. H. Crump Blvd. in Memphis and had been at the prison farm since Feb. 2, 1976.

He had previously been convicted of an attempt to commit a felony and assault to commit manslaughter in stabbing a soldier with a butcher knife on Dec. 9, 1971.

Ripley's Water Highly Rated

State public health officials have rated Ripley's public water supply 93, on a scale of 100, and have praised "exemplary performance" by personnel and plant units.

John W. Saucier, director of the Division of Water Quality Control of the state Department of Public Health, says signs showing "Approved" status for the city's water will be erected on all state and federal highways entering the city.

Ripley's water, from four wells, is used by more than 7,000 persons in and around the city.

GIRLS HONORED BY D.A.R.

Jaycees Pressing Red Ball Marking

Ripley Jaycees and a city fire truck will visit the Thompson Drive area and northern areas of the city Saturday to continue Operation Red Ball.

The team distributes Red Ball emblems to be placed on windows of rooms in which children sleep to guide firemen there first.

F.H.A. Offering Disaster Loans

By Charles T. Peal

U.S. Rep. Ed Jones reports that Lauderdale and six other West Tennessee counties are eligible for 5% loans from the Farmers Home Administration to cover 1976 farm losses from cold weather and from summer drought conditions in all but Madison and Tipton Counties.

Other counties approved for the federal aid were Crockett, Fayette, Haywood, and Shelby.

Higher interest is charged on loans to renew crop production at pre-disaster levels.

Loan applications must show that necessary credits are not available elsewhere.

Application must be made at the F.H.A. office in the basement of the Ripley post office by April 25th for physical losses and by Nov. 22nd for production losses.

Soil District Elects

Talmage Cribfield, Jr., Pat Parker, Jr., and E. M. Steelman, Jr., were elected to the Board of Supervisors of the Lauderdale Soil Conservation District in voting Feb. 18th.

Lawn Maintenance Time

Mike Allmand, of Ripley, is planning a lawn maintenance program to begin with application of 10 to 15 pounds of 6-12-12 or 6 to 8 pounds of 13-13-13 after April 15th.

He could wait until May 1st because Bermuda does not start growing until then. Nitrogen applied now would be lost.

He will apply two pounds of ammonium nitrate or its equivalent per 1,000 square feet of lawn on June 1st and July 15th.

This amount will not cause the grass to grow too fast, re-

MORE THAN $2,000 FOR ST. JUDE, Memphis children's research hospital, was collected by 19 members of Alpha Phi Omega at the University of Tennessee in Martin as their annual wheelbarrow push passed through Lauderdale County Monday and Tuesday

MORNING STAR BAPTIST CHURCH'S NEW BUILDING at the junction of Barbee and Scott Drive in Ripley is to be dedicated in special services March 13th. Pre-dedicatory services will be held at 3 p.m. this Sunday, with Mayor Rozelle Criner and Bank of Ripley President James Fitzhugh participating. The Rev. J. E. Sullen is pastor. The church was founded in 1914, holding services in the Holly Grove Church parsonage until it occupied a tent on Watkins Lane and then a potato kiln basement on Spring St., where its current building was erected on a lot purchased from Mrs. Jessie Webster for $75. The blocks used in that construction were purchased by members at 18¢ each.

Meeting Scans Flood Control

U.S. Rep. Ed Jones and Corps of Engineers representatives from the Memphis District will attend a meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Farm Bureau Building in Trenton to discuss flood control plans for the Forked Deer and Obion Rivers.

"I certainly want to give everyone a chance to discuss the project, get a full explanation of it, first hand, and discuss any viable alternatives that they want to suggest."

"I strongly urge that anyone who is interested in the flood control project, whether they be for it or against it, attend this meeting."

Jones said invitations have gone to the offices of Gov. Ray Blanton and U.S. Sens. Howard Baker and Jim Sasser.

quiring a lot of mowing, but it will keep it in healthy condition, with good color.

Wild onions can be controlled by applying 2,4-D low volatile ester when the temperature is 60 degrees or above for three hours or more, provided there is adequate sunshine along with it.

Specific instructions on how to apply 2,4-D can be obtained on a mimeographed sheet from the County Extension Office.

Home owners can establish lawns by working 40 to 45 pounds of 6-12-12 into the soil the full depth of the seedbed to give the new seedling Bermuda a good start.

Sowing at the rate of 1/2-1 pound of seed per 1,000 square feet will give adequate coverage.

Lawns can also be established by sprigging or plugging Bermuda on three foot centers and fertilizing every two weeks to get maximum growth.

Some have successfully plugged Bermuda in rye grass and fescue in order to establish it, rather than re-disking the ground and starting over.

The seeding dates for Bermuda are between April 15th and July 1st.

Pasture Being Renovated

Franklin Keller, of Henning, wants to put clover back into his grass pasture sod. This can be done without re-establishing the whole pasture.

It results from the fescue crowding out the clover, and demonstrations have shown that renovation can increase the production of beef 100 pounds or more per acre.

The removal of excess pasture growth and the addition of lime based on a soil test are the first steps in renovation.

On thin fescue sod, a disk or spring-tooth harrow can be used to provide some furrows for the clover seed. On Bermuda sods the soil should be scratched to a 1-2 inch depth with a light disk, "doall", or spring-tooth harrow.

Another method of killing part of the stand of fescue would be to spray with a chemical called Paraquat.

