Schools Seek Nelson Land

The Board of Education is meeting Thursday evening with the County Court's school construction committee to discuss buying 146 acres from the Estate of T. L. Nelson on which to build a new Ripley school for grades kindergarten through six.

The property is located west of Ripley High School, west of South Washington and north of Kellar.

The proposal is on the agenda for Monday's County Court session, as are new roofs for the old RHS gym and for Ripley Middle Grade School.

Halls Mayor Sammie Arnold is scheduled to request the county to develop an airport on the old Halls air base, which has 6,200 foot runway, 1,200 feet longer than Dyersburg's and 196 feet longer than Jackson's.

Arnold says the state Bureau of Aeronautics engineer Chuck Boyer will visit the base Friday to prepare cost estimates.

He says the TBA will finance half the cost, expected to run $50,000 to $60,000.

If the county declines to develop the airport, Arnold says it will be asked to turn the strip over to Halls for development at its own expense.

Monday's court session will hear requests from the county Extension committee to fund an additional assistant Extension agent to work with large-scale row crop farmers.

Sheriff Joe B. O'Steen will request a replacement car and a law enforcement investigator and car.

11 LPN Grads Will Hear MD

Dr. A. J. Butler, Jr., of Ripley, will address a graduating class of 11 licensed practical nurses in exercises at 7 p.m. this Thursday in First Assembly of God Church.

Graduates are Bernadine Baltimore, Linda Fay Burnett, Linda Marshall Coker, Dorothy Gail Escue, Phyllis Haley, Rosa Ingram Phipps, Ellen Sue Pratt, Eddie Sue Reese, Shirley H. Washington, Patricia S. Wilson, and Elizabeth N. Yarbro.

Jerry Little, superintendent of the state Area Vocational-Technical School, which conducts the training, and Richard Hume, administrator of Lauderdale County Hospital, will participate in the ceremonies Thursday.

Academy Sets Carnival, Fair

Lauderdale Academy will hold a crafts fair Nov. 5th and 6th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry McWilliams on new Highway 51 north of Halls.

The event will include a turkey shoot Sunday afternoon. Lunch will be served both days.

The fair will feature articles crafted from wood, tinware, ceramics, and other craft products.

The academy plans a spaghetti supper and Halloween carnival in its building at Durhamville-Orysa Oct. 29th, with $1.50 and $1 admission fees.

Features will include a bake sale, Bingo, a fish pond, a treasure hunt, and a car bash.

Jaycees Restore Tiny Knee Bowl

The Ripley Jaycees, with a membership of 84, are reviving the Tiny Knee Bowl game in Ripley Nov. 12th, with teams picked from the old Big Ten Conference.

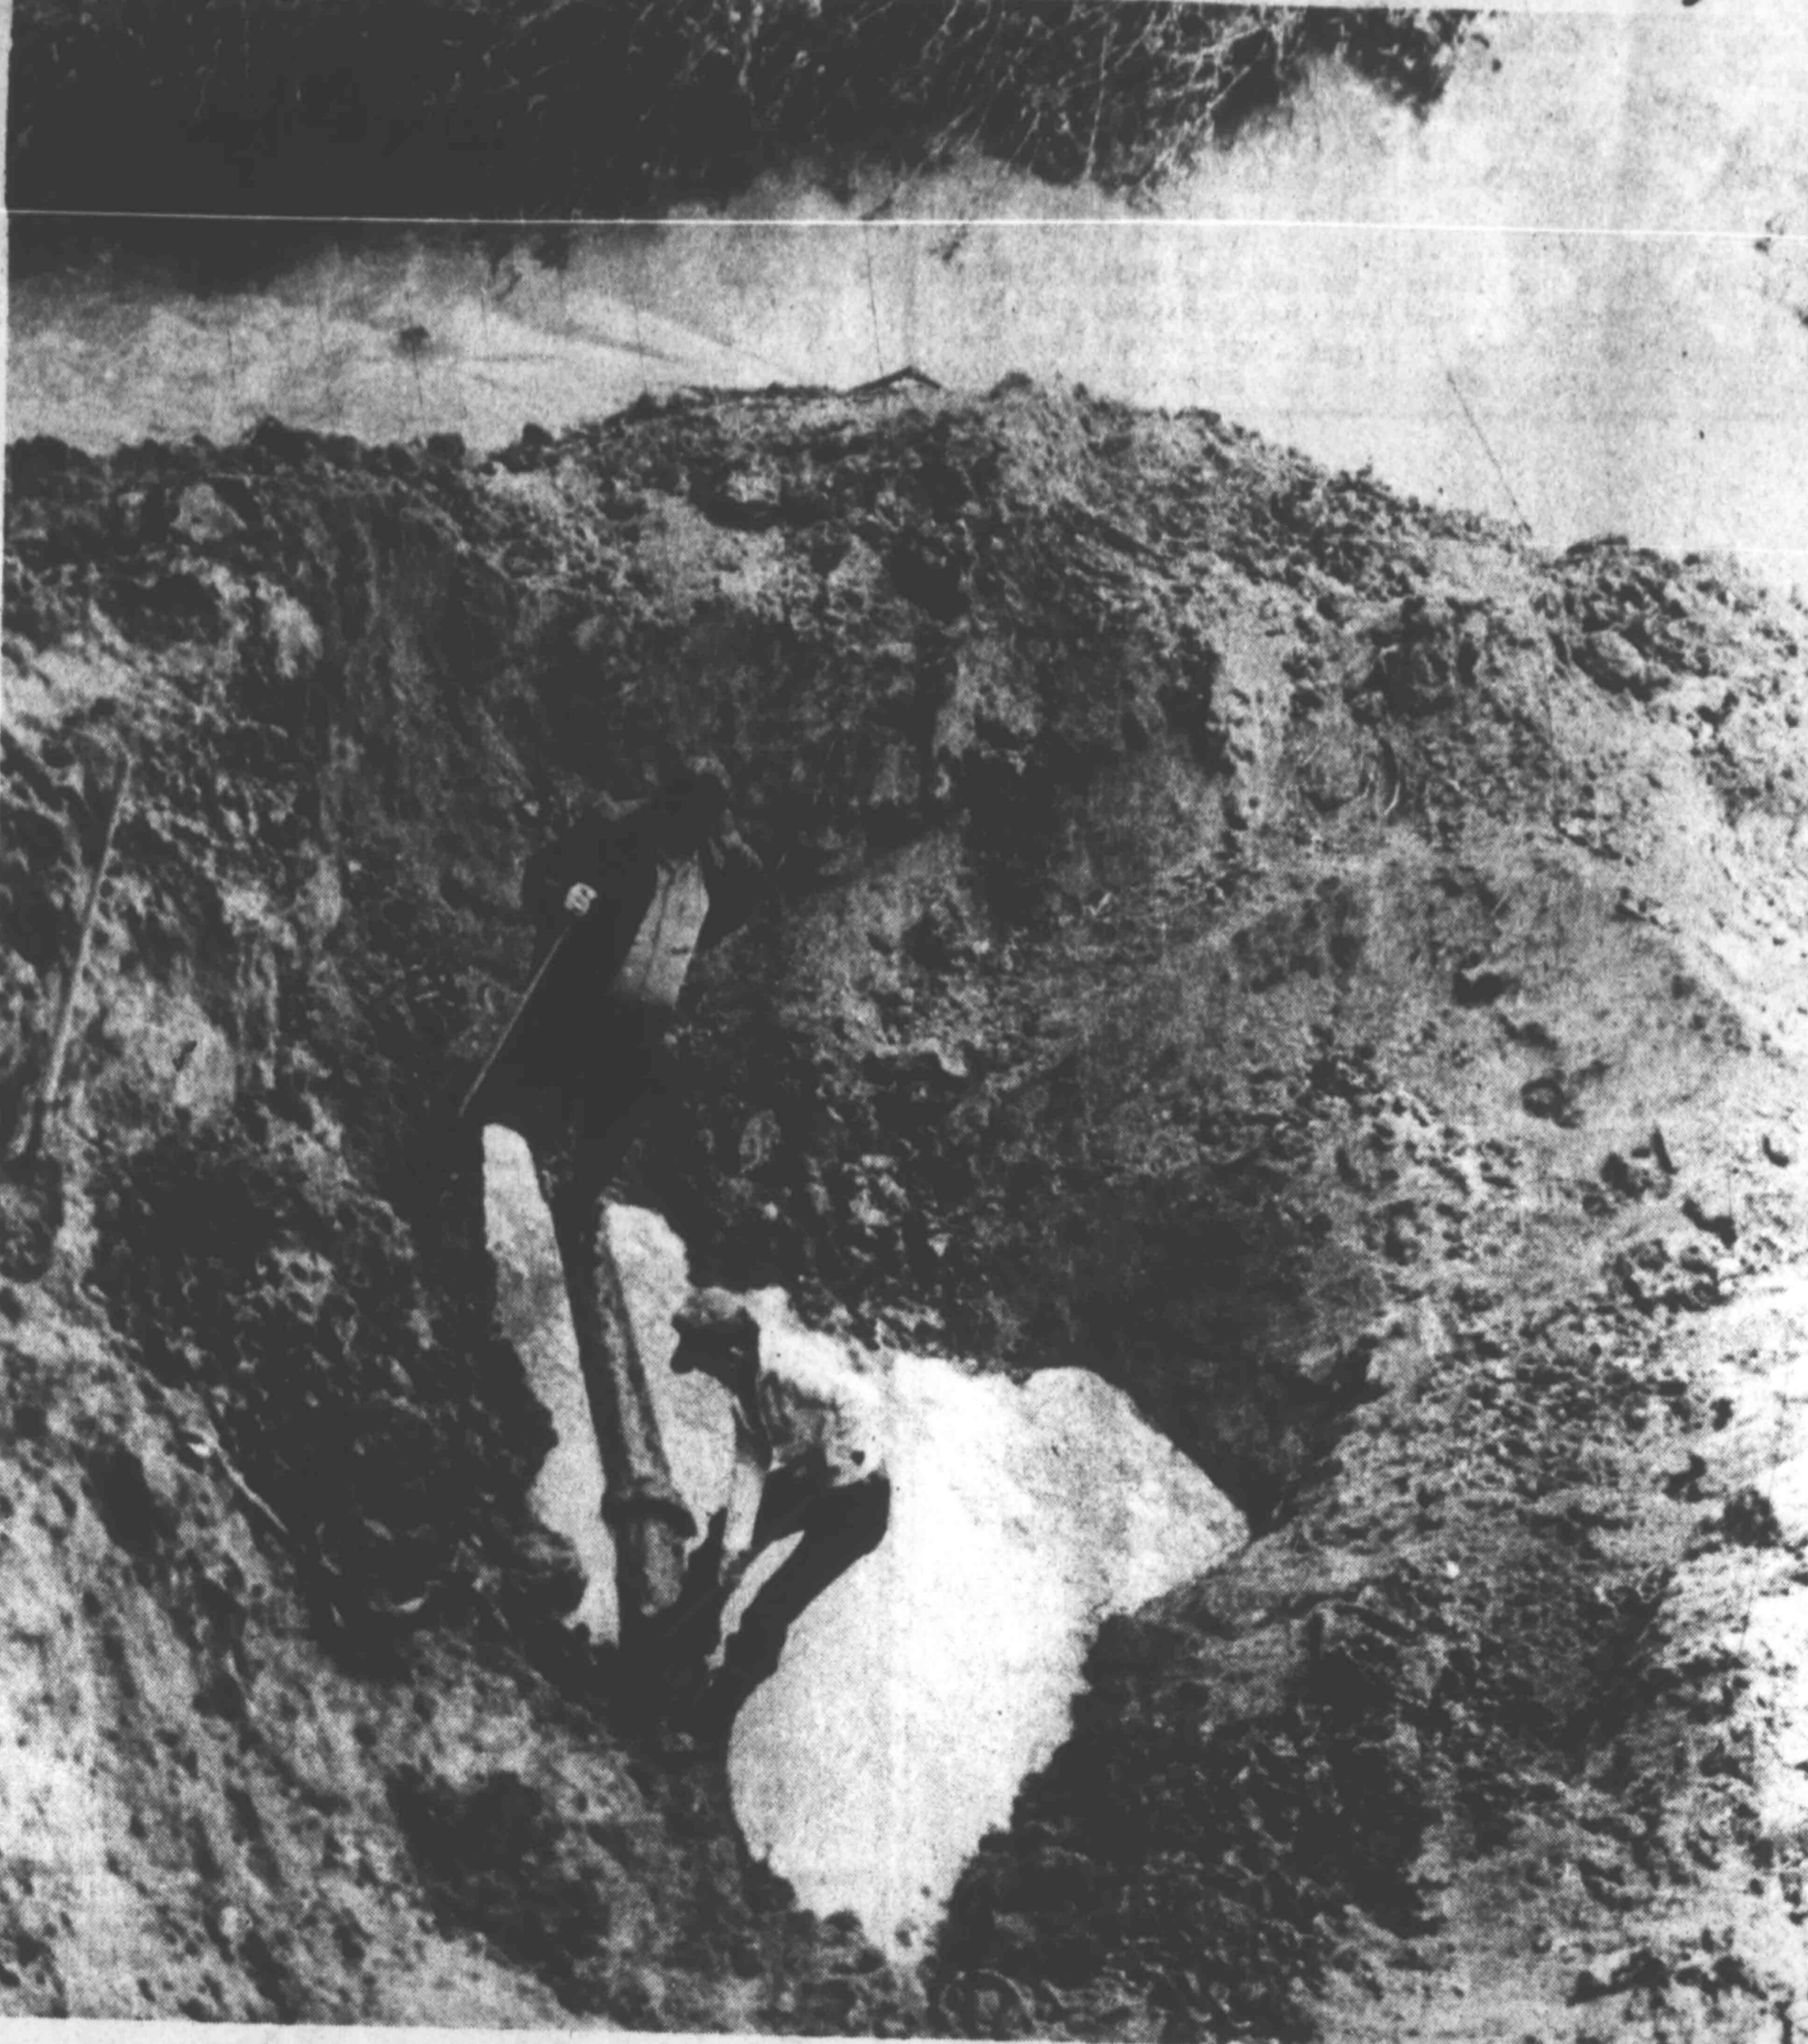

Health Unit Asks Citizens To Visit

Lauderdale County's public health unit, west of the Lauderdale County Hospital, is inviting visits by interested citizens Monday through Friday of this week, which is Public Health Week, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

This is the centennial year of public health work in the state. The county unit was established in 1926.

It has a full-time staff of 18,

Main Break Left Industrial Park Dry

10-INCH MAIN FAILURE about 7 a.m. Sunday at Cane Creek, on old Highway 51 north of Ripley, left the north industrial park without a water connection to the city for most of the day, until workmen of Childress Construction Co. rushed repair.

Band Trying Milan Again

The Ripley High School Marching Band loads up again this Saturday for a second attempt to participate in Milan High's second annual Invitational Marching Band Festival.

En route, the band will compete at Jackson South Side at 11:30 a.m.

The Milan event, slated Saturday before last, was delayed by two inches of rain.

Rain stopped before 3 p.m., when the downtown parade was scheduled, but Johnny Hale Stadium, where marching competition was set for 6:30 p.m., had an inch and a half of water on the field.

Milan band director Pete Evans and festival chairman Bill Welch conferred with weathermen at McKellar Airport near Jackson and with school officials and threw in the towel about 11 a.m.

All of the 22 bands en route were turned around except the one traveling the farthest—Tullahoma's, which arrived in three buses at 11:30 a.m.

All 22 bands agreed to return this Saturday except Tullahoma—because of its high cost of travel—and Lone Oak.

The Dyer County High band has been added to the original invites.

The University of Tennessee Marching Pacer Band will perform as guest band.

Stadium gates will open at 5:30 p.m. Admission fee is $2.

with periodic visits by specialists such as audiologists, nutritionists, and workers for the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) program.

A normal week's schedule includes these services: Monday—Tuberculosis clinic, blood pressure clinic, immunizations.

Tuesday—WIC, the supplemental food program for children five and under, expectant mothers, and mothers who have just delivered and are considered nutrition risks.

Wednesday—Family planning and venereal disease clinic.

Thursday—Screening, diagnosis, and treatment program for those under 21; also WIC.

Friday—Family planning clinic and dental program.

Espey's Park Killers Held On Bogus Money Charges

Charles A. Agee, 42, of Halls, and Oakley Elmore, 54, of Friendship—convicted of manslaughter in the death of Ernest Don Lents, 29, of Halls, in a scuffle at Espey's Park, near Halls, Aug. 10, 1975—have pleaded innocent to federal charges of possessing and selling $100 in counterfeit $20 bills.

A Circuit Court jury convicted the men here on March 16, 1976. Elmore, sentenced to two to ten years for voluntary manslaughter, was furloughed from Fort Pillow State Prison Farm on May 8, 1977, and was recommended on Sept. 13th for parole.

The federal indictments say he and two other defendants had $1,200 worth of bogus money ten days before he began serving his sentence and sold counterfeit bills in July, only two months after his release.

Agee, found guilty of involuntary manslaughter, was sentenced to 11 months and 29 days in the county jail. He was released eight months and 29 days later.

Also indicted were Damon East, 35, of Dyersburg, and a female accomplice not yet identified.

East's wife, Patricia, 29, was named a co-conspirator but not a defendant.

Knee Pageant: 29 Competing

Silver bowls await the queen and two maids who will be chosen from 29 entries in a Tiny Knee Pageant at 7 p.m. Oct. 18th in the Little Theatre of Ripley High School.

Mrs. Willard Knee, widow of Tiny Knee, beloved RHS coach, will crown the winner of casual wear competition, with girls judged on poise, beauty, and ability to speak to crowds. Sylvia Akin is pageant chairman.

1st Federal Asks Branch In Halls

Ripley's First Federal Savings and Loan Association has applied to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board for permission to open a branch office in Halls.

