Flames Damage 2 Trailers

LITTLE WAS SAVED FROM TRAILER HOME of Mrs. Connie Barbee and Mrs. Alice Campbell in Clarence Keeley's trailer court on Watkins in Ripley after a fire at 11:43 a.m. Monday. Two fire trucks prevented major damage to nearby trailer of Mrs. Castine Arnold and Mrs. Annette Theus.

High Court Takes Suit Vs. Arkansas

The U.S. Supreme Court, opening a new term Monday, agreed to hear Lauderdale County's suit against Mississippi County, Ark., claiming Lauderdale County ownership of Island 30 and Elmot Bar.

The suit, filed directly with the high court because of its original and exclusive jurisdiction of disputes between states, claims that shifts of the Mississippi River since 1912 moved the two islands from the Tennessee to the Arkansas side but that they remain Tennessee lands, subject to taxation by Lauderdale County authorities.

Robert Ames, of Nashville, assistant state attorney general who has worked with Lauderdale County's assessor of property, Bernice Crain, on the matter, estimates about 6,000 acres are involved in the dispute.

Whitefield Alumni Re-United Sunday

By Mrs. Beulah Savage

"Do you remember..." Those were the words heard often Sunday when all ages of those who attended Whitefield School held a re-union in the Fraternal Order of Police Building in Ripley.

We older ones first attended school in a one-room building with one teacher teaching first through eighth grades (they must have had the patience of Job).

Later, a 2-room school was built—one teacher teaching first through fourth grades, and one teacher teaching through the eighth grade.

We had some of the best teachers to be found anywhere; they were not about to "spare the rod and spoil the child." We feel our lives have been enriched by having such teachers as Mrs. Julie Savage, Mrs. Lillie Lunsford (1922), George Barnes, May Bell Sutton, Mrs. Marion Douglas, Horace Bradford, Miss Cordie Underwood, Ophelia McDonnell, Miss Bruce Campbell, Mrs. Clara Williams, Mrs. Rose Duncan, Mrs. Stella Bylar, Mrs. Melissa Langley Craig, Miss Faye Craig (1934), Mrs. Myra Ball, Charles Maclin, Mrs. Margaret Ashmore, Mrs. Vance Pennington lan, and Elma Latham—not listed in order of the years they taught.

Ferguson, Faye Blorton (1934), Era Herron, Lillian Talley Hathcock, Miss Minnie Stacey, Frances Cough-

We older ones remember that our drinking water came from a spring on Mr. Gay's farm, which was a short distance from the school.

The older boys, usually, took turns going to the spring and bringing back a bucket of fresh cool water to quench our thirsts.

We usually had two tin cups from which to drink water, so naturally, we had to stand in line until our turn to get a cup.

The water tasted much better in those days than now, when all one has to do is open a refrigerator door, press a button, and have a drink of cold water.

The Rev. Oliver Gay led a devotion from Prov. 22-1 and I John 1:46 before he gave the invocation.

Attending from a distance were Joe Carroll, with his wife, of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Vivian Gay Phillips, with Col. Stan Phillips, of Montgomery, Ala.; the Ira Kings and Mrs. Christeen Kirk, of Potts Camp, Miss.; Harold Wheatley, with his wife, of Nevada, Mo.; Maston Cunningham, with his wife, Leonard Latham, Mrs. Warren Grant, and Mrs. Bernice Gay Tucker, with Mr. Tucker, of Memphis; Frank Latham, with Mrs. Latham, of Gadsden; Ann Ashmore Thornley and Mrs. Geraldine Tims, of Brownsville; Mrs. Susie Summar, of Woodville; and Mrs. Mary Ella Baker, with

Blue Top Inn Owner Shot

David Hathcock, 40, was being sought Wednesday in the shooting of James Meacham, owner, in Blue Top Inn on old Highway 51 north of Ripley, about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Shot once through the neck with a .25 automatic pistol, Meacham has been released from Lauderdale County Hospital.

Officers believe Hathcock may have headed for Mississippi with H. B. Chipman, 38, of Mary's Chapel, in a red and white pick-up truck.

Mr. Baker, of Gates.

Others attending included Aulsie Brackin, with Mrs. Brackin, of Durhamville; Herbert Latham, with Mrs. Latham, of Asbury; Mrs. Georgia Hill Cole, with Mr. Cole, of Mary's Chapel; Mrs. Viola Grear and Leo Jordan, of Central; Van Ashford, of Edith; and Mrs. Carmel Rice Smith, of Flippin.

From Whitefield came the Leonard Connells, Mrs. Orease Connell, Mrs. Brittie Gay, Mrs. Maggie Parchman, and the J. E. Porters.

Attending from Ripley were The Rev. Mr. Gay, with Mrs. Gay, Mrs. Louise Bates, Odean, Jerome, and Sonny Craig, Irvin Cunningham, with his wife, Robert Cunningham, with his wife, Thomas Gay, with his wife, Mrs. Eliza Heron, James Parchman, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Tims, Mrs. Shirley Craig Ross, and the writer. Hope to see all of you again next year.

1973 Ford Sought In Bank Robbery

Officers were searching Wednesday for a brown 1973 Ford with Lauderdale County tags—one of two stolen cars believed involved in Tuesday morning's robbery of Planter's Bank in Maury City.

The other car disappeared after Mrs. Z. T. Norman left it, with the motor running, while she went into the Department of Employment Security office on South Front St. in Halls.

The robbery occurred an hour later. Soon after that, Mrs. Norman's car was found abandoned near Alamo.

Mrs. Carol Johnson, of Bells, was the only customer in the bank at the time of the robbery. Four bank employees were on duty.

Mrs. Johnson said the robber was a black man, about five feet, eight inches tall, wearing dark clothing, with a toboggan cap with eye holes over his head.

"We believe two persons and two stolen cars were involved," said Willie King, of the Crockett County sheriff's department.

Numerous Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have been active in the case in this county as well as in Crockett County.

Blue Law Killed; Industry Wooded

Ripley's city board voted 4-2 Monday to permit any type of business to open from 1 to 6 p.m. Sundays.

The vote, on final reading, was unchanged from the previous reading, with Leon Hargett and Jerry Pilcher opposed.

The easing of the "blue law" was sponsored by Ben Emerson and Bobby Walker.

The board completed annexing the new elementary school site into the city.

The mayor and city attorney were authorized to negotiate with the state for improvement of Volz Road, which runs past the site.

Mayor Rozelle Criner said

Douglas Passes State Bar Exam

The Tennessee Board of Law Examiners announced Monday that Dan Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. "B. B." Douglas, of Ripley, was among 314 applicants who passed the July state bar examination.

An industry is interested in a 70,000 square foot building on five to ten acres in one of the city's two industrial parks.

Aldermen Pilcher, Walker, and Tommy Dunavant were appointed to dispose of the Hal Wilson building on the northwest corner of the Square, which the city is buying for $28,000 to provide access to the square from the parking lot built over Red Eye ravine to the north.

Driver Jumped From Truck

KENNETH SCALLIONS, of near Ripley, narrowly escaped serious injury when his truck, northbound on Henning Farm Road Monday morning, ran into a ravine and overturned. Scallions told officers he swerved to avoid livestock on the road, lost control, and jumped from the truck.

Readers Speak

Editor:
On behalf of the millions of children who suffer from lung-damaging diseases, we want to say Thank You to the people in the Halls-Gates area who contributed so generously to the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-A-Thon. A special thanks goes to the bikers themselves who made it all possible and to so many volunteers who gave of their valuable time. We also heartily thank The Halls Graphic for their interest and excellence in reporting the plight of these children and our efforts to help them.

All of these people have shown they really care about lung-damaged children. They have helped raise a total of $3347.58 in the Halls-Gates area. Almost half of this money will stay in the West Tennessee chapter to support services for local children. The other half will go to nationally-supported research and cure programs.

BPW Week Proclaimed

MAYOR ROZELLE CRINER proclaims Oct. 15th-21st as Business and Professional Women's Week in Ripley on request of Mrs. Jennifer Moran, seated left, week chairman, and Mrs. Billy Spiller, seated right, county chapter president. Other chapter members present were, from left, Mrs. Becky Vaughan, Mrs. Maurine Childress, Mrs. Judy Glenn, and Mrs. Peggy Ledford. Events will include a tea Sunday in the home of Miss Carolyn Criffield in Ripley, honoring new members; Miss Margaret Wilkinson, Memphis attorney, speaking at the regular meeting; a bosses' breakfast Thursday at Rolling Hills Country Club; and members and spouses attending Gaslight Theatre in Memphis Saturday.

OK County Bond Issue For School

The County Commission approved Monday up to $3,475,000 in bonds to build a new kindergarten through sixth grade school in Ripley.

J. Thomas Caldwell, county attorney, said sales taxes should retire the bonds over the next ten years but noted that the City of Ripley has pledged its sales tax share only for the next eight years, through 1986.

No decision was reached on closing Central and Curve Schools.

Commissioners agreed to add $500,000 appropriated for renovating these schools to the Ripley school fund, if the two schools are closed.

Commissioner Blanton Boost

The commission withdrew, 15-7, its suggestion last month to State Conservation Commissioner "Buck" Allison that the state name the visitors' center at the Fort Pillow State Historical Area for Gov. Ray Blanton.

William "Bill Pete" Tucker IV, former magistrate, proposed the tribute to Blanton.

Commissioner Gwinn Matthews urged cancellation, saying the state name was hurried and not understood by all commissioners. It was not on the agenda last month.

On suggestion of Commissioner L. G. "Red" Thompson, the court voted to send letters of apology to Allison and Blanton for the head-lines created across the state.

Commissioners agreed once again, as the county's governing body has done repeatedly over the years, to put matters on the court's agenda a month in advance of voting. The rule has been routinely ignored.

Jail Payments Held

Larry Gavin, county engineer, was instructed to withhold payments for county jail remodeling until satisfactory completion of work by Willis and Butler, of Toone, contractors for the project.

The sheriff was authorized to employ an investigator for the rest of the fiscal year.

Commissioner Thompson noted he had only two cars and five men as compared to six cars and 21 men in the Ripley police department.

The commission accepted a highway department recommendation to accept Oak Hill Sub-Division Road, east of completion of work by Willis

Ripley, as a county road.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

The 1978 tax bill cleared another hurdle last week when the Senate Finance Committee approved their version of the tax bill that passed the House earlier. The Senate bill provides for $22 billion in tax cuts for individuals and corporations during the next year. That figure is about seven billion higher than the House passed version of the bill.