Once the soil is prepared, fertilized and limed, apply two pounds per acre of Ladino, Regal, or Tillman white clover. In addition, four pounds of red clover and eight pounds of lespedeza can be added to the mixture in the spring.

Pasture management is very important, and farmers should wait six weeks before grazing renovated pastures. During the season, growth should be controlled by rotating cows to different pastures. This method has been highly successful in invigorating pastures which do not seem to be as productive as they should.

Spray Fruit Trees

Home owners with fruit trees should spray for scale insects now.

Oil emulsion applied to the manufacturer's directions will do this job, but it must be applied before the buds swell.

Peaches require a fungicide in the dormant stage for leaf curl. Liquid lime sulphur 1-10 is advised.

The use of Captan, 50% wettable powder as a fungicide, at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon, and Sevin or Malathion as an insecticide, at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon, sprayed about seven times during the season, will give reasonably effective control of diseases and insects.

These application times and spray formulations, along with other recommendations, can be obtained in Extension Publication 375.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

For the second time within a year, the International Trade Commission has recommended that the President impose tariff quotas on shoes being imported into this country from abroad. Last year the ITC made the recommendation to President Ford who, decided against imposing those commission recommendations. On Feb. 8th of this year, the commissioners re-submitted an updated recommendation to President Carter that, if adopted, would impose a tariff rate quota system on

Imported shoes for the next five years

Basis for this recommendation is that shoe imports have severely hurt the shoe manufacturing industry here at home. Shoe imports have shown a steady rising increase in volume over the past eight years. Actually, this trend began in the 1950s though significant increases did not begin occurring until 1962.

Since then imports have increased to the point where imported shoes now make up 46% of the domestic shoe market. In 1969, by comparison, the imports took up only 26% of the market. The ITC found that there is no apparent trend toward decreased shoe imports in the near future.

In essence, what this means is that shoe imports have played a significant role in the loss of jobs, loss of productivity, and the closing of some shoe manufacturing plants. In fact, the ITC found that shoe imports have been the single most important cause of injury to the shoe industry even when other factors such as the recession, a slowdown in the economy, and a loss in productivity in this country are considered.

For example, the number of firms producing footwear has declined from 597 companies in 1969 to 376 in 1975. Firms producing footwear has declined from 597 companies in 1969 to 376 in 1975. Firms producing footwear has declined from 597 companies in 1969 to 376 in 1975.

In regard to Sen. Howard Baker's remarks on television a week or so ago that he was for the Congressional pay raises because it would prevent the better qualified officials from leaving the government, this rationale I understand, will be based on the number of pairs of shoes imported in 1974. As a result, shoe imports from the Far East alone would total approximately 100 million pairs that would be allowed to enter the United States market with no more restrictions than exist right now. As a result, low

Readers Speak

In recent days there has been much emphasis upon the foul language, lusty bed scenes, and nudity on television. But now we are being attacked from a different direction as the National Broadcasting Co. will be airing a controversial six hour film designed to destroy the myths about the Lord, Jesus Christ. The film, "The Life of Christ," directed by G. Franco Zeffirelli, is scheduled to be shown in hour-long segments at Easter time over NBC-TV.

Director Zeffirelli told a news magazine reporter, "I see Jesus as an ordinary man, gentle, fragile, and simple. Of course the public is going to be annoyed that I am destroying their myths. Yet in view of the constant re-interpretation of Jesus' life and the tone of our contemporary society, I believe the changes which I have made are valid. The public has never wanted to accept Jesus as a man not only as a God, but people need a sublime image, above and beyond reality, in order to maintain their faith. He admits, "The public may be critical of my view of Jesus' life."

Bible believing Christians around the world are raising a storm of protest.

Dr. Bob Jones III, president of Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C., complained to E. M. Estes, president of General Motors: "If the film is as Director Zeffirelli says, then it is the most wicked thing to ever be shown on television. The blasphemy of humanizing Jesus and denying His deity will not help the image of General Motors. I am surprised that the company would be a party to this sort of thing. Those who love and know the Lord, Jesus Christ, God incarnate, as their personal Lord and Saviour will, I am sure, make their protest known both verbally and by spending their automobile dollars elsewhere. I beg of you to reconsider and withdraw this film from the market."

I would challenge all Bible believing Christians in this area to contact your local General Motors dealers and WMC-TV, Channel 5, 1960 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn., 38104, Ph. 901-274-8515, and let them know that you will not buy their products nor be a part of their viewing audience if this film is shown.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

Don't Kill Squirrels

Nature lovers and city officials are upset over the killing of squirrels in the city limits of Halls and officials say anyone caught killing the frisky animals will be prosecuted. Shooting firearms within the city limits is illegal.

Should Slow Down

City police are being urged to check speeding in the area of Halls schools, especially during hours when school is opening or closing. Excessive speed is especially prevalent on Sunrow Street and Circle Drive.

We're afraid that many motorists are not conscious of the danger to small children involved when vehicles are driven at more than the legal speed limit of 15 miles per hour near the schools when children are present.

New Golfer

According to reports the new Baptist pastor, The Rev. Ivy Ingalls, is a fine golfer with a handicap of two.

We congratulate the minister but wonder just what Larry Myrick, a member of the pulpit committee and certainly not that good a golfer, means in not checking more closely. It will probably prove embarrassing to every golfer in the church to have to lose to their pastor to say nothing of the embarrassment of Mr. Ingalls to continually win over the very people he must keep happy.