A location at the intersection of Main and Church Sts. is contemplated.

Home-Coming Set At Dry Hill

Dry Hill Assembly of God Church will observe homecoming Sunday, with services beginning at 10 a.m., luncheon at the church, and singing at 2 p.m. featuring the Chapelaires, of Humboldt.

COCHRAN AGENT HERE

A representative of Frank Cochran, of the state Public Service Commission, will be available to the public from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the courthouse in Ripley to discuss problems with any utility regulated by the Commission.

Youth, 19, Held In Shaw Death

Billy Ray Williams, 19, of Route 1, Alamo, was indicted by the grand jury Monday for second degree murder in the fatal stabbing at 10 p.m. Saturday of Teddy Shaw, 40, of Route 2, Ripley, an employee of Curve Gin Co., in Holloway's Cafe on East Washington St. in Ripley.

Officers said Shaw killed Williams' uncle years ago.

Also indicted Monday were Daniel Thomas Hill, for escape from Fort Pillow State Prison Farm and armed robbery of John E. Procter, Jr., June 23rd.

Ellis and Romelia Smith, for aiding escape from the prison of Sam Lewis Smith, June 30th.

Sam Lewis Smith, for the escape.

Johnny Hemby, for involuntary manslaughter in the death of his child, and for aggravated assault.

Richard M. Williams, for three violations of the bad check law.

Don Crowder, for assault and for injuring and defacing a building.

Herman Vaughn, for distributing a controlled substance.

Willie R. Bradford, for three violations of the bad check law.

Gilbert Coleman, for felonious jail escape and for forgery and passing forged papers.

Homer Wynes, for larceny, three counts.

Steve Estes, for violating the registration law and driving without a license.

Danny Patrick, for injuring personal property, two counts; defacing personal property; assault and battery; and three

Indictments Include 4 For Prison Slaying

The county grand jury Monday indicted four Fort Pillow State Prison Farm inmates for the fatal stabbing Thursday of last week of Memphis' "Southern gentleman" robber.

James Marvin Terrell, 29, barber for prison employees, left the barber shop at 11 a.m. for his lunch break. He was found dead in his bunk in an honor dormitory on the basement level of the main prison Warden Robert Moore—whose hair Terrell had often cut in the job paying $20 per month, plus tips—said Terrell was not in the dormitory at noon, when guard shifts changed.

He said there had been a struggle, with about 35 of the dormitory's capacity of 50 men present.

"There were abrasions on the body," Moore said, "and he was not asleep at the time he was stabbed."

Wounds, apparently from a knife, were on each side of the neck. The Tennessee Bureau of Identification requested an autopsy in Memphis.

Moore said one prisoner said Terrell was slain because of a small debt he had not repaid—that he pleaded, "Don't do it," before he was beaten and stabbed, and that the knife was later hidden in a trash can. Search of garbage did not discover a knife.

Indicted Monday for first degree murder were Billy Charles Anderson, 25, of Hamilton County, sentenced May 1, 1975, to ten years for robbery with a deadly weapon; James Thomas Eads, 30, of Oneida, sentenced Oct. 15, 1970, to 50 years for robbery with a deadly weapon; Daniel Joseph Underwood, 27, of Dayton, sentenced March 3, 1976, to five to 15 years for robbery; and Jimmy Lee Wilson, 27, of Clarksville, sentenced Sept. 8, 1976, to six to 13 years for forgery and passing forged instruments.

Terrell held $2,000 to $3,000. He tucked it under the seat.

Chatting in the post office with Terry Ford, of the Enterprise staff, he glimpsed the black man running across the street to a car parked on Randolph, to the east side of the Western Auto Store.

By the time chase could be given, the vehicle had disappeared from sight at the intersection of Main and Highland.

Terrell had served several years in prison in Texas on burglary charges and was wanted on similar charges in Florida.

He had been at Fort Pillow since Nov. 4, 1975.

Previous fatal stabbings at the prison this year were of Clarence Newsome, 26, of Memphis, Feb. 26th, and Ricky W. Rodgers, 22, of West Memphis, Ark., April 19th.

They were the first prison murders since 1965.

Rodgers was stabbed five times with a home-made knife, in a 50-man dormitory.

He was serving five years on a conviction for armed robbery in Shelby County.

Steven Lee Hutchison, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in Rodgers' death, was sentenced by Judge Herman L. Reviere to one to five years, following his other sentence, in the July term of Reviere's Circuit Court session here.

Newsome, 26, serving a 10-year term for robbery with a deadly weapon, was stabbed repeatedly about 7:30 a.m. March 25th in a toilet between Cell Blocks A and B.

A Circuit Court jury on July 5, 1977, found Johnny Mack Porter, alias "Johnny Cool," guilty of second degree murder and Bobby Lee guilty of voluntary manslaughter in Newsome's death.

The jury fixed Porter's sentence at 30 years, following his present sentence. Lee was sentenced to four to ten years, concurrent with his former sentence.

Newsome had been convicted of the Nov. 2, 1973, armed robbery of the Speedy Drive-In Liquor Store at 277 E. H. Crump Blvd. in Memphis.

Serving a 10-year sentence, he had been at the prison since Feb. 2, 1976.

He had previously been convicted of attempt to commit a felony and assault to commit manslaughter in stabbing a soldier with a butcher knife Dec. 9, 1971.

Grabbed Cash Bag From Car

A bank deposit bag which a black man grabbed from a car at the Ripley post office was found Monday in front of the Pres Caldwell home at 245 Highland in Ripley, short about $1,100 in currency.

Left in the bag were checks, food stamps, and one $50 bill.

Hubert Smith, co-owner of Smith Brothers Foodland, left the bag in his car as he stopped briefly at the post office at 7:15 p.m. Thursday of last week, en route to the bank.

The bag held $2,000 to $3,000. He tucked it under the seat.

Chatting in the post office with Terry Ford, of the Enterprise staff, he glimpsed the black man running across the street to a car parked on Randolph, to the east side of the Western Auto Store.

By the time chase could be given, the vehicle had disappeared from sight at the intersection of Main and Highland.

Purses Stolen And Car, Too

Mrs. Ronnie Fisher, of Unionville, and Brenda Erwin, of Halls, locked their purses in a car to keep them safe while they visited the Mid-South Fair but returned to find the car stolen.

The Fishers, Miss Erwin, and Jimmy Patton, of Halls, were at the Fair to attend the Charlie Pride show and tour the exhibits Saturday.

They parked the Fisher car, a 1976 Oldsmobile Cutlass, on Central Avenue, near Parkway, about 9 p.m.

When they returned about midnight, it was gone.

The loss included between $60 and $70 in cash and driver's licenses and other personal papers in the purses.

Curve Council Sets Carnival

A Curve Council committee meeting Monday voted to hold a Halloween Carnival from 6 to 8 p.m. Oct. 29th, with door prizes, a cake walk, a country store, and a costume contest for children. Admission will be 25¢, the committee says.

Fkd. Deer Co-Op Truck Is Missing

A pick-up truck loaded with aluminum wire disappeared Tuesday night of last week from the parking lot of Forked Deer Electric Co-Operative, Inc., on old Highway 51 north of Halls.

Russell Jacobs, manager, said the gates to the lot were locked but had been forced.

Sheriff Acquires New Radar Unit

Sheriff Joe B. O'Steen says his department has a new radar unit, capable of checking speeds of vehicles leaving or approaching it.

He said citizens bothered by speeders may request the department to set up the radar unit at needed locations.

Edward F. Barry, an attorney, is the only other member of the order in Memphis. There are only just over 1,000 members in this country. The order, now based in Rome, with its head nominated by the Pope, has been traced as far back as the seventh century in the Holy Land, where its knights fought infidels, its priests conducted services, and its brethren guided pilgrims and cared for the sick. Expelled by the Saracens in 1291, they held Cyprus for a time but were expelled from Rhodes by the Turks in 1522. They held Malta against the Turks from 1530 until Napoleon took it in 1798. Today the order maintains hospitals and ambulances in Europe. Its American chapter was founded in 1927.

Events Honor Bride-Elect

Miss Darlene Arnold, who was married Saturday evening to Jay Gore III, of Grenada, Miss., was honored Tuesday of last week with a lingerie shower in the home of Mrs. James White, Jr., on South College St. Other hostesses were Mrs. David Hurt, Jr., Mrs. Mary Elmore, and Mrs. Dennis Hogue, all of Halls, and Mrs. Jimmy Lanier, of Dyersburg.

Card tables covered with red and white checked cloths were placed at vantage points in the White home. Each held burning red candles. The dining table, also covered with a checked cloth, was centered with a melon basket holding assorted fruits. Guests were served sausage rolls, assorted finger sandwiches, and Angel Delight cake.

For the event Miss Arnold chose a two-piece dress with brown accessories. At her shoulder was a gift corsage of red roses.

Bridesmaids Luncheon
The lovely country home of Mrs. Bobby Steelman was the setting as the entertaining Miss Arnold and her attendants at a bridesmaids luncheon Friday. Assisting Mrs. Steelman were Mrs. Wayne Vaden, and Mrs. Charles Cherry, both of Halls, and Mrs. Ralph Mays, of Humboldt.

The bride-elect chose the luncheon to present to her attendants a Friend Gift Book by Perry Tankley, containing a personal note to each attendant. Special guests were Mrs. Jay Gore, Jr. and Mrs. Grace Gore, both of Grenada, Mrs. Nell Baas, of Jackson, and Mrs. Sammie Arnold, mothers and grandmothers of the engaged couple.

Miss Arnold presented each of them an engraved gold locket.

Rehearsal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gore, Jr., of Grenada, Miss., honored their son, Jay Gore III and his fiancée, Miss Darlene Arnold, with a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Dyersburg Country Club.

Miss Arnold selected a tan floor length gown for the dinner. She wore a corsage of spicelike-colored silk roses.

The U-shaped dining table was draped with white linen. An arrangement of fall flowers featuring bronze mums and yellow daisy pom-poms centered the head table. Brown glowing tapers in crystal holders shed a soft light over the dining area.

Guests included the wedding party, close friends, and relatives.

Saturday Brunch
The home of Mrs. Robert Craddock on Circle Drive was the setting Saturday morning for a brunch honoring Miss Arnold. Other hostesses were Mrs. Thomas O. Martin, Mrs. Frank Baldrige, Mrs. Paul Henderson, Jr., Miss Jan Craddock, Mrs. Paul Henderson III, Mrs. Tony Bowers, and Mrs. Mike Roberson.

Miss Arnold wore a street length dress of emerald green accented by beige and orange. She was presented the sugar shell in her silver pattern and an arrangement of fresh fruit.

An arrangement of fresh fruit on a silver tray centered the table which was covered with an Army-Navy cloth.

Guests were served orange and tomato juice, melon balls, strawberries, sausage balls, ham biscuits, eggs, cheese grits casserole, banana nut bread, blueberry muffins, and coffee.

Guests were members of the wedding party and parents of the engaged couple.

I lost 23 pounds in 30 days... without starving myself!

-Pharmacist Dick Wieser
Daly City, California

Pharmacist Dick Wieser, owner of the Skyline Plaza Pharmacy in Daly City expresses his opinion on the NaturSlim Weight Control Program.

As a pharmacist for over 23 years I have seen many weight loss products come and go. NONE have ever produced the interest and results that NaturSlim has.

After seeing the successful results many of his customers had with the program, Dick decided to try it.

"I followed the program, taking NaturSlim twice a day in juice or lowfat milk and ate a normal dinner—even including potatoes! I did not have to count calories or limit my portions either. After 30 days I had lost a total of 23 pounds—painlessly and effortlessly. I feel ten years younger!"

NaturSlim is a nutritionally sound, delicious and easy-to-follow program. It does not require special exercising, drugs or shots of any kind. And unlike many dieting programs NaturSlim does not call for complete isolation from the foods you enjoy.

Being a pharmacist I have the responsibility to provide my customers with the very best products—NaturSlim is! I would recommend NaturSlim to anyone with a minimum amount of will power. It's the easiest and safest way to lose weight that I know of today!

FIRST ONE IN Aim high to hit the ball deep

This is another in a never-ending series of articles on hitting the ball deep in the court.

Although you may have good intentions, for some reason your serve usually falls short, your ground strokes often land inside the service line, and your lobs are always smashed away for winners.

It's probably not your technique that's to blame for these strategic errors (you could possess perfect textbook strokes and still hit the ball short)—the reason you underhit your shots is simply because you aim too low.

These mental miscalculations are often made because the player aims at the service line for the serve, and the baseline for the ground-strokes. Standing at the opposite end of the court, his perspective is deceiving: he looks down at the target. So he hits down.

And gravity makes the ball land short. The goal in this game is to make your opponent regularly play the ball from a position behind the baseline. From there he won't have sufficient angle to do you harm. If he tries, you'll be pleased to see his shots fall into the net or go wide.

To accomplish this goal, aim at an imaginary spot above the net. If you want your ground strokes to land within four feet of the baseline, aim six feet over the net and note where they go.

You may need to increase your net clearance to increase your depth; in fact, it's necessary for many players to aim a couple feet higher than their intended target, to reach it.

Throughout the entire match take note of your results. The tendency is to hit short when the situation gets tense or the player begins to tire. When either of these things begins to happen, consciously aim higher over the net.

Again, strategy in tennis is basically very simple: keep the ball deep so your opponent will hit short so you'll have some angle to work with.

Studying bodies for the sport of it

By WAYNE LOCKWOOD
Copley News Service

To his teammates, Ron Coy may be "The Penguin." But to a physiologist, Coy looks more like a stork.

True, the 5-4, 185-pound Dodger third baseman waddles when he walks. But study his body scientifically and you will find it to be a trim, efficient machine.

Tom Pipes did, it's his business. As with Coy, he is often surprised at the results.

Pipes in an exercise physiologist, a field of study in which he owns a doctorate.

One of these days, the man's going to get busy. Give him time. He's only 28.

Pipes, a University of Southern California graduate and discus thrower of some repute, came by his vocation honestly enough.

"I was a jock," he says. "I was looking for an edge, a way to improve a little more than the next guy."

Pipes was able to do his own career only a moderate amount of good. But his work may prove invaluable to others.

At least the 49ers, Rams, Dodgers, Angels, Lakers and Kings have reason to think so. These teams, among others, invited Pipes to test their athletes and prescribe appropriate development programs.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

They don't just sit up there on a horse. They work a lot harder than I thought."

Pipes was surprised in another way by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Lakers.

