A Report for

OIL COMPANIES SHOULD REPAY OVERCHARGES

In its haste to "get government off business" back," the Administration may be letting some of the biggest domestic crude oil companies get away with $4.7 billion in overcharges to American consumers.

How? Why? And what can be done about it?

Between 1973, when Congress reacted to the Arab oil embargo by instituting price controls, and 1981, when the current Administration lifted those controls, it has been estimated by knowledgeable sources that American consumers were overcharged more than $10 billion by the oil industry.

These price controls were designed, basically, to protect consumers from unfair prices. Eventually, the Department of Energy's Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) charged 34 companies with overcharging $5.7 billion. Both civil and criminal cases were brought against the firms.

By early 1981, about half the cases had been settled and about $1 billion has been collected in compensation. But the remaining cases involve the biggest violations by some of the biggest oil companies, and the chances of recovering the remaining $4.7 billion are slim.

The reason for this disturbing situation is that recent restructuring efforts by DOE officials have moved essential investigatory personnel out of the program, thus making the necessary follow-up procedures almost impossible.

A report by the General Accounting Office, Congress' fiscal watchdog, says that this personnel shift combined with reduced budget resources has actually encouraged some oil companies not to cooperate and to delay resolution of the cases against them.

Administration officials have repeatedly said that despite their vows to do away with the DOE, they won't give amnesty to oil companies for violations that may have occurred during the Carter Administration. That said, the current Administration proposed in 1981 slashing the DOE's budget for ERA from $50 million to $12 million.

And the effect of the staff reorganizations? Said a senior enforcement attorney with ERA, it is "the latest step of a fraud upon the American people of the first magnitude which certain officials have attempted to justify with what are, at best, half-truths..."

What can be done? The Administration can insist that DOE conclude these investigations rigorously. Outstanding cases should be pursued immediately. The ERA unit should be allowed to complete its work unmolested by budgets cuts and political staffing changes.

In short, justice should be pursued without fear or favor, with the only interests being those of the American public.

Brevities

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Have You Voted?

Every citizen of Halls, Gates and Lauderdale County has a civic duty to perform this Thursday, but a large portion of the population probably will not carry out this duty.

If you have not voted, many of you will still have time to go to the polls and cast your ballots after you read this column.

Many excuses are offered for not voting, but few of them are acceptable. Some will say that they are not registered, others will say that it doesn't matter whether they vote or not, and others will offer many different excuses. Remember, if you didn't vote, you have no one to blame but yourself, if the government is not operated as you wish it to be carried out.

School Opening Coming

It might be well to remember that schools in the county will be opening in a little more than two weeks and that we should start now being aware that small children will be on the streets going to and from school. May we remind you to drive with extreme care at all times.

High Waters

Halls got an example of flood waters last week when a heavy rainstorm flooded city streets, with some homes and business houses having to clean up flood waters from their buildings.

We had thought that work during recent years had done much to control flash flooding, but apparently, we still have some problems.

Granddaughters Here

Our granddaughters, Michelle and Wendy, and Buddy's wife, Jean, spent the weekend with us.

Jean brought us 18 to 20 jars of green beans which she had canned, along with some canned tomatoes, blueberries, and other goodies.

We're afraid that their visit was somewhat disappointing, since Nell continues to have problems with a knee and had to go back to the doctor in Memphis Friday. Buddy was unable to accompany his family here.

Lebanon Church Holding Revival

The Rev. Paul Jones, pastor, speaks in 10 a.m. services Sunday to open the annual revival in Lebanon United Methodist Church, with lunch at the church and singing in the afternoon by the Joylanders.

The Rev. Phillip Cook, of Friendship Circuit, speaks at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, public invited.

Members and visitors are invited to a pot-luck supper at 6 p.m. this Saturday at the church.

AT LIBERTY-LAND

Andy, son of the Steve Fullens, of Ripley, Amy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, of Arp, and Krista, daughter of the Thomas Hendrens, of Halls, are among pupils of Kincaid Studios, Bells, participating in four shows at Liberty-Land in Memphis this Thursday, beginning at noon.

Chopin is reported to have worn a beard on only one side of his face. "It doesn't matter," he is supposed to have said, "the audience only sees my right side."

Promoted

JOHN H. WILEY, son of the late Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Wiley, of Nankipoo, and brother of Mrs. Sumrow Steelman, of Halls, who for 3½ years has been vice-president of phosphate and potash marketing for Texasgulf Chemicals, in Raleigh, N.C., has been named senior vice-president of international marketing for all the firm's wares. With Texasgulf since 1971, he is a director of PhosChem, Inc., a Chicago-based exporter of phosphate chemicals, and of the Fluid Fertilizer Foundation and chairman of the board of the North Carolina Agribusiness Council. A 1949 graduate of the University of Tennessee, he married Evelyn June Tubbs, of Booth's Point; they have three children. He served four years in the Air Force during World War II.

BEAUTY SPOT

Periwinkles, cannas, and marigolds on the lawn of the Marcus Spillers' on Circle Drive were selected this week for the Halls Garden Club Beauty Spot sign. Especially attractive were hanging baskets and planters filled with fern on the porch.

Universal Electric Plant Expanding

Ripley's Universal Electric plant, first occupant, 21 years ago, of Ripley's original (South) Industrial Park, whose 500 or so associates pour more than $4,000,000 a year into Lauderdale County income, plans a 35x85-ft. addition to its building and a new varnish oven to up capacity 40% and greatly improve product quality, Chuck Albertson, plant manager, told Ripley Rotarians Tuesday.

Albertson, moving to the firm's headquarters in Owosso, Mich., next week, will be succeeded as plant manager in Ripley by Lamott Hamlin, Ripley manufacturing supervisor three years ago, who has since been manager of UE's plant in Kosciusko, Miss.—closed June 3rd after union representatives declined to re-open contract negotiations for about 180 employees, Albertson said.

Except for the local newspaper editor, Kosciusko business leaders gave UE's plant there little support until it was closed, Albertson said.

He paid warm tribute to UE's support from local officials and media in this county, noting home movies of tractors volunteered to get materials to the construction site, three feet deep in mud, when Universal was first building here.

The Ripley plant now builds more than half of all Universal Electric motors, about 13,000 a day.

UE ranks behind General Electric, with 22%, and Emerson, with 21%, with a 16% share of the market for fractional horse-power electric motors, UE estimates.

UE sales have grown from about six million dollars annually, when the Ripley plant was established, to about $100,000,000 this year, Albertson reported.

Rick Robertson, quality manager, has left Ripley, the firm is interviewing applicants for his post.

Marvin Hansford Buried Saturday

Marvin Hansford, 61, of Halls, owner of Hansford Furniture and Appliance Co. stores in Halls and Dyersburg, died Thursday morning of last week in Veterans Medical Center in Memphis, soon after he was admitted.

