Democratic Hopefuls In Halls

MRS. BOB CLEMENT, second from right, attended the Halls Street Festival Saturday after a coffee at the home of Halls Mayor and Mrs. Sammie Arnold. Mrs. Clement, who was in Halls on behalf of her husband's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor, was greeted uptown by Mayor Arnold, left, David R. Nunn, chairman of the board of Bank of Halls, and Ripley Mayor Rozelle Criner.

NASHVILLE MAYOR DICK FULTON, center, was welcomed to the Halls Street Festival Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Bernice Crain; of Ripley, and Festival Chairman Steve Levy. Mr. Fulton, former Fifth District Congressman, was in West Tennessee to further his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor.

FHA Tightening Insulation Rules

New insulation standards for housing in rural areas financed by the Farmers Home Administration—about 150 each year in this county—are going into effect, County Supervisor Joe Moss announced today.

Implementation of the standards, first scheduled for March 15th has been held up during federal court consideration of a suit by the National Association of Home Builders, challenging the new code.

After FHA prepared additional environmental material and a further hearing on the case was held, U.S. District Judge George L. Hart, Jr., dissolved a preliminary injunction.

While certain aspects of the lawsuit remain to be resolved, the new insulation standards can now be implemented.

The new thermal standards are designed to provide for heavier insulation and other measures to make FHA-financed housing less costly to heat or cook, and to conserve energy.

The standards will apply to newly-built homes and apartments financed by FHA, and, insofar as is economically feasible, to existing housing purchased or repaired with FHA loans.

Details of the standards, which vary by climatic zones, are available from FHA state or county offices.

Housing loans administered by FHA, a U.S. Department of Agriculture agency, serve all rural areas, including towns of up to 20,000 population not in a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area which have a shortage of mortgage credit for families of low and moderate income.

Grasshoppers Attack Beans

By Charles T. Peal

Farmers from all over the county have reported grasshoppers attacking soy beans, and it seems they are working on gardens as well.

Clydie Cates, of Nankipoo, responded to the problem in his beans by spraying with Toxaphene at the rate of one quart of the 60% material per acre.

Diazinon at the rate of one pint and Malathion one quart per acre are the other recommended materials. It must be noted, however, that Malathion is good on small grasshoppers only.

For gardens, Diazinon has no waiting period and can be safely used where vegetables are already being harvested.

Malathion For Bagworms

Mrs. Lucy Bickers sprayed Malathion at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon on bagworms attacking pitzer junipers in her yard.

This material normally takes care of these insects. Sometimes a second spraying is necessary.

Mrs. Lynn Hendrix and many other homeowners are concerned about ant problems around the house and on trees and shrubs.

Ants can be easily controlled by using Chlordane at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon of water, spraying on the ground and trunks of trees as well as in the house.

Time To Fertilize Yards

The first week in July is the proper time to put a light coating of nitrogen fertilizer on your yard. It shouldn't be overdone, as it can result into two mowings a week.

A rate of about two pounds per 1,000 square feet of ammonium nitrate will be sufficient to promote growth and keep the grass healthy until time for the last application of the year, about Sept. 1st.

Grass In Flower Beds

Many home owners have asked this year about controlling Bermuda grass and other pests in flower beds.

A material called Dowpon, on the market for several years, can be mixed with water at the rate of one pound to five gallons. After being sprayed on the foliage of the grass, it translocates and kills the plant.

It is not bad about drifting and will not damage other plants if you take care. You can even spray up under the shrub without damaging the foliage.

Another material, somewhat more expensive but highly effective, is Roundup. This chemical will kill all grasses, including Johnson grass.

The cost is about $53 a gallon, but when you consider that one ounce per gallon of water will spray considerable footage, it may not be too expensive after all.

Some home owners in Ripley have been using it by having several people purchase a gallon together.

It is ideal to kill vegetation around trees, utility poles, shrubs, etc., so that when the yard is mowed, you have a neat trim without extra work.

Field Day Set In Jackson

Current research studies in livestock and crop production and weed control will be featured at the West Tennessee Experiment Station Field Day in Jackson on Thursday, July 20th.

Research scientists from the station and the headquarters unit of the University of Tennessee Agricultural Experiment Station in Knoxville will be on hand to show and discuss their projects, according to Dr. James Brown, station superintendent.

Tours of the station begin at 7:30 a.m. and continue until 11 a.m. Brown advises farmers who wish to go on all of the tours to arrive no later than 8 a.m.

Animal science research will deal mainly with the production, harvesting, processing, and feeding of high quality forage crops to livestock.

A variety of production experiments relating to corn, cotton, and soy beans will be included in the field crops research program.

A third tour will deal totally with studies of weed control in corn, cotton, and soy beans.

Weeds continue to be one of the chief plagues of crop production in Tennessee. U. T. scientists work closely with the chemical industry to develop effective pest controls.

Demonstration plots will show pre-plant, pre-merge, and post-

Would Hold $2.97 Rate

Less than a month before most magistrates face re-election contests Aug. 3rd, they will get from their budget committee Monday a "hold-the-line" budget with the same $2.97 real estate tax rate as this year.

The same rate division is recommended—$1.97 to give schools $5,048,856.45, including carry-over funds (.8% less than for 1977-8); 46¢ to give the general fund $1,052,775.80 (3.4% less); 34¢ to give the highway and bridge fund $1,059,150.98 (9.4% less); and 20¢ to give the debt service fund $700,372.92 (1.4% more).

The budget was prepared for the same tax rate per $100 assessed valuation despite school and highway requests which would alone have boosted the tax rate 47.8%.

The budget does increase many items. Most county officials get a 13% increase, by state law, and retirement funding is up 47% from the 1976-7 figure.

Free Theatre Is Scheduled

The county's Junior Auxiliary (Petitioning) and the Memphis Arts Council will present the Circuit Playhouse Mime and Story Theatre—free, for children of all ages—at 3 p.m. Monday, July 17th, on the lawn of the courthouse in Ripley (in case of rain, in Ripley High School.)

emergence studies in corn, cotton and soy beans. Other plots will demonstrate soil application of insecticides for cotton.

Equipment and product displays will also be featured at the field day.

The mobile insect and disease diagnostic laboratory of the U. T. Extension Agricultural Biology Section will be on hand to identify and diagnose insect and disease specimens brought by farmers.

A weed identification clinic will also be featured. U. T. scientists will identify weeds and suggest the best control practices.

Newest Thing In Pet Care

A pet motel in Prairie View, Ill., provides 24-hour music, special diets and miniature brass beds with mattresses and linens.

Dogs in the "imperial" section get artificial grass carpeting and two cookie breaks a day, while those in the "deluxe" section have vinyl carpeting and one cookie a day.

Management also promises vacationing owners that their postcards will be read to pets.