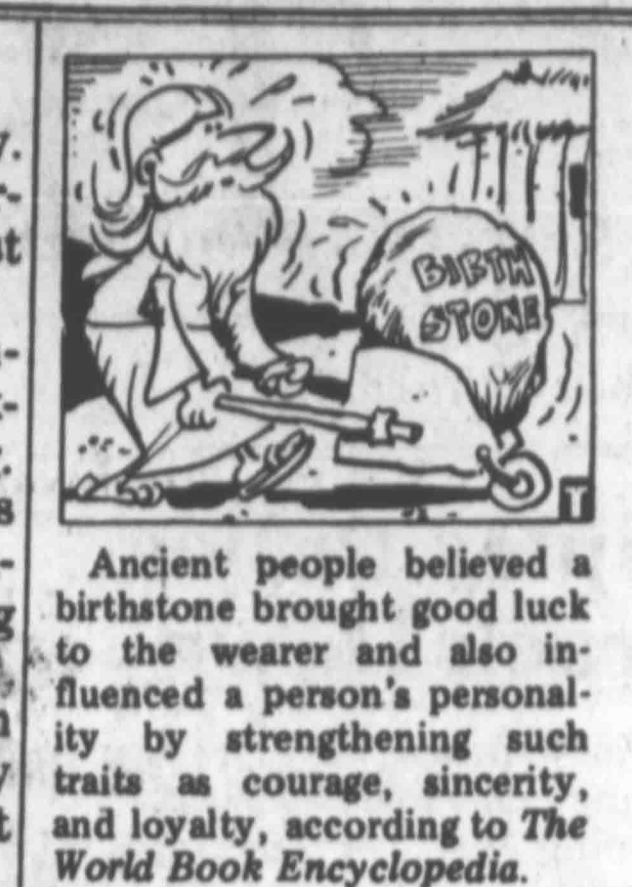

While those figures are quite far apart, there are some provisions of the bill that are identical. For example, both bills raise the personal exemption from $750 to $1,000. Both bills also adjust the income tax brackets to allow for inflation. Both bills also include a graduated tax scale for business taxes, a provision that is aimed at providing tax breaks for small businesses.

The highest corporate tax rate would have a ceiling of 46% on taxable income of $100,000. Also on the business side, the bills make the 10% tax credit permanent.

The Senate, however, has expanded one of the most controversial parts of the bill, the section dealing with capital gains tax rates. The House had approved provisions of the tax bill which would, in effect, reduce the tax rates on capital gains from its present 50% to 35%. The Senate's language would reduce that even further to 30%.

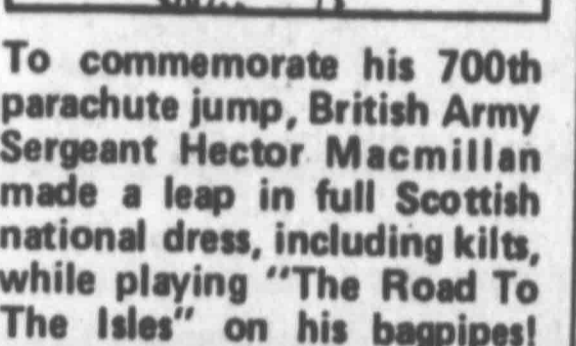

In addition, the Senate substituted language for one provision pertaining to homeowners in the House bill. The House passed a provision that allowed homeowners to take the first $100,000 of profits they receive from the sale of their house tax free once during their lifetime. This section, by the way, has generated a great deal of interest among West Tennesseans. I have received numerous telephone calls and letters asking for an explanation of that section, and the effective date if it is enacted into law.

The Homemade State

At the turn of the century everyone was ebullient about the possibilities of having machine-made products. Mass produced items were the vogue, and for the first time the consumer was under the delusion that machines offered perfection.

Of all the places to search out treasure, hand-crafted items are the vogue, and for the first time the consumer was under the delusion that machines offered perfection.

With the opening of the Joe L. Evans Craft Center in Smithville in 1979, tourist interest in state crafts was undoubtedly increased. With an easy access to Interstate 40 at Center Hill Lake, the crafts center will offer tours of the crafts classrooms, gallery and gift shop.

COOKING CORNER
Omelettes make fine dining easy

The omelette is a natural for the single living alone. Supplies are always on hand, tidily encased and protected from drying by nature. Eggs blend beautifully with a multitude of other ingredients: Meats, fish, poultry, cheese, vegetables, fruits, sauces and seasonings. Eggs are a tremendous value in protein. When large eggs, weighing 24 ounces a dozen, sell for 80 cents a dozen, they are only 63 cents a pound. When they sell for 60 cents a dozen, they are only 40 cents a pound.

Because eggs have been an important part of the diet of the world's humanity from the beginning of recorded time, these fine omelette recipes are offered with a clear conscience.
But first, six simple steps to show how to get an omelette in and out of the pan in less than a minute:

CREOLE SAUCE
1 cup diced onion
1 cup diced celery
2 cloves garlic
1 cup chopped bell peppers
2 tbsps. olive oil
1 large can solid pack tomatoes, crushed
1/2 cup dried and cooked fresh or frozen zucchini
1/2 cup water
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp. thyme
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
1/4 tsp. cornstarch

VEGETABLES VINAGRETTE
Marinate cooked broccoli spears, cauliflowerets, canned baby carrots and best sliced separately in vinaigrette dressing. Arrange on serving plates and garnish with spears of romaine. Garnish with toasted sliced almonds.
Yield: Serves 10 to 12 pint of basic French dressing.

ALMOND MUSHROOM OMELETTE WITH CREOLE SAUCE
1 omelette prepared as shown above
2 tbsps. natural unblanched almonds
2 tbsps. drained canned mushroom slices

What's as "natural" as an egg? Well, some of the other naturals are alfalfa sprouts, nuts, yogurt and fresh vegetables. All appear in this omelette.

Shown with the Almond Mushroom Omelette are vinegrettes, vegetables and honeyed almond carrots. These are the recipes.

Mix eggs, water and salt; melt butter in omelette pan or skillet and prepare omelette as told above. Just before folding, whip top to fill moist and creamy. Arrange sprouts, avocado and tomato slices on half of omelette. Fold in half and turn onto plate. Top omelette with yogurt and nuts. Serves 1.

Nashville's Market Street Festival

There is no place quite like Nashville during the month of October. With the changing of the seasons comes a time when color seems to have been invented in Tennessee. The warm days and cool nights produce near perfect conditions, and October is the month for a variety of special events.

October 7 is an exceptional day in the capital city, for it is the day Historic Nashville will hold its annual Market Street Festival. From riverboat rides along the Cumberland River to silent film classics, the festival is a time when Nashvillians and visitors can experience many of the city's cultural activities all on the same day.

The Market Street Festival will be held in the old warehouse district along Second Avenue North which was called Market Street in the Gay 90's. The entire street between Broadway and the courthouse will become a pedestrian walkway. Many of the day's activities will utilize the beautiful store fronts of the Victorian warehouses listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

British double-decker buses from Opryland will be pressed into tour duty, transporting festival-goers around other historic neighborhoods in Nashville. A fire engine will be on hand to transport sightseers to and from the river for a different look at the city.

In conjunction with the Market Street Festival, Nashville will be celebrating Courthouse Day on the courthouse plaza at the top of Second Avenue. From 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Diezeland Bands will entertain while

From Groceries To Gainsborough
Even though Samuel Brookes was just a local wholesale grocer, it was because of him such well-known names in the world of art as Picasso, Rembrandt, Renoir, Van Gogh, and Wyeth have visited Memphis.

Before Brookes died in 1912, he wanted to institute some sort of educational foundation in his hometown. Upon his death, his wife donated $100,000 to the city of Memphis for construction of what is now known as the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery.

Located in the beautiful surroundings of Overton Park, the Brooks has a permanent collection well worth a visit to Memphis. The gallery boasts works of such famous 18th century portrait painters as George Romney, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Sir Henry Raeburn, and Thomas Gainsborough.

Painting and prints are not the only treasures to be enjoyed at the gallery. Exquisite porcelain birds by Dorothy Dorchin and Edward Marshall Boehm look so real they appear ready to burst into a spring song.

But the most exciting thing about Brooks Memorial Art Gallery is the fantastic visiting exhibitions. Beginning February 26, the Brooks will be the only southern stop and last US stop for the Han and Tang Murals Exhibition. This collection consists of more than 140 copies in color of murals discovered in 10 tombs which were excavated by Chinese archaeologists during the last 25 years in the northern province of the People's Republic of China.

Will A Union Help?

Next Thursday, Oct. 19th, employees of Allen-Stone Boxes, Inc. at Halls will vote to decide if they wish to form a union at the plant.

It occurs to us that there should be some questions raised before a union is approved at the plant.

How much benefit will a union be to the individual worker? Have Allen-Stone employees been unable to communicate with management to the point that they need to call in outside people to negotiate for them?

While no management representative of any plant in Halls has ever actually stated that a plant will be closed if a union is formed, there have been strong indications that closing of plants will be a distinct possibility.

We wonder if Halls can attract additional industry as needed if union activity is causing unrest and an unsatisfactory operation for existing industries? One of the major factors considered by an industry in seeking a new location is the attitude of workers, freedom from strikes, and agitation from outside sources.

We cannot help but feel that approval of a union at Allen-Stone is likely, in the long haul, to be more damaging than beneficial to workers of this area.

May we urge all employees of Allen-Stone as well as other plants to think long and hard before voting Yes for a union.

Season On The Line

Friday night the Halls Tigers will go to Lake County for the first of four games that will either make a good season or a great season for them.

A win over Lake County would give the Tigers a strong shot at a playoff spot but a win there along with wins over unbeaten South Fulton next week, fol by wins over Old Hickory and McEwen will give them their finest season ever.

Why not do your part by attending the games and giving them your support!

Carter's Rating

Since the Camp David summit meeting last month the polls have shown a steady rise in voter approval of President Carter.

We approve his veto of the defense bill and other bills which spend outrageous sums of money but there is one flaw in all of his actions.

While we hope that the Camp David conference will bring about peace in the Middle East it is far too early to assume that it will do so. His veto of the bills should be approved but so far all of his actions have been negative with no positive action that will slow inflation.

It seems to us that direct action to curb inflation, a cut in federal spending, and a workable energy bill are required before Mr. Carter is entitled to such gains in standing.

Alexander Fund Raising Planned

A fish fry and fund raising to support the candidacy for Lamar Alexander for governor is set for 4:30 p.m. Friday at the Round House at Blue Banks at Reelfoot Lake.

Tickets for the affair are on sale at Arnold's Rexall Drugs. Local football fans who attend the Halls-Lake County football game are invited to attend the event.

Performance

Senator Davis has been rated by the Jackson Sun among the top ten in the Legislature for the past five years. Quoting from the 1978 citation, "He is the most consistent fiscal conservative in the Senate and one of its harder working members. He is one of the handful of legislators who read and understand all bills coming before them."

The 1977 citation said, "Davis is the foremost conservative when it comes to fiscal matters and trying to get control of the government bureaucracy. He also studies most legislation better than his colleagues and can turn up some flaws that otherwise may have gone without notice."