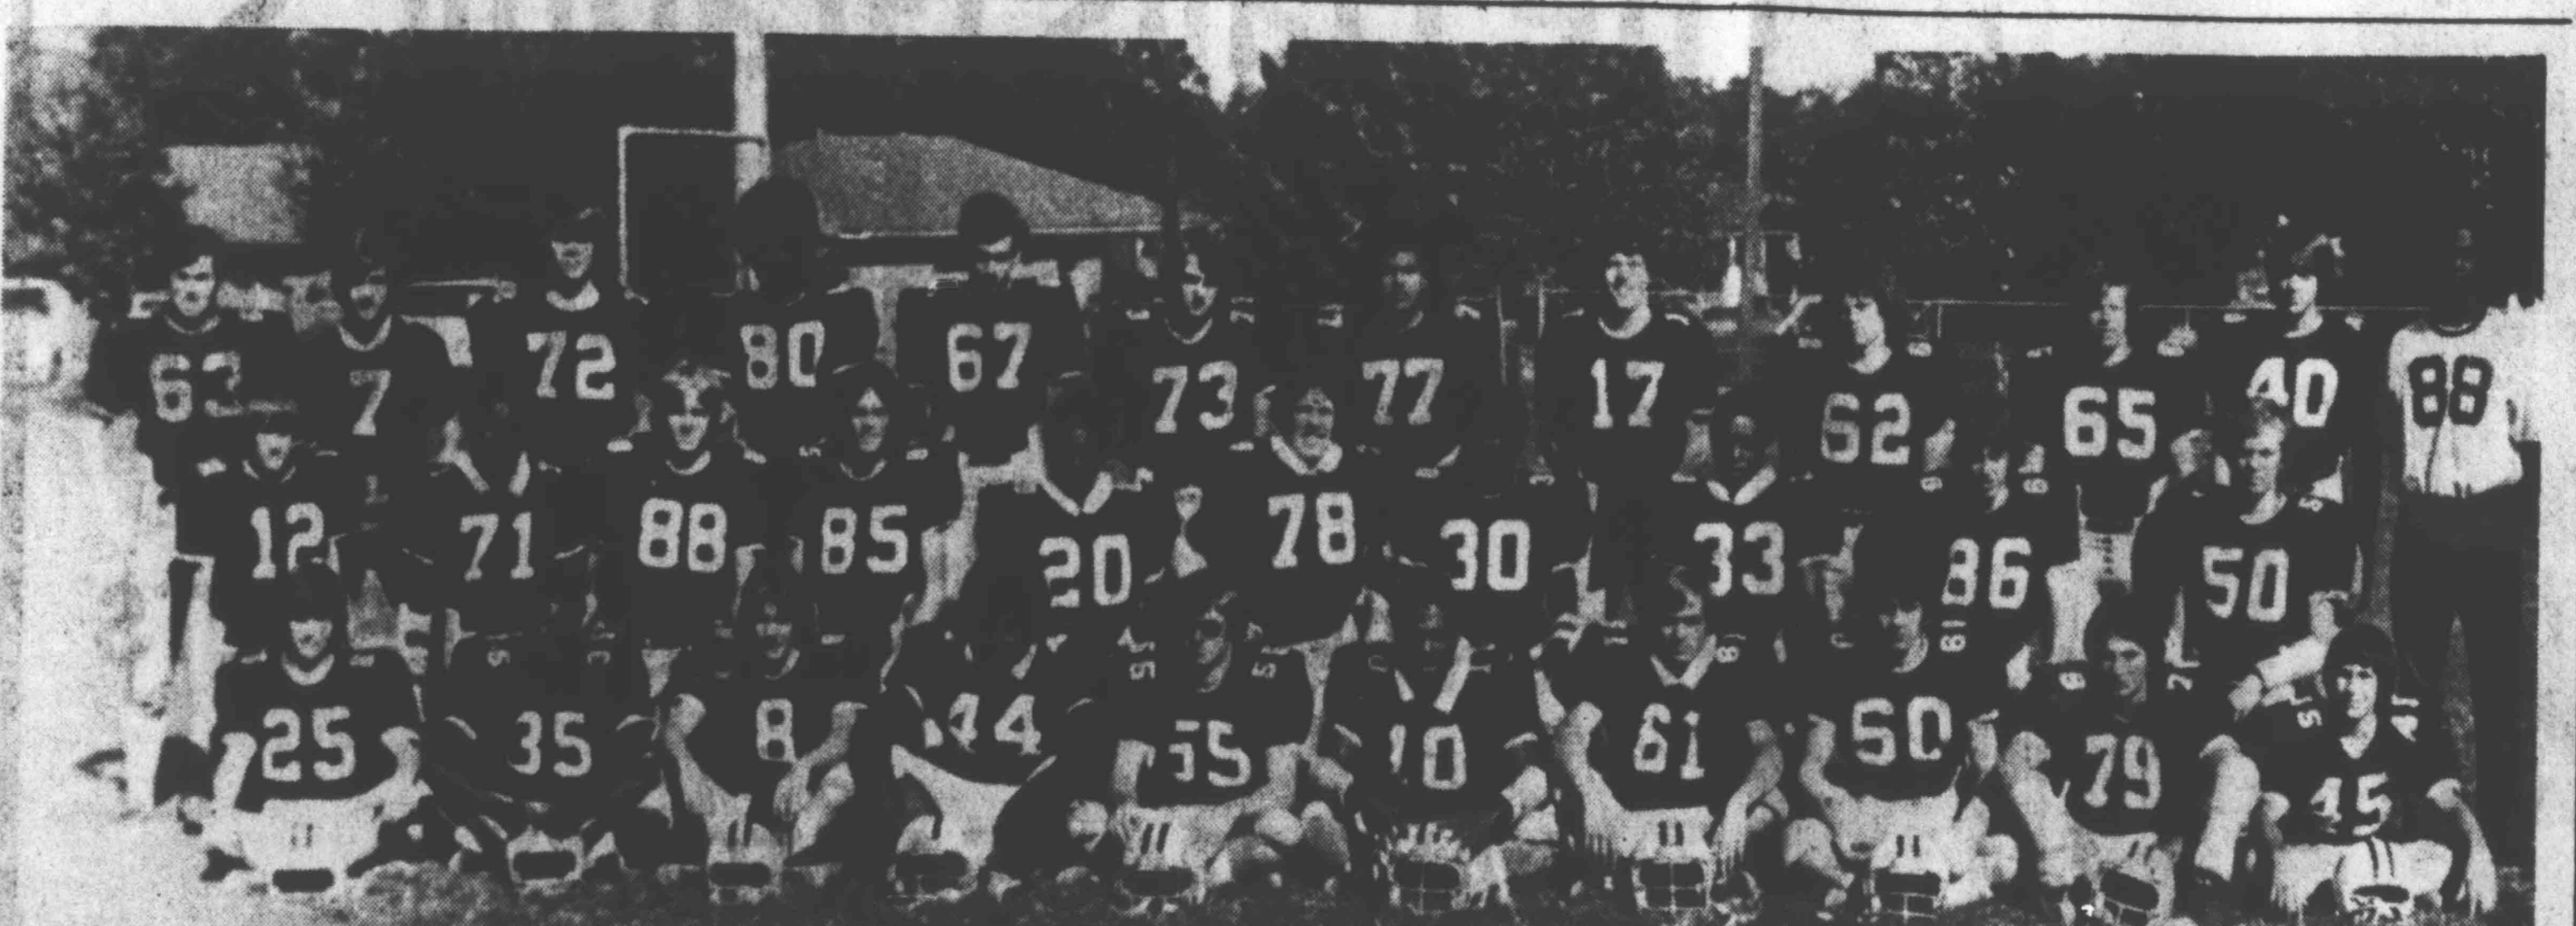

"He has very little fat, as you would suspect, but he's not nearly as strong as he could be. His body isn't working even close to capacity. "You couldn't compare him to somebody like Will Chamberlain, who got the most out of his body. But Kareem's trying to improve that. We've got him working on a program right now."

"He can improve a lot. He's not really playing up to his potential."

Greenfield Tiger Foe For Home-Coming

The Halls High School Tiger eleven, 5-0 after a surprisingly one-sided 33-6 win from Bruceton last Friday, is hosting Greenfield this Thursday for Halls' annual home-coming game.

The game was scheduled Thursday because of the school holiday Friday for the West Tennessee Education Association meeting in Memphis.

Greenfield, which in its homecoming game last week came from behind to top South Fulton 19-12 and push its record to 3-3, is leading the Redfoot Conference of Class A teams not competing for the District 15-A title.

The Tigers scored in every quarter as they easily out-distanced Bruceton on the Halls field.

Dwayne McKinney added 18 points to his season total with runs of 75, five, and two yards, in the first, second, and fourth quarters. He now has 72 points for the year.

Brown, Robinson Join In Tigers' Scoring
Halls fullback Marvin Brown opened Tiger scoring with a 78-yard run, the first touchdown scored this year by any Tiger except McKinney. Willie Robinson broke through on a touchdown. Ladd Roberts kicked an extra point, and Brown scored a 2-point conversion.

Ray Tharpe scored the lone Bruceton touchdown on a 3-yard run in the second quarter.

The Tigers had 14 first downs and 378 yards—343 on the ground. Bruceton had 12 first downs and 189 yards.

McKinney had 123 yards in 12 carries, Brown 144 in 19, and Robinson 54 in two.

The Tigers tried seven passes and completed two for 35 yards. Bruceton attempted 10, completed four, and had one intercepted.

The Tigers fumbled once and recovered the ball. Bruceton fumbled once, to Roberts. Jimmy Meeks led in Halls tackles with 10. John Barnes, Jeff Ward, and Willie Robinson had nine each.

Fumble At Finale Doomed South Fulton

A spearing penalty moved winless South Fulton, trailing Greenfield 19-12, to the Greenfield 35 with three minutes left in last week's game, and the Red Devils ran on fourth and two to get to the 21, before Philip Vinson fumbled to Greenfield to end the threat.

South Fulton had led on Tony Ingram's 68-yard jaunt to set up Vinson's tally from the six and on Ingram's 55-yard scoring run in the second period.

Greenfield quarterback Greg Moore had matched the first tally with a 60-yard punt return, and he kept up the middle for ten and another TD in the third period.

The lead which Greenfield successfully protected came with a 1-foot plunge with 5:30 left in the game.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Here And There

Well, after two weeks Nell finally came home. I met her in Savannah Friday night and we came home Saturday morning. Believe you me I was certainly glad to have her at home. Lynda's mother continues critically ill.

Wonder how many of you received notices—as we did—that their license plates have expired despite the fact that they are not actually due until next February? County Clerk Vernon McBride says that only two or three have been brought into his office. The notice should be ignored if your license plate shows an expiration date differing from the notice.

The Senate voted Tuesday by a small margin to deregulate the price of natural gas. Personally, we have felt for some time that this move will probably be necessary if the supply of natural gas is to be increased since the controlled price tends to slow down drilling for new wells. However, despite the action of the Senate, it is extremely doubtful that deregulation will actually go into effect since the House voted strongly to continue control, and President Carter has said he will veto any bill removing controls.

Halls High Football Coach Andy Pugh probably breathed a little easier last Friday night as the Tigers convincingly defeated Bruceton, but he will have only a short respite. Lake County, now second in District 15-A, is coming to Halls next week. A win for the Tigers would almost certainly assure them the title, but a loss would put a serious crimp in their playoff hopes.

Ripley High School has had its troubles the past few years as did Halls a few years back. However, Ripley can almost be considered as having a successful season this year after surging wins as they defeated Brownsville, 28-20, earlier this year and then knocked off Covington, 7-6, last Friday night. Ripley, of course, hopes for more wins during the forthcoming games but they are to be congratulated for their showing against their arch rivals.

Speaking of football, the Halls Tigers deserve the support of every football fan in this area. They have an exciting team to watch, an outstanding record, and a good chance to go undefeated. They have lost no more than two games in several years and are always in the game. Why not go out for home coming and the football game Thursday night?

Majestic Middle Tennessee Fall Tours

The home of President James K. Polk, will be among the homes open to the public during the Majestic Middle Tennessee Fall Tours in Columbia, Tennessee, October 1-9.

The Association For The Preservation Of Tennessee Antiquities has made possible the tours through some of the most elegant homes of Middle Tennessee. It is inside these houses, built as far back as 1818, that many of our legends were born.

Tall tales, cushioned in fact, remain one of the most fascinating aspects of Tennessee life. With sagehood reaching back to 1796, Tennessee has had plenty of time to accumulate volumes of stories. The lives and families of two famous Middle Tennesseans, Andrew Jackson and James K. Polk, have certainly created vivid narrative for a chilly October night.

Tennessee was still a wilderness area, referred to as the Western Territory, when settlers began arriving in Middle Tennessee. The land that rolls from the middle of the Cumberland Plateau to the northward-flowing Tennessee River, was renowned for its vast production of cotton, tobacco and vegetables. Today historians and antique dealers from around the world visit many of the homes, open during this special tour, in order to research and collect information concerning the lifestyle of these early settlers.

Vine Hill, now headquarters for the Maury County Historical Society, is one of the homes on the tour. Cellars as high as sixteen feet were a common feature of these antebellum houses. Unique for Middle Tennessee in the early 1800's, was the presence of built-in closets. Vine Hill had closets built into both the bedrooms as well as in the library. Another unusual feature are the stairways located at each end of the cross-halls. The addition of an extra stairway provided double access to and from the second floor, allowing escape in case of fire, a common plantation hazard.

Indoor bath tubs were extremely rare during the early 1800's, but Cherry Glen, built in 1810 was an exception. The copper-lined tub may have had no plumbing connections but the water did drain outside the house.

Lucius Polk built Hamilton Place in 1832 for his expected bride, Mary Jane Eastin. Mary, being a liberated woman for her times, went to Washington to help her uncle, Andrew Jackson, with his social duties at the White House. It was only after she tired of society life in Washington, did Mary decide to return to Middle Tennessee, as Mrs. Lucius Polk. Her White House wedding must have been a wonderful affair!

The Middle Tennessee Aristocrats knew the value of "The Good Life." Their vision of beauty can be compared to the Royal Houses of Europe. Many families would commission German Landscapers to journey to Tennessee just to create parks in the law. It is hoped that the final language of the bill will be ready for consideration before the end of the year. No doubt, the financial condition of the Social Security Administration is one that we cannot overlook or neglect. I look forward to studying very closely the final proposal that comes to the House floor for a vote.

Of course, the Ways and Means Sub-Committee could alter this proposal during its deliberations which are expected to begin soon. The Senate Finance Committee is also working on a comprehensive bill that will make similar changes.

retire. In fact, after age 72, the ceiling is completely eliminated. Of course, a prime consideration in this matter is the additional costs that Social Security will incur if the ceiling is raised. In these times when the system is already experiencing deficits, it is extremely important to be very careful about making any increases.

The sub-committee also recommended changes in the inflation adjustment clauses of the present law. Overall, this would index a worker's earnings to reflect annual increases in average earnings levels. The effect of this change is expected to cut the Social Security deficits by one-half and assure that beneficiaries receive relatively the same level of benefits from one generation to another.

Under current law, Social Security beneficiaries pay taxes on the first $16,500 of the annual salary. Under provisions of this bill, increases in that amount would occur in 1979, 1980, and 1981.