Holiday Weekend Sees Two Drown

Though the county got through the Fourth of July holiday weekend without major traffic accidents on its highways, an Alamo man drowned at Barr and a Gates youth drowned at Reelfoot Lake State Park.

Donald Dewayne Reece

Donald Dewayne Reece, 11, of Gates, son of Bobby Reece and Mrs. Sylvia J. Gray, was drowned about 4 p.m. Sunday when he fell from a small inflatable raft while on a family picnic outing at Reelfoot Lake State Park, the Lake County sheriff's office reports.

Volunteers recovered his body about an hour later.

Services were at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Halls Funeral Home, with burial in Concord Cemetery.

He also leaves a sister, Miss Bobbie Joe Reece, of Gates; three step-brothers, Daniel Gray, of Gates, and Richard and Robert Reece, of Romeoville, Ill.; and his grandparents, Mrs. Edna Reece and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Burns, of Halls.

Joseph Allen Burton

Joseph Allen Burton, 19, of Alamo, drowned in the Mississippi River at Barr Sunday when he stepped into a hole while wading.

His body was recovered by Peewee Rhodes, of Halls.

Services were at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Ronk Funeral Home in Alamo, with burial in Salem Cemetery.

He leaves his parents, the Billy Burtons, of Bragg City, Mo.; six brothers, Billy Wayne Burton, of Alamo, Tony Burton, of Dyersburg, Donald, Jerry, and Timothy Burton, of Bragg City, and Bobby R. Burton, of Shafter, Calif.; and four sisters, Miss Alice Burton and Mrs. Treva Harris, of Humboldt, Brenda Leevyhouse, of Trenton, and Mrs. Janie Hall, of Shafter, Calif.

Bank Of Halls Drive-In Branch Planned

DRIVE-IN BRANCH FOR BANK OF HALLS has been designed by Wiseman, Bland, Foster, and O'Brien, of Memphis, for the southwest corner of Old Highway 51 and Sharp Street. Warren Nunn, bank president, says bids are being sought and construction will begin within the next few weeks. State and federal approvals for the facility—the bank's first branch—were received last May.

THE BACKYARD GARDENER High prices spawn vegetable plots

By PATRICK DENTON
Copley News Service

It seems we are having another bumper year for backyard vegetable gardens this year. Supplies of seeds in many areas ran out even before the spring planting was finished.

All of which goes to prove, in my opinion, anyway, that a little good always comes out of something bad — in this case, the inflationary spiral which has plagued our own and other countries.

When more people start growing their vegetables, you can be sure they're going to be better fed from a nutritional point of view, not to mention the health-giving aspect of spending more time getting fresh air and exercise.

Unfortunately, too many inexperienced gardeners fail to get full value from their backyard vegetable plots, and it's often because they don't pick their produce at the most beneficial time.

For example, the novice tends to let the beans remain on the vine long past the time when they should really be picked, figuring that the bigger and fatter the beans are, the better crop he'll harvest. This ignores the main advantage of growing your own, which is the opportunity to pick them while they are at their tenderest and most flavorful stage.

The bigger and fatter beans get, the less tasty they become — these you can buy any day from the supermarket.

Much of what I've said here applies to other vegetables as well. During the pea season my wife and I set up constant vigilance on the pea patch to ensure that we don't allow any of the pods to become too fat before harvesting. We like our peas — for fresh eating and putting down in the freezer — on the smallish size, because these are so much more tender and flavorful than when they get larger.

Carrots are another crop from our vegetable plot that we prefer to pick while young and small. In fact, we don't usually bother putting too many full-grown carrots into our cool room in the fall — my wife freezes enough packages of the baby carrots to supply our table for the winter.

These generally are picked while thinning the rows, and the big carrots go into our juicer. Again, there is a distinct advantage to having your own vegetable patch because, except in the expensive gourmet section, you simply cannot buy baby carrots at the supermarkets. And the "gourmet" ones are canned.