The young Americans for freedom gave his voting record in the 1977 session of the General Assembly a 100 per cent rating, the only senator to receive a perfect score. The Tennessee Young Americans for Freedom is a non-partisan organization which promotes the principles of limited government individual liberty, a free-enterprise economy and a strong national defense.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Unightly Fence

The Harpers watched with growing distaste as the next door neighbor put up a fence...

When their complaints were rebuffed, the Harpers took the matter to court...

"That fence is an eyesore," they told the court...

But the court decided that even though the fence was unightly in the eyes of the neighbors...

"Property owners are not compelled to consult the 'aesthetic taste' of their neighbors...

The ruling reflects the law's reluctance to enforce any particular standard of beauty...

Another man put up an 11-foot fence close to his boundary line...

Admitting a spiteful purpose, he claimed he could build whatever he pleased on his own land...

But a court ordered the fence removed because of his motive.

"What right has the defendant to shut out God's free air and sunlight from the windows of his neighbors?" demanded the court...

A dual motive—spite plus something else—may improve the fence builder's legal position...

Ripley Tigers Shifting To District 13-AA

Halls Into Key Lake Co. Clash

The Halls Tigers, facing their toughest foe of the year, will travel to Tiptonville Friday night to play the Lake County Falcons in a game crucial to both teams...

Lake County, 1977 state Class A runnersup, is favored by a narrow margin but the Tigers are rated as possible winners...

A victory for either team should put them in the favorite's role for the District 15-A championship and a playoff spot...

Last Friday night Dwayne McKinney handled the ball 14 times as he scored 4 touchdowns and added a 2-point conversion in an easy 49-7 Tiger win at Greenfield...

Marvin Brown added 3 touchdowns and Barry Washington kicked 5 extra points for the Tiger total...

Brown opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 49-yard scamper. Washington's kick for the extra point failed...

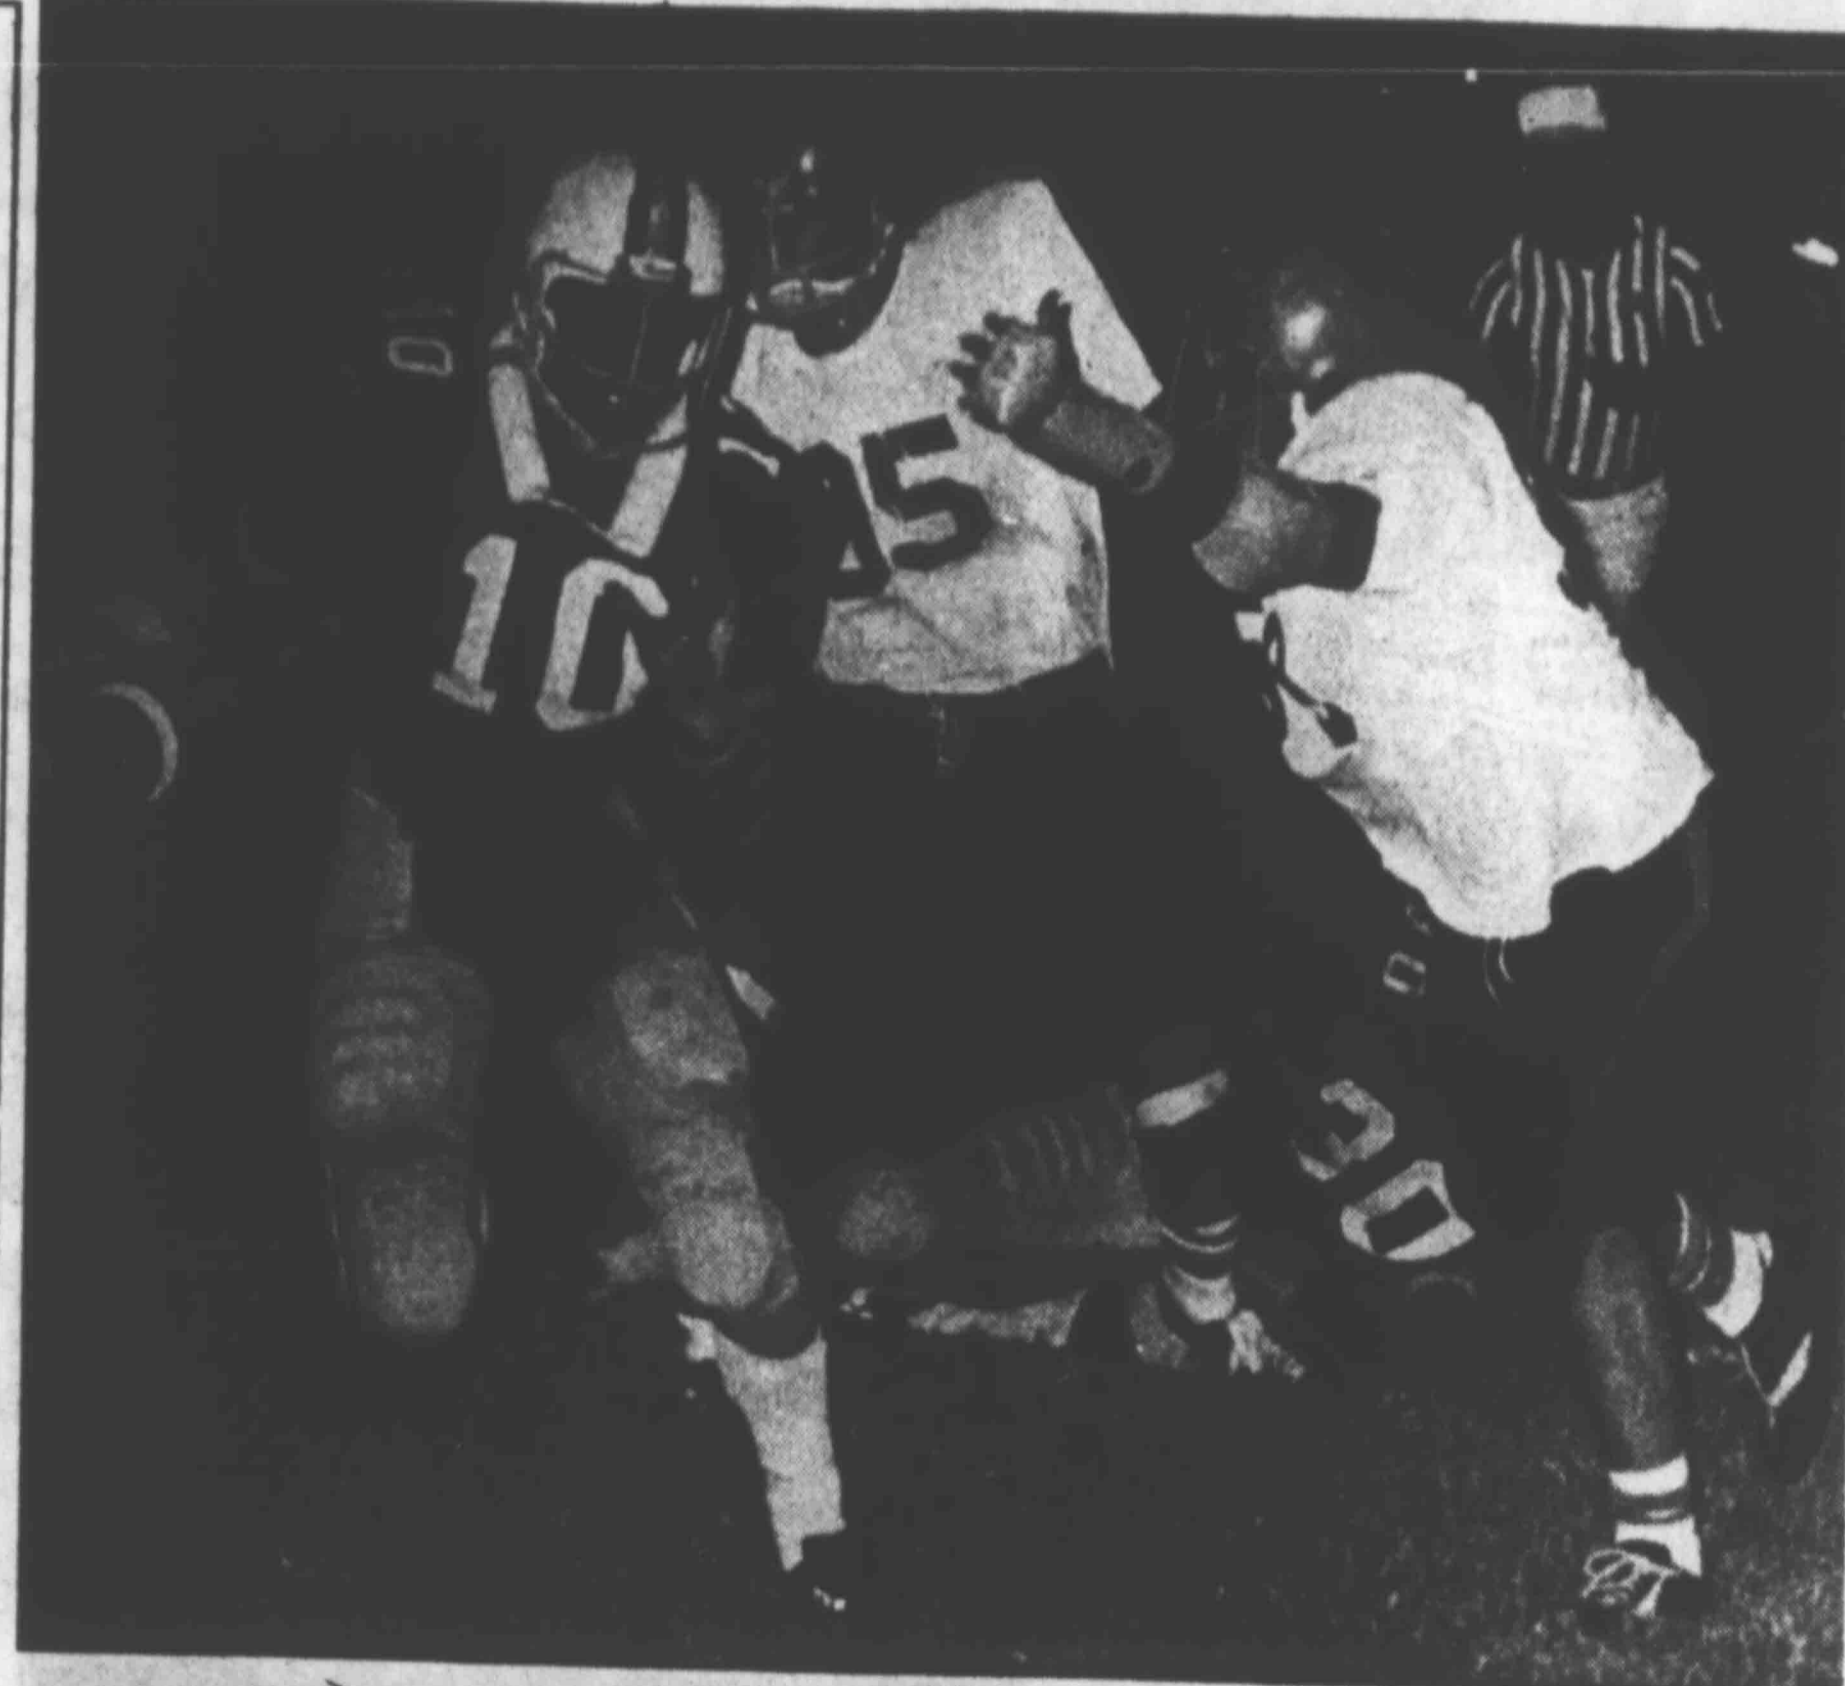

McKinney scored on a 25 yard run in the third quarter and Washington's extra point kick was good to bring the score to 35-0 at the end of the third period...

