CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Today's The Day

Have you voted? As many of you read this only a few hours remain before the polls close at 7 p. m. and the 1984 general election in Lauderdale County becomes history.

There are several important offices being filled, such as those of the County Executive, the county Superintendent of Schools, Juvenile and Probate Judge, and others in which there is no competition.

It would be difficult to say that any voter could make a poor choice in voting for any of these candidates, but at the same time, there are many good reasons why every citizen should express his or her opinion by casting a vote for the candidate they consider best suited for the office they are seeking.

If you haven't voted, don't just sit there, get up and go cast your vote. Your county will be the better for it in the long run.

Short Vacation

During the past week Nell and your editor have been in LaFayette and Marietta, Ga., visiting with our sons, Buddy and Chuck, and their families.

We will either be back home or en route home when this issue of The Halls Graphic is delivered, so we must say that our visit was short.

Although this was written before leaving home Thursday afternoon, we were looking forward to our visit because of the time we will be able to spend with our four grandchildren—Buddy's two daughters, Michelle and Wendy, and Chuck's daughter and son, Jennifer and Patrick. We have not seen Jennifer and Patrick since last summer, so we are particularly pleased to have a few days with them.

Maybe Too Long

Since writing about the 90th birthday of The Halls Graphic, it has occurred to your editor that there are two generations of people in Halls who cannot remember any other editor of this newspaper, although there have been several during the 90 years the newspaper has been published.

We have been connected with The Graphic most of the time since March, 1930, although we spent some time in New Orleans, La., in Lawrenceburg, and in other pursuits. Since April 11, 1942, we have been full-time editor, so perhaps the people of Halls are entitled to a change.

However, don't get too excited. We are not planning to quit just yet. Remember, we are only 75!

Former Kathy Daws Ends 3-Week European Mission

Kathy Daws (Mrs. J. Harvey) Gardner, of Memphis, formerly of Halls, and Sue Martin (Mrs. Ron) Overcash, of Arcadia, Fla., have returned from three weeks of mission work in Europe for the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Kathy, soloist in First Baptist Church in Memphis, sang in Baptist churches in Paris, Brussels, and Huntingdon, England, and July 4th for the European Baptist Convention in Interlaken, Switzerland.

Sue, whose stories have been published in Guideposts, international inspirational magazine, gave her testimony in the same programs.

Walker Heading Union Trustees

Joe H. Walker, Jr., senior partner in Walker & Walker, Ripley attorneys, has been elected chairman of the 48-member board of trustees of Union University in Jackson.

David Nunn, Halls banker, rotating off the board, was cited in its summer meeting for his service.

The word university was first applied to collegiate studies in the 1200's.

Wood Workers

WHITNEY WEEKS, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Weeks, of Curve, and Brandi Bradley, of Dyersburg, tried their skills at the carpenter's bench as they worked in arts and crafts while attending Girl Scout camp at Camp Hazelwood last month. They were permitted to keep their handiwork and bring it home with them.

Wilder In Closing Appeal For Votes

Judge Robert C. Wilder has issued this final election statement:

"With election day upon us, I want to take this opportunity to thank all the wonderful people of Lauderdale County for the reception I have received during this campaign.

"I have worked long and hard these past weeks to see each citizen and solicit your vote. If I may have missed you, I'm sorry, and take this opportunity to sincerely ask for your vote and support on Aug. 2nd.

"I am very appreciative for the opportunity I have had to serve as your Probate and Juvenile Judge. I am seeking re-election so that I may continue the programs I have started in our county.

"I once again make the pledge that I made when I first took office—I promise to be fair and honest, to give every person an impartial hearing, to provide quick and efficient service, and to always try to make decisions which are in the best interest of all children who come into court.

"Thank you again, and I urge you to vote on Aug. 2nd."

Three Joining Library Board

Halls Library's board Tuesday of last week elected Pat Higdon chairman, Allen Tillman vice-chairman, Betty Lovelace secretary, Connie (Mrs. Tony D.) Moore treasurer, and Jerry Cridfield, personnel committee chairman.

Cridfield and Tillman succeed Donnie Levy and Warren Nunn, who have served on the board since 1978.

Mrs. Moore is completing the 2-year term of Marcus Spiller, who resigned effective June 30th.

Nannie Leake and Lucille Moore are co-chairmen for an Association of Outreach Services.

Expansion plans are awaiting state approval. It is hoped construction can begin in the early autumn.

Drowns In Effort To Save Children

Kenneth O'Neal Brogdon, 36, of Ripley, Fort Pillow State Prison guard, drowned Friday when he and his wife saw their sons, Bryan and Kevin, drifting toward a fast current off a resort beach on the San Joaquin River near Manteca, Calif., according to Cmdr. Clyde Temple of the San Joaquin County coroner's office.

