Halls Rail Crossing Gets Keys To Halls Due Safety Devices

Halls Alderman Steve Levy has received a copy of a Tennessee Department of Transportation letter to the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, authorizing the placing of flashing light signals with gates, bell, and crossing work at the East Tigrett Street railroad crossing in Halls.

Several fatal accidents, and others without fatalities, have occurred at the crossing over the years. Efforts to get the crossing gate and signals have been in progress for more than 10 years.

The site choice, reported in this newspaper three weeks ago, has been formally ananounced by Gov. Lamar Alexander, Carl C. Jacobson, Jr. Crafco president, and the Halls Industrial Committee.

Jacobson said employment is expected to be 25 by the end of this year, eventually reaching 40. The company's invest ment was put at $400,000.

Alexander commended Halls on the new jobs that will result from today's announcement

"This is a fine example of what can happen when community leadership and citizens work together," Alexan der said. "It shows again that communities which are ready, having developed industrial parks and available buildings, are where most new plant announcements are being made now.

Sammie Arnold, a member of the Halls committee and former mayor, said the company has purchased a 20,000 square foot building in the Halls Industrial Park formerly occupied by Hancor.

STEALS FROM THE NEIGHBORS

As electric costs increase, consumers react in different ways. Some practice conservation to reduce the amount of energy they use, while others become angry and blame their power supplier. A few steal electricity.

Electric users who think they are fooling a power company by tampering with their electric meter are likely to be in for a shock-in more ways than one.

The biggest shock they could get could be a fatal one because an untrained consumer breaking into the "hot" wiring system entering their home in order to by-pass the meter is risking sudden

Consumers' meters are sealed for two reasons-first, to protect the consumer by making the meter off limits Only a trained and authorized serviceman can cut the seal on that meter or remove it. Even a licensed electrican has to have permission from the power supplier before that meter seal can be removed.

The second reason that meter is sealed is to prevent anyone from stealing power. That may sound foolish but the number of cases of consumers found stealing power in recent months has increased alarmingly.

Cheaters think they can get away with it, but they're dead wrong. Not only are the meters sealed, but when they are read, the seal is checked and if missing, the consumer can expect to hear about it. If the meter has been tampered with, the cheater is going to face legal action, fines, a bad credit rating and the chance of losing his service completely in some cases.

Spot checks are made from time to time to make sure tampering has not taken place.

And since the tampering is done to cut down on power bills, it's just a matter of time before the sudden reduction is spotted by a bil ling department and a ser viceman is sent out to check into this sudden, mysterious drop in power demand.

In short, the very reason a meter is tampered with is likely to result in the cheater getting caught.

punish power cheaters is to protect those customers who do not steal, because in the long run, it's the honest consumer who gets stuck with the bill. Power Companies have to pay for every kilowatt-hour of power their consumers

The most important reason a power company goes to so much trouble to catch and use. If some of it is unmetered, the power company still has to pay the bill. Eventually, if left unchecked, the difference can result in even higher rates to cover the loss.

So Power Companies do everything possible to find and prosecute cheaters.

Consumers can protect themselves by reporting such dishonest actions and in the process may prevent the death or injury of someone who is tampering with something they know little or nothing about.

Tn. Code Ann. 39-4533 together with other sections of the Tn. Code, makes it a punishable offense to knowingly obtain service by deception and with the intent to avoid payment when such service is available only for compensation. It is unlawful for any person to intentionally and without authority engage in any of the following activities: (1) injure or destroy any property of a company engaged in the manufacture or sale of electricity, (2) prevent any electricity meter from duly registering the quantity of electricity supplied, or (3) divert any electric service of the company. In those cases where there is no evidence to the contrary with respect to the performance of any of these illegal acts, Tn. Code Ann. 39-4533 provides that the person performing these acts and/or the person, who with knowledge of such illegal acts, has received the benefits of diverted service, without charge, shall be presumed to be responsible for such illegal acts.

Ripley Power & Light Policy: 1. No one may remove a meter seal without the consent of the Power Company. 2. Penalty for theft of electricity including tampering with meter or meter seal will be a minimum of $25.00, plus estimated usage and/or prosecution.

"Anyone having information about someone stealing electricity may report (without using your name) to Ripley Power and Light Company.'

Gov. Lamar Alexander, Honorea speaking at the Halls Industrial Appreciation Banquet last Thursday evening, told the group that cities and towns must be prepared to go out and seek additional industries. He said that competition is now so great that only rarely will an industry seek out a particular location.

Gov. Alexander at the same time took advantage of the opportunity to get in a plug for his Master Teacher plan to mprove education in Tennessee, stating that education can only be improved with an incentive pay plan for teachers. He did not discuss any particular details nor where the money would be raised.

Some 463 persons, 89 more than any previous crowd, attended the event in the Halls Elementary School cafeteria.

candidates before they cast their vote on May 5th, I want to reflect on my past projects. Hopefully, this will give you a better idea of what to expect should I be fortunate enough to be elected as your next mayor. Some people have asked me to discuss my opponents publicly. I have never done this nor do I believe in it. If a candidate can only talk about his opponent, he must not have much to say about himself. I prefer to discuss myself and my projects because I am proud of both.

Committee For Industrial Growth

As a founder and charter member of this officially sanctioned committee, I helped provide the mechanism thru which state and industrial representatives could communicate with the city, in the hopes of locating new industry here. Our first of what we hope will be many new industries just announced their arrival-Crafco. The state officials who aided Crafco with their decision on a new site, credited Halls for having a wellorganized group which quickly provided the answers on numerous questions asked by the new industry. If we want new industries we must be ready to go out and get them.

Civic-Minded

I am a director of the Halls-Gates Rotary Club, a member of the Halls Jaycees, Halls Community Club, Tiger Booster Club, Band Booster Club, Halls Public Library, and many others. I have always believed in and supported our local civic groups. I heartily encourage those who are not members of some group to join your favorite one(s). Their causes are noble, and they are often under-staffed and short of funds.