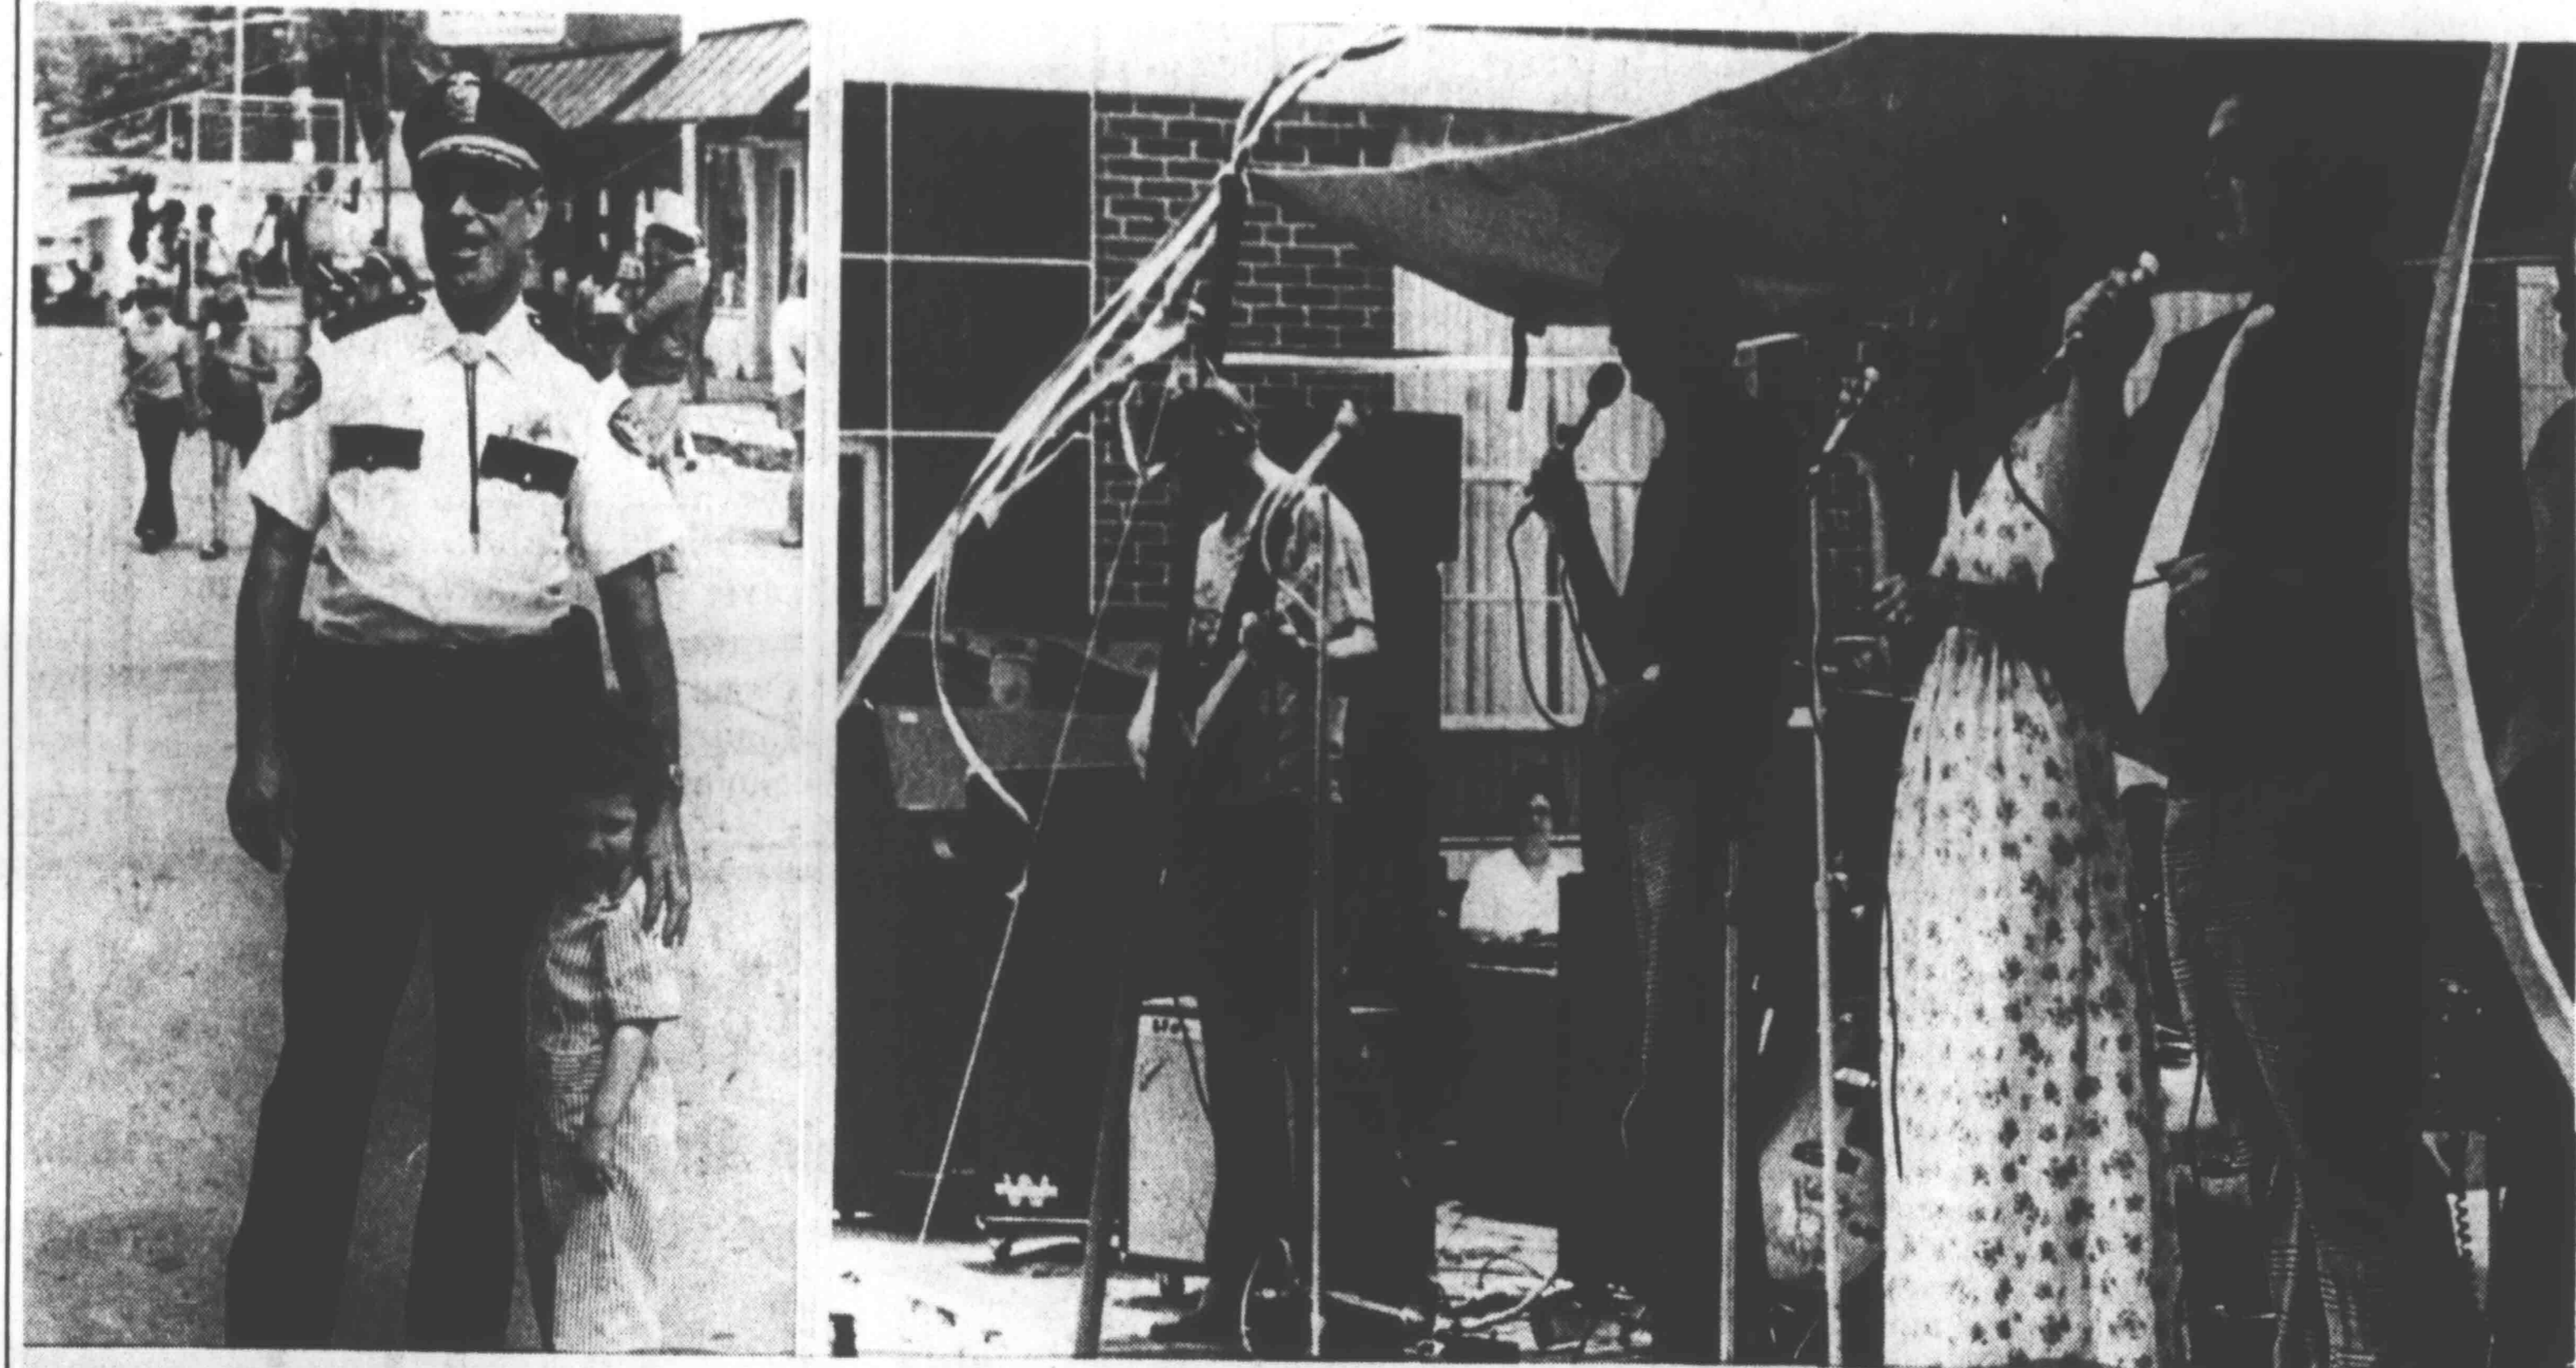

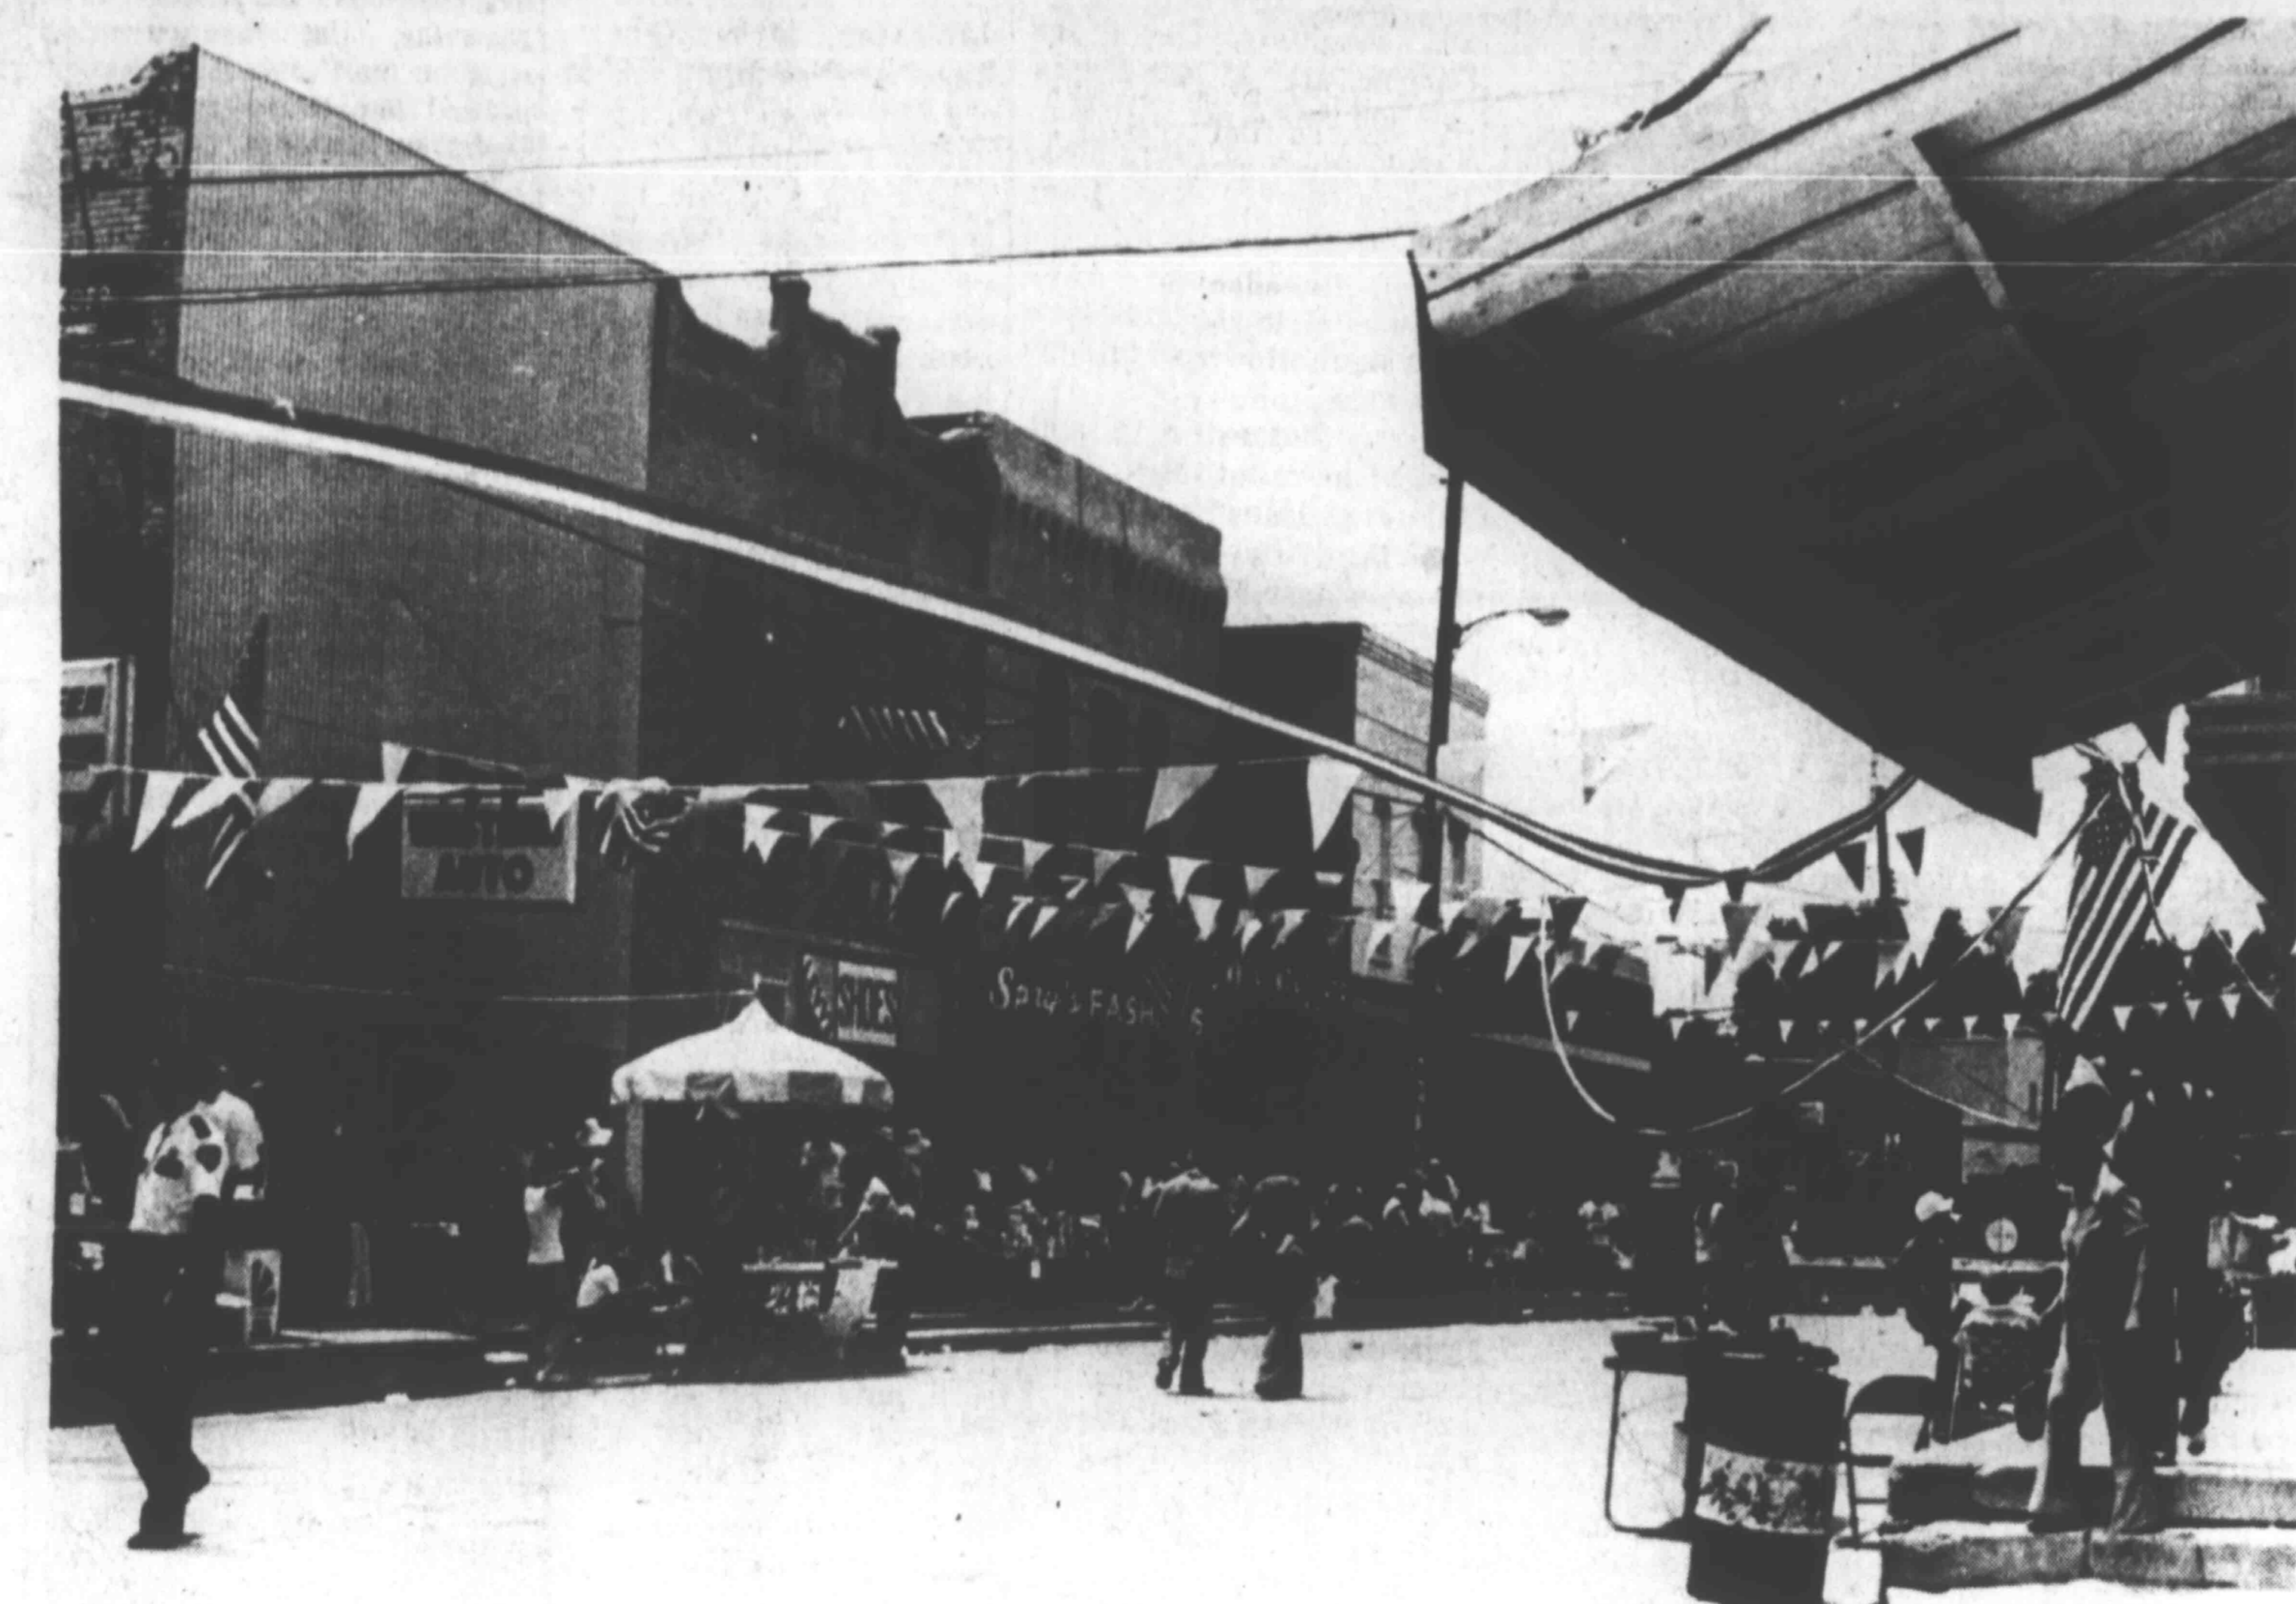

The same thing applies to parsnips. I can understand why parsnips aren't the most popular vegetable around, because the ones you buy at the store have little resemblance to the ones we grow out in the backyard garden in terms of flavor. Like the carrot, we prefer to harvest most of our parsnips while still quite small for fresh eating and freezing.