Services were at 4 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church in Halls, with burial in Halls Cemetery.

He had served as a member of County Court.

Born in Georgia, he came to Halls in 1941 with a firm erecting power lines for Forked Deer Electric Co-operative.

Enlisting in the Army in the fall of 1942, he received a medical discharge a year later, joining Bell Aircraft in Marietta, Calif.

His bride, Jean Hurt, of Halls, joined him in Marietta until August, 1945, when they returned to Halls and formed the furniture and appliance firm with his father-in-law, Fred R. Hurt, and his brother-in-law, David H. Hurt. He later purchased the firm.

He leaves his wife; three sons, Freddie, Guy, and Jimmy, of Halls; three daughters, Jennifer and LouAnn, of Halls, and Mrs. Judy Newby, of Knoxville; a sister, Mrs. Harold Hayes, of Arnoldsville, Ga.; and two grandchildren.

SCHOLARSHIPS WON

David Corlew, son of the Cary Corlews, of Halls, and Auguster Hartsfield, Jr., whose parents reside on Route 2, Halls, have been awarded scholarships to attend the University of Tennessee in Martin. Both are 1982 graduates of Halls High School.

David has received a Valedictorian Alumni scholarship and Auguster has received a Gooch scholarship for 1982-83.

Air Force Re-Building Thunderbirds

When a mechanical malfunction jammed the tailfin in Maj. Norm Lowry's T-38 Jan. 18th, according to The Associated Press, Captains Mark Melancon, Pete Peterson, and William "Willie" Tucker Mays, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Mays, of 207 Lake Drive, Ripley, followed him into the desert, about 40 miles north of Nellis Air Force Base, Nev. All four pilots were killed instantly.

The "Thunderbird" pilots, the Air Force demonstration team, fly off their leader, not from instruments or ground, the AP says. Mays' widow has filed suit for $25,000,000 in federal court in Chicago.

But as "Willie" longed to join the Thunderbirds, many Air Force pilots seek his seat.

The temperature hovers at 115 degrees, the AP reports, as Jim Latham's F-16 jet zips across the Nellis range, escorted by one of many applicants for the Thunderbirds.

These are long, hot, tiring days for Latham, a native of Kansas City who learned to fly over the Kansas Flint Hills, survived six months in a Viet Cong prison camp, and vowed to quit the Air Force if they tried to take him out of the cockpit.

He is the architect of a new Thunderbird flying team that will replace the one decimated Jan. 18 when four sleek red, white and blue jets slammed into the desert during a practice maneuver.

The job of rebuilding the Air Force's premier public relations

Major Jim Latham
Flying leader

vehicle rests squarely on the shoulders of this much-decorated major who was coaxed into flying by a fraternity brother at Kansas State University.

Since his selection to the prestigious post of commander-leader June 8, Latham has been evaluating applications of Air Force officers around the globe who want to be one of the six team pilots.

As the field of candidates is culled, Latham has been flying with the applicants, putting them through paces they'll later show the public — flying a few feet apart or whipping along the desert floor at 600 mph.

"He doesn't want a man flying the slot or wing position without having total confidence in him," says Col. Mike Wallace, information officer at Nellis Air Force Base, where the elite team is headquartered.

The flight testing is expected to last two or three more weeks. Then there will be further evaluations, and finally Latham's recommendations to Gen. W.L. Creech, head of the Tactical Air Command at Langley, Va. Creech, a member of the Thunderbirds in 1953, will have the final say.

Because of Latham's rigorous schedule, he would not be permitted to give interviews until team selection is complete, Wallace said.

The 35-year-old Latham has been flying as often as three times daily with different pilot prospects, going through intricate maneuvers to see how the pilots follow his lead and respond to his commands.

Much of the Thunderbirds' season has been scrubbed because of the accident and the team may not fly for the public at all this year. The season normally runs from March through November but Wallace says no demonstrations are planned "at least through October 1."

When they do fly the group will have to be letter-perfect because of the public scrutiny brought about by January's desert disaster, which killed four outstanding pilots.

Latham flew 148 shows as right wingman with the Thunderbirds in 1978-80. He knows full well the responsibility felt by the Thunderbird commander.

Thunderbird leader won't be Latham's first challenge. His uniform bears two Silver Stars, two Purple Hearts, the Bronze Star and 18 air medals. The first Silver Star was for rescuing five Army infantrymen about to be overrun by the enemy, the second for attempting to escape while a prisoner of war.

Latham was shot down over North Vietnam in October of 1972 while on his 328th combat mission in Southeast Asia. He broke bones in both legs bailing out of his crippled F-4 Phantom.

Six months of imprisonment followed, often in a darkened pillbox. "I just sat there and thought," he recalled in a 1979 interview. "I memorized all the states and all the capitals in alphabetical order — backward and forward."

"My biggest concern was the unknown. I thought a lot about my wife, my family — would I ever get to see them again?"

Captured after one escape attempt, Latham was told he would be killed if he tried it again.

He was freed with other American prisoners in March 1973.

Latham, who was beaten when he tried to escape his captors, says his months as a prisoner of war gave him a new awareness of his capabilities and limitations.

"It's also given me an appreciation for the type of life we all have in this country," Latham said in a 1979 interview while performing with the Thunderbirds in Kansas City. "It may sound corny, but it's true. Whenever I feel down, I can remember how bad it really can be."

As for his future? "As long as I can stay in the cockpit and fly jet planes, I'll stay in the Air Force," Latham has said. "But the minute they stick me behind a desk, I'll find another job... where I can fly."

Human beings are the only animals that can blush.

ELECT

Dear Friends:

May I take this opportunity to say a special "thank you" to all of the Senior Citizens who made a special effort to vote by way of absentee ballot. I know the weather has been extremely hot, which made it more difficult for you. I shall endeavor to earn the trust and respect that you have shown me.

To the other citizens who have voted absentee, due to vacations, business, etc., my heart-felt thanks to you, also.

If I might take another moment of your time, I would like to impress upon you how important it is for each and every one of us to fulfill our responsibility to take the time to vote. As I have stated before, the reason our Country and our County is so great, we have the opportunity to support and vote for the candidate of our choice.

If at this time you have not decided on a candidate, I would certainly appreciate any consideration that you would give me, and should you decide to vote for me, I will assure you I will make you the kind of Sheriff you deserve.

To my fellow candidates, I would like to thank each of you for making this such an interesting race, and should the occasion arise and I might be of service to you, please feel free to call.

Halls History

By Mrs. Charles Alsobrock

Concluding stories told me by Mrs. Algie G. "Miss" Astra Hargett.

