HALLS, TENNESSEE, DECEMBER 6, 1984

VOLUME 87—NUMBER 49

TEARS FELL as Phil Hastings, on crutches, and Sammy Burnette (16), in upper photo, realized their year as Halls Tiger team-mates ended as the Tigers were eliminated Friday from the Class A play-offs at Evangelical Christian School in Cordova. Hastings, sidelined with a broken ankle in the Old Hickory Academy game, saw no action in the Columbia Academy or ECS games.

Title Holders Blitz Halls Tigers, 41-0

As predicted, Cordova's Evangelical Christian School and the Gordonsville Tigers, of Smith County, will meet at noon Saturday in Vanderbilt Stadium in Nashville for the state Class A football championship.

The same teams met in 1983 with the ECS Eagles winning 15-7.

Gordonsville moved to the finals with a 12-0 win over Copper Basin. ECS reached the finals with a 41-0 wipe-out of the Halls Tigers on ECS turf.

The Class AA championship game pits Marion County against Marshall County at 3:30 p. m. on the same field. Hamilton High, of Shelby County, will face Murfreesboro Oakland for the AAA championship at 7:30 p. m.

The Tiger Cinderella-story drive for the state championship came to a screaming halt Friday as ECS dominated the game.

The Tigers, who have not played well away from home, seemed anxious to self-destruct. They fumbled the opening kick-off to give the Eagles their first scoring opportunity and then mishandled the second kick-off and were forced to fall on the ball on their 4-yard line.

After the first fumble the Tigers sacked Eagle quarterback Steve Heinz on his first play, but faced with third and 19 at the Tiger 35, Heinz completed an Alley-Oop pass to Tim Johnson at the nine. On fourth and one, Heinz dived into the end zone.

As the Tiger offense continued to sputter, big and experienced ESC added three more touchdowns in the first half and scored in each of the last two quarters.

The Tigers had only two first downs, with 52 yards total offense. ECS had 14 first downs, 249 yards rushing, and 80 yards passing.

Tiger quarterback Sammy Burnette completed three of 11 passes and had one intercepted, for a net gain of seven yards.

Chris Dennis led Tiger rushers with 53 yards on 11 attempts.

Chris Dennis and Kelvin Robinson led Tiger defenders with 10 stops each. John Arwood had eight, Dickie Deaton seven, and Keith Barlow six.

The Tigers completed the season 9-4 and reached the Class A semi-finals, though they had not been given much chance to do well this year. Both ECS and Gordonsville are 13-0.

ART EXHIBIT HERE

Halls, Ripley, and Munford High School art classes will exhibit their work from 1-5 p. m. Saturday and Sunday in Ripley High School.

Halls Basketball

Halls High School's basketball teams visit Bradford Friday and Tuesday seek to avenge the Tigers' only loss of the season as they host Crockett County.

The Tigers went to 3-1 last week with two wins from Dyer County, 67-62, and Lake County, 76-69.

Reginald Foster canned 20 points, Rodney Foster hit for 17, and Alfonso Abernathy and Terry Parish each added 14 against Dyer County. Jeff Evans led Dyer County with 14. The Tigers led 36-23 at half-time.

Hosting Lake, Abernathy led Halls with 26 points. Others in double figures were Reginald Foster, with 16, and Andre Wells, with 14. Joe March had 22 and Greg Ross 16 for Lake County.

The Lady Tigers lost to Dyer County 63-20 and to Lake County 59-25, to stand 0-1.

Shantell Malone and Victoria Claybrook each had five points at Dyer County. Rhonda Hines had six and Doris Halliburton and Kiki Hurt five each against Lake County.

A Chance To Help

Once again, Christmas baskets will be distributed in Halls to the needy, the elderly, and shut-ins, and with them comes an opportunity for all of us to help.

Police Chief Buddy Moore has asked for donations of canned goods to be included in the baskets and arranged for donations to be left at the police station.

As a part of your Christmas, why not help make a Happy Christmas possible for the less fortunate by contributing food to be placed in the baskets? One can or a dozen will be welcomed!

Also Helping

While we do not know the details as this is being written, Marvin Searce has informed this newspaper that the Halls Jaycees also plan to distribute baskets.

Also, we were happy to learn that the Jaycees plan to revive the Christmas outdoor decoration contest this year. Details of both programs may be found elsewhere in this issue of The Halls Graphic.

Should Be Proud

We can readily understand why the Halls Tiger players and their coaches are unhappy after the loss at ECS Friday night, but they still have a great deal to be proud of this season.

They have accomplished several things which they should always remember. They are the first Tiger team to win a state play-off game and are, of course, the only Tiger team to reach the state play-off semi-finals. We congratulate them!!

The Tigers should begin now looking forward to next year. Despite the loss of some key players, the Tigers have the nucleus of a fine football team in 1985 and should set their goals now for an even better record.