It's claimed that a parsnip never really reaches full flavor until it's shipped by the first frosts of fall, but we have found that the baby ones really do have a superb flavor.

One vegetable that should be picked while very young to obtain maximum flavor is the zucchini. We pick ours while they are still only six to eight inches long, rather than letting them grow into the giant sizes that may look most impressive at the garden shows or in a photograph in the newspaper, but are far less impressive when it comes to eating them which, after all, is the reason for the exercise for most of us.

I might add for the interest of those of my readers whose sympathies lie with the women's liberation movement that the harvesting and putting down of produce from the garden is very much a joint effort between my wife and myself.

Halls Thronged For Street Festival

HALLS STREET FESTIVAL Saturday, third annual event of its kind, saw Police Chief Buddy Moore helping Heidi Strong, daughter of the Dave Strongs, of Halls, find her parents; the Glad Tidings Quartet, of Ripley, braving the heat to sing; Steve Levy, festival chairman, with his father, Louis Levy, and Halls Graphic Editor Henry Murchison; and sidewalk sales staged by Halls merchants.

Dear Friends:

During the past few weeks, I have begun to get calls from concerned citizens telling me that they are glad that I am running for re-election and that they appreciate a sheriff's department that stands for law and order.

Those who call, and the people I see as I am campaigning, represent every walk of life. These people tell me that they are behind me and support my efforts. I appreciate these words of confidence, and when I am re-elected, I will keep my same promise to give you honest government. Otherwise, how will our people of Lauderdale County know where they stand or what to expect?

I truly believe that the majority of the people of Lauderdale County want the laws upheld. On Aug. 3rd we will be voting for the continuance of law and order for a wide-open county. There can be no middle of the road stance on an issue of this importance. We either have law and order, or we don't.

Why do some people refuse to accept a total, all-out effort to follow the rules of society — the law? Anything less than such a commitment is totally unacceptable from a person given the trust of the people. The citizens of our county deserve a sheriff who is willing to make this commitment. There is no mandate in the law for a sheriff to do anything less than uphold the full and complete demands of the law.

For the past two years, I have worked toward an honest and effectively run sheriff's department that would improve the lives and insure the safety of every citizen in our county. I could not be happy with myself, nor could I ask for your vote again, if I thought I had given you anything but my best efforts.

Again I say that this election will be one of the most important elections for our county. It is YOUR county, and it is YOUR vote that will determine the direction it takes. It is you, your children, and your grandchildren who will be affected. I truly believe that the citizens of Lauderdale County want their laws upheld. Use your power at the polls on Aug. 3rd to vote for law and order. Vote

Our Policy - Over the many years that we have been editor of the Halls Graphic it has been our policy to publish all letters to the editor so long as they remained within the bounds of certain rules.

We do not consider for publication any anonymous letter, all must be signed by the writer along with an address which can be verified, the letters must be in good taste, neither slanderous nor libelous, must not be used as dispute between individuals, must be constructive and not destructive, and reasonable in length.

We plan to continue publishing letters when we believe they are within these bounds but we will not be used as a medium for disputes or disagreements among individuals nor an attack against any individual.

Shower Fetes Bride-Elect

Miss Kelly Diane Nix, bride-elect of Gary Linn Heron, was delightfully entertained with a lingerie shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Neil A. Dyer in Halls.

Setting for the event was especially festive through the use of summer flowers throughout the house. Centerpiece on the gift table was of roses from the garden of Mrs. Hal Pennington, of Gates, beautifully arranged in a low silver bowl.

Miss Nix chose a pink ensemble from her trousseau featuring a self-ruffled skirt and paisley-printed bolero. The honoree, Mrs. Tommy Nix, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Robert Heron, mother of the groom-to-be, each wore Killian daisy corsages, gifts from the hostess.

After guests were registered in the bride's book by Miss Lori Lovelace, cousin of the honoree, they enjoyed a "bride and groom" contest before Miss Nix opened her many gifts.

Dear Friends:

As the time of election draws increasingly near, I feel it is of the utmost importance for each individual to set aside some time to give some serious thought to the coming election.

I would ask of you to compare our records of the most minute situations to the most important problems and carefully examine the facts:

FACT: During our term of office we had 106 indictments while the present administration had 63.

FACT: We answered all our calls.

FACT: There were no unsolved murders during my term of office.

FACT: There were three armed robberies while I was sheriff, and the robbers were apprehended in less than three hours in each incident.

FACT: All my deputies were certified and qualified, and all were residents of Lauderdale County.

FACT: We operated on less money and less personnel. My budget was $60,000.00 less than the present administration for this year.

FACT: I have 15 years law enforcement experience. I do not have retirement benefits nor do I own a prosperous business. Law enforcement is my only trade and business.

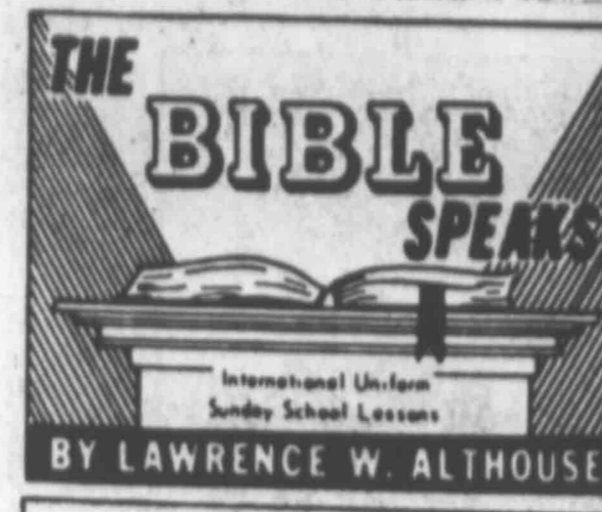

Citizens, these are the facts; check them out, the records are there. You won't have to take someone else's word or what someone else has heard or said.

I would like to think of the other candidates as being worthy candidates and honorable men also, and as I have stated before, I shall not lower the dignity of this most important office to characterize any of them, and I would hope that each of them will do the same.

SOMETHING MUST GO!