The Hargetts lived on Church Street, about where City Hall is now. Dr. Hugh Nunn and his wife "Miss" Dovie were next door neighbors, and "Miss" Astra and "Miss" Dovie were very good friends. "Miss" Astra remembers going over to see the Nunn's son, Stewart, when he was a few hours old.

When he was two or three, he was mis-behaving in the front yard one day, and a few days later Algie told Dr. Nunn about it, saying that his little son was cutting didos in the front yard and needed a spanking.

A few years later, the Hargett's little daughter, Jane, was born, and when she was two or three years old, she was also mis-behaving in the front yard one day.

A few days later, Dr. Nunn saw Mr. Hargett and told him that he had seen his little daughter cutting didos in the front yard and certainly needed a spanking.

Needless to say, neither of the children got the spanking, and Mr. Hargett had to admit that when it was your child that was cutting the didos, it was a different matter.

"Miss" Astra says that these two only children were certainly spoiled, but it didn't hurt them, for both grew up to be fine people, and no one ever could be any better than they were to their parents.

"Miss" Astra recalled that Dr. Johnson had a drug store up town when she was a small child, and he would call the children in and cut a watermelon in the back of the store for them to enjoy.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnson owned most of the block bounded by Main, Church, Shannon and College Streets. The only exception was the three houses on Church Street, owned by Dr. Millen and his mother, the Parker home, and the home owned by the Lynch family. Mr. Lynch was the depot agent.

The Johnsons were the parents of Hilda, who married Robert Young. The Youngs had two children, the late Isaac Young and Mrs. Mary Anderson James, who lives in Ripley.

The two houses on College Street, known as the Meeks and Siler houses, as these families once owned them and lived there for a number of years, have always interested me, with their ginger-bread trim and unusual porches.

I asked "Miss" Astra if she knew who had built them. She said that she didn't know the carpenter but that Robert Young's parents, Bob Young and wife, Dora, a half-sister of the late Eugene Pugh, had the house built and lived in it on the corner of Main and College Streets, until they sold the property to Charlie Wilson and his wife, Tillie.

They had the house moved and divided into two houses. They then built the big 2-story house on the lot and lived there until they died. The house is still there and is owned and lived in by Mrs. J. B. Ashmore.

"Miss" Astra remembers being told that her grandfather Robinson made caskets. His daughter, Molly, a fine seamstress, would line the caskets with silk which she would buy in Double Bridges or Gates, as there were no dry goods stores in Halls at the time.

After Molly married Mr. Black and moved to Little Rock, Ark., she would return to Halls to spend the summers with her parents and other relatives, bringing her children, Carl, Mary, and J.E., and their clothes in a trunk.

Carl, the oldest child, would look into his grandmother's kitchen about the middle of the morning to see what was being cooked for lunch. Then she would walk over to the home of the Ringers. "Miss" Astra's parents, and visit the kitchen to see what they were having for lunch. He would then eat at the place where they were serving what he liked best.

One day, "Miss" Astra was keeping J. E. Black, the youngest child, and discovered him out in the yard, shooting her mother's baby chicks with a pin stuck in a small piece of wood. He had already hit several in the head killing them, before she stopped this pastime for good.

Gibson Wells, near Trenton, was a popular resort in those days. The Ringers would rent a cottage there for two weeks during the summer, load a wagon with supplies, and go for their vacation. The boys would ride in the wagon and the rest of the family would ride in the buggy.

This was really a fun place to visit, with many forms of entertainment. The families would get together for picnics, and there was music and dancing at the pavilion there. The water was so good, it was supposed to be healthful.

She also recalls going to Gibson Wells after she was married, with a group of ladies. During this trip she roomed with Dr. W. T. Nunn's wife, "Miss" Alice.

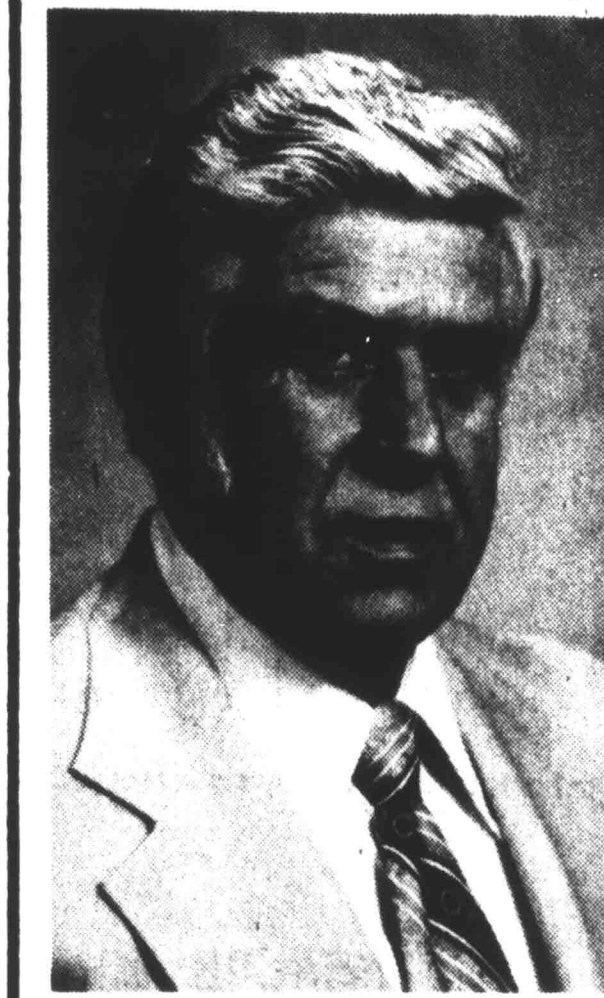

It has been a pleasure talking with "Miss" Astra about her family and her life, all ninety-five years, that have been spent in this vicinity. She has lived one day at a time, never forgetting to smell the roses.

Thomas Edison and his staff at Menlo Park invented something new every ten days.

Mrs. Arwood
Clara Arwood, 84, of Ripley, widow of C. M. Arwood, died Saturday in Care Inn, Ripley. Services were at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Ripley Funeral Home, with burial in Grace Cemetery.