Incidentally, one so-called golfer, says he expects the preacher to have him playing par golf. Let's warn the poor preacher that there is no way.

Taxpayers Being Misled

Tennessee Commissioner of Revenue Jayne Woods is being quoted as stating that the state sales tax will go up unless a state income tax is passed in this session of the state legislature.

Commissioner Woods is likely to find that it is a great deal easier to make such a prediction than it will be to pass either a sales tax increase or a state income tax.

It seems likely that some efforts will be made to raise additional revenue for repair of damage to state highways by the winter freezes but we expect that other means will be found to raise the needed funds.

It seems to us that the Commissioner is trying to stampede taxpayers into supporting Gov. Ray Blanton's bid for an income tax as are some of the larger counties in the state.

Only a few if any taxpayers will pay less tax if a state income tax is enacted despite promises of tax cuts in other areas.

Brevities

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Belton and daughter, of Memphis, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Belton at Ripley and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gooch at Halls. Owen Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Robertson, of Dyersburg, is spending this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Beasley Robertson while his parents are in Hot Springs, Ark., for the horse racing.

ILLEGAL ABUSE
By SAMMY ARNOLD, Registered Ph.

Terramycin is judged to be an effective antibiotic against 90% of all diseases caused by bacteria. The amazing versatility of this particular "miracle drug" is surpassed only by the manner and speed with which it was discovered.

The progress of contemporary medicine moved so rapidly forward that it is almost beyond comprehension in terms of new ideas and just how fast they could be developed. For example, Terramycin was completely developed in a period of just ten months and this by only one of our major pharmaceutical firms.

Jiggering Takes Bass In Icy Waters

By Tony Mack

I know that a lot of reasonably knowledgeable fishermen will insist that I'm either totally insane or well soured with some over-aged Kentucky sour mash when I make this statement, but believe it or not, you can catch some good stringers of bass during really cold weather—and right here in Lauderdale County. Admittedly, bass don't eat much when the mercury plummets, but they school a lot tighter, and if you give the method I'm about to describe a concerted effort, you'll show a lure to lots of fish. And some of them will wind up in the frying pan.

For this cold weather fishing, you'll need a lure that can be worked very slowly, and while a conventional rod and reel can be employed with some success, a simple, homemade, two-buck bass rig is a better choice.

Old-timers in this part of Dixie called this unique fishing method "jiggering", although it wasn't necessarily touted as a wintertime tactic. Jiggering was, and still is, a term applied to bass fishing with a stout cane pole and a big maribou jig.

I'd be afraid to guess when and where it originated, but you can be sure that it's almost as old as bassing itself. When money for rods, reels, and commercially built lures was much harder to come by, determined bassmen had no choice but to use this or a similar method.

Years ago, an uncle, who taught me much of what I know about fishing, cut his jiggering poles from cane breaks along the Mississippi River and equipped them with lengths of heavy cord and store-bought hooks. Instead of jigs for bait, he used four-inch by one-half inch strips of rubber cut from worn out inner tubes. Jiggering this concoction around the stumps and submerged logs of Reelfoot Lake and the river bottom sloughs of northwest Tennessee proved deadly, and the heavy strings of fish he brought in gained him quite a reputation.

The advent of modern day tackle caused jiggering to become less in antiquity. Matter of fact, I had almost forgotten that it ever existed until a couple of years ago when my memory was refreshed by Tom Sain, the Halls High School teacher and custom lure-maker frequently featured in Woods and Waters columns.

I had recently moved back to Tennessee from an area in the Southwest which was abundant in big, deep, man-made impoundments, where catching cold weather bass was a relatively easy task. And it hadn't taken long for me to discover that ole linesides had a case of chronic lockjaw in the icy, shallow waters of West Tennessee.

As far as I was concerned, unless a fisherman cared to make a jaunt up to Kentucky Lake or Pickwick, he could hang up his rod once the air temperature dropped below 50. Or so it seemed.

The whole key to this winter bass business in shallow water is to keep an enticing lure in the water and work it very slowly," Sain chided me. "This

TOM SAIN DEMONSTRATES his highly successful "jiggering" techniques near Jones Fish Camp on Cold Creek. Temperature at this time was around 50°, but good fish have been taken at the same place, with identical methods, in temperatures as low as 25°.

these huge jigs tied to our cane poles," Tom says. "But after they saw the bass we were catching on them, they didn't think it was so funny."

With some degree of embarrassment, I must admit that, at the outset, I was included in that lot. "Why, I'd feel like I was fishing with a cannonball!" I chided Sain.

"No bass in his right mind would chase them, do you see?" Sain said. "But after a short demonstration near Jones' fish camp on Cold Creek, I had to eat a little crow."

Bass do chase them, do you see? Big bass, especially. They charge into these feathery "cannonballs" harder than any lure I've ever used.

Consider how a strike like that has to register on a light cane pole and a four or five foot length of monofilament, and you can imagine just how terrific this type fishing can be. Rigging a jigger pole is easy. You can use only the basics and do quite well, but by spending a few minutes, and a couple of bucks more, you can have an elaborate piece of gear, at least as far as jiggering standards go.

The basics consist of a stout cane pole, about ten feet long, a 30-foot length of 30 to 40 pound test monofilament line, and "cannonball jigs" (3/4-ounce are best), in two or three colors. The one end of the pole, near the butt of the pole, then wrap the line around the pole until a trail length of about five feet remains. Attach a jig to this by using a Palomar or improved clinch knot, and you're in business.