Lesson for July 23, 1978

Background Scripture: Acts 18:18 through 19:41
Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 10:3-8

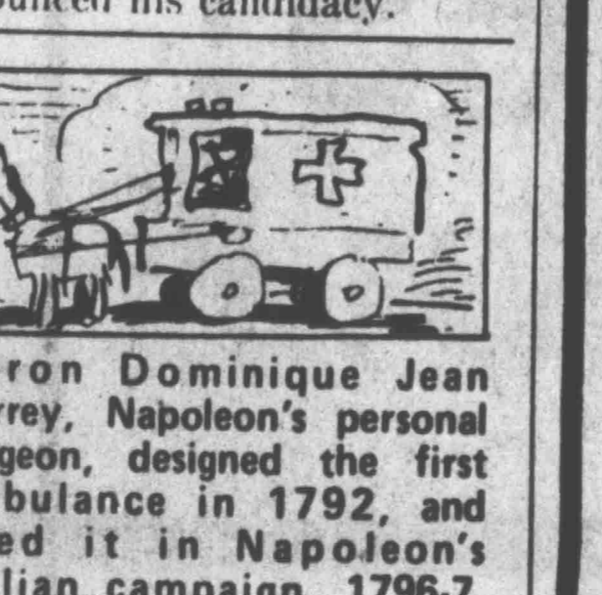

Something would have to go! There could be no doubt about that. Christianity was bad for business and there seemed to be no ground for compromise. The setting for the above scenario was Ephesus a free city on the Aegean coast of what is today the nation of Turkey. The "business" was that of making miniature silver shrines of the goddess Artemis, the patroness of the Ephesians who had built her temple that was one of the seven wonders of the world. The business was apparently a thriving enterprise among the silversmiths of that city.

The "Christianity" that was "bad for business" was missionary enterprise of the Apostle Paul and Silas and the growing faith was known to many as simply "The Way." Wherever Paul and Silas went preaching and teaching the Good News of Jesus Christ there was ferment, upheaval and opposition. Luke seems to underestimate it somewhat in Acts 19:23 when he says: "About that time there arose no little stir concerning the Way." To be sure, with riots, imprisonment, beatings and organized opposition it can safely be said that "there was no little stir!"

The spokesman for the silversmiths of Ephesus was a man known to us as Demetrius. Although he was obviously an enemy of the Way, one can't help but respect him as an honest and forthright opponent. He "tells it as it is." Instead of appealing to their patriotism, their religious sensibilities, Demetrius frankly states the real reason for their common concern: "Men, you know that from this business of making silver shrines of Artemis we have our wealth" (19:25). There is no beating around the bush. Demetrius says plainly that Paul and his mission are threatening their business. It is not a matter of Artemis being in danger, but their pocketbooks.

Handmade Gods Although Paul has probably not attacked the silversmiths by name, he has greatly hurt their business with his preaching and teaching against idols and the assertion that "gods made with hands are not gods" (19:26). This subversive religious teaching threatens, not only the silversmiths of Ephesus but the whole economy, much of which was dependent upon the heavy tourist and pilgrim traffic to Ephesus to see the great temple of Artemis. Demetrius made a logical appeal to the silversmiths, but it was with their emotions that they answered. "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!" It was the first century equivalent of "Hooray for our side" or "My country, right or wrong — my country!" Demetrius was quite correct in his estimate of the situation. Sometimes Christianity is bad for business if that business is dependent upon something that is evil, false or harmful. Often, when the Gospel collides with our culture, something must go!

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

During the past four weeks, the subject of the legislative veto has raised a great many questions between the President and the Congress. President Carter has voiced his objections to the legislative veto and also stated that such a legislative branch of government is unconstitutional. The legislative veto is, of course, a provision written into law which gives the Congress the power to disapprove regulations and rules established by the federal agencies. The House has already written such a provision into law on many pieces of legislation. In some cases, such provisions were written into law to nullify specific cases of what Congress considered "bureaucracies misinterpreting laws enacted by the Congress. In most cases, the language inserted in the bill simply says that either branch of Congress can disapprove rules and regulations of the executive agencies by a simple majority vote within 60 days of the regulation being issued.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES

Lauderdale County COMMISSIONERS OF ELECTIONS

crats than the enforcement of the law. There are a great many examples of that kind of bureaucratic thinking. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration which was the subject of a Supreme Court ruling recently, is a prime example. The regulations they wrote in the past were simply so detailed that they became ridiculous. Last year, even the Administrator of OSHA and the Secretary of Labor recognized the need to get rid of a huge number of OSHA regulations simply because the agency became so involved in enforcing nipping regulations that they forgot the real intent of the law. It is those kinds of incidents that have enraged so many members of Congress. In addition, many members find that they are spending as much time fighting unnecessary regulations as they are working on legislation. It is those kinds of unnecessary and unneeded regulations that Congress is seeking to eliminate with the legislative veto. Congress is not seeking to hinder the executive branch's ability to administer and enforce the law. During the past two Congresses, I have supported a comprehensive legislative veto bill which will give Congress veto power over all executive regulations. I think this kind of legislation places the full power of enacting legislation where it should be, in the hands of elected government officials; and takes it out of the hands of bureaucrats who answer to no one.

"There are moments when everything turns out right. Don't let it alarm you; they past." Jules Renard

Bear Atop Ashport Bluff

A $1,200,000 project to complete conversion—already half done—of 16-man cells at Fort Pillow State Prison Farm to 2-man cells is scheduled to begin next month, Charles Bass, assistant commissioner of the Department of Correction, said last week.
After the cell block re-work, 60 minimum security prisoners now assigned to farm labor and lodged in two houses outside the prison's main area, built as residences for guards, will be returned to cells.
Another $1,200,000 project is underway to install sprinkler systems in state prisons.
Bass says the sprinkler installation in the main prison in Nashville is now about half complete.

1 Dead, 2 Hurt In Auto Crash

Tony Keith Wilson, 19, of Brownsville, was killed about 12:20 a.m. Sunday when a car driven by Johnny Bishop, 21, of Ripley, ran off State Highway 76 about a mile north of Koko, near Brownsville, and struck a tree.
Bishop and his other passenger, Ricky Farrell, 20, of Stanton, were taken to Jackson-Madison County Hospital in critical condition, the Highway Patrol said.
Services for Wilson were at 3 p.m. Monday in Brownsville Funeral Home, with burial in Lower Zion Cemetery.
He leaves his parents, Mrs. Bonnie Gilmer Wilson and Willie Wilson, his grandmothers, Mrs. Evelyn Gilmer and Mrs. Mattie Rogers, and four sisters, Mrs. Vickie Land, Mrs. Cynthia Gates, Jackie Wilson, and Pam Wilson, all of Brownsville.

House Burns

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Perry on North Church in Halls was totally destroyed by fire about 3 a.m. Wednesday. The Perry family was out-of-town. Origin of the fire is unknown.
He leaves his parents, the Archie Cagles, and a brother, Phil, of Gilbertville, and a half-brother, Ricky Cagle, of Memphis.

