Ice Storm Hits County

ICE COVERED TREES in the Halls area Friday morning after a rain and sub-freezing temperatures Thursday night. The north end of Lauderdale County was at the southern fringe of the storm which damaged trees and caused power outages in Dyer, Lake, Obion and Weakley Counties. Forked Deer Electric Cooperative work crews were called out about 4 a.m. Friday for outages in the Bogota, Jenkinsville and Nauvoo communities in Dyer County. Service was restored in most areas by late Friday afternoon.

Very Inconsiderate

Nell and your editor received a short note Monday from Mrs. Douglas (Billie Bailey) Barbour, of Memphis. Billie and Douglas are vacationing in Florida and, of course, wrote us about the beautiful weather and being on the beach just as we are encountering freezing weather with a chill factor just above zero.

We are always happy to hear from old friends but they could refrain from rubbing it in about the warm climate where they are just when we are shivering and shaking from the cold.

Could Be Interesting

The present session of the state legislature could be an interesting one since Gov. Lamar Alexander has made his budget requests to the law makers.

Among other controversial issues, the Governor apparently plans to seek a one cent increase in the gasoline tax, increase truck weights from 73,000 to 80,000 lbs. and in increase in truck over-all length from 55 to 60 ft.

Along with the truck changes the Governor plans to seek substantial increases in truck fees and a tax increase on diesel fuel.

Being a Republican, Gov. Alexander will be at the mercy of a Democratic legislature with some of the legislative leaders already calling the one cent jump too little and apparently favoring a three cent increase. However, we do not plan to hold our breath until the legislature passes any gasoline tax increase although we think it likely that the truck weight increase will pass and perhaps the one cent gasoline tax jump also.

While we can see some arguments for all of these measures we still believe that the politicians have no one to blame but themselves for being caught short by the drop in revenue for highway maintenance. They should have been able to foresee that if gasoline consumption was cut then tax revenues would decline and planned for the revenue loss. Maybe that is expecting too much!

There can be no doubt that increasing truck weights will greatly increase highway damage but the state has, in the past, been very lax in enforcing overweight laws and the fines have been so riduculously low that truckers could still pay the fines and make money on the overloads. forcement of the law with far stiffer fines will be a major goal.

Grand Jury Charges Starnes & Assistant

Monday's grand jury session charged Chancery Court Clerk Floyd "Sonny" Starnes with embezzling $20,956 from his office between Sept. 1, 1978, and July 31, 1980, and charged his assistant, Mrs. Annie Ruth Webb, with converting $4,500 from the office to her own use between Sept. 1, 1978, and Sept. 1, 1979.

A state audit last August reported the shortages. The clerk reimbursed the office the amount his accounts were found short and said he would employ an independent auditor to determine if the

Short Vacation

Nell and your editor will be at home or en route home after a few days with Buddy and Jean in Andalusia

We would have spent some time in Flordia, but we couldn't figure out anybody we could go to see where the weather was much warmer than it has been in Halls. Anyhow, you can blame Terry Ford or Bill Klutts for everything you have been complaining to us about since they are responsible for this week's paper. Actually, we were doubtful that we should leave, since everybody else might realize what we have known-The Graphic would probably be greatly improved without your editor—but don't try to make us admit it

More Things Of Interest

You may remember that last week we wrote that this session of the state legislature should be an interesting one, because of Gov. Lamar Alexander's budget

A few other things that we didn't touch upon last week were his proposals for local option to pass gasoline tax, to tax doctors and other professional men as businesses are now being taxed, and to use state and county prisoners to clean up state highways.

President Reagan is catching a lot of flack concering his proposals to cut spending, with cries that he is going to discriminate against blacks and other minorit ies, senior citizens, the poor, etc., while easing taxes on the more affluent. Could be, but that isn't the way we it. It seems to us that he plans to hit waste and fraud wherever it exists, and that certainly needs to be done One of the areas where much conversation is being created is that of Social Security. We are not at certain that he can do much about Social Security, but we heard a novel suggestion the other day. The conversation was about taking Social Security out of politics. with this comment being made: Any person drawing Social Security should not be allowed to vote. Unwork lable, of course, but it would certainly take

Halls Air Base Leases Sought

Two inquiries about land available on the Halls air base were main topics at the meeting of Halls' city board Monday evening.

Neal Wall, of Holloway Construction, Newbern, is interested in 10 to 12 acres, and Harry and Frances Moore inquired about land available for a restaurant. No action was taken on either matter.

Larry Smith, of G&H Cable TV, met with the board, which scheduled a public hearing on the cable television matter before its scheduled meeting March 9th.

Mayor Sammie Arnold obtained approval, with only one dissenting vote, to hold a driver's license in lieu of having a traffic offender make bond.

Ripley Armory Is In Carter Budget

President Carter's proposed budget for fiscal year 1982, beginning Oct. 1st, included $879,000 for a new National Guard Armory in Ripley, reports J. S. Sen. Jim Sasser, now ranking minority member of the Senate Sub-Committee on Military Construction, which has charge of such legislation.

The proposal still requires Congressional approval, and President Ronald Reagan is revising budget proposals to slash federal spending—but the Ripley armory's funds are at least in the picture at present.