Familiar Foes Back On 1979 Schedule

Ripley High School's Tigers journey Friday to their next to last district game, in Germantown, which is 2-1 in the district, against the Tiger's zero district record—but Germantown won't be in the Tigers' district next year.

Ripley High School enrollment in sophomore through senior years having fallen one below the 750 minimum for Class AAA competition, the Tennessee Secondary Schools Athletics Association has re-classified RHS into District 13-AA (from AAA status), beginning with the 1979 football season...

RHS isn't disconsolate about the shift. It rides the Tiger schedule of unfamiliar Shelby County district foes, most of whom bring few spectators to Ripley—and it puts back on the Tiger schedule four traditional opponents who will likely produce more profitable games.

District 13-AA (in Region 7) will include, next year, besides Ripley, Dyer County, Humboldt, Martin Westview, Munford, Obion Central, Trenton Peabody, and Union City.

Germantown Wins Fourth Straight

Germantown maulled Wooddale 39-9 Friday while the Tigers enjoyed an open date (and Haywood High's 12-7 defeat of Covington—preserved by safety Robert King's end zone interception with 1:30 left in the game to hand the Chargers their first 1978 loss).

Two touchdowns each by Brian McCrary and Al Saliba led Germantown to its fourth straight win. Quarterback Greg Strickland added another score from the three, and Jeff Carroll wound up the scoring spree with four yards, after having kicked three extra points in the contest before 3,400 fans.

"We played as sloppy in the second half as we played well in the first," said Germantown coach Ken Netherland. "We play both ways," he candidly admits. "I think the defense did pretty well, overall. Steve Hasenmuller played his usual solid game, and Tommy Dillon and Bruce Jones played well."

LCBT Splits In Jackson

LAUDERDALE COUNTY BOXING TEAM WON THREE of six bouts in Jackson's first exhibition fights of the season Saturday, joined by teams from Brownsville, Perryville, Savannah, and the University of Tennessee in Martin. Clay Conrad, matched for the first time this season, used a sharp left hook to take a technical knock-out in the first 30 seconds of the first round from Perryville's Pete Pate, 16, with three years experience. Unanimous decisions went to Michael Demoss, front left, soft-spoken 75-pounder, over Jackson's Jeff Dempsey, and to boxing circuit newcomer Terry Stover, second from right rear, over Jackson's Thomas Reed. Split decisions favored Savannah star Junior Short, who had height and reach on Greg Woodard, front right, and Savannah's more experienced Steve Pilikerton over Bennie Mosby, rear left. Billy Wayne Harrison, out of training, slowed in the second and third rounds to lose the decision to Jackson's Mike Presson. Second from left in photo is Keith Gitchell; at right rear, Coach Jimmy Jones.

Carter Invites Ripley's Band For Tour

Only Westate Unit Invited

The Ripley High School band—one of only three Class A (80 or fewer musicians) bands invited from West Tennessee to attend last weekend's "Contest of Champions" in Murfreesboro—won an "excellent" rating from distinguished judges, plus an invitation to help welcome Pres. Jimmy Carter when he makes a 2-hour visit to Nashville next Thursday.

Carter, aboard Air Force One, is scheduled to land at Municipal Airport or Smyrna Airport, south of Nashville, at 11:30 a.m., en route to Miami, Fla.

He will speak at noon in the plaza in front of the state Capitol.

His visit to Tennessee is intended to boost Jake Butcher, Democratic nominee for governor.

"We don't want to get into politics," said Bill Campbell, band director.

"But Mr. Carter is President of the United States, and it's not every day that the RHS band gets to play for a President.

"We hope everyone will understand that we are going to play for him as President, and not for him as Democrat."

Campbell announced the Presidential invitation at the weekly band meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. Bernice Crain, of Ripley, state Democratic executive committee woman, put the RHS band into nomination for the recognition.

The Murfreesboro meet—one of the state's most prestigious—invited only two other Class A bands from West Tennessee—Huntingdon and Briarcrest.

Judges for the "Contest of Champions" were Dr. W. J. Julian, of Knoxville, University of Tennessee director of bands; Dr. Kenneth Bloomquist, of East Lansing, Mich., Michigan State University director of bands; R. Ripley Yule Parade To Use New Route

"Christmas Memories," Ripley's Yule parade Thursday, Nov. 30th, will follow a new route—from Ripley High School up South Washington and around the west, north, and east sides of the square to disband in the First United Methodist Church parking lot.

Randy King, parade chairman for the sponsoring Ripley Chamber of Commerce and Ripley Jaycees, says each float entered will earn $50, and there will be $50 and $25 prizes for first and second place winners in each of three categories—church/organization, industrial, and business. Entry information is available from him at 635-4705 or from the Chamber office, 635-9541.

Nunn New Associate Dean Of UT College Of Medicine

Dr. Stewart Lewis Nunn, of Memphis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Nunn, of Ripley, has been named associate dean for clinical affairs of the University of Tennessee College of Medicine in Memphis.

A professor of medicine in the College and chief of the cardiovascular disease section of Veterans Administration Medical Center, he was named associate dean by Dr. James C. Hunt, who joined the College as dean July 1st. Dr. Nunn worked closely with Hunt during Nunn's 12 years at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. Hunt was with the Mayo Clinic 24 years and was chairman of its Department of Medicine for five.

Hunt plans a massive overhaul of patient care in City of Memphis Hospital and the UT Center for the Health Sciences, in which Nunn will play a major role.

Construction will add three large pods for patient beds and other facilities in a new area straddling Jefferson, connecting UT Hospital at Jefferson and Dunlap with all other City of Memphis Hospital facilities in the medical center, after some older structures have been razed.

Dr. Nunn says there are several reasons to establish a new clinical program.

"Moral and professional reasons are important, but for the University of Tennessee, the academic requirement for excellence is our strongest imperative," he says.

"If we show our students an excellent system, its high standards will echo and re-echo through the years after graduation, and our entire area will be better served."