People on a passing boat gave Mrs. Brogdon and the boys flotation devices, Temple said.

The father's body was recovered about two and a half hours later, he reported.

Services were at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Ripley Funeral Home, with burial in Memorial Gardens.

He also leaves his parents, the A. B. Brogdons, of Ripley; four brothers, Roger D. Brogdon and Walter W. Brogdon, of Ripley, Harold W. Brogdon, of Illinois, and Thomas W. "Bill" Brogdon, of California, and a sister, Mrs. Audrey M. Bombich, of Grafton, Ohio.

Dear Fellow Citizens of Lauderdale County,

I sincerely ask for your vote and support on August 2nd.

I have worked hard and long during my terms as Judge and referee of the Juvenile Court for the children of our county.

I have a deep and abiding personal interest in the welfare of our county, as my son, Rob, is growing up here.

Fulfilling the best interest of each child who comes into the juvenile court is always my ultimate goal.

I urge each citizen to consider my experience and my record as your Judge. Ask law enforcement officers, Department of Human Services staff members, attorneys, parents and teachers, for example, about their experiences in your Juvenile Court since I have been Judge.

I will appreciate your vote to allow me to continue the job I have begun.

Thank you.

B-17 On Display

B-17 BOMBER will be on display Monday at the Confederate Air Force Show at the Dyersburg Airport. The CAF, headquartered in Harlington, Tex., was formed to preserve such planes used during World War II. The 4-engine B-17 was the plane for which crews were trained at the Dyersburg Air Force Base at Halls and were flown daily from the Halls base. There is no gate admission fee, and the show is open to the public.

Susanne Hurt Hosted By President Reagan

Miss Hurt will be a junior in Mississippi State University this September.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Here and There

This is being written Monday afternoon of last week, soon after Nell and your editor returned to Buddy's home in LaFayette, Ga., after having spent the weekend with Chuck and Lisa in Marietta, Ga. Chuck's two children, Jennifer and Patrick, were there, and since we had not seen them since August of last year, we had a very good visit.

It began raining early Saturday morning and continued to rain during the entire weekend, so most of our time in Marietta was spent visiting, however, Nell, Lisa, Jean and Jennifer did attend the Peach State Depression Glass Show in the Cobb County Municipal Center. The show was one of the reasons we took our vacation at this time.

We passed a portion of the time playing a game known as Trivia, which we think would be more appropriately named Aburdity. Who would know or want to know the answer to such a Trivia question as "What sport uses the terms Natural and Goofy Foot?" Incidentally, the correct answer is surfing—so now you know!

En route home Wednesday, we accompanied Jean to Carthage, where she was house hunting. Buddy has resigned as publisher of The Walker County Messenger in LaFayette and has accepted a position as publisher of The Carthage Courier. Buddy and Jean will move to Carthage this weekend and begin his new duties Aug. 13th. Incidentally, the Courier is the oldest newspaper in Tennessee, established in 1807.

Carthage is about 100 persons larger than Halls but is the county seat of Smith County and the only town of any size in the county. It has some of the same problems as Halls, in that there is very little rental property, and newcomers to Carthage find it difficult to locate any type of apartment or house.

Jean was fortunate enough to find a small apartment, but they will be unable to move most of their furniture immediately. They will probably buy a house as quickly as they can sell their home in LaFayette.

One feature of the trip which was frustrating was the many trucks on I-40, I-24, and I-75, with I-75 being the most heavily traveled, but only by a slight margin. Many of the trucks were running side by side, or with three or four in a group. Particularly annoying was that several truck drivers cut in short after passing us, with one almost forcing Nell off the road. The rain made driving conditions bad but was not the major cause of traffic problems.

Swimmers Join Memphis Meet

Greg Cribfield, son of the Jerry Cribfields, and Nate Callender, son of the Mark Callenders, were in the Memphis Conference Swim Meet in the Davis Young Men's Christian Association Center in Memphis Monday and Tuesday.

Both are members of the Dolphins swim team, of Dyersburg.

Both have won first, second, and third place ribbons in the 25 meter backstroke, breast stroke, butterfly, and free style, 100-meter individual medley, and free style relay.

Greg is undefeated this year in his age group in the 25-meter free style.

Lovelace Paces Constable Poll

Wymond G. Lovelace led Donald Ray Patton 168-123 for the 9th District constable post in balloting Thursday of last week.

In the 1st District, Robert Bates led William "Bill" Miller 414-152.

In the 7th District, Gene Patton led George McKee, Jr. 411-135.

Double Bridges, 56-16; Edith, 76-83; Gates, 172-60; Nankepp, 84-23.