Halls Merchant Association

I am a charter member and am currently serving as the president of the Halls Merchant Assoc. (H.M.A.) The H. M. A. was created so the area businesses could combine their resources to sponsor public events. We have been around for only several years, but already our accomplishments are many. We are now one of the major sponsors of the Halls Street Festival, we have organized and paid for almost entirely the last two Halls Industrial Appreciation Banquets. We started the Halls Kite Day this year, have helped with some of the Labor Day festivities, and have even advertised other civic projects. We hope to be even more productive in the future, featuring projects such as "downtown clean-up" with planters, trash receptacles, and better parking. There are also hopes for a Fall Harv-est Festival, trumpeting the many benefits of our local agriculture. As with all of my projects, the Halls Merchant Assoc. is self-supporting and operates within a budget.

If anyone has any questions about these activities or anything else, please feel free to discuss them further with me (836-7538). Sound Management-New Jobs-Integrity and Honesty-There 1 Only One Choice for Mayor on May 5th.

This week is a big week at Halls' IGA. Elzie Hilliard will be celebrating his 79th birthday. We would like to use this time as an opportunity to honor the man who got us started.

Elzie first entered retail business in Halls in the summer of 1937, when he went to work for Jim Carnell in his grocery store on Front Street. His salary was $50 per month, and out of this, he paid $9 per month house

He worked for Mr. Carnell for about three years, until he began working for Joe L. Levy in his dry goods store, at a salary of $60 per month. During the seven years he worked for Mr. Levy, his salary more than tripled.