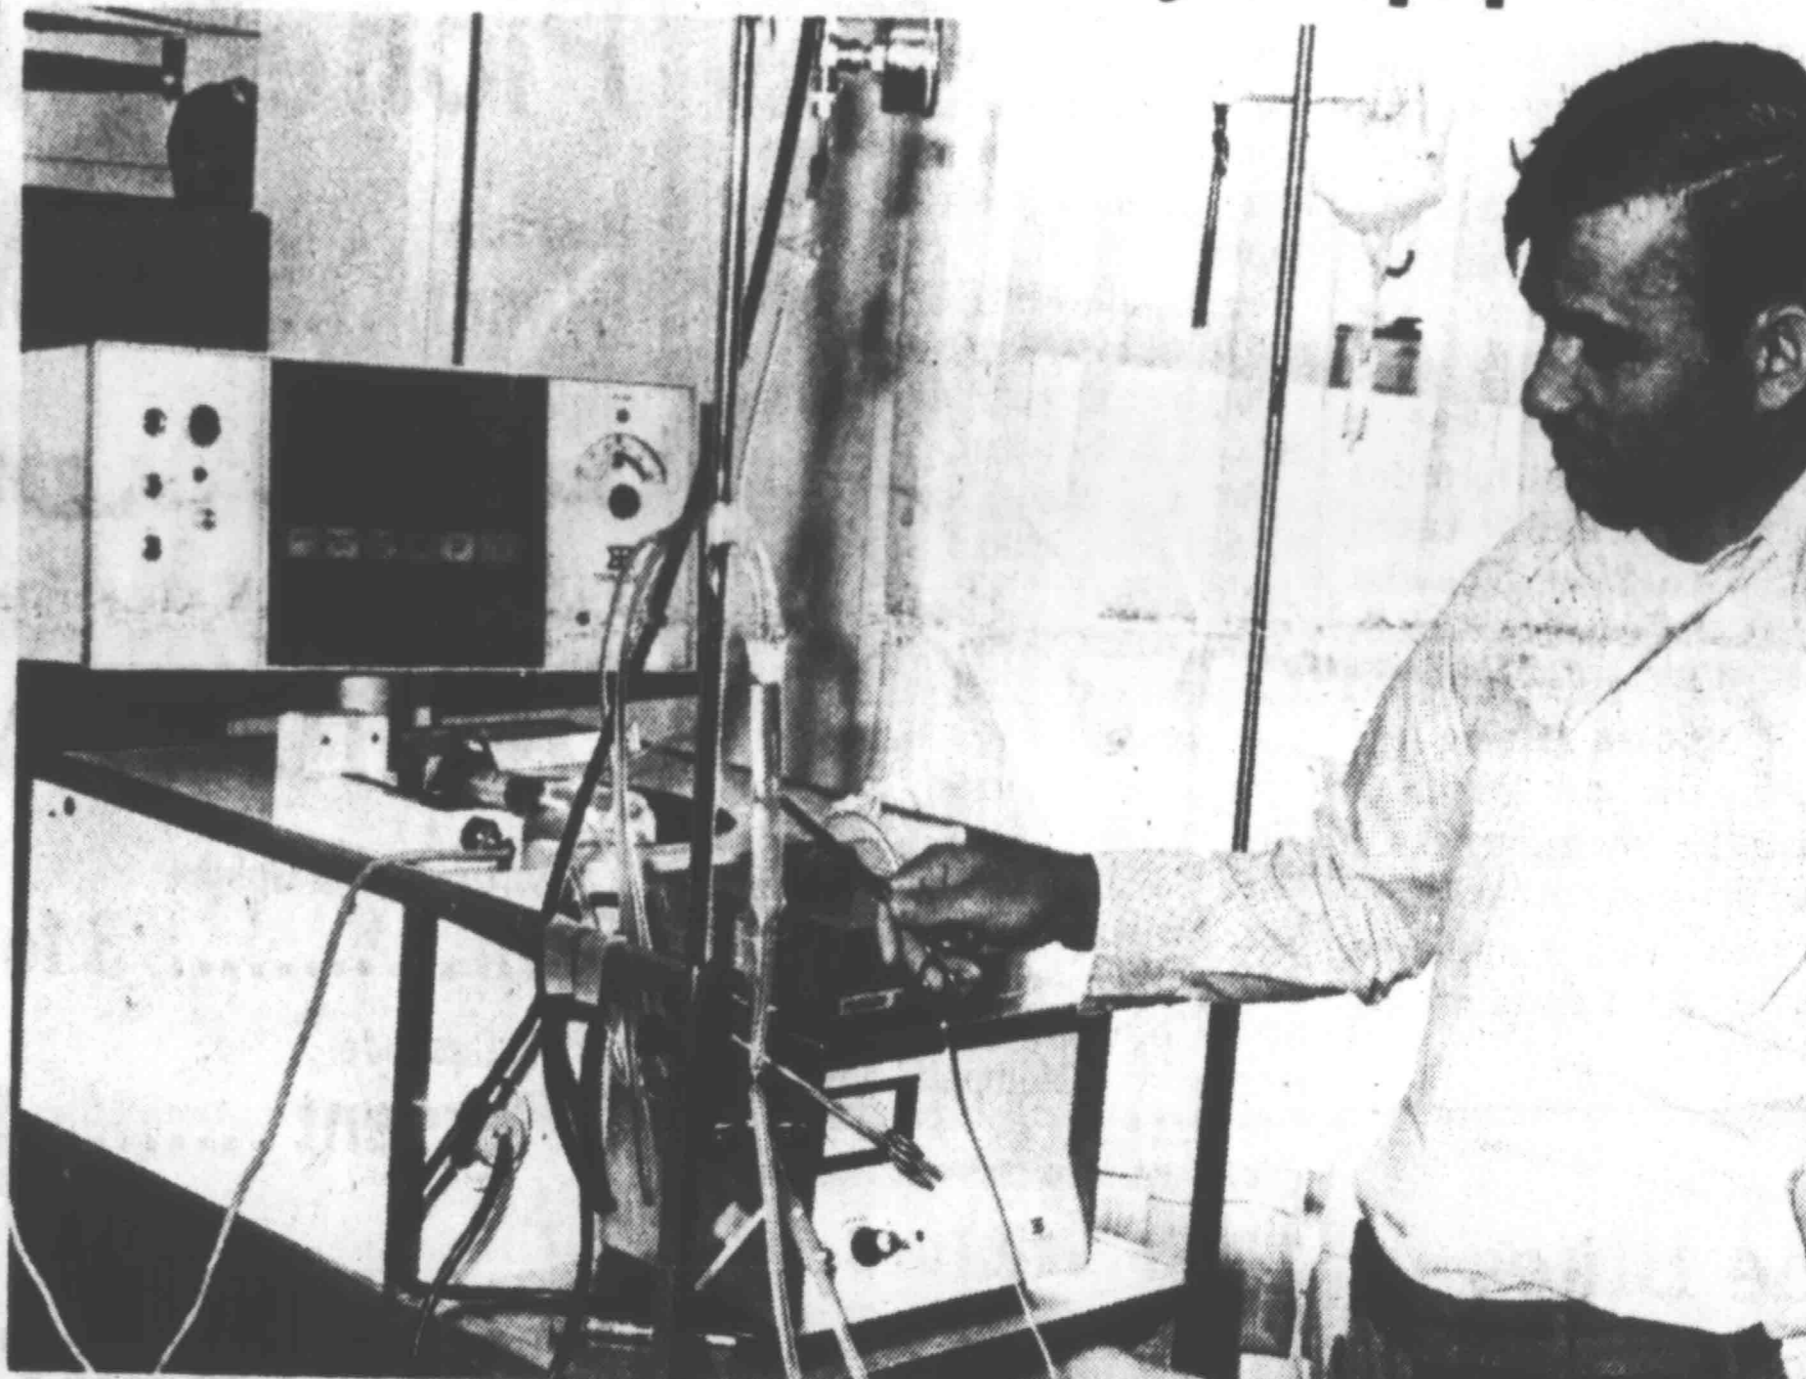

"We have here in this medical center an extraordinary collection of medical strengths not yet fully orchestrated, a stunning array of medical resources," he adds.

"This setting is ideal for creating an outstanding health-care center."

Bye, Bye, Blackbirds?

AS THE BLACKBIRDS RETURN TO TENNESSEE after summer migrations as far as New York and Canada, the Tennessee and Kentucky Departments of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of the Interior, estimating startling populations up 19%, are throwing two helicopters and two personnel teams into control efforts at roosts like this one, photographed last year at the intersection of Central-Edith Road and Cedar Grove Road, northwest of Ripley. They will experiment with detergent bird-baths and starilicid at feed-lots and near roosts. Radios attached to the birds show they use many roosts in a few days, but no one yet knows why.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Last week Congress completed its 95th session. After a long week of late nights and complex parliamentary maneuvering the House adjourned. Much has been reported in the media about the red rush that occurs at the end of a Congressional session.

Legislation that has been bottled up in conference committees or awaiting action by either the Senate or the House, or both, is finally completed and brought up for a final vote. In some cases, some members of Congress find a parliamentary method to bring their legislative pet projects to the floor for a vote.

The whole scene of a session's final days is exciting, frustrating, fast-paced, and in a few cases, surprising. This year, as usual, several important pieces of legislation were still pending before Congress in the final days before adjournment. In some cases, parliamentary procedures played an important part in the consideration of legislation. A good example was the National Energy Policy Act.

When the House first considered this legislation in 1977, this bill was considered as a package. Though amendments were offered to the various sections of the bill, a vote on final passage was a vote on the entire package. However, when the Senate took the bill up, it was broken down into five separate bills.

$2,200 for installation of solar heating equipment in homes and an additional 10% investment tax credit for businesses purchasing energy saving equipment. The conferees also agreed on a sticker tax for automobiles that do not meet energy efficiency standards. The so-called gas guzzler tax would begin with the 1980 models. In the first year, a car getting less than 15 miles to the gallon would be taxed from $200 to $550. The tax would then increase each year until 1985 when it would be $3,850 on cars getting less than 12.5 miles per gallon.

The final language agreed to by the conferees included the tax credit for adding some insulation though it was reduced somewhat. The House bill called for a credit of up to $400 for installing insulation, but the conferees report called for a credit up to $300. The report also included a bill of up to

Halls Hosts Shocked S. Fulton

Toppled By Alamo, 8-7

Previously unbeaten South Fulton, shocked by a 8-7 loss to underdog Alamo last Friday night, will come to Halls this Friday night to play the Halls Tigers who are smarting from a 13-3 licking by Lake County.

South Fulton, with 7 straight wins, was ranked No. 1 Class A team in the state in last week's Associated Press ratings. Alamo scored late in the fourth quarter after recovering a South Fulton fumble. Ronald Kail hit Roe Hughes for the touchdown and then hit Jay Avery with a pass for the 2-point conversion to seal the Alamo victory, only their second of the season.

To further complicate matters on Friday the 13th, Old Hickory Academy annihilated Dyer County 38-0 to give Lake County undisputed first place in District 15-A and an almost certain playoff spot.