Dunn In Orchards

EX-GOV. WINFIELD DUNN, at right in upper photo, discusses with Moody Palmer, of Bruceville, his growing of nectarines, peaches, and apples. Dunn, vice-president for public relations, of Hospital Corp. of America, visited Palmer, an old friend, Friday and Saturday to discuss Republican politics and learn more about fruit tree culture to be used at his own home near Nashville. In lower photo, Palmer, right, Dunn, center, and Alf Adams, right, Nashville attorney, who accompanied Dunn, examine some of Palmer's nectarines.

Dunn did not rule out making a race for governor in 1986 but said it is too early to make a decision. He said he had received much encouragement to enter the race but would decide on his own, not from influence from others.

Palmer, Dyer County Republican chairman, has some 1,500 nectarine trees, 200 peach trees, and 500 apple trees, from which he expects to harvest about 3,000 bushels of nectarines, 600 bushels of peaches, and 1,500 bushels of apples. Much of the fruit is sold at the orchard, but he also has contracts with major food chains in Memphis and elsewhere.

In addition to the fruit trees, he grows Crenshaw canteloupes, watermelons, and blackberries and has his own hives to help pollination of the fruit.

The Tax Question

Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale has stated that, if elected, he will raise taxes, but he has said nothing definite about spending cuts. At the same time, Mondale has charged that President Reagan is planning to raise taxes but is unwilling to say so. Reagan has denied any plans to raise taxes, and the debate has become somewhat childish, as one says, "You will," and the other says "I won't."

Actually, it would seem to your editor that neither of them will have much choice. There must be some reduction to the federal deficit and a tax increase of some sort, as well as spending cuts, if such a reduction is to be accomplished.

Along with the accusation by Mondale and Reagan come newspaper columnists and television commentators making similar charges. Tom Wicker, New York Times columnist, in an article published Sunday in The Commercial Appeal, denies that Reagan policies have had any effect on inflation and not much, if any, on the economic recovery, but at the same time he is happy to place blame for the increased federal deficits at Reagan's feet.

It seems to us that he is wrong on all counts. Reagan is certainly at fault for some of the larger federal deficits, but certainly the Democratic party cannot deny its share.

Mr. Reagan's policies also have had their effect on the strengthening economy and the almost vanished inflation figures.

Another interesting, almost amusing, aspect of Mr. Wicker's column is that he quotes an economist, Robert Eisner, writing in the New York Times, and goes so far as to agree with him. Mr. Eisner, by adroit manipulation of the deficit, the Gross National Product and other figures converts a huge deficit into a seven billion dollar surplus.

We wonder if we could employ Mr. Eisner. Perhaps he could convert our personal deficit into a surplus. That would be a "neat trick," but not nearly so "neat" as reducing the federal deficit until it becomes a surplus.

Such nonsense as this will be continuing from the present until the election next November. Perhaps the best solution to avoid complete boredom and confusion is to ignore all political speeches, television comments and newspaper columns, including this one, and make your own decision about what is best for our nation.

Old Bomber Draws Throng

SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY, World War II vintage 4-engine B-17 bomber, drew large crowds Sunday and Monday to Dyersburg Airport. The bomber was flown to Dyersburg by the Confederate Air Force, based in Harlingen, Tex., and dedicated to the preservation of all types of U. S. military of World War II. The B-17 was the bomber for which crews were trained at the air base at Halls during the war. None of this plane's crew were trained in Halls, but one did receive his training at Mauldin, Mo., and was familiar with the Halls base. The CAF maintains a museum at Harlingen of 125 planes all in flying condition; several others are being restored. The B-17 on display in Dyersburg is one of two owned by the CAF, three others are known to be privately owned in the U. S. and one in Europe. One former B-17 crew member remarked, "It was a fine airplane, but its not as big as it used to be."

Teacher Fined On Pot Charge

Former Lauderdale County school teacher, Charmaine Freeman, arrested in June on charges of possessing and manufacturing marijuana, was fined and given a suspended sentence Monday in Dyersburg City Court.

City Judge Charles Ages Jr. fined Freeman, 61, of 1116 Palmer, Dyersburg, $2,500 and court costs upon receiving a guilty plea to simple possession of marijuana. He suspended an 11 month, 29 day jail term.

Charges of manufacturing marijuana were dismissed against the teacher, who was arrested and charged after 26 marijuana plants were found growing in a flower bed in her yard.

Two more plants, as well as bags of seeds, were discovered inside her house, police reports said.

Freeman, a home economics instructor at Halls High School for 21 years, submitted this summer, an application for retirement effective at the end of 1983-1984 school year, a spokesman for the Lauderdale County Board of Education reports.

Lilley and Nunn says no change in personnel at the Gates bank is contemplated.

Nunn also is majority stockholder in Security State Bank of Newbern.