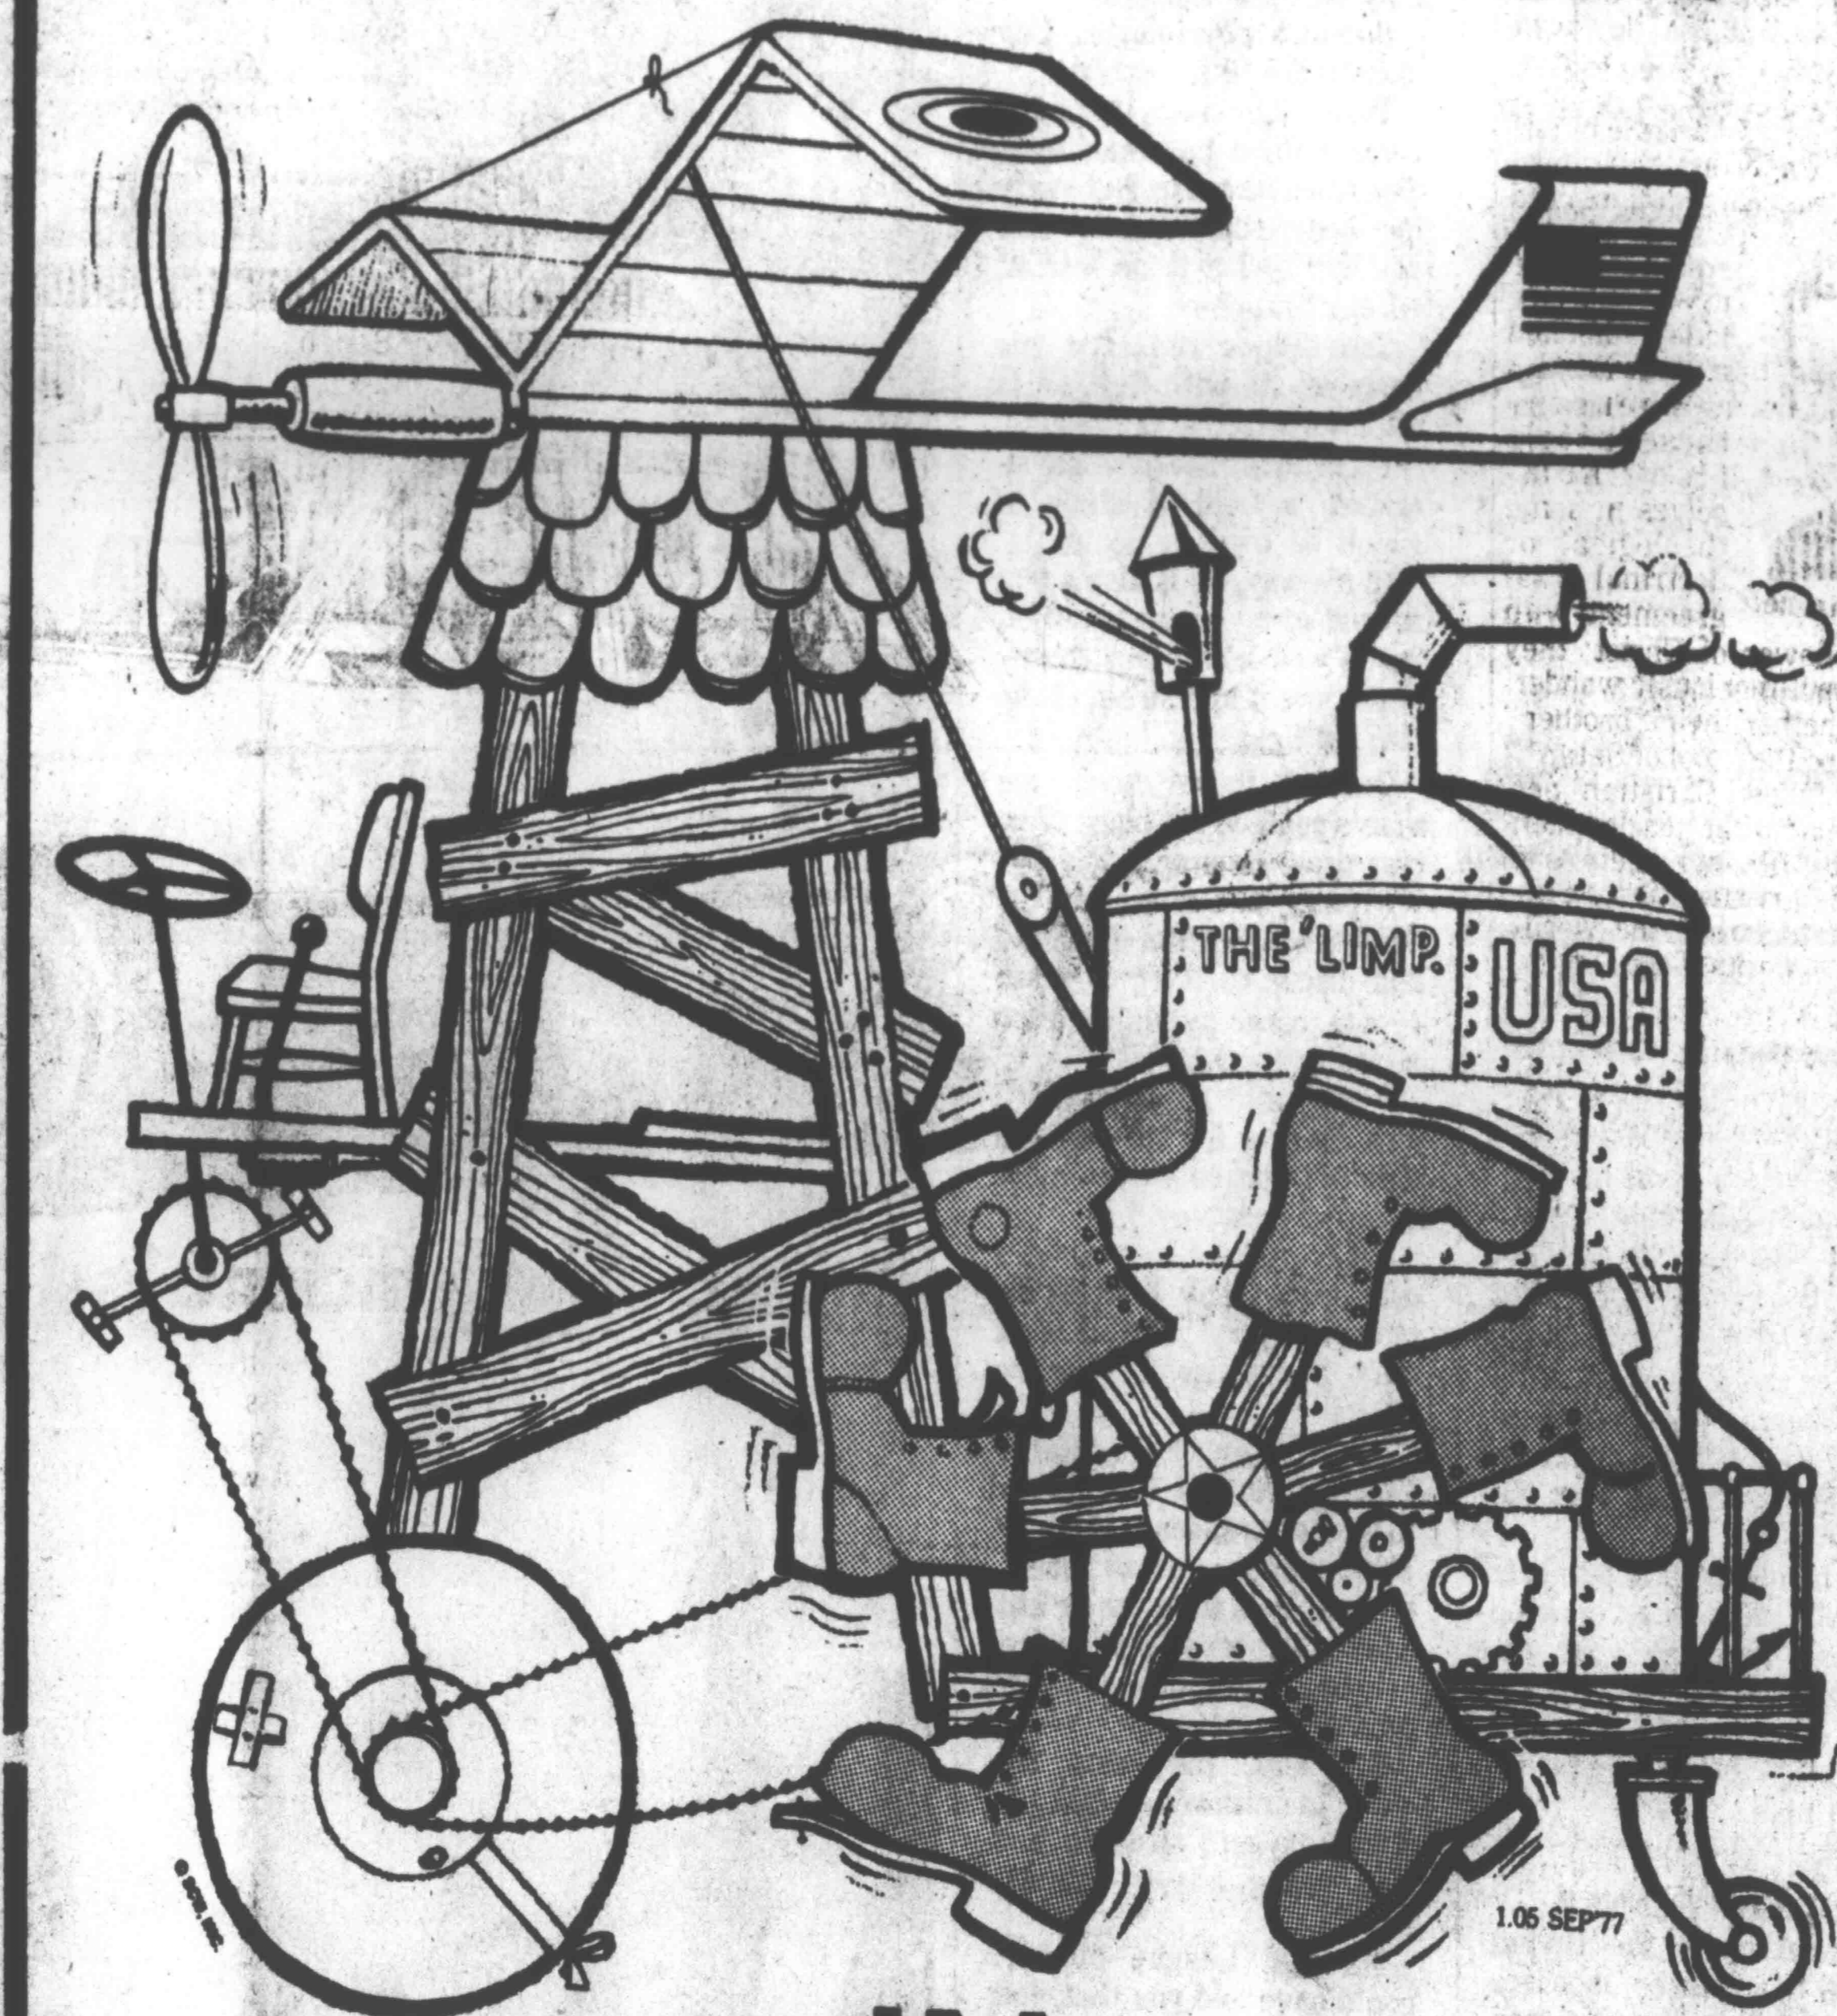

One of the more controversial aspects of the bill is the provision which extends mandatory coverage to federal employees, state and local employees, and employees of non-profit organizations. This coverage would be scheduled to begin in 1980 and would be gradually phased in so as to not harm those civil servants who currently participate in the federal retirement system. Though the mechanics of this proposal have not been worked out as yet, it is anticipated that such a change would take a number of years to be fully implemented.

Another provision of the bill will increase the income ceiling which is placed on Social Security recipients. Under current law, this ceiling is $8,000 and would increase to $4,500 in 1978 and $6,000 in 1979. This is one aspect of the present social security system about which I receive constant complaints. Many retirees feel that they should not be prevented from getting other income after they

THE BIBLE FOR THORNS ON THE FRUIT TREE Lesson for October 9, 1977

Background Scriptures: Luke 8:43-49; Matthew 1:22-27; Devotional Reading: Matthew 7:1-5

Many Christians today seemed obsessed with Satan. They look for him in every nook and cranny—particularly their neighbor's nook and cranny! As some of our forefathers imparted their own souls with their inquisitions and witch-hunts, so there are many who are today "hooked on" the Devil. Whenever these people find "him" selves in some theological or doctrinal disagreement with another following of Christ, they begin to sanctimoniously wonder out loud whether their "brother" might not be the "son of Satan." Let their fellow Christian perform some act that puzzles them or fails to fit into their own prescribed Christian lifestyle and they begin to intone the words, "counterfeit works of the Devil!"

Of figs and thorns The problem here is not that there is no evil in the world, no demonic force for Jesus himself acknowledged this reality. But, though he acknowledged the reality, he did not focus upon it. What he focused on was the Spirit of God working in the world. He chose to accentuate the positive—God's presence and power—instead of the negative disposition to see Satan wherever he looked.

The key to this approach was extremely pragmatic. There were no chemical, psychological or mechanical tests or devices to determine who or what had the demon. So Jesus employed a simple but profound rule-of-thumb: "For no good tree bears bad fruit, nor again does a bad tree bear good fruit; for each tree is known by its own fruit" (Luke 6:43,44). The proof was to be found not in our judgement of each other's theology, lifestyles and religious lifestyles, but by our evaluation of the fruits that issue from these. In other words, a lifestyle that bears good fruit, that issues in loving service to our fellowman must be a good tree. Thorns do not bear fruit. Satan-possessed people do not live loving, redemptive lives.

Why call me Lord? For me the only test of the authenticity of another's faith must be its fruitfulness. If a person comes to me with a "discovery" in his spiritual life, claiming "I've found it," who am I to question the particulars of that spiritual style so long as it is productive of Christlike love and service? Of course, if you really have "found it," then the obvious results should be a humility and love that finds its fruition, not in judging others, but in serving them. Because the term "Lord" means one to whom we give our obedience, there is nothing more ludicrous than a Christian who runs around saying "Lord, Lord," but doesn't live the redemptive life to which he or she is called. If we are truly Christians who have found our Lord, we will not only hear and know his words, but we will do them and there will be no thorns on our fruit tree.

Gift Tea Held For Lina Hill

A gift tea Sunday honored Lina Lynn Hill, bride-elect of Dennis Carl Hundley, in the home of Mrs. William A. Tate, Jr., in Henning, with Mrs. Max Harvey and Mrs. W. H. Jordan, Jr., as co-hostesses.

The honoree, in a blouson 2-piece dress of blue Quiana with suede cloth yoke, was presented a corsage of white daisies.

Mrs. Billy Brandon and Mrs. Herbert Robbins served cake, party sandwiches, brisole punch, nuts, and minis from a table centered with daisies and mums in fall colors, flanked by ivory tapers.

Special guests included the groom's mother, Mrs. Howard R. Hundley, of Riverchase, Mrs. James Lee, of River, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Rudolph Pinkston, of Covington; her great-aunt, Mrs. I. G. Cunningham, of Ripley; her aunts, Mrs. Merrill Tatlock and Mrs. John Woodman, of Covington; and Mrs. Scott Turner, of Brownsville; and Mrs. Paul Myers, of Covington, and Karen Coatin, of Cordova, who will be bridesmaid in the vows Oct. 22nd in First United Methodist Church here.

The Ripley water plant's manager, Bill Roberson, reports 8.9 inches of rain in September and 12.4 since Aug. 14th. This has certainly saturated the sub-soil, which has been dry all year.

The time required for drying out before full-scale picking resumes means some early varieties of soy beans will be dry enough to harvest.

Demand for cotton has been light in both rural and central markets. Cotton moving to contract buyers has accounted for much of the trade activity. Uncommitted cotton was available, but prices were not very aggressive.

Prices hovered in the high 40s for mixed lots of current ginnings, mostly grades 41 and 51 of medium staples.

Farmers received from $7 to $7.5 per ton for cottonseed at the gin, with most ginnings in Lauderdale County ginning for the second.

Taped market reports are available, toll-free, by dialing 1-800-222-3905.

Aflatoxin Hits Corn
Aflatoxin is presenting a problem in corn. It is a poison produced by a fungus which thrives in temperatures over 80 degrees Fahrenheit and humidity levels over 85%, and grain moisture of 18% or higher. It is several hundred times more toxic than lead arsenate and has been shown to produce cancer.

Federal regulations limited the sale of aflatoxin-contaminated grain. Corn containing more than 20 parts per billion is subject to condemnation.

One or two kernels of contaminated corn in a bushel is sufficient to exceed the limit. Danny Kiestler, of Continental Grain Co., at Hale's Point, says most aflatoxin found there came from other counties. Only one load of corn from this area has been rejected.

Examination of grain samples with a bright, greenish-yellow fluorescent light, reveals aflatoxin.

4-H FAIR DAY DAMP
There was nothing fair about the skies as county 4-Hers attended the Mid-South Fair for 4-H Day Sept. 24th.

David Medlock, of Halla, was dubbed the "drowned rat" after one deluge.

Skies cleared about 4 p.m., however, allowing youngsters to attack the midway.

Truck Crushes Car, Kills 3

THREE ELDERLY TIPTON COUNTIANS DIED INSTANTLY at 1:20 p.m. Thursday of last week when their 1977 4-door Chevrolet, west-bound on Gates Road, pulled into the northbound lane of new Highway 51 into the path of a truck, according to Highway Patrolman Joe Jacobs. The Atlanta, Ga., tractor-trailer of Boles Parts Supply (right) crushed the car so badly it and two other trucks had to attach cables to assist a wrecker in prying the car open to remove the body of the driver, James N. Dawson, 72, of Route 2, Brighton. Also killed were Mrs. Dawson, 72, and her sister, Mrs. Pauline Sherrod, 79, of Route 1, Covington. The truck driver, Lamond C. Wallace, 40, of Jonesboro, Ark., suffered only minor injuries.

Second Truck, Car Stolen At Fair Is Found

A 1976 Oldsmobile Cutlass stolen Oct. 1st from Ronnie Fisher, of Unionville, after he parked it at the Mid-South Fair in Memphis was found Sunday, abandoned on Kellner St. in Memphis. The citizens' band radio, tape player, tapes, spare tire, and other accessories had been stripped from the car. Police did not recover the purses of Mrs. Fisher and Miss Brenda Erwin, of Halls, which they had locked in the car for safe-keeping while they visited the fair. Fisher says the car will require extensive repairs.

City Pays Kissell $3,000

Ousted Cop Drops Suit

Emory Kissell, Ripley assistant police chief fired Feb. 7th after his conviction for interference with a sheriff's deputy attempting a search for drugs, has won $3,000 damages from the city of Ripley. He accepted the amount in settlement of an appeal he had filed in Circuit Court. Damages claimed were principally pay lost because he said he was not given adequate notice before dismissal. He was suspended from police duties three days after his arrest on Jan. 29th, convicted in General Sessions Court on Feb. 4th, convicted on appeal to Circuit Court Feb. 7th, and refused reinstatement at the regular monthly meeting of the city board on the evening of Feb. 7th. The board voted 3-2 against reinstatement, with aldermen Sam Moore and Bobby Walker favoring it. After Circuit Judge Herman L. Reviere ruled a two-thirds vote of the board was required, it voted again, July 11th—this time, unanimously—to deny him reinstatement. Kissell then returned to Circuit Court in an effort to collect damages which this week produced settlement. As part of this week's settlement, Kissell waives any further claims against the city. He had been with the police department 17 years when he was charged with possession of marijuana and interference with an officer. General Sessions Judge Willard Norvell found him guilty of both charges. Deputy B. V. Hutcherson testified in a court that when he attempted to search a trailer at Kissell's home, occupied by his daughter, Margaret, Kissell said the trailer was his and delayed the search until another search warrant could be obtained. He said marijuana seeds and pipes were found in the trailer. On appeal, Reviere reversed his conviction on the possession charge but upheld the conviction for interference.

2 Die In Smack Of Bridge

JANET F. COFFMAN, 19, granddaughter of Mrs. Faye Coffman, of Gates, was killed early Saturday when thrown from this Corvette as it struck the Dyer Creek bridge on rain-swamped Interstate 40, just east of Jackson, and disintegrated. Parts of the car were scattered 275 feet, and some sailed through the air to fall about 70 feet into the creek on both sides of the bridge, which also spans the Illinois Central Gulf-Railroad tracks about a mile and a half east of the U.S. 45 exit. The driver, William Louis 'Louie' Roach, 24, of 186 Chickering Road, Jackson, also thrown from the vehicle, died in intensive care in Jackson-Madison County Hospital. State Trooper M. G. Gilbert said he apparently lost control of the westbound Corvette on the rain-wet pavement and struck the right hand abutment at a high rate of speed. The accident was reported at 3:45 a.m. by a Henderson County ambulance en route to the Jackson hospital. Miss Coffman, of 139 Rockwell Road, Jackson, was a dental assistant to Dr. Randy Staples. She was a member of Northside United Methodist Church Services were at 2 p.m. Monday in the Main Street chapel of George A. Smith and Sons Funeral Home in Jackson, with burial in Highland Memorial Gardens. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Coffman, of Jackson, she also leaves two brothers, Raymond L. Coffman and Robert J. Coffman, of Jackson. Her grandfather, A. A. Coffman, of Gates, died Sept. 28th.

Danelz Literally Fights Litterers, Gets Results

Richard Danelz II, of 8277 Rembrook Drive, Memphis, whose wife is the former Debbie Hilliard, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hilliard, of Nankipoo, is literally fighting litterers—and he's getting results. Driving along Winchester near Ridgeway in Memphis, he saw a man throw a beer can from a truck. He stopped his car and tried to explain that it costs taxpayers thousands of dollars each year to have litter picked up. The man reacted by wanting to fight. When Danelz drove away, the man followed, and when Danelz stopped at Winchester and Ridgeway, the man began to beat him with his fists, then sped away. Danelz reported the incident to police, but no one had a clue as to the identity of his assailant. That didn't stop Danelz, who kept visiting the area until he spotted the man and got his license plate number. John Blackstone, Jr., of Memphis, was fined $50 and $20 costs when he was summoned into court. Debbie says she agrees with her husband in his stand against littering but has warned him he might run into difficulties. Danelz, 31-year-old medical engineer, says he will continue to fight littering, and he urges others to join him. Larry Tucker, for assault and battery, 11 months, 29 days, suspended, and $10 fine. Roosevelt Carter, for passing forged paper in amount less than $100, 11 months, 29 days, with another concurrent sentence. David Fincher, for attempt to commit a felony, 11 months, 29 days, suspended, 8 p.m. curfew during the week, midnight curfew Friday and Saturday, due to work schedule. Cecil Hook, for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, 11 months, 29 days, suspended on probation; dismissed if agrees to leave state. Daniel Thomas Hill, for armed robbery, ten years consecutive to one year for escape, consecutive to sentence at time of escape. Steve Bates, for driving without a license and violation of registration law, 30 days in jail. Danny Patrick, for injuring personal property, 11 months.