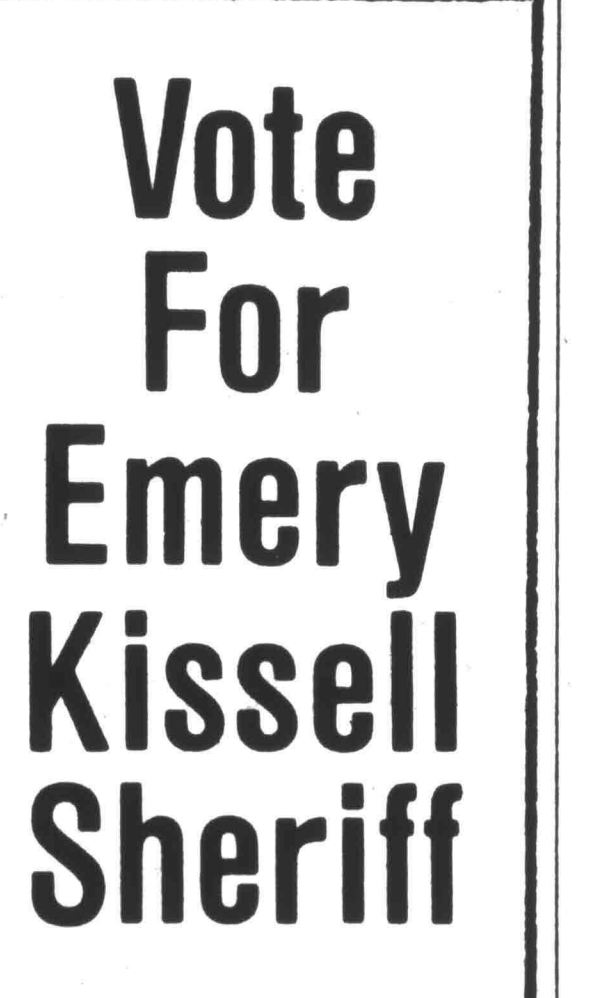

She leaves a son, Poston, of Halls; a daughter, Miss Virginia Arwood, of Memphis; and a brother, James Poston, of Memphis.

Double Ring Vows

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD CARL MAWYER, JR., were married July 9th in St. Paul United Methodist Church at Durhamville, with the Rev. John C. Sterling, of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Dyersburg, performing the double-ring candle-light vows.

Piano selections by Mrs. Donald Hogue, of Halls, included The Wedding Song, Thine Alone, My Own True Love, the theme from Ice Castles, and Love Is A Many Splendored Thing. Wagner's Bridal Chorus was used in the processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March in the recessional.

The bride, Lisa Renae Coffey, was given by Manson Ervin in a Venise lace gown by Michele for Bridallure, with Venise medallions trimming a Queen Anne neckline and point d'esprit insets in bishop sleeves. The gown cascaded into a cathedral train. Venise medallions centered with seed pearls covered a Juliet cap holding a finger-tip veil.

Soft yellow ribbons tied the bride's cascade of yellow roses and miniature daisies with satin leaves.

Amy Renae Griggs, in a long yellow dress with white lace coverlet, carried the train. Her corsage was a miniature yellow daisies.

The bride's sister, Kim, of Ripley, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids—Tammie Chilcutt, of Dyersburg, Teresa Tillman, of Ripley, and Theresa Sellers, of Memphis—wore long dresses of soft yellow Weekend guests of the Leonard Arthurs were the Curtis Jacksons, of Yorkville, Ill., Barbara Jackson, of the University of Southern Illinois in Carbondale, and Jimmy Hodge and Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell, of Ripley. Barbara, Jimmy, and Mrs. Mitchell attended New Mitchell Grove Baptist Church Sunday.

Fish-fry guests Sunday of the Roy Harrison were Thomas Tillman, of Lafayette, La., Lynn Murray, of Crockett County, Tommy Ellis, the Mark Harrison and baby, Christy, Vickie Littles, Pete Osteen and baby, Melody, Terry Osteen, and Lucy Robeson, of Ripley. Gaylon Austin and sons, Brad and Troy, Steve Austin, and the Troy Harrison, of Edith, the Eric Dowells and baby, April, of Halls, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lynch was given a silk cymbidium orchid corsage.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Griggs, of Ripley, chose a tea-length dress of lavender floral polyester crepe knit. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Woodrow Mitchell, of Ripley, selected a tea-length dress of rose crepe knit. Each was given an orchid corsage.

In the reception in the church, linen and lace covered tables. An arrangement of silk blue carnations, lilies, and white daisies centered the bride's table. A bridal couple in an archway of small daisies topped a cake, iced in white, whose three tiers were accented with cherubs and wedding bells.

The cake for the groom, an Emergency Medical Technician for the Lauderdale County Ambulance Service, resembled an ambulance.

Serving were Lisa Beard and Tammie Hooper, of Halls, Patricia Hendon, Tina King, and Sandy Wilson, of Ripley, and Pam White, of Gates. Julia Owens, of Ripley, kept the register.

After a wedding trip to the honeymoon suite of The Peabody in Memphis, the newlyweds are residing in Ripley.

Johnie Ford For Sheriff

Since I have announced my candidacy for sheriff, I have seen and talked to a number of citizens through out the county. Their main question to me was, if elected, would I service the citizens of Lauderdale County if a complaint was made?

Citizens of the county have told me, that complaints have been made and they are told that the department does not have the manpower. Several burglaries and thefts have occurred in the county in the past years that have gone unattended.

The people in Lauderdale County do not deserve this kind of law enforcement. Citizens pay their taxes and should receive the best that law enforcement has to offer.

If elected, I will be an honest and fair sheriff who will treat everyone equally.

I will do my best to slow drug traffic in Lauderdale County.

I will work with and for all law enforcement agencies I come in contact with.

I will do nothing that would disgrace my family, friends, or the people of Lauderdale County.

I will be a sheriff who will try to work out programs for our young people, in which I have a great interest.

I will be a sheriff who remains in contact with the people, so they will know they have a sheriff they can talk to, trust, and not be afraid to discuss their problems with—this will be for all age people and for all races.

I will choose a group of citizens interested in their community to serve on a committee to meet monthly or bi-monthly, to tell me what I am doing right or wrong in their community or what I need to be doing.

This will show the citizens that I'm interested in all of Lauderdale County, and not just part of the county, and will give each community a voice in the sheriff's department. This group will be chosen from all races, ages, and sexes.

I have been a policeman in Ripley for 8 1/2 years; I have the experience that qualifies me for this most important position. When I was a policeman in Ripley, I tried hard to be the best policeman in the department. I did my best to enforce the laws of Ripley. I tried to be courteous, and treat the people as I would want to be treated. My record will stand for itself, I don't know of any black marks that can be thrown against me.

Your vote and influence would be helpful and appreciated on Aug. 5th.