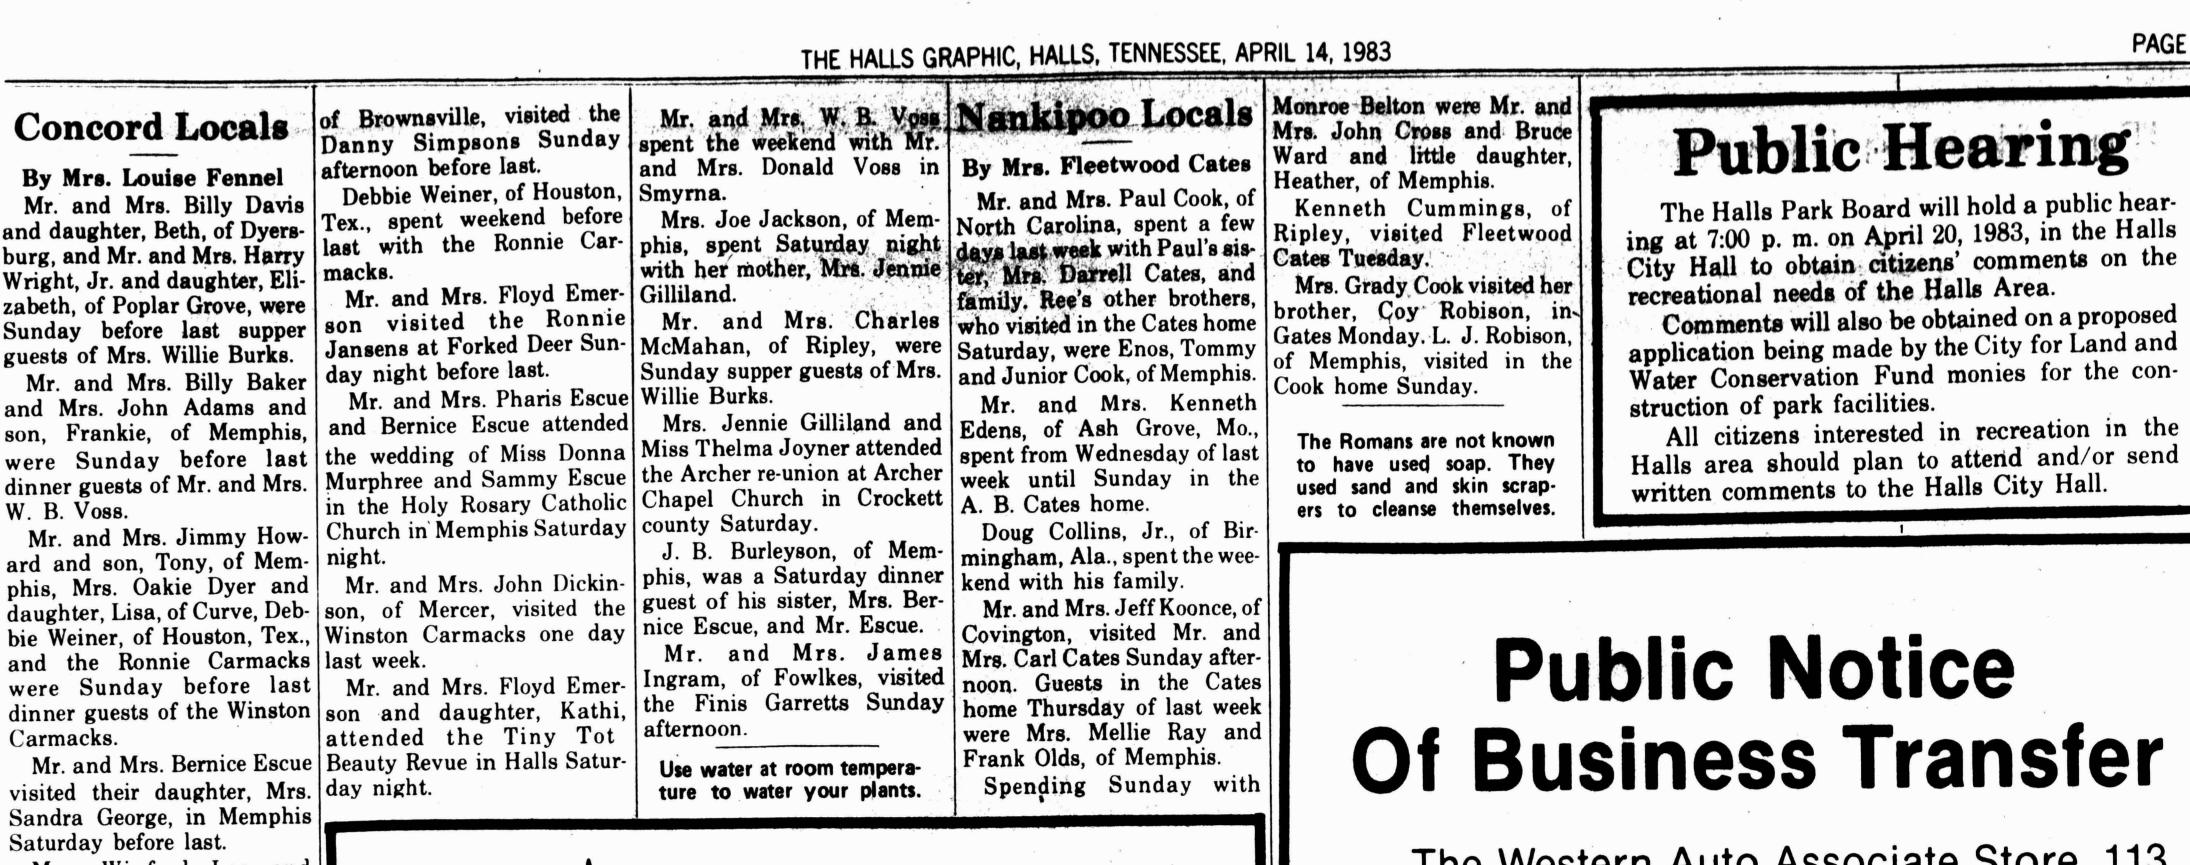

Mr. Hilliard recalls his experiences with Mr. Levy with much fondness and respect. One instance in particular-he tells of the purchase of his first house. It seemed that every time Elzie would get moved into a rental house, the owner would decide to sell it, so he would have to move again. Mr. Levy asked why he did not just buy a house. When Elzie replied that he could not afford one, Mr. Levy not only loaned him the money to purchase a house, but also money to make some improvements on the property, and allowed him to repay the money at $25 per month.

In 1947, Elzie left Joe L. Levy's and bought out the grocery store owned by Junior Rogers, which was at the location presently occupied by Paul Jordan's Fish Market. He remained at this location for 10 years, until 1957, at which time he put in a grocery store in Mr. Carnell's previous location. Mr. Carnell rented him the building for $50 per month and loaned him $3500 to help him stock it.

Elzie has since then "retired' and sold the business to his son. Don Hilliard, who has moved the store to its present location at 120 Front Street. However, even at 79, he is still quite an active worker, putting in 10 hours a day, 5 days a week.