Cover Up Your Attic For Winter

One of the worst things that could happen to you this winter is to get caught with your attic bare. Your heating energy and heating bills will go right through the roof.
Having no insulation at all in your home means you're wasting about 50 percent of the energy you use to heat and cool your home. Installing at least R-19 value attic insulation alone can save you about 30 percent on your heating costs, enough to pay for the insulation in about three years.
You also need R-11 value insulation installed under your floor—and in walls if you remodel.
Here are more ways to make sure you get the most from your heating dollar this winter. Caulk cracks or gaps around window and outside door frames. Also weatherstrip loose fitting windows and doors so heat can't escape.
Install storm doors and windows, or if you can't afford these, put up sheets of inexpensive plastic outside your windows.
If you have window air conditioning units, make sure exhaust or ventilation dampers are in a closed position, and weatherstrip all cracks around the unit. Be sure also to keep the fireplace damper closed when you don't have a fire. Glass doors for your fireplace let you enjoy the fire without most of the heat from your heating system being drawn up the chimney.
Wrap your water heater with 3/4-inch blanket type insulation, especially if it is located in an unheated area. Also, insulate hot water pipes to decrease heat loss.
For more information on what to do to make your home a fortress against the winter cold, stop by your power distributor's office.

Darlene Arnold Weds Jay Gore III

MR. AND MRS. JAY GORE III were married at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 1st in Halls' First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Nick Harris, of Horn Lake, Miss., performing the double ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged before an altar arranged with arched candelabra stacked in a pyramid and flanked by eucalyptus trees for the choir loft. Seven-branched candelabra entwined with Southern huckleberry extended across the front of the church. The aisle leading to the altar was marked with clusters of spargania ferns tied with illusions of fallismen satin interspersed with multi-colored daisy pom-poms. A white aisle cloth led to the double prie-dieu before which the vows were said. One large sunburst arrangement of fall tones centered the entire setting.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Bill Kelly, organist, of Gates, and Mrs. Harvey Gardner, vocalist, of Memphis.

The bride, Darlene, was given by her father, Halls Mayor Sammie L. Arnold, in a gown of candlelight chiffon with an Empire bodice encrusted with pearls on Alencon lace to the elbow, under which two tiers of chiffon flowed softly to the wrist.

The billowing skirt had a border ending in a chapel train. The cathedral veil was of imported French silk illusion. The bride carried a nosegay of white roses, stephanotis, fleurs d'amour, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Don Connell, of Memphis, served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Connie Keeling, Mrs. Michael Tabor, and Mrs. Leo Arnold, all of Jackson, Miss Vicki Restano and Mrs. Jan Collins, both of Memphis, Miss Carol Hilliard, of Dyersburg, and Mrs. Paul Koonce, sister of the groom, of Ft. Worth, Tex.

Norman Layne and sons, Jeff and Stan, of Colona, Ill., visited Mr. and Mrs. James Savage and Mrs. Jessie Mai White several days last week. They were called here by the death of their grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Dixie Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Voss were Sunday dinner guests of the D. L. Gillilands in Memphis, and visited Mrs. Ollie Nash and Miss Ann Williams.

The Sam Archers and Mrs. Baker, of Halls, visited Mrs. Jennie Gilliland Sunday. Leslie Garrett, of Memphis, visited Lomas Garrett Sunday.

The Don Fennels, of Bates-daisy pom-poms. On either side was placed a silver five-branched candelabrum with white tapers. The bride's table, draped with a matching cloth, held the 3-tier cake, decorated with spice-colored roses and surrounded with clusters of leather-leaf fern.

Miss Jan Craddock, of Halls, presided at the register table, which was draped with a matching cloth and graced by a silver bud vase of tea-colored roses.

Serving in the reception were Mrs. Jeff Carter, Miss Cindy Dozile, and Miss Melana McMillan, all of Jackson, Miss. Mrs. Terry Johnston, of Indianapolis, Miss., and Mrs. Steve Cobb, of Olive Branch, Miss. Tillmans' 40th Anniversary No Novelty For Their Home

When Mr. and Mrs. Talbert Tillman celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday in their home at Nankipoo, it wasn't a novelty for that home.

Talbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olney Tillman, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary there in 1937 and their 50th there in November, 1962.

Talbert and his wife were married on Oct. 5, 1937. With them for their 40th anniversary observance were their children and their families—Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Tillman and sons, Damon, Michael, and Randy, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Tillman, of Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Gray, Jr., and sons, Earnest III and Talbert Lee, of Brighton.

Also attending were Roy Jones and Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, of Halls, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jones, of Curve, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Jones and Kenneth Hetsel, of Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fann, of Trenton.

ville, Miss., spent the weekend with Mr. Fennel's mother, Mrs. Louise Fennel. Marcus Fennel and sons, Marshall and Matt, of Union City, were dinner guests Saturday.

Mrs. Ronnie Carmack and daughter, Elaine, attended a with a bridal shower in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Marley Young, on Lafayette St. in Ripley.

The hostesses, Mrs. Kenneth Burks, of Halls, and Miss Janice Rose, of Ripley, presented the honoree with a gift corsage of yellow carnations.

Cake squares, nuts, mints, and punched were served 20 guests.

MR. AND MRS. BOB HALL will be honored by their children on their 60th wedding anniversary with open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23rd, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vaden, Sr., at 120 Highland St. in Ripley, with all friends invited to call.

Frost Boosts Cotton Crop

By Charles T. Peal
Frost the night of Oct. 12th helped cotton picking considerably, since second growth had become quite lush from moisture and fertilizer fed to tops of plants.

Farmers had spent a good deal of money on defoliation, in order to pick trash-free cotton, without much result, because the cotton grew so fast.

Ripley's Federal Compress reported 7,289 bales received by Oct. 10th. It is hoping for 14,000 bales.

Hill Beans Are Poor

William F. Kirkpatrick, of Ashport, averages 30 bushels of soy beans on 25 acres, and Gary Kirkpatrick averaged 48 on some of his land.

Alfred Kidd will get at least 40 bushels from some fields.

Good yields of 35 bushels or more seem in prospect for the river bottomlands, but hill beans are very poor.

Last year, the county averaged 27 bushels per acre. About 20 is likely this year.

Most beans in the county are infected with anthracnose disease, which causes shriveled or moldy beans and cuts the yield about ten per cent.

Some farmers are going to find it difficult to save good seeds, for this reason.

Drought Aid Meeting

The Small Business Administration will hold a meeting in the courthouse in Ripley this Thursday evening to explain drought aid loans at 3%.

Forms are in local banks, but many farmers will not care to apply after they see how many must be filled out.

Mourn Billy Viar, An Ex-Alderman

Billy Viar, 60, Halls grocer and former alderman, died Friday in Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg.

Services were at 3 p.m. Sunday in First Baptist Church, with burial in Halls Cemetery.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Dale Chaney Viar, a son, Billy, Jr., of Nashville; four daughters, Mrs. Nancy Hart and Miss Robin Viar, of Halls, Mrs. Betty Myrick, of Martin, and Mrs. Virginia Cole, of Memphis; two brothers, Elbert, of Halls, and Dewitt, of Columbia, and two sisters, Mrs. Chester Spry, of Halls, and Mrs. Hartwell Chisholm, of Ripley.

Given Admiral's Insignia

CAPT. C. J. RORIE, son of Mrs. Elvy Rorie, of Fulton Landing, receives shoulder boards from his wife, Pat, and son Patrick, 11, signifying his selection for promotion to rear admiral, as he is relieved of command of the Naval Surface Weapons Center in Dahlgren, Va., and awarded the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct" in that command—the navy's largest research and development center, with more than 5,000 military and civilian employees. The 1948 graduate of Ripley High School is now serving as Deputy Commander for Surface Ships, Escort and Cruisers, in the Naval Sea Systems Command in the nation's capital.

Car Runs Down Power Line

HIGH WIRE ACT by 1968 Plymouth driven by Marilyn Sue Brawner, 26, of Henning, sent her to Lauderdale County Hospital for a day. Eastbound on Highway 19 west of Ripley at 12:10 a.m. Saturday, it struck the rear of a 1973 Pontiac which Bobby Cooper, 24, of Route 1, Ripley, headed west, Highway Patrolman Billy Wayne Williams, but the other car, heavily damaged, wound up on a power line, putting the lights out along Lake Drive in Ripley as well as along Highway 19 West.

Utility Granted $368,000 Loan

A $368,000 loan to Ponderosa Electric Co-operative, Inc. of Halls, has been approved by the Rural Electrification Administration, U. S. Senator Jim Sasser, reports.

Russell Jacobis, manager of the co-operative, says the money will be used to complete the second phase of an expansion program which will add 30 miles of line and 560 customers to the system. Jacobis said total cost will be approximately $450,000.

The co-operative, founded in 1940, serves more than 7,000 customers on 1,087 miles of line in Lauderdale, Haywood, Crockett, Dyer, and Obion Counties.

The utility, which has headquarters on old Highway 51 North in Halls, employs 27 persons.

Since its organization 37 years ago, Charles Price, of Dyer County, and Clifford Sweat, of Lauderdale County, have been the only presidents. Jacobis became manager on Nov. 15, 1971.

First service to customers was energized on Jan. 13, 1942.

Dr. R. T. Shull Signs Contract With Clinic

The Halls Area Health Service Clinic, Inc. has signed a contract with Dr. Robert T. Shull, effective Oct. 13th, and has assumed complete management of the health clinic.

C. G. Dyer, manager of the clinic, said that Richard Hume, administrator of Lauderdale County Hospital, has been notified that the contract with the hospital has been terminated.

In a letter to Mr. Hume, O. J. Nunn, president of the Health Service Center, expressed the appreciation of the townspeople of Halls and Health Center officials for the assistance given by Mr. Hume and hospital personnel in making the clinic possible.

Dyer said that the clinic has treated 834 patients since opening Aug. 1st. Funds for the clinic were secured from a grant by the Kelllogg Foundation and the federal government.

HEATING ENERGY
The heating of buildings accounts for 25 per cent of all the energy used in this country, says the Consumer Register.

FOR ABOUT THE COST OF BAKING A CAKE, YOU CAN SHARE A 10 MINUTE SLICE OF LIFE. BY LONG DISTANCE.

You can share a lot of sweet memories with someone a thousand miles away. Just dial the 1-way and talk for ten minutes for only $2.44 plus tax. Any evening Sunday through Friday between 5 PM and 11 PM. These evening rates are lower than rates for long distance calls dialed during weekdays.

Call often. And add a little frosting to a friendship.

Low One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed long distance calls. Low One-Plus rates do apply to station-to-station calls placed with an operator where long distance dialing facilities are not available. Low One-Plus rates do not apply to operator-assisted calls such as person-to-person, collect, credit card, collect, and on calls charged to another number, including special billing numbers.

It Rained And Rained

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McBride, Jr. of Ripley, were in Knoxville weekend before last to attend the Tennessee-Georgia Tech football game. They took along as their guest Mrs. McBride's mother, Mrs. Joe Hurt, who was on vacation from her job as assistant cashier at Bank of Halls.

Well, Thelma enjoyed the trip but may not go again. You see, it rained and rained and rained at the football game.

Anyhow, Lynnise says she is going to take her mother again—but Thelma says she will have to guarantee no rain.

A Low Blow

It seems to us that President Jimmy Carter turned demagogue last week in an effort to secure support for his energy program when he attacked the major oil companies, accusing them of profiteering, ripping off the public, etc.

In actuality Mr. Carter did not have many of his facts correct and struck another blow in the effort to destroy major businesses.

Some sort of energy program is a must, but Mr. Carter's doesn't seem to be the answer, and certainly his tactics are to be deplored.

Briefies

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Baker, of Germantown, and Mrs. Robert Baker returned Tuesday of last week after several days at points in Texas and Old Mexico. En route home they visited their brother and sister, Donald Baker, in a Little Rock, Ark. hospital. Mr. Baker has since returned to his home at Jonesboro, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Simmons and sons were in Memphis Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Nunn flew Saturday to Houston, Tex., where Mr. Nunn attended the American Bankers' Association convention.

Dr. and Mrs. Hutson McCorkle, of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. Jasper Brewer and son, David, of Collinwood, spent the weekend with Mrs. H. G. McCorkle.

Mrs. J. N. McCord, of Nashville, and Mrs. Maud Culppepper, of Gallatin, spent Monday and Tuesday with Mrs. McCord's sister, Mrs. Wymond Hurt, and Mr. Hurt.

William Spence, of Sweetwater, spent the later part of last week with his brother, Lawson Spence, of Dyersburg, and sister, Mrs. Charles Alsbrook, of Halls. Claude Spence and Jack Spence, of Los Angeles, Calif., also arrived last week for a visit with their brother and sister. They will return home early next week.

Harrell Austin is in South Dakota, pheasant hunting.

Mrs. Perry Williams flew to San Antonio, Tex., during the weekend for a visit with her brother, Edmund Neely.

Mrs. Birdie Spence, Mrs. W. G. Spence, and Mrs. Holice Gilliland were in Brownsville Tuesday afternoon.

Among those attending the Memphis State Hall of Fame induction banquet at the Hyatt Regency at Memphis last Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Conrad, of Paducah, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Barbour, of Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alsbrook, of Halls, son-in-law of Mrs. Conrad, was among those inducted. Mrs. Conrad is the former Virginia Williams, of Gates.

Warrens Feted At Open House

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warren, Jr., who have recently occupied their new home on West Main, were complimented Oct. 8th with a house warming in their home. Hostesses for the informal affair were Mr. and Mrs. Stan Carnell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Viar, Mr. and Mrs. James Vaden, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lovelace.

Guests brought useful and attractive gifts or added to the money tree to be used to purchase something for the house.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Betty Cole, Miss Fern Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Criffield, and Mrs. Frank Williams, all of Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. John Moss Cherry and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jordan, all of Crockett County.

Delicious finger foods and punch were served from the dining table, which was centered with an antique basket filled with yellow and bronze mums and flanked by hurricane lamps holding glowing yellow candles.

MARIJUANA SMUGGLING

Not much marijuana is grown in this country, compared to amounts imported. Most of it is coming into our country from Mexico.

Estimates are that 90% comes from Mexico through California, Texas, and other southwestern states.

It is just as illegal to grow, sell, or transport marijuana in Mexico as it is in the United States but it seems as though our policing system is better organized and our laws more rigidly enforced.

Pharmacist has "tried them all..." discovers weight control program that really works!

Pharmacist Dan Smith of Burger's Drug Store in St. Charles, Illinois is a NaturSlim "believer" after losing 18 pounds in just two weeks. After hearing so much about the NaturSlim program from customers and seeing the excellent results they were having, Dan decided to try it himself.

"In my many years as a pharmacist, I've seen and tried numerous weight-loss plans, but none have worked as well for me as NaturSlim. And NaturSlim is very nutritional too!"

After three months, Dan has not regained any of the lost pounds either, so often happens when "rebounding" from starvation diet plans. He maintains his weight by taking NaturSlim once daily... and eating normally otherwise.

Dan says, "It was surprisingly easy, too! I didn't have to attend any weigh-ins, starve myself or do any special exercises." With the NaturSlim program, there are no shots, drugs or long lists of forbidden foods. In fact, you are encouraged to eat a normal, well-balanced dinner every day.

The next time you are in the St. Charles area, stop by Burger's Drugs and see Dan yourself. He'll tell you personally what he thinks about NaturSlim!

Halls To So. Fulton After Loss To Lake

Halls High School's Tiger eleven, smarting from a 30-6 loss to Lake County last Friday which probably took them out of the District 15-A race despite a record now 6-1, are favored this Friday as they play at South Fulton.

South Fulton took its second win of the season and its first Reelfoot Conference victory last week in a homecoming triumph over Alamo's Red Devils, 6-0.

South Fulton played a conservative ground game, while Alamo ran wide and passed more often. South Fulton's defense—which included two interceptions and a couple of sacks—provided the margin of victory.

Lake County's win from Halls put its record at 3-0, and after the upset of Dyer County, 14-13, by Old Hickory Academy, Lake County needs only a split with McKenzie and Dyer County to take the title. The Falcons will be favored over both clubs.

No Score At Halls Into Half's Final Minute

Lake County closed down Halls' Dwight McKinney, holding him to 29 yards on nine carries, and the Tigers were unsuccessful in shifting to fullback Marvin Brown.

The first half went scoreless into the final minute, but after Falcon quarterback Shane Adcock hit three straight passes for first downs, Lonnie Elam dived over from the one with 0:40 on the clock. After a penalty against the Tigers, he got the 2-point conversion.

In the third period, Elam shook a Tiger loose from a 55-yard Adcock punt at the seven, and Jerome Johnson recovered for the Falcons. Adcock went over from the one, and Tom Lovell kicked the extra point to make the scoreboard read 15-0 with 7:41 in the quarter.

Ronald Hopkins rambled 49 yards for another Falcon TD with 1:31 in the third period. A penalty again backed the Tigers against the goal for Elam's 2-point run.

Before the period ran out, McKinney took a pass from Walter Lazure for 36 yards and the lone Tiger touchdown. The Falcons posted their final tally with three minutes remaining in the game, when Scotty Naifeh returned an interception 60 yards to the Halls three. Elam took it over, and Lovell kicked the point.

Elam, having a great defensive night, intercepted, caused one of three Tiger fumbles, and sacked the Tiger quarterback twice, in addition to his scoring.

Lake County had 14 first downs to ten for Halls, and 183 yards to 214.

Willie Robison had 21 tackles for Halls, Jimmy Meeks, 13, and John Barnes, Steve Harber, and Ricky Robison ten each.