Church Vows Pledged

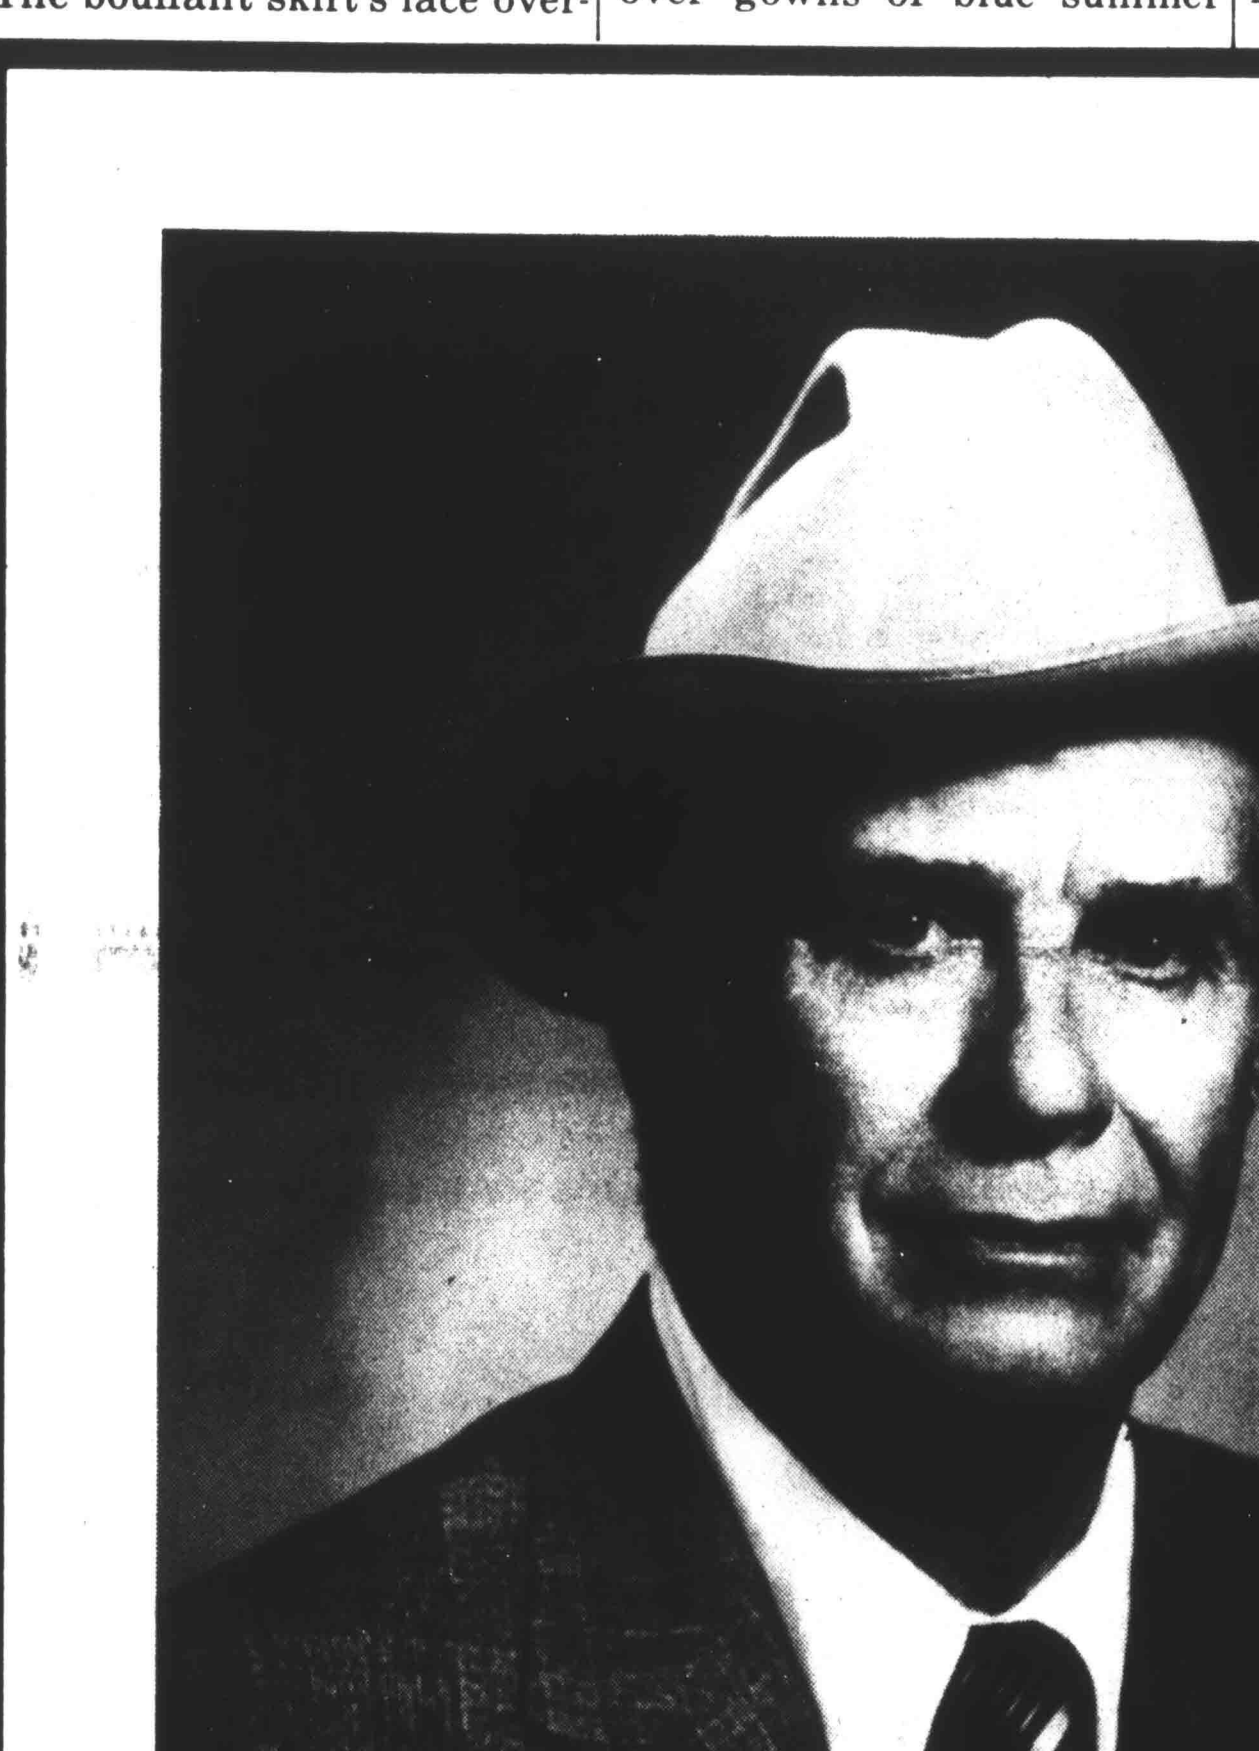

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH ODELL SMITH exchanged vows July 9th in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Morris Currie, in Halls, with the bride's cousin, The Rev. Mel H. Williams, of Memphis, officiating amid magnolia blossoms and arched candelabra.