At the close of business June 30, 1984, Gates Banking & Trust Co. had total resources of $14,025,239.67, Bank of Halls had $24,184,024.83, and Security State had $30,903,689.97.

Work Starts On New Bridges On Hwy. 88

Construction on 12 bridges over overflows from the Forked Deer River in Lauderdale County has begun, says Elaine Saltzman, president of Rodgers & Saltzman Construction Co. in Fairview, prime contractor.

"It will take about two construction seasons, meaning the work will be completed in late 1985 or early 1986."

Three men are assigned to the project now, but about 25 men will be working on the bridges when full production begins in September. Don Underwood is foreman.

The Tennessee Department of Transportation awarded a contract for the work to the Rodgers & Saltzman firm in May. The low bid was $1,916,183.

The pact calls for construction of seven pre-stressed concrete I-beam bridges over overflows at Log Mile 3.65, 3.77, 4.04, 4.78, 4.98, 5.66, and 6.75. It also provides for five concrete box bridges over overflows at Log Mile 4.26, 4.50, 5.24, 5.78 and 6.33 on Tennessee Route 88. The spans replace bridges that have deteriorated or become functionally obsolete.

Included in the work is the grading, drainage and paving of the approaches to each structure, plus the installation of guardrails and pavement markings.

The contract specifies the work will be completed within 225 working days. Mrs. Saltzman says traffic through the construction areas will be maintained.

Grant Assists Halls Library

Gentry Crowell, Tennessee Secretary of State, last week announced approval of a $29,095 grant to Halls Public Library, 58.19% of a $50,000 grant sought by the library, with the local portion being $20,905.

The grant is one of 12 to Tennessee counties. Only other grant approved in West Tennessee went to Covington for $43,642. Three other counties, including Shelby, are seeking grants.

Don Levy, who has spearheaded the drive for the grant, said Friday that about $17,500 needed for the Halls portion is already in sight.

The funds will be used for additional library space and other needed equipment.

Schools Awarded State Computers

County School Supt. Phillip Jackson says that the Better Schools Program will furnish Halls, Henning, and Ripley Junior High Schools with one computer per each 30 students within the next few weeks—Halls 7, Henning 6, Ripley 11.

Basic Skills First has previously furnished each elementary and junior high school with one computer.

Ripley Junior High Parent Boosters furnished computers last year.

Bank Of Halls Plans Major Re-Modeling

Warren Nunn, president of Bank of Halls, said Friday that plans for re-modeling the lobby of Bank of Halls are virtually complete, with work expected to start some time in September.

Plans call for moving the front door east to the second window, and building four private offices at the front of the lobby, four teller cages on the west side of the lobby, and two teller cages at the note department on the east side of the lobby. Also included are lowering the ceiling and a new lighting system.

Back to School

Each year at this time, as school opens, we remind motorists to drive carefully, because young children are en route to and from school and are playing on the streets.

We have no idea whether this has resulted in preventing injury to any child, but we still believe that we should issue this reminder.

Particular care should be taken at the traffic light at West Tregitt and Carmen Street and at the intersection of Tarmen and West Main. Another point to watch is Sunrow Street, as children emerge from Circle Drive.

Please drive carefully and watch for school children.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

For two weeks in early August, the United States put on a grand show that reflected not only the skill of our athletes but also the patriotism of our people. It is pretty obvious that I am talking about the Olympics held in Los Angeles.

Though preparations for the games were marred by a pullout of the athletes representing the Soviet Union and many of its satellite countries, the competition in the various events was not the least bit lessened by their absence. The United States, as well as the many other nations who participated, performed admirably as was expected.

Maybe more importantly, the success of our Olympic team was matched only by the depth of the support and enthusiasm of our people. From our success in athletics to the unexpected victory in cycling, Americans felt a real sense of pride in what our athletes were accomplishing. It was obvious that some degree of the feeling of triumph came from the long wait since the United States last participated in the events of the Summer Olympics.

Though it was not a major point, American athletes have not competed in the events of the Summer Olympics since 1976. Ironically, some of the athletes that participated this year also participated eight years ago.

But probably the greatest source of American pride was the fact that these Olympic Games were being held here, in our country. They gave us an opportunity to show off the richness of our nation and the patriotism of our people as no other international event can provide. From the days of a couple of months ago when runners began carrying the Olympic torch across the country until the last medal was awarded at the games, Americans grabbed the opportunity to put ourselves and our country on display.

While we were reveling in our own success and putting our best foot forward for the rest of the world, there was another factor that many people overlooked. That was the obvious deep sense of pride in just being an American that most of us felt as we watched our athletes strain to their last ounce of endurance and compete to their last bit of determination for their country. It was indeed a time of national pride both in ourselves and in those young men and women who had worked so hard so that they might represent this country in international competition.