To make the rig easier to handle, you can add line guides to the pole. These can be formed by twisting a 3/8-inch loop in 3/4-inch lengths of small diameter wire (a large paper clip will do the trick). Be sure to include one on the terminal end of the pole. Secure them to the pole with waterproof electrical tape.

A line holder for extra line can be styled by flattening an 8-inch length of 3/8-inch copper tubing, bending the ends up at right angles, and then making a second bend at right angles to the first.

This, too, should be taped to the pole at a position you find comfortable (see photo). For the ultimate cane jigger pole, substitute the extra line holder, just described, with a salt water fly reel (for about $10) or one of the drag-equipped plastic cane reels that are available at most sporting goods stores for about $15.

Jiggering is at its best in shallow, debris-filled waters. It always try to fish around objects like stumps, cypress roots, brush, or submerged logs," says Sain. "I usually start shallow, by simply swimming the jig along very slowly, and if this fails to bring action, I'll ease the jig deeper by unspooling line and simply jigger it up and down right up next to the objects."

The adept bassman confides that it's wise to stay as quiet as possible, and for this reason, he scuttles his boat along instead of using an electric trolling motor. Stained water is better than clear for jiggering, simply because the fish are easier to sneak up on. For the same reason, water with a slight ripple is preferred over still, glassy water. And yes, the method will work through holes cut in the ice. In such cases, being extremely quiet is even more important. At times, just lowering the jig into the water and holding it there imparts enough action to catch a strike. Maribou feathers can display a remarkable amount of action in water, even without any assist from the fisherman.

Black jigs are my choice for jiggering unless the water is very clear, and then I prefer white. Most local sporting goods counters have some of Tom's "cannonballs," so they shouldn't be hard to find. Big crappie and catfish like the offering, too, so don't be afraid to give jiggering a try on these, if bass isn't your bag.

Successful jiggering lacks the elegance of fishing out of a big, flashy bass rig, using precision balanced, ball-bearing equipment, and much of the ease and comfort that goes with it. Too, putting around the waterways in freezing weather can be most uncomfortable, unless you make an extra effort to dress properly and pack along a big thermos of hot beverage.

Probably no one will rave over the remarkable ingenuity it took to manufacture your tackle, and you may even hear a remark or two about how smart you are for even being out fishing at this time of year. But let any gent fond of fish-people get a look at your stringer after you've been out jiggering some good water, and you'd better hang onto your jigger pole with both hands. He may want to fight you for it. (Tom Sain's technique of "Jiggering with Cannonball Jigs"

Weather Service Issues Tornado Safety Measures With the advent of the tornado season, Gov. Ray Blanton in cooperation with the National Weather Service is proclaiming Mar. 6th-12th as Tennessee Tornado Education Week.

At the same time the Weather Service is issuing some suggestions on tornado safety measures. When conditions which may produce tornadoes are expected to develop, Continue normal activities during a tornado watch, but be aware that there is a possibility of tornadoes. Keep listening to radio and television and take shelter if you see or hear a tornado approaching. Avoid large trees, metal poles, and other possible electrical conductors.

Mobile homes should be abandoned immediately. If there is no reinforced shelter nearby take cover in a ditch or depression. Remain in the shelter until all danger is past.

People can learn to swim easily because the average human body is slightly lighter than fresh water, and much lighter than salt water. The bitter orange was the only kind known in Europe until after 1800 A.D. It was used as a seasoning, not as a fruit.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison
As We See It
We have always been somewhat dubious of speed limits such as the 55 miles per hour limit that is supposed to be in force on the nation's highways.

The National Safety Council says that more than 27,000 lives have been saved since the 55 mph limit was established in 1974. Deaths on highways were 55,511 in 1973 but during the next three years with the speed limit in force highway deaths have dropped to 46,402 in 1974, 45,600 in 1975, and 47,100 in 1976.

The Job Picture
Another news story started us thinking on the reported an employment rate in the nation.

Statistics show that there are more people with jobs than ever before with the figure climbing all of the time. This would seem to indicate that the population growth and entry into the job field who had not previously sought employment is the major factor in the high unemployment rate.

A Major Blow
There is some thought going through government circles to add 15¢ to 25¢ per gallon tax on gasoline in an effort to cut down on the use of energy.

CONTEMPORARY USE
ILLEGAL ABUSE
By SAMMY ARNOLD, Registered Ph.
HALLUCINOGENICS
Some of the most dangerous drugs, by far, to ever come into the hands of illegal drug abusers, would be the mind-altering hallucinogenics.

There are several on the drug market: L.S.D. (lysergic acid diethylamide), mescaline, psilocybin, and S.T.P. (serenity, tranquility, and peace), to name a few.

HENNING LANDMARK AND FIRE TRUCK BURN—A 4-hour blaze which broke out in the 3-story Raines Hotel in Henning during a rainstorm about 10 p.m. last Friday also claimed the city's 1952 model fire truck when the wind shifted. Ripley and Fort Pillow firemen, who helped fight the blaze, are providing temporary protection. The frame hotel, bought by the Raines family from the Turners in 1922, became a rest home in 1969. It was sold about five years ago to Mr. and Mrs. Bill York, who resided there but had left last Friday for Indianapolis, Ind., leaving no one in the house.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN BATTLING RAIN AND FLAMES were able to save two neighboring homes, to which Mayor B. G. Graves estimated damage at $10,000. Heat broke windows in three stores across the street—old U.S. Highway 51.