The bride, Darla Jo Currie, daughter of Mrs. Morris Ripley, of Halls, and the late Joseph Charles Currie, was given by her brother, Michael Neal Currie, in a gown of soft white satin and Chantilly lace with Queen Anne neck-line, fitted bodice, and bishop sleeves.

The bouffant skirt's lace over-skirt extended into a chapel train. A mantilla of sheer illusion was framed in matching lace. The bride's bouquet was of daisies. She wore a cameo pendant which belonged to her great-grandmother.

Sandra Hastings, maid of honor, and Mrs. Michael Neal Currie, matron of honor, wore caplets of sheer blue chiffon over gowns of blue summer

Joe P. Beard Candidate For Sheriff August 5, 1982

Joe Beard has canvassed the county, missing only a few of the houses, but many of you were not at home. He wishes to take this opportunity to humbly ask you that he has missed to vote for him.

Joe Beard is an independent candidate, not accepting any financial help in his campaign, and not obligated to anyone. A vote for Joe Beard means you will be agreeing with having a sheriff that will perform law enforcement with common sense, honesty, fair treatment, without partiality, but with compassion.

No person can be a good sheriff without the support of the citizens and the courts. Joe Beard has this support and will work with the people, and the County Court, the district attorney, and the criminal courts to prevent and control crime in Lauderdale County. Together, we can expel the drug problems, the thieves, and the crime. We will do our best to make Lauderdale County a safer and better place to live and raise our children.

Vote for Joe P. Beard for sheriff today.

Cockleburbs Survive?

Larry Beard, of Steelman Road, Halls, fears cockleburbs have in some instances survived pre-emergence and early post-emergence herbicides.

Though costly, two applications of Basagran at 1/2 pints per acre, broadcast 10 to 14 days apart, are effective on cockleburbs up to 24 inches tall.

Delay application of these 2,4-D mixtures over the top of beans under drought stress—wait until moisture is available, but apply before beans reach the mid-bloom stage.

Insect Watch Urgent

Cotton boll and tobacco bud-worm eggs and larvae counts were light last week, but there are hints boll weevil pressure is building, and a flight of boll worms is expected within two weeks.

Check young bolls, up and down the plant, for larvae, as well as terminals and squares.

Check soy beans for leaf-feeders, such as leaf beetles, and clover worms.

The Extension Service's light trap will forewarn of these and other insects.

Fall army-worms infest grain heads and whorls of sorghum. One to two per grain head justifies treatment.

Sorghum also shows corn ear-worms and sorghum web-worms (small, hairy, red and brown striped—look closely to see the latter—white droppings on lower leaves hint heavy infestations). Three to five larvae per head need treatment.

These three insects can be controlled with Lannate or Nudrin at one to two pints per acre. Corn ear worms can be controlled with Sevin 50% wettable powder.

Cotton Field Day Set

West Tennessee's last 1982 field day, at Ames Plantation at Grand Junction from 7:30 a.m. to noon this Thursday, offers nine tour stops on cotton production; last tour begins at 10 a.m. Information from the Extension office, 635-9551.

DOG CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN IN HALLS

The Lauderdale County Health Department, in co-operation with the City Police, will conduct a one-day campaign to clean up stray dogs and unwanted dogs on Aug. 10, 1982. Also, a check will be made to find out how many dogs have been vaccinated and registered.

During this one day all dog owners are asked to either keep dogs up, or have current tags attached to their collars. This will help the rabies office and city officials in the dog pick-up. Dogs running at large without current tags will be picked up and brought to the dog pound at Ripley.

We ask the co-operation of all citizens in Halls in this campaign.

EMERY KISSELL HOME, at Arp, was vandalized Sunday evening, with an ax swung to chop up furniture, video equipment, dishwasher, and television sets. Paint and diesel fuel were sprayed on clothes, walls, and rugs. Mrs. Bill Thompson has had similar damage in her farm home at Arp—ransacked, with refrigerator upside down, television kicked in, and furniture broken and strewn about. The sheriff's department is investigating.

Election Chairman Suggests Remedies

Apologizing for the long ballot and the heat, both outside the control of the county Election Commission, chairman William "Bill Pete" Tucker IV says there was "some waiting in some precincts, but nothing like the chaos in Memphis and other counties."
 "This could have been eliminated in Lauderdale County by the splitting of the Ripley and Halls boxes and the consolidation of smaller boxes for better utilization of machines," Tucker says.
 "The Election Commission tried to do that, but public outcry forced us to leave the boxes as they were."
 "We had some precincts that were crowded, with others that were idle."
 "To poll workers—you're beautiful, I love you all. I consider myself the luckiest election commissioner in the state, to have people like you working at the polls."
 "Take pride that when the state points a finger at a county where elections work best, the state points out Lauderdale County."
 "You, and you alone, are the reason — good show! Thank you very much!"

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

A Real Mess

It is probably a good thing that there isn't another election until November, if last Thursday's election is any criterion.

We don't remember in the 50 years that we have been associated with Lauderdale County elections when there have been so many unhappy voters.

It is very easy to understand why there should be some foul-ups because of the new districts and new registrations required, but certainly there is no reason why persons residing in the same house should be shown as residing in different districts.

One Halls couple was recorded as not having voted in eight years, although they have not missed an election during that time.

According to information given this writer, the foul-ups occurred all over the county, with some voters finally giving up and not voting at all.

Work should be started immediately to work out the kinks, so that no such mess will occur in the November elections.

A Personal Gripe

Along with the election foul-ups, we have a personal gripe which we feel many other voters share.

We have no objection to candidates having representatives at the polls to hand out cards, but we do object to voters being followed to the doors of the polling place by a candidate's representative trying to force cards upon voters though told by the voter he has already decided for whom he would vote and didn't want the card.

Another thing that needs to be changed, though we have no immediate answer, is that parking space at the polls in Halls was pre-empted by poll workers and supporters of the various candidates. At times it was impossible for a voter to get anywhere close to the polls. This was especially bad for the elderly and handicapped.

In forth-coming elections, there should be some provision made to keep parking space available at or near the front of the polling place for anyone who must be transported to the polls by car or otherwise could not vote.

ASHPORT RE-UNION

Vernon Walton, 82, of Ripley, was the oldest of 84 persons attending a family reunion Sunday in the home of the Earl Hansens at Ashport. Five-month-old Joel O'Brien, of Fort Walton, Fla., was the youngest. He is the great-great-grandson.