There was indeed something magical about watching them and those thousands of others who competed just as determinedly for their country. Their success or failure is readily apparent, but whether they succeed or fail does not over shadow the long hours of training that they put into their event. They were competing with the best of the world can offer and it was that sense of accomplishment that became so obvious as the competition wore on.

As Americans, we can all look back upon our participation and our hosting of this Summer Olympics and feel great pride in our athletes and in the greatness of our country. That is true not only because of our Olympic success but because of all the freedoms we cherish in our great nation.

Lilley Retiring

R. V. LILLEY, president of Gates Banking & Trust Co., since January, 1948, told bank directors Aug. 21st that he intends to retire on or before Jan. 15th, selling controlling interest in the bank to Warren Nunn, president of Bank of Halls. He plans to remain on the board of directors.

He expressed his appreciation to past and present directors for their help in the growth of the bank. He named deceased directors, S. T. Humphreys, W. J. Humphreys, A. E. Scott, W. A. Sanford, R. J. Moore, L. W. Pearson, S. B. Hill, T. G. Avery, D. J. Conyers, Joe Sumrow, Lon Vlar, Jesse Bradshaw, E. C. Parker Sr., and Cecil P. Humphreys. Present directors are E. M. Archer, John M. Cherry, Jewell R. English, Paul Henderson, Jr., Wilder Pearson, E. M. Steelman, Jr., Jimmy E. Taylor, Bobby Vaughn, and Lilley.

He pointed out that since 1940, stock-holders have received cash dividends of $479,500 and stock dividends of $187,500.

Lilley, 77, was born in the Perry's Schoolhouse area of Crockett County. He was graduated from Crockett High School in Maury City and attended West Tennessee State Teachers College in Memphis, now Memphis State University, before accepting a teaching job in Elmore Schoolhouse in Crockett County.

He taught at Nance's Schoolhouse, near Alamo. In 1929, he joined the old Peoples Saving Bank, of Halls, as a bookkeeper and moved to the Bank of Halls when the two banks merged in 1931. In January, 1940, he was offered the position of cashier of Gates Banking & Trust Co. He accepted the offer Feb. 10, 1940, when the bank had one other employee, Ebbie Lee (Mrs. Emmett) Parker, Jr.

"The first job that Ebbie Lee and I did at the bank was mop the floor," he says. "We couldn't afford a janitor. There would have been no way I could have made it without her help."

When he became cashier in 1940. The institution had total assets of $139,000. Total assets as of June 30, 1984, were in excess of $14,000,000.

At the time of his retirement, Lilley will have completed 56 years in the banking profession and 45 years with Gates Banking & Trust Co. In 1980, he was honored by state Senate for his 45 years of service with the bank.

He and the former Bessie Goodwin, of Maury City, were married May 3, 1929. They have one son, Loy, of Chattanooga, and three grandchildren.

Lilley has been active in the Gates Church of Christ and enjoys fishing when time permits, but most of his interest has been with his family and the bank.

MANY FORMER MEMBERS attended in the afternoon. Mrs. Dorothy Baker home-coming at Lebanon United Methodist Church Aug. 19th. They and Mrs. Elford Baker, of Halls, was entertained at a pot luck dinner and singing special speaker for the annual affair.

ED JONES
8th DISTRICT of TENNESSEE
REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Just prior to adjourning for the Labor Day Recess, the House took the opportunity to pass yet another piece of legislation aimed at making improvements in our system of education. This has been among the top items on legislative agendas all over this country for the past two years. State Legislatures, including our own Tennessee General Assembly, have passed varying legislation to improve their own state school systems. On the federal level, legislation has been adopted to improve math and science education, and reauthorize various federal educational grant programs.

So, the House passed a bill to establish a four year experimental program aimed at attracting the brightest high school seniors into the teaching profession and also help retain teachers who have demonstrated outstanding talent in their profession. In the scholarship program, high school students who are rated in the top 10% of their classes would be eligible for college scholarships. Those scholarships would be limited to $5,000 per student per year. In return, those students would be required to work toward a degree that would qualify them to teach and then actually teach for two years for each year of assistance they received. If they did not teach, they would be required to pay back the scholarship funds.

salaries for the year, after which they would return to their duties in the classroom. These kinds of programs, in combination with the improvements being made at the state and local levels, should be very helpful in the effort to meet the educational challenges that lie before us. The big difference in these programs is that the federal government is undertaking an endeavor that has not been specifically addressed, that being, the concerted effort to recruit the best students we can find for the teaching profession. Unfortunately, the pay for teachers has been one of the reasons that some of the top 10% of their high school classes have been automatically lost to other professions. There just have not been the economic incentives on the front end or during one's career to entice young people to get into teaching. This pilot program is designed to address that problem. It is designed to award later career development programs, would provide some of the added financial incentives necessary to draw these kinds of young people into teaching as a profession, and keep them in it.