Park Is Needed

It is unfortunate that some of the residents in the area of the proposed new park are unhappy with the location of the park.

We hope that city officials and the objecting citizens will be able to work out their difference to the satisfaction of each person concerned.

Such a park has been badly needed in Halls for many years and will prove to be an asset in bringing additional industry.

We can readily understand some of the objections that have been raised but adequate planning by the city should alleviate these doubts.

We know of no other available site as well suited for a park as the seventeen acres which the town has under option.

If each side will approach with open minds there should be no reason why the park cannot be completed for use by all citizens of Halls.

Pet Peeves

From time to time we list some of our pet peeves, usually with very little apparent results.

Some of the things that upset us include such actions as the move by the Food and Drug Administration to outlaw saccharin as a sugar substitute.

As it happens we neither like nor use saccharin but nevertheless any danger involved would seem very remote if as stated a person would have to consume as many as 800 twelve ounce bottles of diet drinks each day in order to consume the amount that caused cancer in rats.

To compound the felony, it seems probable that the FDA will rule that saccharin can be prescribed by doctors and sold over the drug counter. The FDA would do well to spend more time on the pure food and drug aspects of their job.

Another pet peeve is the driver who drives in the left lane a few feet behind a vehicle in the right lane, thus preventing passing, some times driving as slowly as 30 to 35 miles per hour. Others are drivers who fail to turn on their headlights at dusk, thus creating an additional driving hazard.

Flashing colored lights along streets and highways are a constant annoyance and actually a possible cause of accidents.

There are many, many more but these are the peeves that come to mind at this time. You will notice that we did not mention uptown parking. There is hope that this situation can be remedied in the near future.

OVERWEIGHT?

As Featured in Consumer Guide's "Rating The Diets" And McCall's "Best Diets And Exercises," April, 1976
QUIET DIET REVOLUTION HAS REACHED LAUDERDALE COUNTY...
It is creating a loud noise in communities in Tennessee recently introduced to NaturSlim. In just one month, pharmacist John Casey, of Memphis, lost 21 pounds. Miss Pat, lost 11 pounds. Mrs. Billie Taylor, of Tremble, lost 10 pounds. Elizabeth Cole, of Bolivar, lost 13 pounds, and pharmacist Max Mitchell, of Memphis, lost 12 pounds in just two weeks!

They are lying proof that NaturSlim really works. If you are sincere about losing weight. All this plus having more energy and vitality than ever before. In only a few months, literally thousands of Tennessee have been introduced to NaturSlim, a 100% natural program, which, unlike so many around, requires no meetings to attend, no exercises, no drugs or shots, and best of all, no hunger pangs. According to Mr. Wardlaw Steele, representative for the program in West Tennessee, the key to the program is a powder used twice a day to make a variety of milkshakes. These provide two high protein meals and allow the user to eat almost anything he or she wants for dinner. Also provided are vitamins necessary to maintain some of the required daily needs. The one-pound can supplies two meals a day for a whole month. The milkshakes are made with one tablespoon of the NaturSlim powder combined with eight ounces of low fat milk or unsweetened fruit juice. Extracts, honey, or artificial sweeteners can also be added according to taste. The ingredients are all combined in an electric blender or shaker jar for several minutes. Recipes include such tasty combinations as mocha, banana, chocolate, coffee, Jell-O, yogurt, juice, and diet soda. The unusual part of the program, says Mr. Steele, is that there are almost no restrictions on the third meal of the day, which can consist of many of the so-called "forbidden foods." Perhaps this is what has attracted so many residents to the program in such a short time.

Mr. Steele states that another reason the program has had such a tremendous response is that there are no weekly meetings, no criticism from an instructor, and no fees nor penalties. No wild promises of overnight miracles, just the belief that you can win out starving yourself. Further, the diet is tasty, economical (only 36¢ per meal), and the main meal is like that of non-dieters. It is the first time the food, manufactured in California, has been available here in Tennessee, but it has been sold in Chicago and New York for over eight years. As it is introduced throughout the country, users in each community number in the thousands.

Mrs. Williams Is Honored With Baby Shower

Mrs. J. W. Warren, Jr., and Mrs. Kenneth L. Rone honored Mrs. Frank Williams, of Arlington, with a pink and blue shower Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bob Poindexter on South College in Halls. Arrangements of spring flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the house. The hostesses presented the honoree with a cute corsage of baby socks and an embroidered stuffed green gingham bear. She also received many other pretty and useful gifts.

The twenty-three guests enjoyed games and were served delicious cup cakes decorated with iced spring flowers in pastel colors, nuts, and frosted Coke. The cakes were made by Mrs. Rone's mother, Mrs. Steve Atkinson.

Special guests included Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. Mary Elmore, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Milton Williams, both of Halls, her sister, Mrs. Jimmy Lanier, of Dyersburg, Mrs. Oscar Griggs, Miss Ann Griggs, Mrs. Joe Griggs, and Mrs. Ben Williams, all of Ripley.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Last week the House of Representatives passed a new package of ethics codes that are designed to place stronger standards on outside income earned by members of Congress and put an end to some of the discrepancies that have surfaced in the conduct of official business in recent years. Actually, the work on this ethics package began last July when the Commission of Administration Review was established under the leadership of Chairman David Obey, of Wisconsin. The bill voted on by the House last week was the result of many weeks of work by the Commission which was made up of six members of Congress and seven members from the general public.