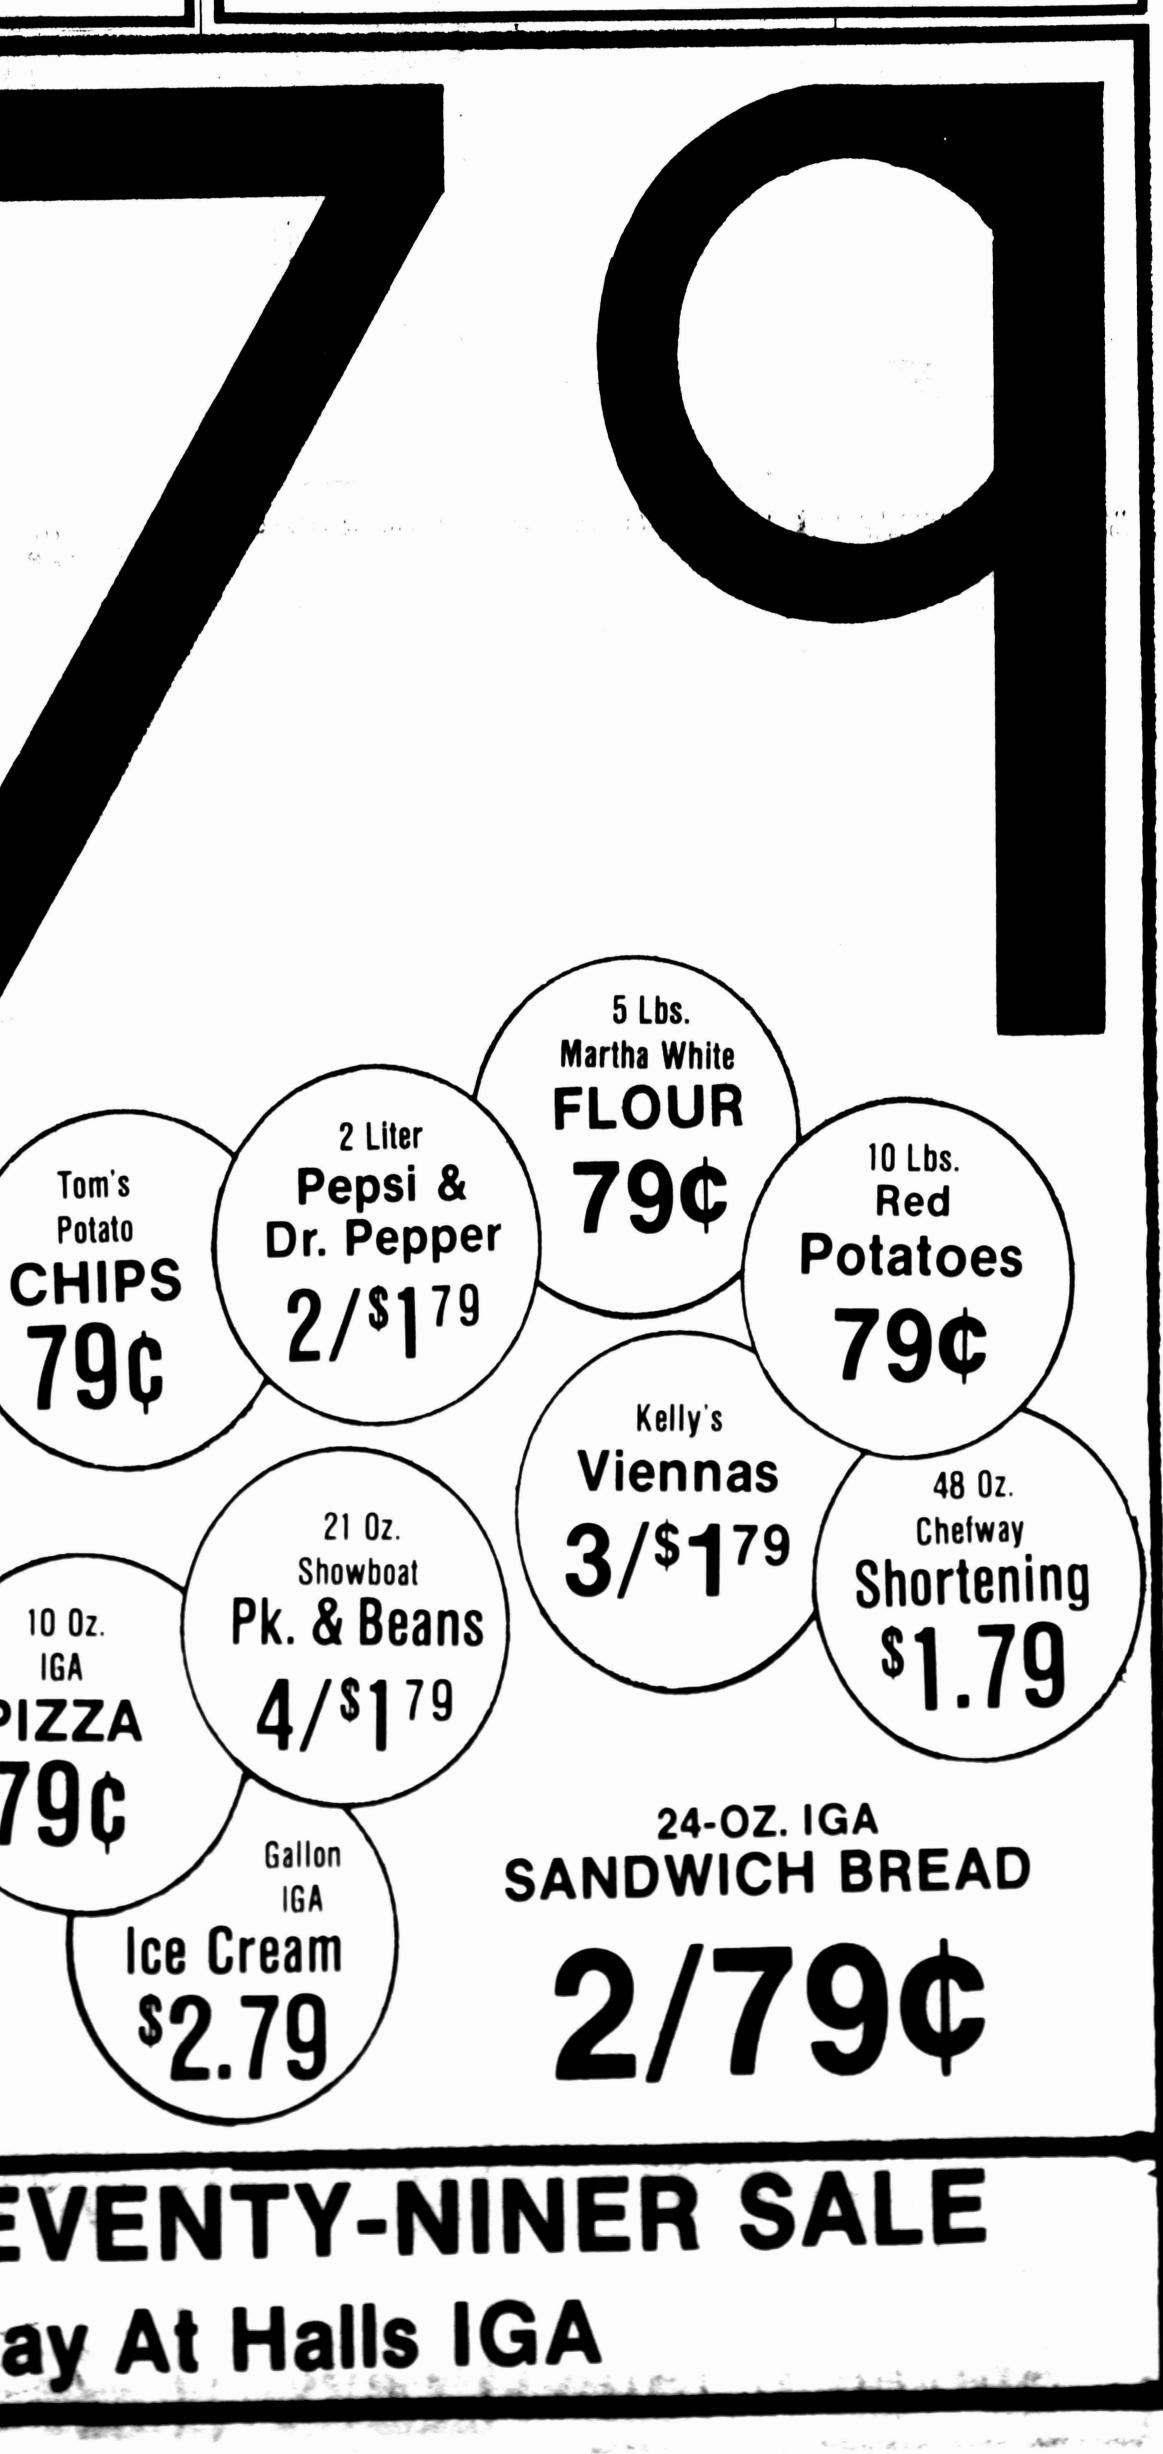

This Saturday we set aside as a day to honor our Elzie Hilliard, and invite you all to come by and partic ipate in our celebration.

To The Voters Of Halls:

Two years ago, I ran for Alderwoman, I ran a pretty good race. I am one who believes if you don't succeed first, try again.

Two years ago, we had what I would call a minor change. This year I am looking for a major change. I hope to see new faces in the right places in this election.

For too long the Town of Halls has had too many chiefs and not enough Indians. Here are a few changes, if I am elected; I would like to see

1. The Town of Halls pays out around $18,000 a year to have a supervisor over our water plant. Our plant should be in one A shape. I can personally tell you our water building, to be no older than it is, is not in one A shape.

The water we drink is not approved. In September of 1982, there was an oil film over our water, our equipment needs cleaning. Our water is not up to the proper point it should be. No approval signs nowhere to be seen.

I am proud of the lady who is qualified to treat our water, but the supervisor over our water is supposed to be licensed to treat our water also. He is responsible for the condition our water plant stays in. We drink and use this water every day. I would like to see it approved.

2. I am for parking our city trucks and cars, when not in use for our town. I cannot see taxpayers' money furnishing trucks and cars for personal use, like going to and from home in them, etc. I am for hanging the keys up when the city workers go off duty until the next one comes on.