"A BRIEF HISTORY OF GATES BANKING AND TRUST COMPANY" SUBMITTED TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS BY R. V. LILLEY IN HONOR OF MR. W. J. HUMPHREYS.

IN THE YEAR 1904
In the early years of this 20th century, in which two of the most destructive wars known to man, both in life and property have been concluded, and in which we now launch upon a new era of atomic energy, a group of farmers, and professional men, in and near the Town of Gates in West Tennessee, decided to organize a bank for their convenience, and for the interest of the surrounding country. Sometime in the early months of the year 1904 this group of men called a meeting to formally begin this organization. The minutes of the bank does not reveal the place of this meeting, but the date was set for May 14, 1904. At this meeting the late Dr. J. R. Conyers of Gates was selected to act as chairman, and J. B. Lee, Sr. as Secretary. Some forty or fifty men subscribed for stock, the number of which indicates the desire and need of a bank, and the present subscribed for the 750 shares at $50. a share thereby completing a capitalization of the present Capital of $12,500.00.

After the stock was subscribed, a committee was appointed by the chairman consisting of three men, namely, R. B. Bell, R. W. Tanner and D. H. Cherry, to select and submit for approval the officers and directors of the proposed organization, and to take care of the affairs after the completion of the organization. Their selection being approved by vote, the following were named for officers:
Dr. J. R. Conyers, President
R. B. Bell, Vice-President
J. E. McColpin, Cashier

Directors:
Dr. J. R. Conyers
D. H. Cherry
W. J. Robertson
W. D. Parker

It was then moved and carried that the new bank be named GATES BANKING AND TRUST COMPANY, and that five of the officers elected file application for Charter under the Laws of the State of Tennessee, and that the same after being granted be put into operation on September 1, 1904, or as soon thereafter as possible.

On August 19, 1904, a deed was given to the present lot by John Tomlinson for the consideration of $50.00, and it is reported by what the writer considers a reliable source, that at this time a contract was given Mr. R. J. Moore to erect the present building at a cost of approximately $2,500.00. Mr. Moore burned the brick from clay obtained in the nearby hill, and proceeded with the actual construction, however it was not completed in time to open on September 1, 1904, as previously requested, and that an additional month was required to finish the job. Mr. Bacon also states that the fixtures now used were made by hand, and installed in the present building, although some changes have been made since, the majority portion now remain good and in keeping with any country bank equipment.

The directors announced the opening date as October 1, 1904, and also offered a reward of a Stetson hat to the first depositor leaving on account an amount of $500.00 or more, which was claimed by the late Mr. C. S. Whitaker, who had recently sold a farm and had received payment on that date in the amount of $1,600.00.

There is very little information revealed by the minutes of the bank on the progress in the early years up to 1912, and at that time the Financial Statement shows resources of about $72 thousand. No doubt the officers and directors of the early days of this institution looked far into the future, and planned an organization that rightfully is and we hope continues to be a credit to the community it serves and to the banking system of this nation. Their untiring efforts should not and do not go unnoticed by the present officers and directors who constantly keep in mind the purposes set forth by these early leaders, and needless to say that if today we would devote the same measure of devotion, time and interest in the bank as they did, greater success could be had in the future.

All the work and interest of our predecessors has not been in vain while serving this community, because a total of 3947 has been paid the stockholders in cash or a total of $49,250.00. This of course represents only one of the values and possibly the least, for untold services have been rendered to the public by both our predecessors and the present officers and directors of the bank.

STATEMENT AT THE CLOSE OF BUSINESS DECEMBER 5, 1945

ASSETS	LIABILITIES
Cash & sight Exchange . . . $336,882.52	Capital $ 12,500.00
U.S. Gov't Bonds & War . . . 202,474.40	Surplus 15,000.00
Bldg., Fur. & Fixtures . . . 1,200.00	Und. Profits 10,078.10
Loans & Discount 91,778.38	Deposits 594,707.20
	$632,285.30

This brief resume is offered at the present board of directors in honor of the present President, Mr. W. J. Humphreys, who has given freely of his time and devotion and for his satisfaction for what it may be worth to the Future Officers and Directors of the Gates Banking and Trust Company.

We who are present would not be unkind if one or two of our directors that have passed away since the present board and officers have been active, and they are Mr. R. J. Moore, who gave his time freely and unselfishly, and primarily all said that the minutes reveal toward the progress of the bank and his community, and Dr. J. R. Conyers, to whom there is little doubt, started the bank through a very critical time in the year 1904, and on whom we here now owe a debt of gratitude that we can only repay by further service to our fellowmen, and by following his footsteps in the support of the bank as an officer and director.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Unexpected Guest

Nell and your editor have been hosts to an unexpected guest for the past ten days, and he apparently plans to make his stay lengthy.