Generally, the bill requires full disclosure of outside income earned by members of Congress, but it also placed a fixed amount on how much outside income can be earned by a member of Congress each year. It also requires full disclosure of gifts, holdings, and debts.

In addition, it will prohibit the acceptance of gifts aggregating over $100 per year from persons or organizations with a direct interest in legislation before the Congress. It will also prohibit lame duck travel by members of Congress who have been defeated for re-election or who retire from the Congress. This problem received considerable attention last fall when it was determined that some members of Congress who would not be returning in January had travelled overseas at taxpayer expense.

Another practice that will be prohibited will be the use of unofficial office accounts. These accounts are used in about 40% of House offices and come from private contributions. They are used to publish news letters and cover other office expenses not covered by official allowances. These types of funds, which are not officially reported, will be prohibited. In addition, the publication of news letters printed with private funds will not be considered frankable mail.

One provision of the bill which received a great deal of attention and discussion was the section that limits outside earned income of members of Congress to 15% of their salaries. An amendment to the bill was submitted to strike that section but the amendment was rejected. Additionally, honorarium for speeches by a member of Congress was limited to $750 per speech though an amendment was submitted and rejected to increase that amount.

This package of ethical standards will greatly strengthen the standards that have existed for a number of years. I was quite pleased to see the Obey Commission come up with such a constructive and detailed proposal to accomplish this goal. I was also pleased to learn that Mr. Obey and his commission members had gone to such lengths to determine how the general public felt about ethics reform and what members of Congress themselves felt needed to be done.

This particular proposal was only the second part of administrative reform recommended by the Commission. In future issues, I will report on the other parts of the package.

"Acid, instant insanity, freak out, peyote, trips and bad trips" are just a few insidious terms associated with L. S. D. and other mind-altering drugs.

L. S. D. has been tested in legitimate medical practice on a limited scale in the treating of chronic alcoholism and acute mental confusion. The side effects were so dangerous and unpredictable however, that now its use has been restricted to areas of research and biomedical studies.

The symptoms of L. S. D. use parallel those of marijuana but are more severe. L. S. D. increases pulse and heart rate, causes irregular breathing, high blood pressure and temperatures, nausea, chills, and loss of appetite. Let it alone!

National Week Hails Farmer

By Charles T. Peal

Farm people are being recognized nationally during Agriculture Week.

They hold a unique position where food is concerned. Farmers live the human food chain full circle—from crop planting to the fruit, meat and potatoes you eat for dinner.

Though farmers compose only 3.6% of the population, they spent $1.8 billion dollars for production goods and services during 1975. Average expenditures per farm worked out to $29,172.

The biggest output went for feed, which claimed 12.3 billion dollars, or just over 15% of all expenditures.

Seeds and plants, fertilizer, lime, soil conditioners, and agricultural chemicals cost producers 1.4 billion dollars.

In addition they made purchases of non-farm items such as food, clothing, housing, education, health services, and taxes.

Efficient use of powerful machines and fuels, plus chemicals and fertilizers, have allowed farmers to increase productivity per man hour more than 3.3 times in 20 years.

That's a growth rate twice as fast as that in manufacturing.

Every farm worker now supplies 56 people with food. In addition, at least one-third of all people employed in this country are working in an agriculture related industry.

There is no doubt that agriculture is the biggest business in the United States.

Control Alfalfa Weevils

Recent fast, tender growth of alfalfa will be very inviting to the alfalfa weevil, the most destructive insect for this crop.

Weevils occur every year and unless controlled, destroy the first cutting.

Activity of these insects can be somewhat lessened by cool weather, but farmers cannot depend on that.

Damage by the small, green worms becomes noticeable near the middle of April, being first seen in the growing tips. Weevils can be controlled with insecticidal sprays.

Timing of application is important, so regular checks of fields must be made.

When 40% of plant tips show feed signs, control applications should be made, using 20 to 30 gallons of water per acre.

Materials such as Guthion, Furadan, Alfa-tox, Malathion, and Methoxychlor can be effective on this insect.

Set Strawberries Now

Strawberries are delicious for fresh use, making pies, freezing, or preserving as jams and jellies. They can be grown easily in gardens and other patches around the farm.

A thoroughly prepared bed, slightly raised, will give better results.

Fertilizer at the rate of 4 pounds of 13-13-13 per 100 feet of row will get the plants off to a good start.

Home gardeners may desire to plant their strawberries about 12 inches in the row in order to get a quicker mat on the bed.

The first year, blossoms should be removed from newly set plants in order to promote increased plant vigor and runner production.

Cultivation can either be with a hoe or the use of the herbicide Deqthol. This pre-emergent weed killer will keep your strawberries clean all season but will need to be re-applied about September to discourage winter grass and weed germination.

Diseases can be controlled by using a new material called Benlate.

Fertilize Bass-Bluegill Ponds

Properly fertilized bass-bluegill ponds will yield four times the fish production of unfertilized ponds.

You should start fertilizing your fish pond by March 15th, with three applications at the rate of two 40-pound bags of 20-20-5 per acre at one week intervals, until a good color develops in the pond. Place the fertilizer in water less than six feet deep.