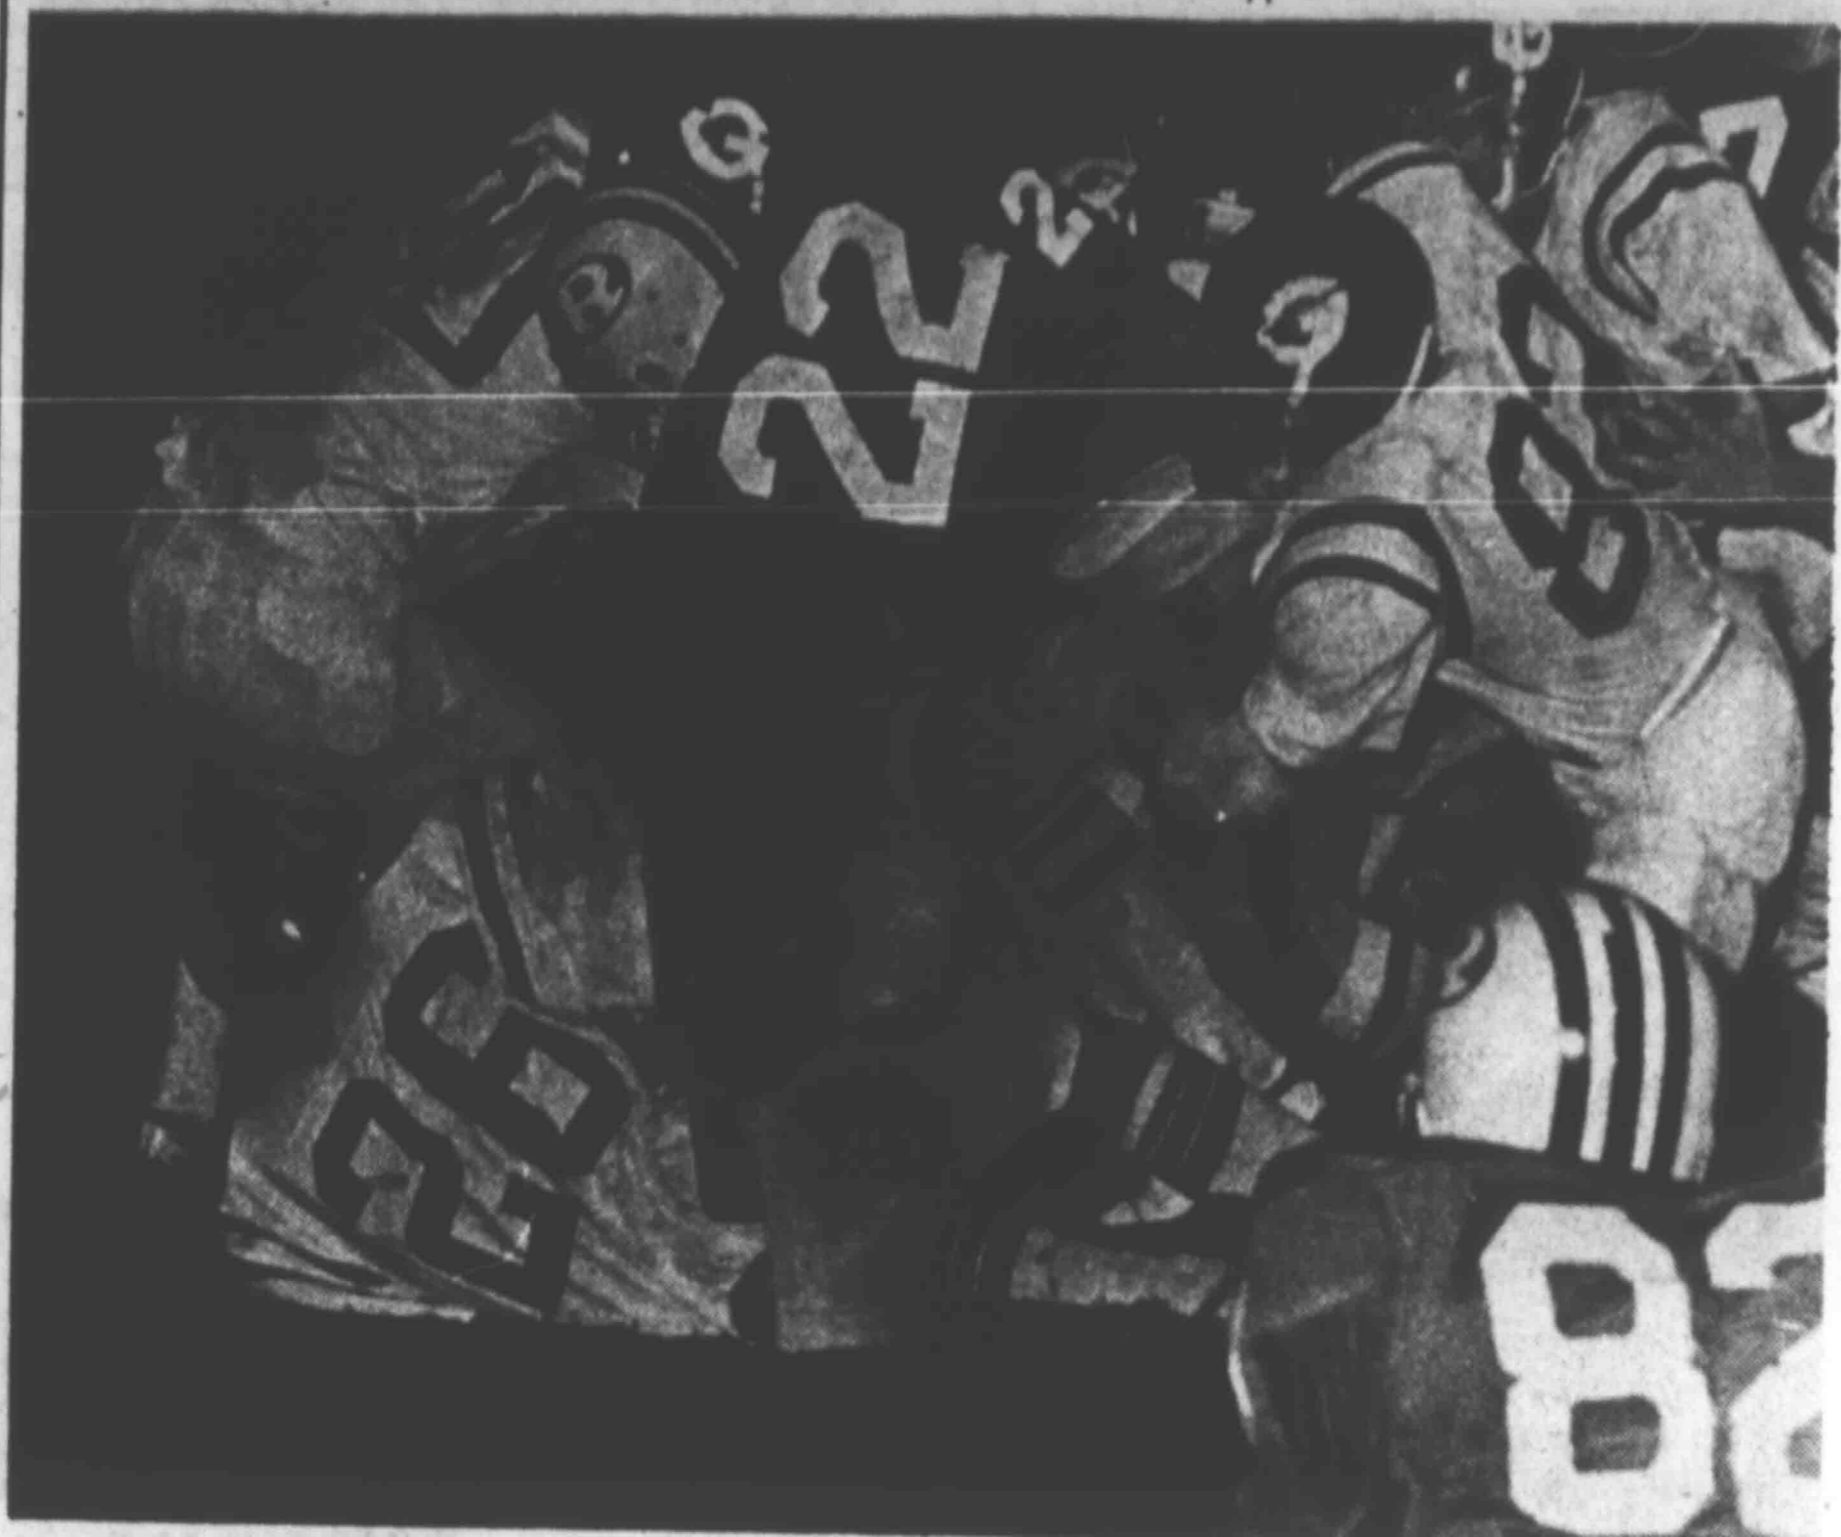

In the game at Tiptonville last Friday night the Halls Tigers were unable to generate any sustained offense against the Lake County forward wall which outweighed the Tigers almost 30 pounds per man.

Barry Washington kicked a 31-yard field goal in the second quarter to give Halls a 3-0 halftime lead but the Lake County Falcons capitalized on Tiger errors to score touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters for the 13-3 win.

Ronald Hopkins got the first Falcon touchdown on a 16-yard run in the third quarter after a Tiger fumble and scored again in the final quarter for the five after an intercepted Tiger pass.

Halls had 6 first downs and 89 total yards while Lake County was controlling the ball for 12 first downs and 209 yards. Dwayne McKinney got 50 yards in 10 carries for the 2 attempts, and Marvin Brown carried 5 times for 13 yards. Hopkins amassed 143 yards in 29 attempts for Lake County.

Halls quarterback Walter Lazure threw 10 passes, completed 2 and had 2 inter-

Ripley Home-Coming Entertains Dyersburg

Ripley High School's home-coming game this Friday entertains Dyersburg in a non-district tilt. Germantown choked Ripley 28-7 Friday to assure the Tigers the district cellar as Bartlett stunned host Covington, 22-12, to move into a three way tie with Germantown for leadership of District 14-AAA.

The front runners are all 3-1 in the district, and all with one district foe left to face. Only a Ripley upset of Bartlett Oct. 27th and a Millington surprise of Germantown on the same evening could give Ripley's tie for last place in the Tigers' last season in District 14-AAA, before they are transferred to District 13-AAA—for (one) less than the 750 junior through senior enrollment for cepted while Lake County threw 8 times with 1 completion. Halls fumbled 4 times and lost 2. Lake County did not fumble. Lazure led Halls tacklers with 23 stops, Jimmy Meeks had 20. Others were Steve Harber with 14 tackles, Tommy Layne 12, and McKinney 10.

The Tigers, now pretty

RONALD HOPKINS, of the Falcons, ends a run in McKinney's clutches in the 13-3 defeat for Halls.

Water Turn-Over Affects Fisherman

If it weren't for a complete water turn-over twice a year, most lakes and ponds would become stagnant, because of a continued build-up of oxygen-depleted water. But the period during the actual turn-over can be very frustrating to fishermen, because game fish, such as bass, seem to attain a severe case of lock-jaw. Here's what happens: As water temperatures drop, water becomes heavier and more dense. Maximum density is reached when the water is 39.2 degrees Fahrenheit. Colder than that, water becomes lighter. That's why ice floats on the surface. If water didn't become less dense as it freezes, the ice would settle to the bottom and destroy all aquatic life.

To trace the cycle more closely: In the fall of each year, water temperatures drop, and the heavier water falls to the bottom. This forces the bottom waters to the top, where they once again become re-oxygenated.

You can usually tell when this happens simply by looking at the water—it takes on a color similar to "pea soup" because of a mix with decaying green vegetation which covers the bottom. When this happens, the lake or pond is said to "turn over". Biologists use the term stratify.

During this brief period, all levels of the body of water have enough oxygen to support life, and fish could be scattered throughout any of the levels.

Strangely enough, however, game fish become very inactive when turn-over first occurs, and catching them can be a frustrating chore until the water begins to stabilize again.

This can take a few days to three weeks or so, depending on atmospheric conditions. In the spring, the process reverses itself. Ice melts, and as the surface waters warm to 39.2 degrees, they become heavier than the water below them and sink to the bottom, once again forcing the bottom water to the top.

The sun continues to warm the water, and many lakes then become stratified. What does the fall fisherman do when turn-over occurs? Oddly, turn-over doesn't always occur throughout a complete body of water at the same time.

As mentioned earlier, stratified water often turns the color of pea soup, so fishermen should look for areas in which water colors are more close to normal.

Too, turn-over can occur in one body of water and not occur in a similar body only a short distance away. The trick, then, is not to give up, and, as the 18-wheelers say, keep on truckin'.

Children Wear Davis Shirts

SENATOR BILL JIM DAVIS visited Brownsville Saturday. One of his stops was at the Bradford Square Shopping Center. There he was greeted by numerous admirers. Among these were twelve children from Halls, Brownsville, and Forked Deer wearing their Re-Elect Bill Jim Davis For Senator red shirts. They were, back row, Kristi Ward, Lynn Blackburn, Sen. Davis, Rose Marie Sumrow, Mitzi Presley, Renee Morris, and Bob Summer; front row, LaRita Lewis, Stephen Lewis, Katy Thomas, Gina Mascolo, Ann Hurt, and Brady Thomas. Adv. Paid For By Mrs. David Hurt, Jr.

"When you see what Senators pay for food, is it any wonder they don't seem to care what we pay?"

Here's a typical meal available in the exclusive U.S. Senate dining room:
Cold Spanish gazpacho soup... broiled haddock with lemon butter, served with honeyed carrots, melba toast and hearts of lettuce.
For dessert, fresh melon balls au kirsch and coffee.
All this is available to a United States Senator for $4.40!
Meanwhile, food prices for the rest of us have jumped more than 18 percent this year.
And, since 1980, food prices have exploded 280 percent.
Jane Eskind believes the inflation fight has to start with food and the other necessities of life: energy, housing, and health care.
These costs are rising faster than all others in the marketplace.
Jane Eskind wants to keep the basics of life affordable, because, as she says:
"No one should be able to charge us whatever they want for the things we can't do without!"