As many of you know, Buddy and Jean have recently moved to Carthage, where Buddy has been named publisher of The Carthage Courier. Housing is very scarce in Carthage, so Buddy and Jean had to settle for an apartment until they can sell their home in La Fayette, Ga., and find another that they want to buy.

Well, pets were not allowed at the apartment, and they had a collie dog and a cat. Weekend before last, Jean brought the cat to Halls, until they can make different arrangements.

The cat, Pluff, is even more nervous than most cats, so he has been having problems adjusting, although he and Nell seem to make it very well. However, he is quiet, and he is not a bit of a mischief maker. Pluff is not our best friend.

The problem seems to be that Pluff has been punished with a newspaper and anyone with a newspaper in their hand is taken to be a threat. Since we have a newspaper in our hand much of the time, Pluff is not our best friend.

While Pluff has presented no real problem, we're thankful that they didn't bring the collie, Ginger, too.

Kind Words Appreciated

Last week we published a letter to the Editor congratulating The Halls Graphic for its 90 years service to the Halls area and your editor for his years as its editor. Through error, the name of the writer was not included.

The letter was written by Daniel W. Cook, of Ashland City, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cook, and brother of Felix Cook, of Halls. Danny is an assistant attorney general in that district.

The letter was signed by Attorney General Atkins and Danny. We appreciate the kind words and apologize for omitting Danny's name.

Not that Easy

One thing we noticed about the Republican convention last week was that the party seems absolutely certain that President Reagan will be re-elected by an overwhelming majority.

We agree that he is leading at this time, but may we remind the party that Thomas Dewey was leading Harry Truman in 1948 by something like the same margin, but Truman was elected.

We would hardly compare Walter Mondale with Mr. Truman, but the election can change in a very short time.

Ingredient Missing

Mrs. Mary C. White, of 1626 South Wenonah, Berwyn, Ill., writes hoping for the "secret ingredient" in the recipe for Tomato-Broccoli Bake published Aug. 16th, which omitted 3 cups tomatoes, peeled, seeded, and chopped. It also specified 3, instead of 2, cups of broccoli.

The correct recipe:

TOMATO-BROCCOLI BAKE

3 cups tomatoes, peeled, seeded, and chopped
4 ounces macaroni
1 medium onion sliced thin
1 clove garlic minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups of chopped fresh or frozen broccoli
1 cup snipped parsley
1/4 cup chicken broth
1/4 teaspoon dried and crushed oregano
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese

Cook pasta in boiling salted water 8 or 10 minutes; drain well. In saucepan cook garlic and onion until tender. Add the tomatoes, parsley, broth, oregano, basil, pepper and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Bring to boil; add broccoli. Cover, simmer 4 minutes. Add pasta to tomato mixture. Turn into a 9 x 9 x 2 baking dish. Bake, covered, in a 375 degree oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake uncovered 5 minutes more.
Serves 6 or 8.

Sencore Halts Wheat Weeds

By Charles T. Peal
The Environmental Protection Agency has accepted Sencore 4 and Sencore 75% DF to control certain Green weeds in non-irrigated winter wheat in Tennessee—little barley, cheat, common chickweed, Carolina geranium, henbit, lamb's quarters, wild mustard, pigweed, and Italian ryegrass.

Sencore can be used on the fine soils in this area's river bottoms.

Jack Crutcher, of Ripley, controlled cheat in 1983-84 wheat with Hoelon.

High Yields Take Care
High yields were common for 1984 wheat, but most producers know that higher yields don't come easily, in spite of new varieties and heavy doses of nitrogen.

A level, firm seedbed with a pH ranging from 6.5-7.0 will grow a uniform stand.

Seed Hesian Fly resistant varieties from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1 for best winter survival and top grain yields without grazing. Do not plant Hesian Fly susceptible varieties until after the fly-free date of Oct. 15th.

Seeding to a depth of one to one and a half inches is important to obtain a uniform stand and place the plant's growing point deeper in the soil, making a good root system more able to withstand the winter and improve its standability next spring.

Phosphorus and potash needed for early development can be added at or before seeding. University of Tennessee recommendations for medium fertility are 60 pounds of phosphate and 90 pounds of potash, when small grain is followed by soybeans.

Nitrogen shouldn't be thrown at the crop. Fields with recent history of heavy nitrogen fertilization should receive little or none at seeding. A general recommendation is 15 to 30 pounds at seeding, followed by 30 to 60 pounds Feb. 15-March 15th.

Auburn, Caldwell, Coker 747 and 916, Hart, Pioneer Brand S76, Pioneer Brand 2550, and Tyler are recommended by the University of Tennessee as early varieties. Filmore, a recent wheat which is considered a late variety, is also recommended by U. T. as a 1984 planting.