3. I am for a strong police enforcement. If I am elected Alderwoman, I would back our policemen, to the best of my ability. One thing I don't approve of-when driving by our police station, seeing two feet upon a desk or sitting at the city hall half a day. I believe if you are being paid for a job, earn your money. There is work to be done in this town.

4. I am for supporting our senior citizens as much as possible. That is all our older people have going for them. Some of our older people are not able to fix their meals.

5. We have streets that need to be curbed and guttered also side walks need repair. Streets need to be washed off once a week. Buildings that have been burned should be cleaned up. It ruins the looks of our town.

6. If the Town of Halls has job openings, I am for hiring our own school kids, before hiring someone out of the county. In the past, this has not been done. I personally know of one young man, from another county who works here in Halls through the summer months. To me this is not right. We have too many kids walking the streets who would work if they had a job.

7. If the city has jobs opening, I personally feel it should not be WHO you know to get the job, but what you know. Black or white, if you are qualified to fill a position, give it to them.

8. I may speak strong how I feel about matters concerning this town. I do not apologize for any thing I have said. If the shoe fits, wear it. It is high time for this town to come out of the rut its in. I cannot promise the people anything, but will tell you this. If I am elected Alderwoman, will do the best of my ability to help change things here in this town, or go down trying.

Louise Shepard

Thank you.

TENNESSEE TRAVEL

If there's anything Tennesseans love, it's a celebration. The state's calendar is packed with events that celebrate just about anything and everything: azaleas, bananas, cotton, catfish, storytelling daffodils, dogwoods, okra, mules--yes, even doodle soup.

Coming up this spring are festivals saluting three of the state's agricultural products: soybeans, strawberries, and those delicious, but odorifer ous, ramps.

Soybean Festival-April 15-23 Dyersburg, located in the fertile delta of northwest Tennessee, honors this major cash crop with a full week of activities. Highlights include a parade, softball tournament, street dance, and beauty contests (including one in which the contestants have suspiciously hairy legs). The gastronomical highlight is the great "Bean Cook-Off," and for sheer excitement, there's the "Riding Lawn Mower Race," proving once again that people will race anything that has wheels attached to it.

For more information, contact the Dyersburg Chamber of Commerce, 121 Masonic Street, Dyersburg, Tennessee 38024.

Strawberry Festival-May 3-7 Tennesseans proudly claim that there's no place on Earth where a sweeter, juicier or more colorful strawberry can be grown. You'll certainly find no argument with that around Humboldt, which wil soon be hosting its 46th Annual Strawberry Festival.

The celebration begins with a Horse Show on Tuesday night, followed on Thursday by the Junior Parade.

Friday, May 6, is a big day with the Governor's Luncheon and the Grand Floats Parade, which officials describe as one of the longest in the nation. The schedule also features a checker tournament, wrestling

Important Election

A week from today, May 5th, Halls citizens will go to the polls to elect a Mayor and Board of Aldermen for the next two years. A major change is certain, since Mayor James Cheshier is not seeking re-election, and three of the present aldermen have entered the mayor's race, insuring that there will be at least three new board members.

Every election is important, but it is our feeling that the forthcoming election may be of greater importance than some in the past. The nature and philosophy of the new mayor and new board members will have a direct effect on the progress of Halls.

Each voter should consider carefully his choices, keeping in mind that a town must either progress or go backwards. It is impossible for a town to remain unchanged.

Every voter must determine if he or she wants more industry, better parks, better streets, etc., or the alternative of a backward step. Go to the polls next Thursday and vote.

In Yorkville. spite of those opposing forces, Jones said that he wi sponsors of repeal legislation in the House and Senate have been able to obtain over half of the Members of each body as co-sponsors. In fact, the widely held best judgement now is that there are enough votes in the House and Senate to override the President if the bill should pass the Congress and he vetoes it.

This legislation was the subject of two Senate filibusters earlier this year. Those filibusters were broken only after Senate leaders agreed to bring the matter up at a later time. Last week, the repeal language was brought up as an amendment to a trade bill being debated. It appeared a week's end that the repeal of withholding on interest was going to be eliminated or postponed for a long period of time by the Senate. Even President Reagan had toned down his earlier harsh statements and the certainty of a Presidential veto was less assured.

In the House, repeal efforts were gathering steam as the Senate worked on its bill. Obviously the language passed by the Senate wil have to come before the House for a vote. Congressman Nor man D'Amours has begun circulating a discharge petition to get the bill that has been introduced in the House out to the floor for a vote. As a co sponsor of his legislation, am hopeful that the effort is successful and the bill is brought to the House floor. A discharge petition requires 218 signatures to be used and with more than that already sponsoring repeal legislation, it would seem probable that Mr. D'Armours will get the necessary number of signa-

From what is being heard around the Capitol, however the outcome of the repeal legislation will not be the end of this issue. It appears that there is support growing now for additional legislation that would strengthen tax laws applying to banks. The details of any such legislation would of course, have to be written by the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee. Senator Dole has already started that process several weeks ago with a hearing on how much taxes are paid by the banking industry. More action on that matter is expected to follow