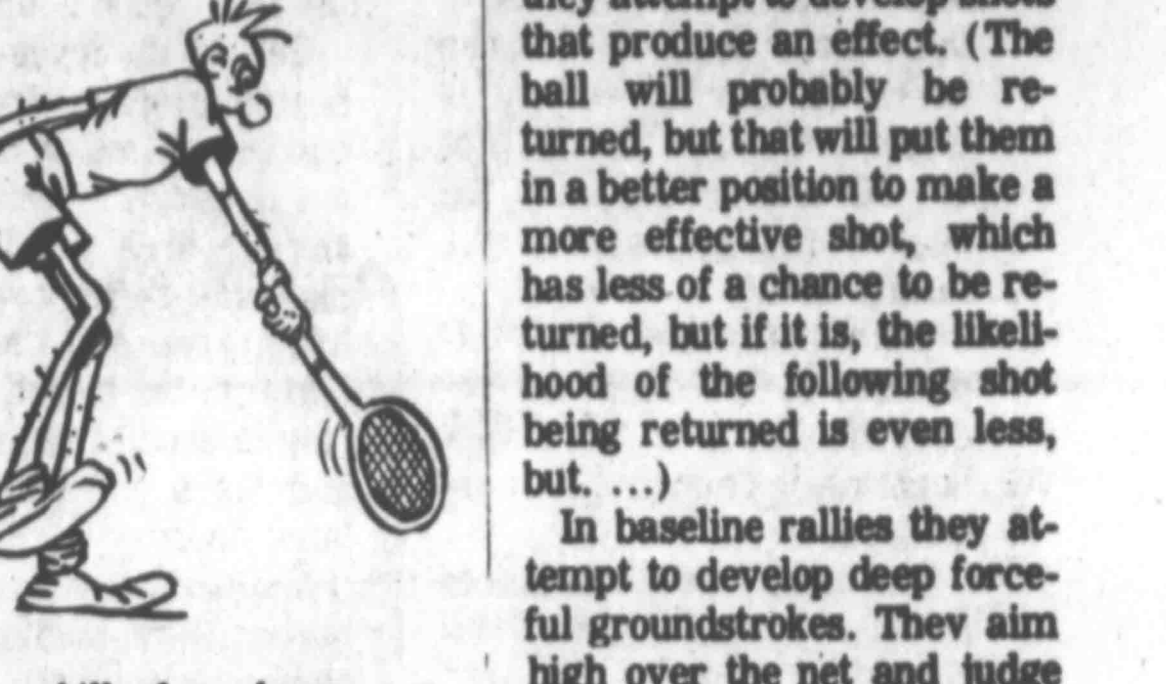

HIS ARMS AND LEGS WERE FLYING as this Halls carrier headed into the fray with Max Arnold (78) tumbling (lower right) and Joseph Jones (35) standing guard.

MARVIN BROWN (30) IS MAKING TRACKS as Lake County's Jerome Johnson (73) goes after him in the crucial game Lake County won from Halls Friday, 30-6.

FIRST ONE IN Skill is measured in mastering shots

By ED COLLINS
Copley News Service

The skill of a player can often be determined by counting the number of shots he has mastered:

A wide slice serve, a sharply angled backhand, a deep crosscourt forehand, a good drop shot, a low backhand return of serve, a solid backhand volley down-the-line...

These are shots the player can count on—they are reliable, and effective.

Many players judge their tennis ability by the winners they put away, and the number of groundstrokes, volleys and overheads that go unanswered.

Some days they walk off the court feeling great—but most of the time they're downright depressed.

What's responsible for this frustration is an attempt at hitting shots they have little chance at making. Blasting a forehand 80 miles per hour, aiming two inches over the net, and one foot from the line, usually has disappointing results.

Enlightened students of the Home-Coming At Halls Jr. High

Halls Junior High School's gridders are hosting Dyersburg at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday in the Halls team's homecoming game.

The Tiger Cubs are undefeated in five games.

The Halls "B" team won Monday from Lake County, 46-6, in a runaway.

COOKING CORNER

The dry look — an oldie but goodie

By MARJORIE RICE
Copley News Service

In the light of energy and food costs, and the resurgence of home gardens, food drying can make sense.

For some garden crops drying is a boon.

Zucchini, for example, doesn't freeze well, and is difficult to can. But it dries perfectly, into salty, crisp chips, something like potato chips.

Bumper crops of peaches, apricots or other soft fruits, simple as a screen tray and a sunny, dry day.

JOHN PORTER AND MRS. NOEL SHERROD study scripts for Saturday's Shindig.

Generally, the steps are simple. Food is washed and cut up, then prepared for drying by blanching a few minutes in boiling water or steam, or by treating it with sulfur or other chemicals.

After these steps, the food is placed on trays outdoors, in an oven or a special dryer, and left until it is dry.

Be sure to use only flavorful, ripe foods, cleaned and free of defects, for all drying.

For fruit leathers, overripe (but not spoiled) fruit and old canned fruit (with liquid drained off) also can be used.

Remove stones or pits from fruit; peel or leave unpeeled, depending on taste (except for peaches; peel them). Cut fruit into chunks and place it in a food chopper or blender.

As a rule, don't try to puree more than 1 cup of fruit at a time if you're using a blender.

Pour puree onto a plastic-wrap lined cookie sheet. (Foil or wax paper also can be used.) Tilt the sheet to evenly distribute the pulp; don't spread it with a knife or spatula.

Fruit leather should be quite tart, but you can sweeten some purees, such as oranges or pineapple. Use corn syrup or honey to sweeten to taste. Start with 1/4 tablespoon of a sweetener and blend well; taste; add more if needed. Remember, flavors will intensify as food dries.

One 14-in.-by-16-in. cookie sheet will hold 2 1/2 to 3 cups of puree. Only pans with low sides (no more than 1/2 inch) should be used, so air will properly circulate.

If you're drying leather in the sun, cover the pan with nylon net or cheesecloth to protect it from insects. Use pins to keep the covering above the level of the fruit, but be sure all the sides are protected.

If the weather is above 85 degrees, and relative humidity is below 60 per cent, the trays can be placed in the sun. Bring them in at night if temperatures drop more than 20 degrees, or if fog or high humidity is expected.

Drying will take two to three days, depending on the weather.

If you want a more surefire drying time, use the oven. Set the oven at its lowest, usually 140 degrees. Place the sheets in the oven and leave the door cracked two inches on an electric oven; up to eight inches on a gas oven.

The fruit leather will be dried in four to five hours.

In a dehydrator, set temperature at 140 degrees and dry for four to five hours.

Properly dried fruit leather will be sticky to the touch. Lift the edge and peel it back about an inch. If it peels readily, it's properly dried.

Storage is important in food drying. If air and moisture are allowed to get at the food, it will rehydrate and possibly spoil.

When preparing jerky, use very lean beef (flank, or similar cut) cut into strips 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick, 1 to 1 1/2 inches wide and 4 to 12 inches long.

For oven drying, blot meat strips dry with paper towels and stretch meat across oven racks. Allow edges to touch, but not overlap. Leave enough space on the racks for air to circulate. Set temperature at 140 degrees and let strips dry for about 11 hours.

Feel the oven air to be sure it is warm, but not hot enough to cook the meat. Keep the door ajar to allow air to circulate and carry away moisture. An electric fan placed in front of the drying rack will help remove the moisture.

Jerky also can be dried in a dehydrator, following the directions given for the brand you use. And it can be dried outdoors.

For air or sun drying, use a grill suspended over an open barbecue. Line the barbecue with foil to reflect the sun; stretch strips of meat over the grill.

Place in the sun and allow meat to dry for 4 to 6 days, depending on the temperature and how dry you want it to be. Meat strips also can be strung on wire, with a small button between each strip to keep them from touching.

The awards, the first ever achieved by the three plants, were made at the 49th annual meeting of the American Die Casting Institute in Lincolnshire, Ill.

County Fair Day For Home Clubs

County Fair Day in First Christian Church in Halls Thursday of last week drew 85 home demonstration club members and visitors.

The Gates Club acted as host to welcome them.

After crafts displays and luncheon, the group heard Mrs. Robert C. Taylor, of Ripley, discuss equal rights for women and their effect on family living.

She also discussed the Tennessee International Women's Year Conference in Clarksville June 24-26th.

Mrs. W. L. Lawrence, new County Council president, led the devotion.

Other new officers are Mrs. Roy Thompson, vice-president, Mrs. John Pappas, beginning her second term as secretary, Mrs. J. F. Chipman, Jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Byron Escue, Jr., reporter.

Too much togetherness in energy-efficient home?

By JAMES M. WOODARD
Copley News Service

"This idea of a 'family retreat' area in new homes is the worst thing I've ever heard of. Saving energy is important, but it should not be allowed to imperil the health and happiness of the family unit."

This comment was expressed by a reader of a recent column in which a new home design concept was described.

The design, in the interests of energy conservation, included a "family retreat" area. Its use would be like a combination family room and eat-in kitchen.

The area, including a fireplace, could be sealed off from the rest of the house during the winter months. The family could basically live within the confines of this "retreat" area, enjoying warmth from the fireplace — thus saving energy required to heat an entire house.

"Too much togetherness is for the birds," the reader commented. "Wrecking family tranquility is much too high a price for saving a bit of energy. Let's keep things in proper perspective."

The reader further pointed out that one of the most successful and popular features of many new homes today is the separation of basic activity and living areas. Living room, family room, dining room, recreation room — all can be used simultaneously without the groups getting in each other's hair.

But saving energy is indeed important. Many good ideas for achieving this goal were demonstrated in the same experimental home in which the "retreat area" was suggested.

The project, recently completed, included the design and construction of an energy-efficient residence. It was developed by the Research Foundation of the National Association of Home Builders, under contract with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The entrance foyer, for example, is complete cut off from the rest of the house. This creates an air lock which prevents energy loss when the front door is opened.

Better Bridge

Duplication often negates high card strength. Look at this:

S A Q x S K J x
H Q J H A x
D A J x x D K Q x x
C Q x x x C J x x x

Though the partnership shares 29 high-card points, no game contract succeeds against accurate defense unless the opening lead is from the king of hearts. Against three no-trump, the most likely contract, if a heart is not opened, the defender who does not hold the king may lead to win the initial club lead and shift to a heart.

Against a minor suit game any passive defense will prevail. Brazilian star Pedro Paulo Assumpcao played the heart suit correctly and did indeed end with 10 tricks.

West's thinking was muddled. Had he knocked out the spade ace and then followed with the queen of hearts on a second lead, Assumpcao would have faced a difficult decision. If the queen was not a false card he could assure the contract by covering, then giving East a subsequent trick with the jack.

Remember, declarer needed but two heart tricks. Of course, to cover would have been an error here with West still retaining the heart stopper.

East was even more culpable. Had he overtaken the ten of hearts at trick three and returned a spade, Assumpcao could not have established the suit without surrendering the lead to West.

LONDON FIRE
The Great Fire of London began on Sept. 2, 1666.

What were his choices? He had a slight trick available if West held the ace of hearts. But hearts could be set up safely only if the ace was doubled. Otherwise either defender would clear spades with the ace still at large.

There were two extra tricks in diamonds to be had if East was looking at the doubleton queen or West the queen, ten alone. The latter was more likely since West had announced length in spades.

Assumpcao tested this by leading a diamond to his hand. When the ten did not appear he dismissed that hope and switched to a low heart, allowing West's ten to hold.

West was certain he would never regain the lead and so abandoned spades, hoping to give declarer a problem, shifting to a club. Had he established spades, declarer, he thought, would have no option but to duck a second heart, dropping East's ace. Now Assumpcao would have 10 tricks.

The club switch removed the pressure. Since West was proclaiming he did not hold the ace of hearts Assumpcao played the heart suit correctly and did indeed end with 10 tricks.

West's thinking was muddled. Had he knocked out the spade ace and then followed with the queen of hearts on a second lead, Assumpcao would have faced a difficult decision. If the queen was not a false card he could assure the contract by covering, then giving East a subsequent trick with the jack.

Animal traps that people fall into

By MARION WELLS
Copley News Service

In some popular national park areas the animals may be more "wise" to the people than all too many campers are to the animals.

At Yosemite the bears' latest caper is going out on a limb to fish food supplies campers tie there. Seems their weight breaks off the branch and the goodies attached. The bears literally "fall" to on the food, leaving hungry humans "up a tree."

Unfortunately, not all mishaps with animals are a laughing matter. They've cost some unlucky victims a life or limb, not just a supper.

An important precaution to take is leaving certain things home. That includes cologne. Many animals, like people, are tying food as high up as possible in a tree (Yosemite bears notwithstanding). Experts urge that cooking, eating and food storage areas be a good safe distance away from your tent or sleeping area. Never bring food into your tent.

Enjoy the animals, but keep your distance, and keep your hands to yourself.

To handle animals is also to risk contact with diseases they may carry, including rabies and plague. National Park Service information officer Duncan Morrow says, "Assume any wild animal is infected. Don't touch sick or dead animals. Report dead animals to health authorities. Never pick up near road burrows."

It's asking for trouble to treat baby animals in ways their mamas and papas might consider "uncivilized."

"Baby wildlife is seldom abandoned; the watchful parents are close by," the National Safety Council warns. Morrow notes, "A protective parent can be far more intelligent than a similar adult guard."

Remember, too, that "in their rutting season, the males of many species can be very unpredictable."

Hoves can inflict severe cuts. Bears can maul. Elk can trample. Bison can gore. But despite an ever present element of unpredictability, most animals generally would rather retreat than attack, if they know you're coming and can get away. Hikers would do well to wear cowbells, use noisemakers, sing and-or whistle in bear country. Flashlights, a fire, yelling and clanging pans can often scare off unwanted visitors to your campsite.

Ask knowledgeable local authorities such as rangers or park service information officers to brief you on hazards you may encounter. Find out what to do if you surprise an animal accidentally. Carry appropriate first aid information and supplies.

It might also be best to leave your own pet at home. If, like you, may be a bit out of its element in the "wilds." The friendlier your pet, the more likely it is to get into trouble.

Felton Flees For 6 Hours

James E. Choate, 30, serving 25 years for rape and assault with intent to murder, was recaptured Tuesday, six hours after he kicked his way out of a van taking him from Fort Pillow State Prison Farm to the Nashville penitentiary.

While the van was parked at the Madison County courthouse in Jackson to pick up two other prisoners, Choate broke open a locked tool-box and used a hack-saw to remove his handcuffs.

He did not take a shotgun which was under the truck seat, nor four shells in the glove compartment.

When David Winslow called the highway patrol to complain of a truck left-behind by hunters—at an abandoned house off Cotton Grove Road, about seven miles east of Jackson, he learned the truck had been stolen from the parking lot of a Jackson dairy.

Rain Brings 2 Accidents

Rain was blamed Monday afternoon for two highway accidents in the county.

Wayne Tims, 39, of Ripley, received an arm injury, not believed severe, when a 1976 Chevrolet pick-up he was driving toward Ripley and a 1973 concrete mixer met head-on on the Cane Creek bridge between Whitefield and Ripley.

The mixer, owned by Jimmy Diggs, was driven by Steve Paul Harrison, 25, of Route 5, Ripley, uninjured, according to Highway Patrolman Scott White, Jr.

Mrs. Lynette C. Hilliard, of Route 2, Halls, was treated in Parkview Hospital in Dyersburg for a hand cut and dismissed after her 1969 Buick overturned a mile east of Highway 51 on Beech Bluff Road, near Halls.

hoodhounds from Fort Pillow, Choate surrendered about 2 p.m., without resistance.

Aid Unit Set For St. Jude

Mrs. Don Paris was elected president as a county chapter for St. Jude was formed at City Hall Tuesday of last week.

Other officers are Dale Bruner, vice-president and finance chairman; Mrs. L. R. Weddworth, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Betty Smith, public relations chairman; Mrs. Peggy Ripley, fund-raising chairwoman, assisted by Mrs. Ben Emerson and Mrs. Larry Hawks; Mrs. J. P. Chipman, Jr., memorial and honoraria chairman; and Don Paris and Mrs. Bernice Crain, directors. Other directors will be named later.

Membership fee is any gift to St. Jude, a children's research hospital in Memphis where 3,000 children—mostly with catastrophic diseases—from all the states and twelve foreign countries are being treated without expense to their families—a policy introduced by Danny Thomas in

Rites Lament Mrs. Younger

Mrs. Celestine Black Younger, 64, of Ripley, who with her late husband, W. T. Younger, operated Younger's Jewelers in Ripley for many years, died at 1:15 p.m. Friday in St. Joseph East Hospital in Memphis.

Services were at 2 p.m. Sunday in Ripley Funeral Home, with burial in Maplewood Cemetery.

She leaves a brother, Ben Black, of Frayser, and a sister, Mrs. Willie Mary Wilson, of Ripley.

1962 when the hospital was opened.

At that time, fewer than 1% of all patients could expect to live five years, the meeting here was told; today, more than 60% have a life expectancy of five years or more.

Any office, or First Federal Savings and Loan, will accept membership gifts.

A film on St. Jude is available from Mr. or Mrs. Paris.

Schools Send 4 To Capital

Lauderdale County schools will send two teachers and two students to Washington, D.C., April 23rd-29th to study the national government's operations through funding by the Close-Up Foundation, a non-profit, non-partisan organization.

Other students whose parents will meet their expenses may also make the trip.

Lauderdale, Tipton, and Shelby Counties are the first three counties in this state to be offered this program, as a result of the interest of U.S. Rep. Ed Jones and others.

Bernice Crain Top Assessor

Bernice Crain, of Ripley, county tax assessor, was installed at the Haysi Regency in Memphis Monday as president of the state organization of tax assessors in 95 counties.

Retired Teachers Hear Sen. Davis

State Sen. Bill Jim Davis, of Covington, will discuss the legislative program for the General Assembly convening in January when the Lauderdale County Retired Teachers Association meets at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Farm Bureau Building in Ripley.

Race 4 Pest Fought, Race 5 Appears

By Charles T. Peal

A new race 4 variety of soybean resistant to Race 4 nematodes, in development for several years at the Jackson, Tenn., Experiment Station, has been named Bedford.

Dr. James Epps, of Jackson, has played an important role in the development of this bean. This variety is a cross between a black bean and the Forrest variety. It has many characteristics similar to those of Forrest, including its maturity date.