Rifle Bullet Kills Girl, 2

Amanda Gail Dupree, 2-year-old daughter of Alvin Dupree, of Ripley, and Mrs. Donna Lewis, of Chicago, Ill., was killed Friday when a 10-year-old sister who had tried to shoot a .22-caliber bolt-action rifle in the yard without its firing returned to the home, pointed it at her sister, and pulled the trigger, according to Sheriff Joe B. O'Steen.
She also leaves brothers, Alvin Dupree, Jr., and Allen Wayne Dupree, of Ripley; two sisters, Mrs. Linda Little, of Ripley, and Angela Dupree, of Chicago; and her grandmother, Mrs. Ann Johnson, of Evansville, Ind.

7,500 Votes Expected Here Next Thursday

Body Taken From River Sheriff's Race Spurs Interest

Election officials expect a heated sheriff's race to draw about 7,500 voters to Lauderdale County polls next Thursday, or about 58% of the county's approximately 13,000 registered voters.
Incumbent Sheriff Joe B. O'Steen is opposed for a second term by Louis Craig, whom he ousted two years ago, by Thomas E. Brown and Billy Joe Childress, who both ran two years ago (Childress withdrawing before the election), and by Clarence Holcomb, Henry L. Love, and Woodrow W. Seawear, who have not previously sought the office.
Increasing the stakes this year is the fact that the people recently approved extending the sheriff's term from two to four years. The man elected next Thursday will serve as sheriff until 1982.
The heavy vote anticipated in this county is expected to help Floyd Crain, Ripley pharmacist seeking the Democratic nomination for the 79th District state House seat now held by Jimmy Bishop, of Brownsville, a salesman for Southern Surgical Co., of Memphis. Election fever is less strong in Haywood this year, and that county has only 9,262 registered voters.

An Open Letter To You From Floyd Crain

Dear Friends:

As election day approaches, I can truthfully say that I have enjoyed exchanging views with many of you about what is best for Haywood and Lauderdale Counties. I am not a politician and do not wish to be. I am a businessman, father, and husband. I wish to be a good citizen who does what he can to serve his community.

A voice is needed in Nashville for our two closely associated counties—their small businesses being regulated and taxed into bankruptcy, their senior citizens being "inflated" in poverty, their schools fighting for dollars while thousands go wasted. This voice must be strong, experienced, sensible! This voice must be concerned, understanding, compassionate, but firm! I want to be that voice.

I love my home, my family, and my many friends. My only desire is to speak for you, represent you, and work for you in our state legislature. With your guidance and counsel, I feel confident that I will not disappoint you.

I promise to be the kind of representative of whom you may be proud. I promise to be on the job for you in Nashville and at home. I promise to make sure that your faith in me is well founded.

Thank you again for receiving me so warmly these past few months, and thank you for your continued support.

Yours truly,

FLOYD H. CRAIN
Candidate For State Representative
79th District

To The People Concerned For Lauderdale County:

Why Can't We Have A Sheriff For Everybody?

I remember when Louis Craig was sheriff; this county was something like a battlefield. Mr. Craig had everything on the agenda but law enforcement. Mr. Craig was voted out after two years. Why? If he had done his job, we would not have had to elect another sheriff.

Mr. O'Steen took office two years ago. I have had many conversations with him in the past two years. The only fault I personally found in this man was illegal harassment, illegal search without proper warrants, illegally sending minors to places to buy beer, and illegally sending prisoners to buy beer on Sunday—names of prisoners David Cox, serving time for writing bad checks, and Jackie McMahan, burglary, five years. These two men played the part of Judas in O'Steen's last snitching party. Jesus told Judas it would have been better if he had not been born.

If Mr. O'Steen would be a sheriff for everyone, I would not be asking for this job. I was qualified by the business people of this county. I will be a sheriff for everybody.

At this time, I'm asking for the support of the concerned people of our county. We must have fair government for all its people.

BOB CLEMENT ON THE ISSUES

—OLDER TENNESSEANS—

Bob has released a seven-page paper describing his position on the needs and problems of the elderly. Copies are available upon request from the Donelson campaign office.

A summary of his 7-point program for older Tennesseans:

- * Abolish mandatory retirement age for state workers
- * A reduction in the sales tax on water sold to elderly customers, from 4% to 1%, the same rate as on electricity and natural gas.
- * A statewide toll-free HOTLINE direct to the state capitol for information about programs and services available to the elderly.
- * Increased support of nutritional programs for the aged to include such programs in all 95 counties.
- * Transportation services for older Tennesseans in all 95 counties.
- * Improved health care, with emphasis on more state support of family practice residencies and incentives for doctors to practice in medically underserved rural areas.
- * New emphasis and support for senior volunteer projects, such as the Commission on Aging's RSVP/Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

—EDUCATION—

Almost half of every state tax dollar goes to education. Bob believes that the results from proficiency tests given recently to Tennessee eighth-graders indicate that our children are not receiving a quality education. More than half of Tennessee's students failed to meet national standards in areas like math, reading, and spelling.

"We must have a new direction in education in Tennessee," he says. "That new direction must emphasize the basics of reading, writing, and arithmetic. And we must begin competency testing in the lower grades rather than waiting until the 8th and 11th grades, when the problem is more difficult to correct."

"We must also provide incentives to our teachers, and work with them, to make sure that those who want to remain in the classroom are not forced into administration, which is presently the only place most of them can go for higher paying jobs if they wish to remain in their chosen profession."

"And most of all, we must use common sense. It doesn't take a high priced consultant to tell us that noise in the schoolroom is disruptive to the education of our children. We already know that, and we must use common sense to solve a problem, rather than just studying a problem for year after year."

—CRIME—

Bob feels that there is a rising tide of lawlessness that can only be checked by presenting a united front against crime. He has pledged to work for increased cooperation among federal, state and local law enforcement officers and other criminal justice personnel to present that united front and show the professional criminal that we mean business.

Bob is in favor of mandatory minimum sentences for violent and repeat offenders, and has pledged to uphold the state's capital punishment law.

He has said, "There is no more depraved criminal than the one who makes his living at the expense of a young man or a young woman with a drug habit. We must do all we can to help those who have a drug problem, and I will personally do all in my power to see that those who sell illegal drugs are captured, convicted, and put behind bars."

—AGRICULTURE—

Tennessee's farmers will have access to the Governor's office in Bob Clement's administration. He has pledged to work to open new markets for products grown by Tennessee's farm families, and to be an effective voice for them in dealing with federal agencies that regulate farming, and with the federal legislative branch.

Bob recognizes that benefits for the farmer also have a positive impact on Tennessee's agribusinesses, which employ thousands within the state.

"The farmer must have a voice in state government and in Washington, D.C.," Bob says. "I will be that strong advocate, by listening to and working with the farmer."