Steelman Saves Soil

ROBERT DAVIS, a county Soil Conservationist, checks parallel terraces, 150 feet apart, with long, gentle curves to accommodate farm machinery and with pipe outlets, on the E. M. Steelman farm near Halls, having erosion loss of 29 tons of soil per acre per year. Mr. Steelman's plan to establish alfalfa for three or four years, followed by two or more years of row crops whose residue will be returned to the soil, will bring soil loss below five tons per acre. No-till soy beans planted in the previous bean crop's residue, continuously, would hold loss under six tons per acre per year. To learn soil loss from cultivated acres, farmers should contact the county Soil Conservation District, 635-0851.

Football Carnage

As we predicted early in the football season District 15-A has proven to be extremely tough with casualties each week. South Fulton's loss last week brought an end to any undefeated status for all West Tennessee Class A teams.

Lake County, as expected, has emerged as the cream of the crop but they may be lucky that they played Old Hickory earlier in the year judging from the 38-0 licking Old Hickory handed Dyer County last week.

Union Vote

We created some discussion with our comments last week on the union vote at Allen-Stone Thursday, some of which is quite interesting.

Most of those commenting to this writer have agreed to a great extent that a vote for the union is ill-advised for the community and probably ill-advised for the individual worker.

However, one comment bears thought and, we think, may be valid. This man, a former employee of an industry in another state but presently employed locally, said that for the most part the problem in communication with management is in the area of foreman and supervisors who exceed their authority and not in top-management.

We hope that Allen-Stone employees will be fully informed on the pros and cons when they vote today. A mistake today could be very costly for years to come.

Firing Up Tigers

TEMPLE CRAIN, perhaps the last of the red-hot twirlers for the Ripley High School Band (bands are phasing twirlers out in favor of rifle and flag bearers), traced these patterns with flaming batons in time exposure during Ripley's home-coming half-time show. Daughter of the Floyd Crains, she is taking her skills into oblivion in a literal blaze of glory in this photo by our staff photographer, Mark Lucas. Complete coverage of Ripley's home-coming game and the very tight District 14-AAA title race in our sports pages.

Blanton Center Sign On Order

A sign to name the Visitors' Center at the Fort Pillow Historical Area in honor of Gov. Ray Blanton, as urged by the September session of Lauderdale County's Commissioners, was ordered by the state Department of Conservation before October's session rescinded the suggestion, Conservation Commissioner B. R. "Buck" Allison told this newspaper last week, saying he had not yet been advised of the cancellation of the suggestion.

He says Gov. Blanton is including about $3,000,000 in next year's budget, to be presented to the General Assembly, for Phase III of Fort Pillow development, which would provide additional camping, picnic, and parking facilities, along with these major items:

- A River Museum.
 - Reconstruction of rifle pits and redoubt walls.
 - Reconstruction of a river battery used by the Confederates at Fort Pillow.
 - Boat ramps on both Cold Creek and on the Mississippi River.
- Commissioner Allison said he's personally opposed to a state motel at Fort Pillow, but he admitted that it remains a possibility.

A covered dish supper is set for 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Tony Hollingsworth will lead singing, Diane Armour will be organist, and Debbie Alexander will serve as fellowship director.

300-Lb. Hog Hogs Road

A county Ambulance Authority ambulance in which Henry Hitchell, 53, and Garner Kissell, 48, of Ripley, were returning from a trip to Memphis was damaged at 1:45 a.m. Friday, two miles north of Henning on old Highway 51, when it met a car driven by Mike Brewster which had just struck a 300-lb. hog, owned by Eddie Mae Burnett, according to state Highway Patrolman Billy Wayne Williams.

Truck Explodes

RAY HUDSON, 26, of Covington, hauling beans east on Highway 87 near Cherry in a tractor-trailer owned by Sidney Talley, suffered leg injuries when the truck's transmission exploded through the floorboards at 6:45 p.m. Saturday, according to state Highway Patrolman Billy Wayne Williams, of Arp. Flying fragments fractured the cab's rear window.

Power Rate Cut 5.4%; Down $135,000 Yearly

Ripley Power & Light Co. is cutting electric rates, for meter readings on and after Nov. 1st, 5.4% for residential use of 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, with a new rate of $26.42, almost $1.50 less than the old rate.

The rate cut was approved by the utility's board in its regular monthly meeting, on the recommendation of RPL Manager Oneal Weaver, in view of the system's efficient operation and financial strength.

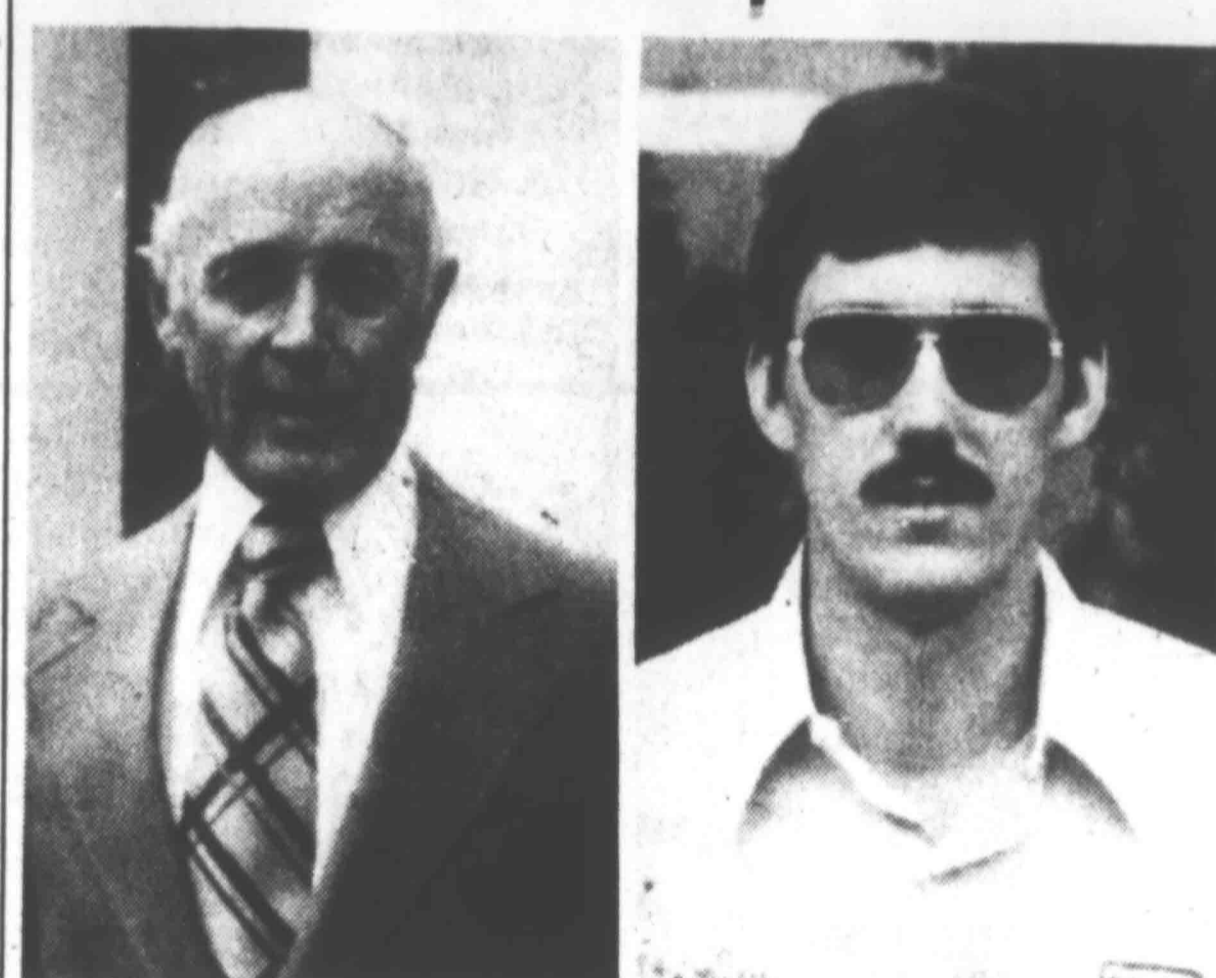

Commercial and industrial users will also get cheaper rates, Weaver said. Weaver estimated the rate reductions will save RPL customers about $135,000 annually. He said the reductions "comply with our policy to sell electricity at the lowest possible prices."

Ag Movement Boosts Jones

Tennessee's chapter of the American Agricultural Movement has endorsed U.S. Rep. Ed Jones, of Yorkville, for reelection, reports John W. "Buddy" Moses, of Brownsville, state chairman of the organization, which has members in 27 counties in the state. "We have always known that Ed Jones provided effective representation for farmers in Congress," Moses says, "but we got a chance to see how really effective he is during this past year. Throughout the course of the farmers' activity during the winter, we found him always ready and willing to assist us in getting heard in Washington. He helped immensely in formulating our positions on how we felt the government should assist in solving the farmers' problems. Maybe more important than that is the fact that Ed Jones has never stopped working for us. He didn't need the farmers' movement to support the farmer. He always has, and after all the farmers had left Washington to go home and start planting in the spring, he initiated the bill establishing a good farm credit program. That program is now law, as are other proposals in which we have been interested. We are proud to endorse Ed Jones for reelection, and we look forward to working with him throughout the next two years in Washington." Jones is fourth ranking majority member of the House Agriculture Committee.

"We know that we can depend on Ed Jones for leadership, and I am proud to be a part of an organization that endorses him for reelection," says Edmond Sorrell, Dyer County farmer who is vice-chairman of the TAM. "With his seniority in the House and on the House Agriculture Committee, we feel like we just have to have him back up there. During the past year, we found out that there just aren't many people in Congress around that know farm issues like Ed Jones and that have the experience and knowledge about farmers that he has."

New Co-Op Chief

STANLEY ANDERSON, right, Dyer County native, last week succeeded Leon Hargett (left), taking early retirement as manager of Lauderdale Farmers Co-Operative. He was with Madison Farmers Co-Op 18 months before becoming manager of Summer Farmers Co-Op in February, 1977. He took an associate of science degree in business from Dyersburg State College and a bachelor of science degree in business administration from the University of Tennessee in Martin. He and his wife, Barbara, are parents of Mitch, 7, and Carol, 3. Lauderdale Farmers Co-Op, which Hargett, Ripley alderman, has managed since it was chartered in August, 1944, had $949,676 sales last year. Directors are Leslie Lightfoot, president, W. M. Paris, vice-president, B. F. Escue, Jr., Lynn Hargett, and Kenneth Webb, of Ripley; Pickett Ball and Lomas Garrett, of Gates; and T. L. Hopper and Austin Winn, of Henning.