Plants are six to eight inches taller than Forrest plants. They have white flowers, brown pubescence, and yellow seed with black hilum.

Race 4 nematodes have reduced yields considerably for several years in this county. Scientists have been working hard to find a variety resistant to this Race 4 nematode.

Now that they have succeeded, they have already found evidence of a Race 5 nematode, showing that variety selection in agriculture is an unending search.

Variety trials of Bedford in Dyer County, provided yields similar to Forrest, but most of the plants had fallen down. This could have been the result of dry weather.

Farmers interested in growing this new variety for seed may contact the Tennessee Crop Improvement Association in Nashville, Tenn., Farmers Co-op in Halls, or Hurl Hurns Co. in Halls.

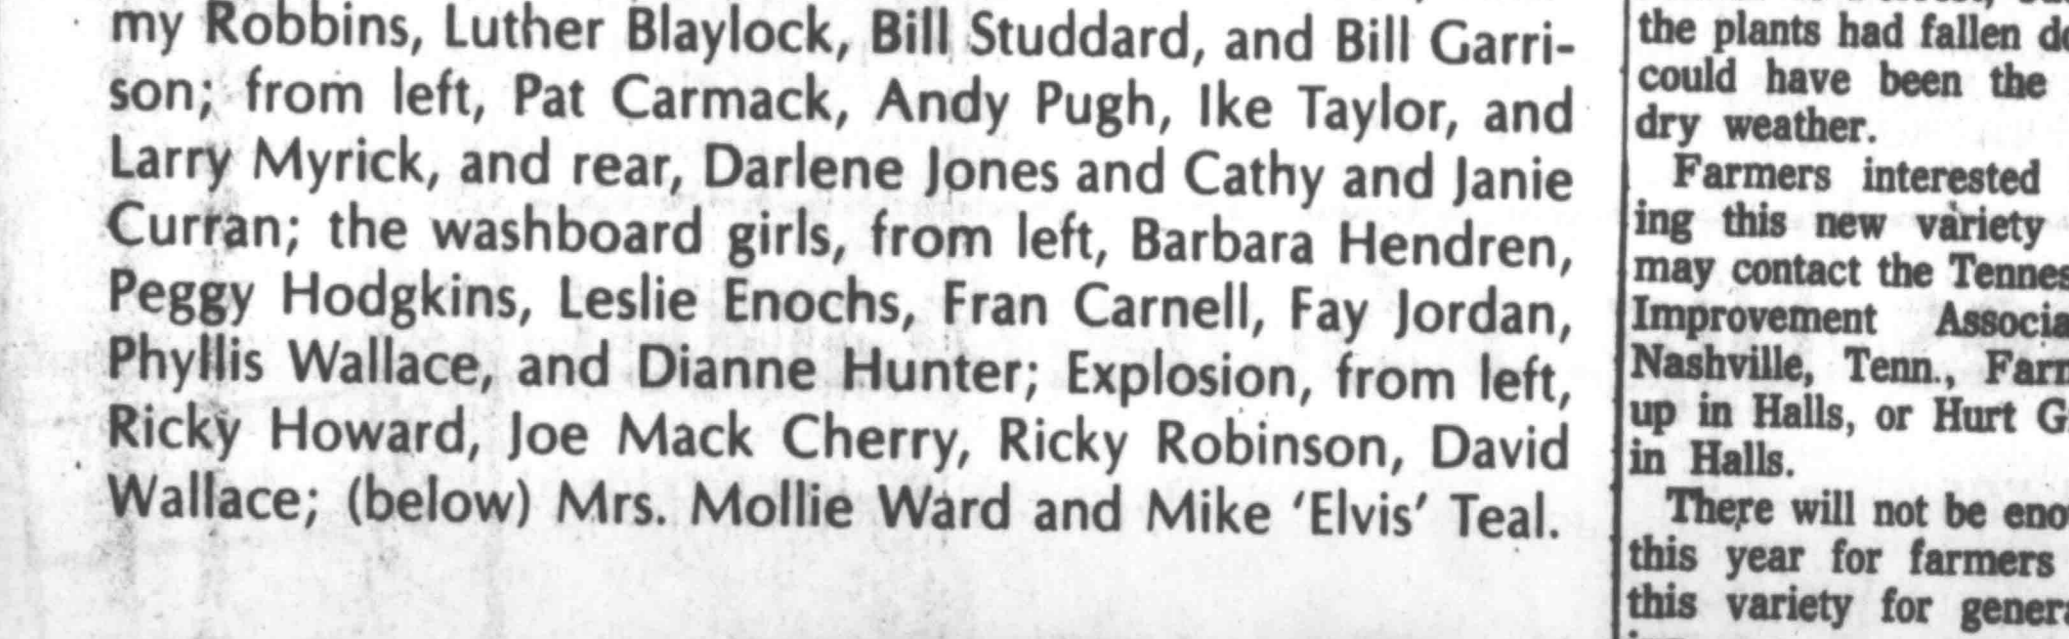

There will not be enough seed this year for farmers to have this variety for general planting.

RESOLUTION

Initial resolution in connection with the issuance of not to exceed one hundred thirty-eight thousand dollars ($138,000) General Obligation Bonds of the Town of Halls, Lauderdale County, Tennessee, as follows:

WHEREAS, in order to provide adequate medical care and treatment for the citizens and residents of the Town of Halls, Lauderdale County, Tennessee, it is essential that a medical clinic be established in said town;

WHEREAS, Chapter 16, Title 6, Tennessee Code Annotated, as amended, authorizes and permits the issuance of general obligation bonds by municipalities for, among other purposes, the purpose of financing the construction of such medical clinic facilities;

WHEREAS, therefore, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the Town of Halls, Lauderdale County, Tennessee, in the aggregate amount of not to exceed One Hundred Thirty-Eight Thousand Dollars ($138,000), for the purpose of obtaining funds for the construction of a medical clinic, including all property real and personal, appurtenant thereto or connected with such work, and defraying all necessary and incidental expenses in connection therewith;

Section 3. The aforesaid medical clinic, shall be located, in, and owned by, the Town of Halls, said facility to be operated, managed, and maintained, on behalf, and under the control and direction, of said Town of Halls, as a part of the health program thereof, by the Halls Area Health Services Corporation.

Section 4. The Bonds shall be issued pursuant to Chapter 16, Title 6, Tennessee Code Annotated, as amended; shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum; and shall be payable, both principal and interest, exclusively from taxes on all taxable property in the Town of Halls, Lauderdale County, Tennessee.

Section 5. All resolution and orders, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this Resolution, are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed and this Resolution shall be in immediate effect from and after its adoption, writing of the Town of Halls, Lauderdale County, Tennessee, requiring it.

Adopted and approved this 20th day of October, 1977.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Only a faint breeze disturbs the breathless stillness of the cool fall mountain evening. Eyes, wide with horror, are turned to the lone person standing among the grave stones. Sights of relieved tension mingle with the night air at the close of the ghastly tale, but no one will venture home alone that night.

Telling ghost stories in the Old Jonesborough Cemetery is only one of the events sponsored by the National Association for the Preservation and Perpetuation of Storytelling (NAPPS) at the 4th annual National Storytelling Festival October 7-9 in Jonesboro.

Throughout the three day festival, workshops will be held at several locations in the historical town to allow participants to take in as many forms of storytelling as they wish. Bobby McMillan, mountain songster and yarn spinner, will be telling tales in the Appalachian tradition at the Jonesboro Presbyterian Church. A trip over to Sister's Row will find Barbara Freeman and Connie Regan, famed for her children's stories, in a workshop entitled "Mountain to Modern." For lovers of the ghastly tale, Kathryn Windham and Jackie Torrence will be telling their spookiest in the Byrd Kitchen. These are but a few of the events and storytellers scheduled for this year's celebration.

It all began in 1973, with Jimmy Neil Smith, a Jonesboro businessman, who felt the art of storytelling was in danger. A storytelling festival seemed to be the perfect solution. In October of 1973, storytellers from throughout the Southeast gathered to tell their tales from a farm wagon in the middle of town. From that first festival, the event gained momentum and has become bigger every year.

Storytellers could not have picked a better place for their purpose than Jonesboro. The town has a sum of the past that makes a perfect setting for stories. As the first town west of the Alleghenies, Jonesboro was the capital of the people of the state. It was here that the original 13 colonies and failed statehood by one vote. Andrew Jackson first practiced law in Jonesboro. He fought a duel there and sentenced a horse thief to be hanged. The Christopher Taylor House where Jackson resided has been restored and moved to a downtown park.

Historic Jonesboro is in the midst of restoration with brick sidewalks, underground power lines and old fashioned street lights. The Presbyterian Church, built in 1846 and the location for several of the storytelling workshops, is complete with slave gallery and the original pulpit. Built in 1797, Chester Inn has been continuous service as an inn, hotel and apartment house. Guests have included Presidents Andrew Johnson, Polk, Jackson and Governor John Sevier.

A few miles from Jonesboro are several historic Tennessee landmarks. Rocky Mount, located between Bristol and Johnson City, served as the capitol of the first recognized government west of the Allegheny Mountains. The Tipson-Haynes Farm in Johnson City was settled in 1783-84 and is typical of the farms once operated by the small farmers of East Tennessee. The legendary Davy Crockett was born in East Tennessee, and his birthplace has been commemorated with the Davy Crockett Birthplace Park near Johnson City.

Jonesboro lies in the heart of one of the most historic sections of the South. The spirit of the almost two century old town still lives and provides the perfect background for the kind of tall tales told at the National Storytelling Festival. Auzie Cates Re-Union Has Five Generations

Five generations were present Oct. 16th when 28 members of the Auzie Cates family gathered in his home at Nankipoo for a re-union.

Guests were Mrs. Daniel Redmond and son, Bryan, of Albany, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Davis and daughters, Angele, Denise, and Nico, of Millington; Mrs. Beatrice Fowler and Mickey Fowler, of Nut Bush; the Ellie Harrells and Auzie Harrell, of Halls; Bobby Criffield, of Edith; the Hubert Escues, Glen Criffield, and Mrs. Donnie Tatum and children, Emily, Jonathan, and Robin, of Ripley; and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Davis and sons, Jonathan, Scott, and Tracy, of Nankipoo.

Mr. Cates, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Escue, Mrs. Tatum, and Jonathan Tatum represented the five generations.

Nixon Club Hears R.N.

Mrs. Glenda Doty, registered nurse with the county health department, discussed diabetes and other health topics when the Ada Nixon Book Club met Wednesday last week with Mrs. Tolle Caldwell, who served apple cake with hot spiced tea.

Mrs. Doty used a film to point out symptoms of diabetes and recommend yearly tests—given weekly at the public health department for those fat, fair, and from a family with diabetic history.

Other guests were Mrs. Louise Biggs, Mrs. Elizabeth MacLin, and Mrs. Jim Patterson.

Mrs. Jacobs State Leader

Mrs. Marguerite Jacobs, wife of Forked Deer Electric Co-operative general manager Russell Jacobs, was named ladies' activities of the 36th annual meeting of the Tennessee Electric Co-operative Association in Nashville Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

She presided over a luncheon Tuesday at which 75 women delegates to the convention heard Mrs. Mary Lou Davis, owner of the Needle-Craft Shops, of Nashville, demonstrate crafts.

Some 300 delegates and friends attended the annual meeting, representing the 22 electric co-operatives serving about 1,500,000 Tennessee residents.

The 2-day program included addresses by House Speaker Ned McWhorter, Dr. Frank Parker, Mrs. Robert Wagner, Tennessee Valley Authority board chairman, author-lecturer Jacques Sroufe, and John Davenport, of National Rural Electric Co-operative Association.

Mrs. Jacobs is serving the last year of a 2-year term as chairman of the TECA's Women's Task Force.

She has also been named Region III chairman for Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky, and Mississippi to co-ordinate the program for a meeting at that organization next September in Gallinburg.

State Leaders Address DAR

Mrs. Dan C. Gary, second vice-regent of the Tennessee Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Nell Dyer, of Halls, the society's conservation chairman, addressed a luncheon at Rolling Hills County Club Wednesday of last week when Fort Prudhomme Chapter hosted Key Corner Chapter, of Dyersburg.

Mrs. Gary discussed resolutions adopted by the society's Continental Congress in Washington, D.C., the Tennessee Tea at the congress; the Tennessee Room at the DAR Museum; and her joy in having Kelli Keefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keefe, of Fulton Landing, as her page at the congress.

Mrs. Gary was introduced by Mrs. Arthur R. Walker, past regent of the Fort Prudhomme Chapter.

Mrs. Dyer chose the setting of fall flowers in hues of orange and gold, amid miniature pumpkins, Indian corn, and decorative gourds, to emphasize the conservation of energy and appreciation for trees and other natural resources.

Mrs. Adam M. Scott, vice-regent of the Fort Prudhomme Chapter, welcomed Mrs. Charles Vlar, of Halls, regent of Key Corner Chapter, her chapter members, and other guests for the event.

Carl F. Poston

Carl F. Poston, 84, formerly of Curve, died Tuesday of last week in Hardin's Guest Home in Memphis.

Services were Thursday in Maplewood Cemetery in Ripley.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ruth Poston; a step-daughter, Mrs. Ruth Sinclair, of Memphis; a brother, James Poston, of Ripley; and a sister, Mrs. Clara Arwood, of Halls.

Mrs. Jenkins Club Hostess

Progressive Homemakers met Tuesday of last week with Mrs. Harvey Jenkins, with Mrs. Mack Jenkins as co-hostess. Roll call was answered with enjoyable activities of the summer season.

Mrs. Kenny Childress distributed recipes using apples and sweet potatoes. Mrs. Mack Jenkins provided a tip for saving fireplace energy.

After plans for the year were discussed, apple pie and coffee were served.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Don Connell, with Mrs. Brantley Morris as co-hostess.

Bryan Clark

Bryan Clark, 71, of Friendship, brother of Mrs. Hattie Hicks, of Halls, died Tuesday of last week in his home. Services were held Thursday in Friendship Funeral Home, with burial in Yorkville Cemetery.

He was a retired farmer. He also leaves his wife, Mrs. Victoria Clark; a brother, Clyde Clark, of Bonicord; a half-brother, J. W. Clark, of Tipton; a half-sister, Mrs. Drucilla Wright, of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Miss Sheila Robison Bride Of C. A. Moore

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alan Moore were married Oct. 18th in a double ring ceremony in the home of the groom's brother, Michael H. Moore, at Concord, with the Rev. John A. Holt officiating.

The bride, Sheila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robison, of Halls, wore a floor length ivory gown of quince with an Empire waist and cowl neckline. The bride wore baby's breath in her hair and carried a bouquet of baby's breath and baby's breath.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Moore, of Concord.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. David Smith, of Gates.

In the reception, a 2-tier cake decorated with pink roses and topped with white satin wedding bells, was served with punch from a table centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations, with glowing pink candles.

Assisting in the reception were Miss Karen Chipman, Miss Donna Bishop, and Mrs. Michael H. Moore.

Special guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Johnnie Robison, of Frog Jump, the groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Jessie Mai White and Mrs. Agnes White, of Gates, and his great grandmother, Mrs. Maggie Sanford, of Gates.

After a short wedding trip, the Moores are residing on Keltner Street in Halls.

Mrs. Falkner

Mrs. Bertha Maurine Falkner, 65, of Central, widow of Lewis Falkner, died Sunday in Lauderdale County Hospital.

Services were at 2 p.m. Tuesday in First Assembly of God Church, with burial in Grace Cemetery.

She leaves two sons, the Rev. Danny Falkner, of Camden, and the Rev. T. J. Falkner, of Johnsonville; five daughters, Mrs. Ruby Duvall, Mrs. Jeannette Hargett, and Mrs. Betty Thompson, of Ripley, and Mrs. Sue Crenshaw and Mrs. Pat Worley, of Memphis; and two brothers, George Latham, of Friendship, and James Latham, of Crockett Mills.

R.H.S. Home-Coming Set

Ripley High School's home-coming parade rolls from the school through downtown Ripley at 6 p.m. Thursday, with a bonfire following to build Tiger spirits for Friday's clash with Bartlett.

The parade will include this year's home-coming maids—one black, one white from each class, each elected from three nominees. The maids are Terry Parker and Judy Peat, seniors; Jan Hardin and Sheila Montgomery, juniors; Charlotta Campbell and Donna Langley, sophomores; and Kathy Flagg and Leanne Hargett, freshmen.

Best home-room float in the parade will win $50, the runner-up $25, and the third place float $15.

Thursday is "Overhaul Bartlett" day at RHS, with students urged to wear overalls, and Friday is "Hat Day," with covers encouraged.

Fireworks are scheduled for half-time of the Ripley-Bartlett game which kicks off on Knee Field at 8 p.m.