Relatives of the late Tom and Mattie Walton Daniels came from Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi, and Michigan as well as from Newbern, Dyersburg, Ripley, Halls, Forked Deer, Brownsville, Fort Pillow, Memphis, Germantown, Bolivar, Guys, and Lexington. The John Kilpatricks and Mr. and Mrs. Joy Rodgers, of Halls, attended. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Reeves, of Cur-

Shotgun Blast Slays Student

Shirley Renee Waterson, 15, a student in Halls High School, was found Friday in her Gates home with a fatal rifle wound in the head.

Services were at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in Halls Funeral Home, with burial in Archer's Chapel Cemetery.

She leaves her mother, Mrs. Shirley Waterson, of Gates, and her father, Herman Waterson, of Buras, La.; a sister, Tammy Jo Waterson, of Gates; and her grandparents, the Raymond Lawsons, of Halls, and Mrs. Ruth Waterson, of Hernando, Miss.

Mrs. Jake White

Jewel White, 62, wife of Jake White, of Halls, died Wednesday of last week in Jackson-Madison County Hospital.

Services were at 2 p.m. Thursday in Halls Funeral Home, with burial in Halls Cemetery.

She also leaves two sons, James Thomas White and Larry Joe White, of Halls; four daughters, Mrs. Betty Lou Harbin and Mrs. Alice Fay Meeks, of Halls, Linda Sue White, of Dyersburg, and Mrs. Carolyn McCartney, of Norfolk, Va.; four brothers, Carey Rhodes, Jr., and Curt Rhodes, of Fort Pillow, Billy Joe Rhodes, of Hernando, Miss., and Ross Rhodes, of Honolulu, Hawaii; and two sisters, Mrs. Hester Brown, of Halls, and Mrs. Zada Willis, of Ripley.

Halls Revival Starts Friday

Dr. David Eubanks, president of Johnson Bible College in Knoxville, will lead revival services at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Halls First Christian Church. John Foster, pastor, invites everyone.

BEAUTY SPOT

Yellow marigolds bordering the front porch of the home of Mrs. Frank Moore and Wymond Moore on East Main Street were selected this week for the Halls Garden Club "Beauty Spot" sign. Judges also noted roses and snapdragons in the side yard.

Some say that the phrase "rule of thumb" comes from a practice that was once common among brewers. The chief brewer used to test the temperature of a batch of brew by dipping in his thumb.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER By Henry Murchison

More Inflation? During the past several months the fight against inflation has been partially successful but we wonder if the inflation rate isn't going to rise sharply, especially in this immediate area of Tennessee, during the next few months.

South Central Bell has asked the Tennessee Public Service Commission to approve a $132 million rate hike and it seems likely that the PSC will approve at least a portion of the increase.

Interest rates on the national level have dropped during the past few weeks but there will be very little local effect for some time to come.

Just A Reminder Don't forget that school children will be on the streets beginning this week as registration is this week and classes start next week.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Far Reaching

We are often amazed how far-reaching The Halls Graphic can be, though it goes to many of the states.

After we published an account of the Bass-Wiley family re-union, Mrs. Sunrow Steelman called Saturday to tell us of a telephone call she had just received.

One of our subscribers is Mrs. Kenneth Patton, the former Mary Love Dale Reed, of Pasadena, Calif. Mrs. Patton had read the account of the re-union and shown it to a friend when another friend, Ralph Melching, spoke up and said he once knew an Owen Wiley, from Halls, and wondered if it was the same family. Mrs. Patton said she was certain that it was, but she called Mrs. Steelman to verify it. Now she has given Melching the Spokane, Wash., address of Wiley, and they are hoping to get together.

Purely Personal

Of many things which puzzle your editor, one most puzzling is why, when we find a product we like, the manufacturer immediately takes it off the market or makes major changes in it.

For instance, because of an allergy problem, we cannot wear anything but cotton socks, but it is tremendously difficult to find all-cotton socks.

Another pet peeve is peanut butter. All of our lives we have eaten and enjoyed a great deal of peanut butter and consider it one of the necessities for subsisting life.

A number of years ago processors began to meddle with peanut butter by adding sugar, dextrose, honey, and other sweeteners as well as changing manufacturing methods. Perhaps most of the people think these improve peanut butter, but we don't.

Two or three years ago, some manufacturers began producing peanut butter with nothing but

ENTERING DUKE

David Glenn Atkinson, grandson of Mrs. Lucretia Atkinson, of Halls, left Sunday to enter Duke University at Durham, N.C., as a divinity student preparing for ministry in the United Methodist Church.

A 1978 graduate of Halls High School, he is a 1982 graduate of Lambuth College in Jackson.

salt added, and despite the fact that it tended to separate from the oil, we preferred the natural peanut butter—but now we can't buy the brand that we like best. That's the way it goes with everything we buy!

And, by the way, we have noticed lemons priced at 3 for $1 or $4 a dozen during the past few weeks. Talking about inflation!

Jumping from one place to another, a recent Dennis, The Menace cartoon got us to thinking about the use of statistics to make a point for or against more or less taxes, etc.

Dennis helped his mother, after a shopping trip, to carry in the groceries, carrying in a bag with about $20 worth of groceries.

He bragged to his neighbor, Mr. Wilson, who appears to be about your editor's age, and asked if he could carry $20 worth of groceries when he was a small boy.

Mr. Wilson said "No" and Dennis was impressed by how much stronger he was than Mr. Wilson, but he, of course, didn't realize the vast difference in the amount of groceries $20 would buy 65 years ago and today. Many statistics used today have about the same relation to reality.

She leaves a sister, Mrs. Jewell Hughes, of Halls.

BACK HALLS BAND

Halls Band Boosters will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 7th, in the band room. All other meetings will be the first Monday night of each month. Membership is $5 per family.

Mrs. Richard Deaton's committee is soliciting calendar ads through Sept. 20th. The calendar is the largest fund-raising activity of the Boosters.

Although no major trip is planned this school year, a junior high band is being formed. There will be additional expenses for these uniforms and instruments, as well as game and contest funds.

There will be only one Band Booster Club, representing both the Halls Junior High School Band and the Golden Tiger Marching Band.

County Appealing Re-Hiring Keeley

The county Board of Education is appealing a 35-page ruling by U.S. District Judge Robert M. McRae, Jr., of Memphis, that Clarence E. Keeley, though observed "to have been a man poorly suited for education of young children, prone to shout at them and belittle them, careless about his attendance and his duties, and sometimes poorly prepared," is entitled to reinstatement as a classroom teacher, with back pay because the Board of Education did not follow the proper procedures to dismiss him, giving him inadequate opportunity to respond, and implicating themselves in their statements, of public record, as to reasons for his dismissal outside the law.

McRae dismissed Keeley's claim that he should have been appointed a principal. He said "defendants convincingly demonstrated that Keeley's performance as a classroom teacher was very poor, and without exception, those appointed to teaching-principalships were far more qualified than he was."