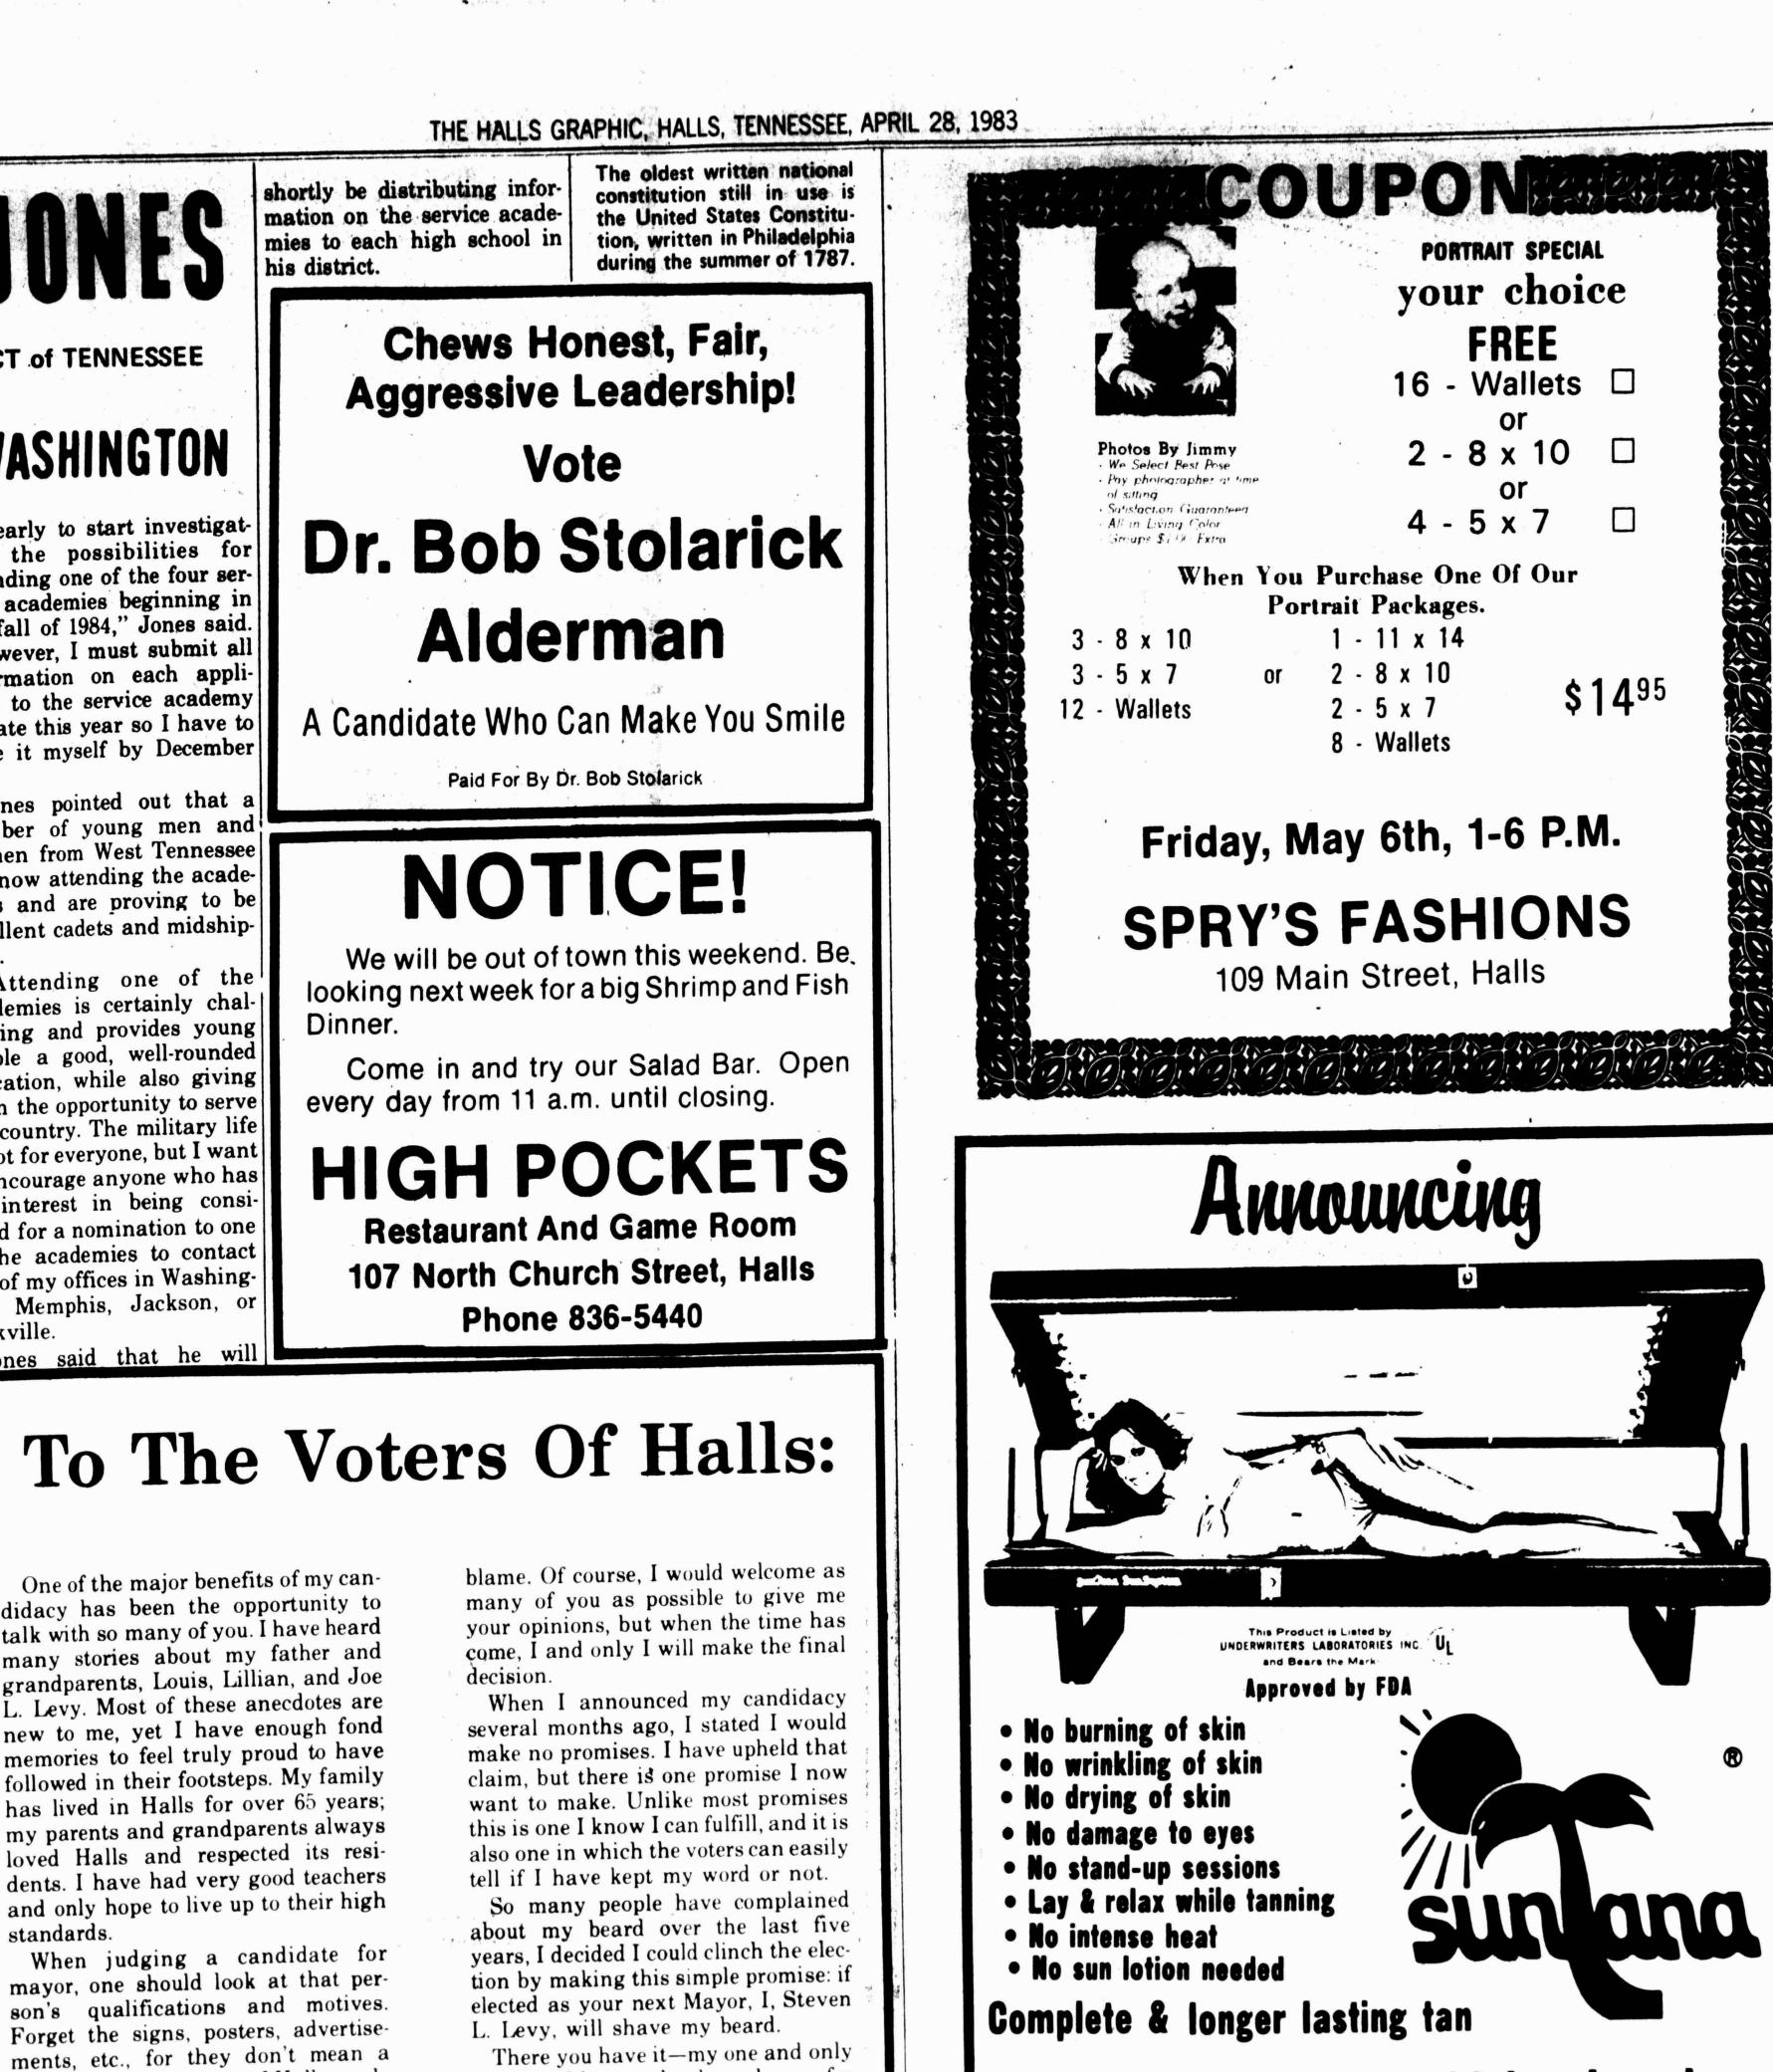

Unfortunately, the political battle over the withholding of taxes on interest and dividends may leave some rather lasting scars. The President and his Administration have been very vocal on this matter and Senator Dole and Representative Rostenkowski feel very strongly about their posi-tions as well. The issue has caused wide divisions in both political parties and it is roing to take a while for them to heal at a time when the issues now before the Con gress require bipartisan co

One of the major benefits of my candidacy has been the opportunity to talk with so many of you. I have heard many stories about my father and grandparents, Louis, Lillian, and Joe Levy. Most of these anecdotes are new to me, yet I have enough fond memories to feel truly proud to have followed in their footsteps. My family has lived in Halls for over 65 years; my parents and grandparents always loved Halls and respected its residents. I have had very good teachers and only hope to live up to their high standards

When judging a candidate for mayor, one should look at that person's qualifications and motives. Forget the signs, posters, advertisements, etc., for they don't mean a thing. The next mayor of Halls needs the capabilities, but he also should want to help the town. It is important he is not unduly influenced or controlled by someone else.

I now state for the record that any decision I may make as Mayor will be my own-I should get the credit or the

To My Fellow Citizens Of Halls:

As I promised in my initial announcement, in seeking election as your mayor, the following is a statement concerning my candidacy: I am a native Lauderdale Countian, and have lived in Halls, for over 50 years. I attended Halls schools and believe there are none finer to be found in the 50 states, and none of my children or grandchildren have attended private schools. My four children attended Halls schools, and presently seven of my grandchildren are attending Halls schools

Most of my family are Methodist and attend Halls' First Methodist Church. I was brought up behind the counter of my father's general merchandise store, in Curve and

I was in the furniture and appliance business for approximately seventeen years in Halls. I worked Civil Service at Memphis Naval Air Station, for approximately eight years. I served three years in Army service in World War II, serving in the 103rd Infantry Division and the 101st Airborne, seeing combat action in France Germany, and Austria.