Make additional applications of one bag of fertilizer per acre every three or four weeks, or when the water clears (becomes more green) so you can see deeper than 15 inches into the water.

Halls Conducts Special Census

The City of Halls stands to gain several thousand dollars in additional state revenue sharing funds if a special census by the Halls Jaycettes indicates that the city population has increased by several hundred persons, as city officials expect.

Beginning this Friday, Jaycettes are scheduled to visit every home in Halls. The most important information they will request is the names of those living in each home.

Other questions may be answered on a voluntary basis but are not vital to the collection of census information.

"Even though people are not required to answer all these other questions, we hope they will co-operate," says Mayor Sammy Arnold.

"The 1970 census indicated that we had a population of 2,323, but we think our population has grown to about 2,800."

"We would receive $30 in revenue sharing funds for each additional person."

"That could mean another $15,000 a year in the city treasury."

The other questions include age, race, sex, and occupations of residents, family incomes, and whether the home has plumbing and heating facilities.

Jaycettes will also ask the number of rooms in the house, whether it is connected to a central sewer line, and the number of handicapped persons residing there.

They will ask whether the family owns or rents the home, where they do most of their shopping, and in what city they receive most of their medical care.

This information will update statistics for use in grant applications and planning studies.

Arnold says the census will be certified by the State Planning Office later this spring.

OLIVE BRANCH REVIVAL

Singing featuring the Crusaders and the New Life Singers at 2 p.m. Sunday begins a revival in Olive Branch Baptist Church at Luckett.

The Rev. Bobby Gaines, new pastor of Curve Baptist Church, is evangelist in 7:30 p.m. services March 27th-April 2nd, with a concluding service at 10 a.m. April 3rd.

Special music and nursery services are planned nightly. The public is invited to attend.

REVIVAL AT ELIM

Paul Wayne Newman will speak at 7:30 p.m. this Friday, and Joe B. O'Steen in 10 a.m. Sunday services as laymen lead a revival in Elim Baptist Church at Orsya. There will be special music. The Rev. Jimmy Clay, pastor, invites the public.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Lynn Clement, of Route 6, Ripley, a son, March 17th in Lauderdale County Hospital.

SERVICES IN RIPLEY HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM at 11 a.m. Sunday—under the nets where 'Coy Lee' was a basketball star—drew 2,500 mourners for McCord Lee Springfield, 23, Memphis police officer slain while answering a call March 12th. About 1,000 saw him buried in St. Matthew Cemetery, after the flag covering his coffin was folded and handed to his daughter, Monette Lacy, 6, of Halls. Springfield, son of Joe and Carolyn, of Chicago, Ill., his step-mother, Mrs. Betty Springfield, of Ripley, a step-sister, and two step-sisters. Attending services were Memphis officials led by Mayor Wyeth Chandler, who arrived in an Anderson-Tully helicopter; a motorcade of 40 cars of Memphis policemen; and many police chiefs, sheriffs, and Highway Patrol leaders. Judge C. S. Carney's $100 gift has launched a memorial fund for Springfield. Gifts go to Milton Robinson, treasurer, 171 Barbee, Ripley.

Collision Kills Ewell Binkley

Ewell Anthony Binkley, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Binkley, of Henning, was fatally injured Sunday when pickup trucks collided head-on on a curve atop a hill on Highway 87A, seven miles west of Henning, according to Highway Patrolman Scott White.

The other driver, Robert W. Willey, 38, of Brighton, was treated in Lauderdale County Hospital and sent to Memphis for plastic surgery.

Services for the victim were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Ripley Church of Christ, with burial in Poplar Grove Cemetery at Henning.

He also leaves his grandparents, Mrs. Ida Binkley, of Henning, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bahannon, of Ripley, and two brothers, Barney and Robbie, of Henning.

Veronica Gardner Champion Speller

For the third straight year, a Halls student captured the county Spelling Bee crown in the courtroom of the courthouse in Ripley Tuesday evening.

Veronica Gardner, fifth grader, won a $25 Savings Bond and a spot in the Mid-South Bee in Tech High School in Memphis April 29th.

Cathy Johnson, Henning eighth grader, won $10, and Sharon Sellers, Curve eighth grader, won $5 for second and third places.

Other contestants were eighth graders Janna McMurray, of Grace Christian School, Donna Rivera, of Central School, and Gregg White, of Lauderdale Academy; seventh graders Betsy Hoff, of Halls Junior High School, and Rachel Jackson, of Ripley Junior High School; sixth grader Tim Menkaus, of Ripley Middle School; and fifth grader Wanda Johnson, of Henning Middle School.

Mrs. Frances Winslow was pronouncer.

Mrs. Gannelle McBride, J. H. Rochelle, and Tim Rogers were judges.

Banks of the county furnished prize money.

Readers Speak

I would like to inform you, your employees, and the people of this town the correct spelling of the plant, Cannabis sativa, commonly known as marijuana. I have read your paper and discovered the word "marijuana" spelled with an "h" instead of a "j." Marijuana is a two-syllable word, and the "j" is silent.

It just goes to show how much the people of Lauderdale County know about marijuana.

JOHNNY JOHNSON
112 W. Jackson, Ripley

Editor Replies:

Thanks for your interest, and for your very close readership, but you need to consult a good dictionary.

The most widely accepted authority on correct English spelling—Merriam-Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition—accepted either spelling, but the "j" is correct.