Blaze Claims Lads, 5 And 2

Dwayne E. Lefever, great-grandson of Guy Henson and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shanda, of Ripley, died Monday of last week, two days short of his third birthday, when flames swept through the home of his mother, Mrs. Nancy Masella, in Elgin, Ill. His step-brother, Christopher Masella, 5, also died in the blaze. Dwayne was the grandson of Mrs. Yvonne Shands Dowell, formerly of Ripley. Funeral mass was held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in St. Hubert Church, Hoffman Estates, Ill., with burial in St. Michael the Archangel Cemetery.

Life Taken By Tractor

Edgar Mabina, 62, tractor driver for many years for Bill Hughes, Nankipoo farmer, died at 5 p.m. Monday in Parkview Hospital of multiple injuries suffered when a tractor pulled a disc over him, almost severing both legs. It is believed he was standing on the ground when he started the tractor while it was in gear. Mrs. Hughes found him about 1:45 p.m.

Probations In Eagle's Death

DEATH OF THIS 2-YEAR-OLD BALD EAGLE, just adding white feathers on his 7-foot wing span, on the Hatchie River last January brought guilty pleas Friday before U.S. District Court Judge Bailey Brown in Memphis to two of four counts of an indictment against Daniel Wayne Jones, 25, of Covington, who said the eagle was on the water when he shot it while hunting legal game, and John Henry Flanagan, 45, of Brighton, charged with taking the dead bird to a grocery store and lying to federal agents to conceal the fact that Jones had shot the eagle. Brown, who could have sentenced the men to $10,000 fines plus a year in prison, ordered only a jail tour, with Jones on probation for three years, to spend a day a week for half that time in conservation work on the Hatchie, and Flanagan on probation for two years, to spend a day a week for nine months in such work. Asst. U.S. Attorney Maurice Franklin, who said the government's proof showed the eagle was in the air when it was shot, and who asked Brown for jail sentences and fines for the defendants, said he did not know whether the federal government would pursue two other counts of the indictment returned in March against the Tipton County pair.

DAR Meeting At Ridgely

By Mary Alsbrook
Key Corner chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Shelton Austin at Ridgely with Mrs. Perry Butler, Mrs. Ernest R. and Mrs. Ivan Sullivan as co-hostesses.
Mrs. Charles R. Viar, regent, presided over the meeting, complimenting the yearbook committee for the special national award won by the chapter's yearbook.
Mrs. Robert Jones read the President General's message. The national defense message was presented by Mrs. James R. Horner. She told how a nurse in the United States had to work much shorter time to buy things of equal value as compared to a nurse in Russia, Japan, England, and most other countries. The Carter administration has cut back on spending for national defense in hope that other countries are doing the same although they really may not be doing as much cutting back as we are.

Mrs. Richard Leow gave an interesting historical program on "Table Top Customs and Household Hints" during colonial days. She told that flour, sugar, meal, and many other food items were stored in barrels as there were usually 12 to 14 children in families. They did not have matches until 1850, cooked over open fires until the cook stove came into use in 1830. The average housewife had about $20 a year to spend for things they could not grow or preserve. She usually used this money to buy salt, needles, knives, nails, and tea. They made cider from their apples and each person consumed about 1 1/2 barrels of cider each year.
She read several recipes from an old cookbook telling of beating eggs for 45 minutes and other things quite different from the way they are done today.
The hostesses served fruit punch, finger sandwiches, prune cake, home-made pickle, and divinity candy at the close of the meeting.
Attending from Halls were Mrs. Viar, Mrs. W. L. Andrews, and Mrs. Charles R. Alsbrook.
Don't throw out the liquid from canned vegetables. This is usually rich in nutrients.

Halls Victors To Old Hick'ry Halls Home-Coming Stars

HALLS' DWAYNE MCKINNEY (10) is wide open around right end as one South Fulton foe is dropped at his heels and Doyle Napper (20) leads guard Steve McClanahan (61) and tackle Mackie Henderson (64) in Halls' 14-13 win Friday.

IT'S MINE, CLAIMS CRAIG COLEY (82) as he collects a pass for South Fulton and another Red Devil prepares to contend with Halls' Walter Lazure (17) about it.

ANOTHER DEVILISH COMPLETION found South Fulton's junior end Mike Hutchens (85) in position to ward off the Halls Tigers' James Reed (80).

Ex-District Play May Net 14-AAA Crown

Friday will see the last grid matches in District 14-AAA but may not break a tie between Bartlett, Covington, and Germantown, all 3-1.
Bartlett hosts Ripley (0-4), Covington visits Briarcrest (2-2), Germantown visits Millington (1-3).
If only two win, winner of season play between the two victors gets the title. Bartlett's loss would give Covington the District 14-AAA crown; Covington's loss would put Germantown in; a Germantown loss would enthrone Bartlett.
But if all three win, the title goes to the team with the best record for the season, including non-district tilts.
That would drop Covington to second place, at 7-2, with Bartlett and Germantown both 8-1.
And with three teams, of six, tied going into the last district weekend this season, it's entirely possible that the District 14-AAA race may be decided by non-district games—perhaps pretty far down the list of tie breakers. It can be.

Edged South Fulton, 14-13

The Halls Tigers will be slight underdogs Friday evening when they travel to Jackson to play Old Hickory Academy in the final road game of the season. The Tigers will host McEwen next Friday to end the regular season.

Now 6-2 after an overtime win over visiting South Fulton, the Tigers will have to play at their peak to take a win over Old Hickory, 7-2 for the year. Old Hickory has come on strong during the later part of the season with close losses to Lake County and Columbia Military Academy and strong wins over Dyer County and Munford.

Last Friday evening the Tigers had to go into their first overtime to take a 14-13 win over South Fulton. The visiting Red Devils got on the scoreboard in the second quarter when Jeff Clement scored from the 2-yard line and Jim Finsel kicked the conversion for a 7-0 lead at half-time.

Dwayne McKinney tallied for the Tigers in the third quarter after Marvin Brown picked off a South Fulton pass and returned it 16-yards to the South Fulton 21. The Tigers scored in four plays with McKinney diving in from the 1-yard stripe. Barry Washington kicked the extra point for a 7-7 deadlock.
The Tigers missed a chance to win in regulation time when the snap from center was mishandled as Washington tried a field goal from 18 yards out with only seconds remaining on the clock.
Halls won the toss in overtime and chose to defend their goal. South Fulton used the opportunity to score as Finsel hit Mike Hutchins with a 7-yard pass for the score. Walter Lazure broke through to block the point after attempt and South Fulton led 13-7.
Given the ball on the 10-yard stripe, the Tigers dove into the end zone in 3 plays with McKinney scoring his second touchdown from the 3. Washington kicked the extra point and that was the ball game.

FIRST PLACE FLOAT in Halls High School's Home-Coming Parade Friday was entered by freshmen—"Roast The Red Devils," with two turning on a spit and two in black kettles. Fire truck, below, bore enthusiastic Tiger supporters in the parade.

South Fulton donated the first half of play as they picked up 7 of their 9 first downs. The Red Devils had 66 yards on the ground and 44 yards passing as the Tigers shut down their fine running game.
The Tigers compiled 10 first downs and a total of 217 yards but three fumbles, two of them recovered by South Fulton, kept them stalled. McKinney rushed 16 times for 86 yards, Brown added 75 yards on 12 attempts, and Barry Washington carried 4 times for 20 yards. Lazure had a minus 22 yards in 7 carries as the South Fulton line broke through on several occasions on passing attempts. McKinney now has 114 points for the year with 2 games remaining.
Halls quarterback Lazure threw 5 times, completed 4 for 52 yards, and was not intercepted. South Fulton attempted 13 passes, completed 6, with Brown and Lazure intercepting for Halls.
Penalties continued to plague the Tigers as they had 60 yards stepped off against them on 6 penalties. South Fulton was penalized 3 times for 25 yards.
James Reed led Tiger tacklers with 12, Lazure had 11, Ronnie Young and Steve Harbor added 10 each.

"Who do the Republicans think they're kidding?"

The Republicans are at it again: Promising tax relief for the little guy with another sure-fire tax scheme.

Along with Senator Howard Baker, Republican leaders have been flying around the country in their private 727 luxury jet, riding in limousines, to push something called the Kemp-Roth plan. They even have the nerve to use President John F. Kennedy's name in their sales pitch. But President Kennedy's former top economic advisor, Walter Heller, said Kemp-Roth will create "soaring deficits and roaring inflation."

One of the most conservative economists in the country, Arthur Burns, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is opposed to Kemp-Roth.

While Howard Baker is now making noises about helping little guys, he's been voting in the Senate to give tax relief to the big guys.

Baker voted Yes on Tax Shelters for the wealthy, (the LAL provision). Yes on the "Executive Suite Loophole." And Yes on $1.5 billion worth of tax breaks for a handful of giant corporations investing in foreign countries.

Meanwhile, Baker voted No on tax relief for family farmers and for small business people, (the Packwood estate tax amendment.)

"Before the Republicans can convince us they care about the little guy," Jane Eskind says, "they've got to stop helping so many big guys." "I want sensible tax cuts that help people who drive Fords and Chevrolets."

ELECTRIC RATES ARE GOING DOWN

Effective for bills rendered from meter readings made on and after Nov. 1, 1978, electric rates will be decreased.

When the rate reduction becomes effective, a 1,000 kilowatt hours (KWH) will cost residential consumers $26.42. This is almost $1.50 less than what consumers would have paid for 1,000 KWH or electricity, which is a 5.4 per cent rate reduction for home owners.

Commercial and industrial consumers of electricity will also benefit from the rate reduction.

The decrease in electric rates represents a 2-level reduction and will save consumers about $135,000 annually.

This rate reduction is possible due to efficient operation of the system, which means the system is in an improved financial condition.

Complying with our policy to sell electricity at the lowest possible price, we are passing these savings on to consumers through lower rates.

"If it was good for consumers, Howard Baker was against it."

It's been a long time since anyone has taken a hard look at Howard Baker's voting record. But you don't have to look hard to see he's no friend of the consumer. Just weeks ago, he voted for taking the lid off natural gas prices. If signed into law, consumer experts predict this bill will add $1,000 to the bill of every residential natural gas consumer over the next eight years. In addition, when the Senate finally voted in 1975 to kill the loophole that cost taxpayers $2 billion every year—the Oil Depletion Allowance—Howard Baker voted to keep the loophole. Meanwhile, he opposed a new bank service that would've allowed people in Tennessee and elsewhere to earn interest on their checking accounts. Baker voted in favor of $1.5 billion in tax benefits to a handful of giant multinational corporations that export U.S. dollars and jobs overseas. He opposed the 1975 Schweiker Amendment aimed at preventing household utility customers from being charged higher rates than industry and business. Twice, Howard Baker voted to kill the idea of a consumer protection agency in 1974. Jane Eskind believes Tennessee needs a Senator who looks after the needs of average Tennesseans. "In these times of rising prices," Jane Eskind says, "we consumers need all the help we can get in the U.S. Senate." "To get that help, we're going to need a new Senator."