I sometimes help my wife in the operation of a child's day care center in our home. I have been semi-retired for the last several years, working a 3-acre vegetable and fruit garden and doing some carpentry work now and then. This briefly outlines some of my activities for the past several years, and, of course, you graciously elected me your servant, as an alderman, for the past four years. There are very few things I can promise you as a candidate for mayor-only to do my very best, for the best interests of Halls and its citizens. Some of those interests are: To direct my efforts at securing a state approved water supply To see that all city vehicles and equipment are marked as belonging to the City of Halls. To see that we do not furnish city vehicles for employees to go back and forth to their homes in. To cut down consumption of fuel for city vehicles. (police, alone, use approximately $10,000 worth per

To follow the mandate of our city charter and ordinances and to enforce same, including that no employee shall have another outside job, if it interferes with the performance of the position the city hired him to perform. without first getting written permission from the mayor to do so.

With federal and state funds being curtailed, I fear our share will be limited also Our revenues are not meeting the budget forecasts in several areas. Our bonded indebtedness, of course continues to become due, including the notes for our so-called public safety building, which in the end will cost us city taxpayers more than $150,000. And in March this year, the other five aldermen voted to spend another $8,000 for another patrol car. which gives us a total of four cars.

Frankly, I'm of the opinion I can effect a saving of thousands of dollars in the operation of our city. providing the town's citizens elects a board compatible with my philosophy concerning fiscal policy. I'm against banning yard sales, as one of my

I'm against the use of taxpayer funds for a fireworks display on July 4th.

I'm against a carnival coming to town on July 4th (sounds rotten, doesn't it). The chairman of Halls Merchants Association plays host to the biggies, then wants the poor factory worker to squander his hard earned money on various wares, gimmicks, monies are gone forever from this town. I am not against recognizing the industrial complex that we have. In fact, the reverse is true. The reason I voted against the city underwriting the last industrial banquet was because of the shabby treatment our present mayor received during the last one. He was not mentioned or introduced, and in fact, he was totally disregarded, not even being invited to attend. The same parties organized and carried out the recently held banquet April 7th.

Another burr that has me nettled is that received an invitation, by way of an official Town of Halls envelope, on official Town of Halls stationery signed, "The Halls Merchants Association," (signed by an alderman) Chairman Mr. alderman, if the association hasn't the funds to furnish its own sta tionery, inform me, and I will make a contribution. toward some

One more nettle, and that is, in a recent edition of The Halls Graphic, an article gives the impression that a certain alderman was responsible for the new railroad signals being installed. The truth of the matter is the Town of Halls has been pursuing this matter for years, probably before this alderman was

Now, I want to impress upon you, also, the things and happenings in Halls I'm proud of I'm proud of our citizens and community center.

I'm proud of our Senior Citizens Center. I'm proud of our city parks (lavish ball fields more beautification). I'm proud of the excellent relationship between the races and all ethnic groups.

I'm proud of our employers, such as Tupperware, Halltex, Allen Stone, Anderson Hickey, Huey & Son Lumber, Tech Four, Ivey Tool, Hutcherson Scrap Metals, H & H Pallet, Edwards Gin Co., Crafco Forked Deer Electric Co-Operative, fertilizer plant, all of the numerous grocery stores, hardware store appliance stores, dry goods, drug stores, automobile dealers, building supply, fertilizer distributors, newspaper publishers, auto parts, gas stations, flower and gift shops, banks, refrigeration, barber shops, beauty shops, public library, seed processors, restaurants, farm implement dealers, farm Co-ops. farm suppliers, farm crop aerial dusters, insurance, savings and loan, pillow manufacturing, funeral home, cemeterys, trucking interests, auctioneers, area farm operators, and other businesses and institutions such as schools, churches, veteran organizations, civic clubs, etc.

Just imagine Halls without these factories, businesses, institutions, civic clubs, etc. All of the above mentioned are the back-bone of our city and community and are very, very vital to our well-being, to our economy, and to our very existance, and I also pledge to actively pursue a quest for additional industry, business and new citizens.

I'm proud of the friendly, harmonious relation ship factory management has with its employees. I'm proud of Halls citizens for their compassion ate concern for their fellow man in time of need and misfortune

I'm proud of City of Halls water and sewage I m proud of our municipal building that houses the water plant and municipal offices. I'm proud of our fire department, and fire station and equipment (Tupperware donations to fire house.

fire truck, etc., total equaling $50,000 plus). After this was written. I've been informed Tupperware has again donated $25,000 to the City of Halls. THANKS. TUPPERWARE!

And mostly. I'm just plumb proud to live here in Halls. And to back that up, I've been trying for four vears to get the city of Halls to erect a nice, attrac tive, large sign on the New 51 By-Pass informing motorists who we are, what we are, where we are, and to welcome all to a city of good abode. Sincerely,

Forked Deer

It was the water that brought George Dickel to Coffee County. It happened once, but twice. Is Tullahoma, Tennessee, back in the 1860s. One day he happened upon a spring flowthrough a place called Caseade Hollow. The water seeped down through a lime stone cliff, and it was about as free of impurities as natural water can get. For a man looking to get into the Mrs. Allen Bird, Mrs. Hollis whiskey-making business, that water was the stuff dreams are made of.

> Dickel built his distiller on the spot, and made him self a sizeable fortune selling "George A. Dickel's Cascade to be as "mellow as moon

George Dickel was laid to rest in 1894, and thus was spared the trauma of prohibition. When the state of Ten nessee went "dry" in 1911 the whiskey that was as mellow as moonlight became just a moonlight memory.

It was not until 1958 that the good folks of Coffee County decided to go we again.- That opened the door for George Dickel's 20t century counterpart -- Ralph Dupps was sent by employers, Schenley Distillers (who had had the foresight o purchase the Dickel Company in 1938) back to Coffee County to find the original water source, rebuild the Dickel distillery, and set about making whiskey in the same way that George made it back in the 1800s.

"It was quite a gamble o Schenley's part," Dupps says "Starting a new distillery is a tremendous project. before prohibition, Tennessee had more whiskey distilleries than any state in the union Environmental and Energy County, Jack Daniel's.)