Aid For Milo Harvest
Sodium chlorate was employed by George Meadows and other farmers last year to dry 1983 sorghum, for earlier harvest.

With more milo in the county this year, many producers will be looking at this. The grain sorghum needs to be with 7 to 10 days of harvest. The material is not applied on the basis of moisture level.

To test for dryness before spring, bite seed between teeth. If the sorghum is clearly out of the dough stage and cracks, then it can be safely sprayed.

The sodium chlorate handled by local stores contains three pounds per gallon of active material. With this material, a two gallon rate should be used if the sorghum is tall and green and the ground moisture (warm and hot). The one and a half gallon rate is used if the top leaves are turning.

By air, five gallons of water should be used per acre, and with ground equipment, 20 to 30 gallons of water per acre.

Tennessee's Air Show Spectacular

planes to contemporary aircraft—including the C-5A, in-trade of any fighter or attack pilot performing tactical maneuvers. However, in combat these tactics might be executed at 60,000 feet, while here all maneuvers are at eye level.

The Blue Angel's calling the world's biggest airplane—a futuristic jet lined with ultra-sophisticated equipment will be shown. In addition, there will be unusual home-builts, antiques and classics, experimental, helicopters, prototypes, ultralights, warbirds and even "star war" type planes on display with qualified personnel explaining their capabilities and operations.

Overhead, a continuous stream of aviation superstars perform in the sky all afternoon. Heading the list are the United States Navy Flight Demonstration Squadron, the Blue Angels. Distinguished for their flawless display of precision maneuvers, these six flying acrobats put on a breathtaking and extremely artistic 60-minute program.

None of these maneuvers are stunts or daring feats, but rather part of the stock-in-trade of the diamond formation, epitomizes the beauty and grace that can be achieved through exact timing and precision in formation flying. In this routine, all six jets blaze across the sky at approximately 500 m.p.h.—yet remain only an arm's length from each other. Total concentration is a must, for in the formation pilots actually fly by "feet" instead of computer.

The Golden Knights, the official U.S. Army Parachute team, will put on a show equal to their world famous reputation. All 12 of the jumpers in the show will demonstrate the high altitude aerobic expertise that has set new records than any other parachute team in history.

Their 45-minute show begins over two miles high when two jumpers leap from the planes with bright red smoke trailing from canisters attached to their boots. Shooting towards earth at 120 m.p.h. they steer to each other and eventually dock

Once together, they create a human propeller spinning through the sky for a full minute, causing the red smoke to swirl into a several thousand foot-long candy pole.

Earl and Paula Cherry are a husband and wife team of modern day barnstormers. Splashing across the sky in a red, white and blue checkered "Super Stearman," they show off stunt flying at its best. Routines include loops, low rolls, Cuban Eights (looks like a horizontal figure eight) and Paula even demonstrates the daredevil exploit of wingwalking on the top wing of their 1943 plane.

Another professional, Bob Bishop, displays his high energy aerobics in the Coors Light Silver Bullet jet, the world's smallest jet. Standing just four feet tall and 12 feet long, this tiny flying machine allows tremendous versatility by zooming straight up or down and even flies backward. Bishop's show is choreographed to music, and he also provides live commentary from the cockpit to the audience.

Two Tennesseans will also part of Tennessee Aviation Days festivities. Ray Williams has flown in unlimited competition since 1978 and will perform outstanding aerial feats in a Super Pitts Special. John Baugh, president of the Warbirds of America (World War II Aircraft Association) will demonstrate tactical techniques utilizing Second World War military aircraft.

Other featured entertainers include Tom Boswell, who offers a surprise-packed 20-minute comedy segment in the oldest airplane performing an aerobiotic routine on the airshow circuit. Byrd Moples, who acquired the nickname "The Flying Mayor" while actually serving the city of Milton, Florida, demonstrates Waldo Pepper loops and the inverted ribbon cut—the latter stunt being executed less than 50 feet off the ground. Also, members of the Knapp Flying Service Freefall Exhibition Team will feature the latest in skydiving maneuvers and equipment.

Gates open at 10:00 a.m. each morning, with main flying acts beginning about noon and lasting until 5:00 p.m. Cost is $5 for adults

A student writes... and is answered with scholarships

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — A student's letter to the editor of The Los Angeles Times, asking for help in paying for college, has inspired a number of generous donors to provide scholarships for students in need.

The student, a young woman from a low-income background, wrote that she was struggling to pay for her education and was looking for any way to help. Her letter was published in the newspaper, and it quickly caught the attention of many readers.

In response, several individuals and organizations have offered to provide financial assistance to the student. These scholarships will help her complete her education and pursue her dreams.