McRae awarded Keeley costs of legal fees in bringing his suit against the county.

The case stems from Keeley's paddling of fourth grade students Oct. 18, 1979, in the presence of two other Ripley Middle Grade School teachers, Phillis Bates Barlow and Deborah Jenkins—two licks, per written school policy. Among the four was Robert E. "Trey" Ward III, 10.

Next morning, Robert E. Ward, Jr., Ripley accountant, met Keeley and RMS Principal Harold Winbush, according to McRae, and "Ward began the meeting by stating that, although Keeley was the best teacher his son had ever had, he did not want Keeley to continue to teach his son due to Keeley's prior involvement in the county."

"Ward sterned Keeley of the dire consequences that would stem from the treatment Keeley had afforded his son," McRae states.

In essence, McRae found Keeley could have been dismissed, but he was not dismissed with proper legal procedures, with full opportunity to defend himself.

McRae cited complaints to the Board of paddlings by principals Jack Phillips and Elvy Rorie, Jr., which met with no rebuff, and paddlings by Fredis A. Jacob, Doris Kelly, and Louis Wheatley on which the Board took no action—implying that the Board seized on Keeley's paddlings as an excuse to dismiss him because of his civil rights agitation with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Lauderdale County Afro-American Institute, and the Church of Human Development.

Scoring In Scrimmage

DAVID BLACKWELL drove over from the four for the only score in Halls' controlled scrimmage with Gibson County in Halls, Tuesday of last week. The Tigers missed two other chances to score, one on a fumble inside the ten. Gibson County fumbled on the 16 in its only third. Halls opens at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 3rd, hosting the McKenzie Rebels.

Paige Clement, of Alamo, was entertained Sunday afternoon with an early birthday party by her grandparents, the James Paiges, and her great grandmother, Mrs. Myra Erwin. Guests were another grandmother, Mrs. Frankie Paige, Leon Paige, the Harold Bullingtons, Ms. Virginia Walpole, and Mrs. Ann Ross, of Halls. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Childress, of Knoxville, and Mrs. Duette Childress, of Memphis, visited here Saturday. Ricky and Mike Zoellner, of Dyersburg, spent the weekend with Mrs. Elsie Rooks and the Hartwell Strains. Ricky had just a portion of a finger at work Saturday. The John Fergusons visited the Raymond Fergusons at Concord Wednesday of last week. Joseph Palazzola, of Halls, visited the Fergusons last Sunday. Mrs. Bertha Mai London spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Gussie Riddick. Supper guests Sunday were Mrs. Salie Mai Barnes, of Alamo, Mrs. Callie Gilliland and Mrs. Elizabeth Chronister, of Crockett County, and Mrs. Margaret Wilson, of Halls. The Wendell Bakers and Mrs. Irene Baker, of Frog Jump, visited the Jesse Bakera Sunday. Other guests were Larry Baker, Mrs. David Baker and daughter, Julie, and Mrs. Jerry Baker and son, Jeremy, of Halls. Guests of the Hartwell Strains Saturday were Carey Strain and Burnedette Grenchewsky and daughter, Hope, of Memphis. The rocking chair was invented by Benjamin Franklin.

TENNESSEE TRAVELER

Seeing The Smokies By Horseback

"If you see a bear, he probably won't hurt you. But don't get between a mother bear and her cubs," advises guide April Jackson as she tightens the cinch on her palomino horse, Sundance. "We may see some bears when we get into the less populated parts of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park."

The overnight horseback ride into the park begins at the riding stables in Cades Cove, a breathtakingly scenic valley near the Townsend entrance to the National Park.

Sunlight filters through the tall trees as the ride follows the trail up the mountain. The horses easily carry their riders, following April's mount single-file through the trees and the thickets of mountain laurel. The pace is steady and there is plenty of time to enjoy a horseback view of the lushness and variety in the forest.

The Great Smoky Mountains National Park is an international biosphere reserve, boasting more than 1,400 species of flowering plants and an incredible variety of fauna, including a resident population of 400 to 600 bears. Botanical treats along the path include wildflowers and areas of shrubs and ferns.

Although sighting wild animals isn't guaranteed on the trail rides, a sharp-eyed rider will generally spot a variety of four-legged beasts.

A turn in the trail reveals a doe scampering away from her fawn hidden in the leaves. Further into the woods, a wild boar sow feeds beside the trail with her two young piglets. The sound of the approaching horses sends these shy animals scampering into the woods. Riding through Spence Field, freshly marked branches have been smacked down by bears seeking the trees' red berries. One bear sits in a tree looking curiously at the horses, while another continues his work of smacking down branches. A skunk sniffs down a trail, undeterred by the sight of humans or horses.

The wild animals, in general, won't bother humans, April explains. However, wild animals are attracted by food and food smells. All food taken on the overnight trip should be kept in air-tight containers and other precautionary measures should be taken with packs and saddlebags containing food.

Riders or hikers staying overnight in the park should obtain a list of regulations regarding use of the park before any overnight stay. Staying overnight in the park requires a permit obtained at no charge from a park information center or at any campground within the National Park boundaries. The permits are required as a safety precaution as well as to prevent overuse of the park and crowding of shelters. Permits must be carried at all times by riders or hikers. Within the park, horses may be ridden only on designated trails. Trail maps may be obtained from Park information centers.

The route for the overnight trip from Cades Cove is a loop that crosses Ledbetter Ridge, follows the Appalachian Trail for two miles and then goes through Spence Field and Russell Field. Both fields are relatively open, grassy areas in contrast to the forest surrounding most of the trail. When starting at Cades Cove, the night is spent in a three-sided stone shelter in either Spence or Russell Field. The fourth side of the shelter is covered with a wire mesh screen to prevent the bigger animals, such as bears, from exploring the shelters in search of food.

The overnight horseback trip in the mountains is the longest trip offered by the four stables operating in Tennessee within the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and is offered by Cades Cove Riding Stables. Shorter rides are offered at all of the stables. The stables include Cades Cove Riding Stables, Cades Cove Star Route, Townsend, Tennessee 37882, (615) 448-6286; McCarter's Riding Stables, Gatlinburg, Tennessee 37738, (615) 436-5354; Smoky Mountain Riding Stables, Highway 73, P. O. Box 287, Gatlinburg, (615) 436-5634; and Cosby Riding Stables, Cosby Campground, Rt. 2, Newport, Tennessee 37821.

Rides are offered for one, two and three hours, half a day and all day as well as the overnight option. The shorter trips are made on a first-come, first-serve basis but an overnight trip should be arranged in advance. Equipment and food are provided by the rider for the overnight trip.

Riding season for the Cosby Stables is June 1 through Labor Day and for the other three stables is April 1 through November 1. Stables are open from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m.