Sportsmen help conserve wildlife

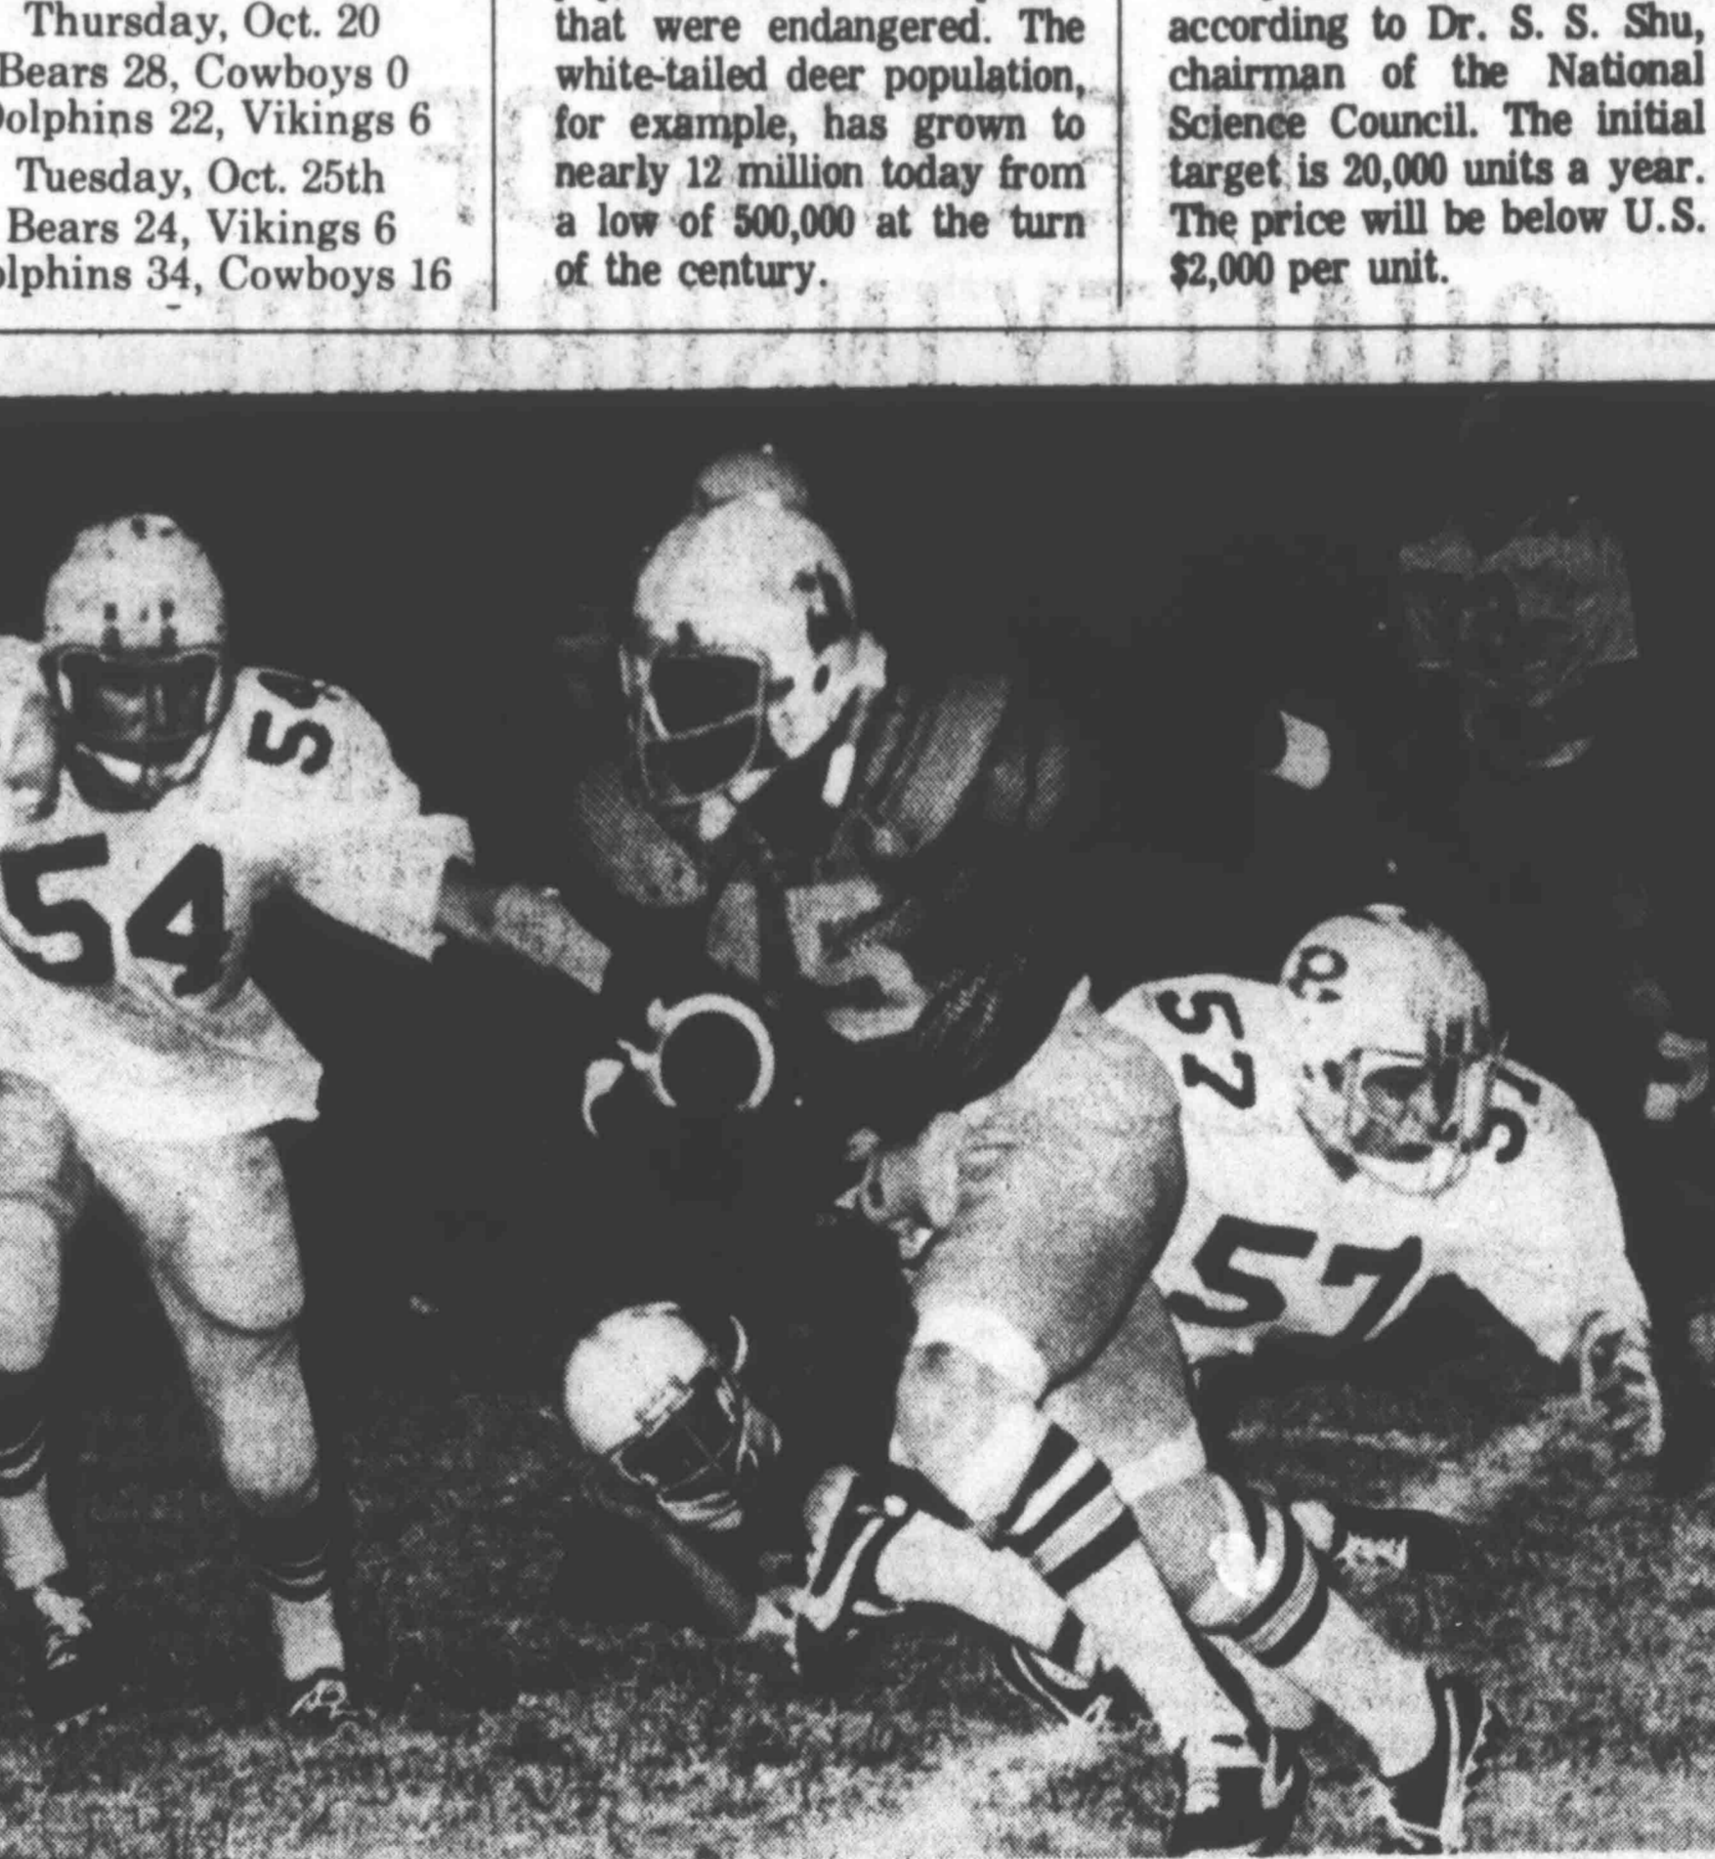

In the last 50 years, sportsmen have contributed over $5 billion to conservation and have made possible the purchase and improvement of millions of acres of wildlife habitat.

Such contributions have funded research to increase population of wildlife species that were endangered. The white-tailed deer population, for example, has grown to nearly 12 million today from a low of 500,000 at the turn of the century.

Halls Hosting Old Hickory

The Halls Tigers, now 7-1, will host Old Hickory Academy, of Jackson, Friday in the Tigers' final District 15A game of the season.

The Tiger finale Nov. 4th with First Assembly Christian School, of Memphis, originally slated in Memphis, has been switched to Halls.

The Tigers, remembering an Old Hickory upset last year, will be slight favorites Friday.

Two weeks ago, Old Hickory shocked Dyer County, 14-13, but it lost to Munford last Friday, 16-8.

McKinney Adds Four TDs

Dwayne McKinney scored four touchdowns and gained 213 yards in 17 carries as the Tigers defeated South Fulton, 27-6, Friday.

McKinney scored on a 17-yard run in the first quarter, and Ladd Roberts kicked the extra point. McKinney added his second touchdown from four yards out in the second quarter, and Roberts' kick was good to give the Tigers a 14-0 lead at half-time.

Jeff Clement scored South Fulton's points in the third quarter. Max Arnold crashed through to block the extra point try.

McKinney added two TDs in the final stanza with runs of eight and 77 yards. A run for a 2-point conversion on HALLS' JAMES REED (30) gets a flying leap from a Red Devil as he gains yardage on an end sweep.

Foe Doubled In Yardage

The Tigers posted 12 first downs and gained 310 yards. South Fulton had 10 first downs and 143 yards.

Jimmy Meeks blocked one South Fulton punt.

The Tigers continued to have trouble holding the ball as they fumbled six times and lost four. South Fulton fumbled twice and lost one.

Jimmy Meeks led Halls tacklers with 16 stops. Marvin Brown had 15, Ricky Robinson 12, and Willie Robinson and John Barnes 11 each.

Ripley Coasts Over Trojans

Ripley High School's Tigers, who easily dominated Dyersburg last Friday, 34-19, can expect more trouble from their home-coming guests this weekend, District 14 runner-up Bartlett, which rested last week with a 5-3 record.

Howard Taylor's score from the four and his conversion after an off-side penalty hit the Tigers to put eight points up for Ripley half-way through the first period in Dyersburg.

Lyon Fleming ran the kick back 34 yards to start a Dyersburg march that went 62 yards to score. Fleming added another Trojan tally, and Perry Holcomb kicked to put the hosts ahead, 13-8, with ten minutes left in the second period.

The clock had only 45 seconds in the half when AJ Gause went five yards to give Ripley a 15-14 lead.

The Tigers took less than three minutes to score twice as the second half opened.

Taylor broke loose for 55 yards to tally, and Tony Barbee intercepted Terry Dial's pass and took it 28 yards to pay dirt.

Barbee added Ripley's final score from the two.

THE BACKYARD GARDENER Spring-flowering bulbs for planting in fall

By PATRICK DENTON Copley News Service

When discussing the fall planting of spring-flowering bulbs, I deal recently with some of the many sorts of tulips and daffodils on the market.

But to lessen the disappointment of those in cold winter areas, there are several delightful sorts of bulbs, some quite unusual, that are fully hardy.

One is the grape hyacinth, or muscaria. This is a popular small bulb for spring bloom. It has many spikes of miniature hyacinth-like flowers, and is ideal for edging borders, in rockeries, or for forcing indoors, too.

Another hardy bulb is the Siberian squill or scilla sibirica. It often will bloom even in the snow, with its small, bell-like blooms.

Something like the scilla, and hardy as well, is the puschkinka. A lovely variety rarely used but ruggedly hardy is the lololion, from Siberia.

The top-sized bulbs are usually reserved for pot indoors, one to a pot. The second size is best for planting outdoors, as the top size bulbs produce large, heavy spikes of bloom that may be broken by winds.

Unfortunately, like daffodils, hyacinth are not hardy in the colder areas of the continent, except in a very sheltered spot under deep snow cover.

For those living in less severe climates, the crocus is probably the best known minor spring-flowering bulb.

These charming, bright blooms come in blues, violets, stripes, white and yellow. They are ideal and edging around the bases of trees, indoors for pot culture.

Bulbs can be placed in the perennial border, in the rockery, in the evergreen bed. We have one delightful bed of low-growing evergreens, with daffodils interspersed among them.

And since, in most cases, it's a do-it-yourself job, that makes it even less expensive.

On the outside of your home, you may want to caulk around window and door frames, sills, joints, and around window panes.

Inside, you may need to caulk between the foundation and the sill plate, around ceiling fixtures, water pipes, and drains.

ED JONES 7th DISTRICT OF TENNESSEE

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Earlier this year, a great deal of controversy was generated throughout the country when the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announced that it was going to propose that saccharin be banned in the United States.

That controversy set off a round of action including the introduction of several pieces of legislation by many members of Congress, including myself.

Generally, all that legislation was introduced to either postpone the proposed banning until further testing could be completed, or completely prohibit the FDA from enforcing such a proposal.

Last week, various hearings and debate on this issue came to a conclusion in the House. By a vote of 375-23, the House suspended the rules and passed H.R. 818 which prohibits the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare from implementing FDA's proposed ban for a period of 18 months.

The bill also prohibits HEW from taking any other action that would restrict or prohibit the sale or distribution of saccharin. It does not, however, limit the Department's authority to prescribe labeling for saccharin or any food, drug, or cosmetic which contains the artificial sweetener. More specifically, the bill also requires that the Secretary of HEW request that the National Academy of Science conduct a study to determine, if possible, whether or not a substance causing cancer in test animals will necessarily cause cancer in humans.

In conjunction with that, the study should also determine how much of a trade-off there is in the benefits of a given substance as opposed to its risks. I think these two questions are at the heart of the saccharin issue, and they may be central to other controversies surrounding the use of other food additives as well.

Now, let's look at the risks. The Canadian study on the future, it is an effective substitute for sugar. For diabetics, it is an essential substitute for sugar in their diets. These are two examples of benefits I am sure there are others.

ED JONES 7th DISTRICT OF TENNESSEE

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Earlier this year, a great deal of controversy was generated throughout the country when the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announced that it was going to propose that saccharin be banned in the United States.

That controversy set off a round of action including the introduction of several pieces of legislation by many members of Congress, including myself.

Generally, all that legislation was introduced to either postpone the proposed banning until further testing could be completed, or completely prohibit the FDA from enforcing such a proposal.

Last week, various hearings and debate on this issue came to a conclusion in the House. By a vote of 375-23, the House suspended the rules and passed H.R. 818 which prohibits the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare from implementing FDA's proposed ban for a period of 18 months.

The bill also prohibits HEW from taking any other action that would restrict or prohibit the sale or distribution of saccharin. It does not, however, limit the Department's authority to prescribe labeling for saccharin or any food, drug, or cosmetic which contains the artificial sweetener. More specifically, the bill also requires that the Secretary of HEW request that the National Academy of Science conduct a study to determine, if possible, whether or not a substance causing cancer in test animals will necessarily cause cancer in humans.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Also Scorpio Ascendant — Lots of excitement surrounds you. Look your best and dress well. Meditate on your goals and expectations. Help others who are having emotional difficulties. Keep secrets told you by another.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS Thumbs down on those 'thumbs up' riders

By DOROTHY ST. JOHN JACKSON Certified Master Graphonomist Copley News Service

Dear Dorothy: My wife criticizes me constantly for picking up hitchhikers. It's been a habit of mine for a long time, and so far, so good. Yet, I'm getting tired of my wife's nagging. What's your advice? K.L.

Dear K.L.: I say thumbs down on those "thumbs up" riders. True, some may be grateful, friendly travelers. But, some, also, travel with criminal records and equipment.

You have so few inhibitions that you move in on any situation, impetuously, and without forethought. Add to this the long crossing. It's the excitement you feel that swings you into action in spite of yourself.

Your personality operates on emotional waves that run by so fast that you bypass your judgment. You always act before you think, seen, basically, in your far flung forward slant, combined with the size of your writing.

You have so much energy and are so active, seen in the large p loops and long downstrokes, and you resist being told what to do, seen in the inflated k. Even at that, and because you asked for it, here's my advice. "Don't!"

To obtain your personal handwriting chart, send $3, a full page of your handwriting, and a bag, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dorothy St. John Jackson, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Allow 60 days.

Better Bridge

By ROBERT D. ROSENBLUM Copley News Service

Irving Rose of London has a reputation as a very aggressive bidder. His card reading substantiates his daring. Here are two examples of his play.

One of the biggest problems to overcome is consumer resistance to new marketing techniques, says the Department. And economists note that consumers probably would not see a significant drop in meat prices if the new techniques were adopted, but upward cost spirals could be slowed.