But the Third Edition assigns both spellings equal acceptability for indicating that "marijuana" has gained ground.

Since the word's origin is Spanish, we prefer the Spanish form "marijuana" and try to use that spelling in our columns.

All dictionaries and preferences aside, however, there is a very good reason—as for most newspaper practices which people are quick to lay to stupidity or malice—for not reporting that someone has been charged with possession of "marijuana." For the simple reason: They haven't.

They've been charged with possessing marijuana, with an "h," because that is the crime specified in the law (see Tennessee Code Annotated Sec. 52-1422), and that's how it appears on court records, and that is the records we report.

It would be inaccurate—possibly libelous—to report a charge of the possession of marijuana, which isn't a crime in Tennessee. The crime is possession of marijuana, by definition of the state legislature—however we prefer to spell it.

It just goes to show, J.J., that one has to be careful about knowing things that ain't so.

We all do this too often, and the editor is as guilty of it as anyone—but not this once—Ed.

WHERE IN THE WORLD?

A QUIZ TO TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE OF GEOGRAPHY AND CURRENT EVENTS

Where is this city of famous firsts? CLUES: This city hosted the nation's first Republican convention, which began Feb. 22, 1856 in its Lafayette Hall. The first World Series game was played here in 1903 at Exposition Park on the North Side. Its home team beat the Boston Red Sox to become the first world champs. In 1858, C.G. Hussey built America's first tinsmith mill in this city and ironworker William Kelly invented modern steelmaking in 1865 and built the first Bessemer converter. Dr. Jonas Salk discovered polio vaccine here in 1955. And, in 1958, the city became the first city to be lighted by atomic power. It came from the world's first full-scale nuclear plant, dedicated at nearby Shippingport that year. Point Park fountain is the city's most recent first. Completed in 1974, it features the first use of water continuously circulating through a subterranean river.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

The First Amendment

After more than 45 years as a newspaper reporter and editor we are becoming more and more disillusioned with some interpretations of the First Amendment and the manner in which it is used by some newspaper columnists and TV and radio commentators.

It seems that many think that the First Amendment gives them complete immunity from all responsibility. They believe themselves to be licensed to make any accusation they wish whether based on fact or hearsay, to steal or use any other means available to secure the so-called news with complete freedom from decent restraint.

Through the years we have been taught and have always felt that is the responsibility of any newspaper and its reporters to publish the news as it happens, to make every possible effort to determine the true facts, and to restrain any inclination to slant the news.

As most of you know we write this column each week with the full understanding that this is strictly the editor's own thoughts and are our editorial comments on matters of interest to our readers.

No news reporter, whether national or local, has the right to destroy reputations with impunity, to report accusations which cannot be substantiated but a Supreme Court ruling a few years ago has seemed to grant this privilege. Failure to abide by the tenets of good news reporting is a violation of the first principal of news reporting and a travesty on the First Amendment.

Census Is Important

During the next few days citizens of Halls will be called upon to answer a number of questions as city officials try to determine the true population of Halls. Many of the questions you need not answer, but co-operation with the census takers could possibly bring more tax dollars back to Halls.

More Pet Peeves

The old grooves is again voicing some of his pet peeves that probably are annoying to most persons. One of our special peeves are the motorcycles running up down the streets without mufflers. City officials have said they plan to crack down on these cyclists. We hope so!

Another aggravation is the habit of the city garbage truck of parking in the center of the street while loading rather than pulling to one side. Also annoying are cars parked opposite each other on streets that are just barely wide enough for two cars to begin with and impassable when a few cars are parked on either side of the street.

We can think of many more pet peeves but we will save some for another time.

Complete Course In Management

Halls Mayor Sammie Arnold, Recorder Katie Lee Davis, and Paula Phillips have recently completed a ten weeks course in Small Town Management at Jackson State Community College. The course, three hours each week, was taught by Tom Spools, of Municipal Technical Advisory Service and The University of Tennessee. The Halls bookkeeping and budget system was used as a model in one area of the course with Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Phillips outlining and explaining the procedures involved. Broccoli is one of the best sources of vitamins, iron, potassium and riboflavin. And it has few calories.

SMALL APPLIANCES ARE SMALL USERS OF ENERGY

Data developed by the appliance industry is helping consumers make energy-wise decisions when they buy new toasters, irons, and other small appliances.

All appliances use only two per cent of the national energy total, but Americans will purchase more than 165 million new ones this year.

"Manufacturers of portable appliances have developed average energy-consumption estimates product by product in the belief that people will buy energy-efficient appliances if they have information on which to base valid comparisons," says LaVerne Farmer, University of Tennessee Extension home management specialist.

The estimates cover more than 40 small appliances - from electric can openers which use only 3/10 of one kilowatt hour of electricity in a year to toasters and irons. Owned by virtually every U.S. family, these appliances use 30 and 60 kilowatt hours per year, respectively. This represents only $3-4 of the average family's annual household energy bill of $500-1000 or more.

Important Notice To Dog Owners

All dog owners are hereby notified that the "Tennessee Anti-Rabies Law," as passed by the 1957 legislature and approved by the Lauderdale County Court, will be enforced throughout the county.

This law requires that all dogs in the county be vaccinated by a licensed veterinarian and licensed at the County Trustee's office on or before the first day of May, 1977, and of each year thereafter, paying a county license fee of One Dollar ($1.00) for each dog owned, kept, or harbored.