Jaycees Spur Trim, Slate Yule Baskets

Halls Jaycees offer prizes for Christmas decoration of homes and businesses in Halls, Gates, and surrounding area.

Judging will be in four categories: door, window, yard, and overall for homes and window decoration for businesses.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded in each category.

You may register in any or all categories by 5 p. m. Dec. 20th; call 836-5232 or 836-9233.

Jaycees also ask help for Christmas baskets—money, canned goods, or other non-perishable food. Information from City Hall, 836-9653, or Marvin Searce, 836-5232 or 836-9233.

Memphis, spent Sunday with the Smiths.

The Rhea Freemans had lunch with the Dana Freemans in Ripley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hudson, of Blytheville, Ark., visited the Roy Harrisons, Mabel Harrison and the Ward Hardys Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Erle Kissell and children, Shelly and Shawn, of Dry Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Garland Kissell and sons, Corey and Darin, of Woodville, had dinner with the Ithmer Kissells Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Harrison and daughter, Kelly, accompanied Lucy Robison, of Ripley, and Mrs. Howard Jacobs and baby, Amber, to Dyersburg Saturday to shop.

The Garland Kissells, of Woodville, and the Erle Kissells, of Dry Hill, had Sunday dinner with the Ithmer Kissells.

Mike Smith, of Ripley, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jones, of Walnut Grove, to church services here Sunday.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Kincaid Voice Studio's will present a musical variety show, "The Holiday Season," in Winter Garden Theatre in Bells at 8 p.m. Dec. 7th and 8th and 3 p.m. Dec. 9th ($4).

Halls students performing are Hannah Callender, Greg Criffield, and Amy and Rebecca Stolarick.

Ripley students are Laura Best, Lackey Bevis, Andy and Lucy Fullen, Ashley Lowe, and Amy Morris.

UNION SERVICE

Halls Westside Baptist Church will host the city's annual union Christmas service at 6 p. m. Sunday.

The Rev. Truman Spurgin, pastor of Halls First Baptist Church, will be the speaker.

Westside Baptist will be in charge of the music.

John Stallings Wins Diploma

Dr. John Morris Stallings, of Dyersburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stallings, of Halls, has been named a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice after having passed its certification examination.

To qualify, a physician must have successfully completed three years of residency training in family practice and be recertified every six years.

The latest group of diplomates brings the total number certified to more than 29,000.

Most are members of the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors.

President

ROBIN LEMONS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robin Lemons, of Halls, has been elected president of Kappa Delta social sorority at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro. She was membership chairman for 1984. She is a junior, majoring in chemistry.

Councilor

JANE BREWER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brewer, of Route 1, Halls, has been named to the Undergraduate Alumni Council of the University of Tennessee in Martin, where she is a senior marketing merchandising major.

"Distance is a great promoter of admiration."

gratulating the winner are assistant band director Deanna Seigler, left, and band director Bobby Webb, right. The ticket was found and returned by Cecil Rickman, of Selmer, but the Booster Club has not been able to locate him to receive his $20 for returning the card.

JOYCE SHATLEY, center, was crowned 'Miss Merry Christmas 1984' in a revue in Halls Junior High School Nov. 24th. Her attendants are, from left, Debbie Fitzhugh, Most Photogenic, Tammy Clark, third maid.

Leanne Viar, first maid, and Tracy Kee, second maid. Miss Anne Hurt, 'Miss Merry Christmas 1983,' crowned the new queen. The pageant was sponsored by the Halls High School Student Council.

Readers Speak

Editor:
 I am sitting here thinking about our football team this year. Coach Pugh and his staff are to be congratulated for a good football season.
 This group of boys started this year with doubt from their fans that they would have a very mediocre season at the best.
 Their first loss left us all with worry about our team, but week by week, they began to improve, until, about mid-season, they emerged as a good football team.

 They went on to go further in the state play-offs than any Halls team has ever gone before.
 Probably, if you rate this team with other great Halls football teams, talent-wise, they were not as strong, but in desire and the will to want to succeed, they rate second to no one.
 The one-for-all attitude these young men displayed was great to sit back and watch.

 I know that each and every one of these young men will succeed in life because of things that Coach Andy Pugh has taught them about winning and working together will apply in all things that they will do for the rest of their lives.
 I take my hat off to these young men and say "Thanks for the memories."

We would like to introduce you to the only trucks in America backed for 5-year/50,000 miles. For 1985, every domestic built Dodge truck is protected for up to five years or 50,000 miles against major repair bills should a covered power train component fail. Chrysler has made the promise to back every Dodge built for five years or 50,000 miles on engine, drive train, and outer body rust-through. Nobody else has made that promise. All domestic Chrysler cars carry this warranty, too.

If you present this card to us, when you purchase or order a 1985 Dodge truck by Dec. 31, 1984, we will give you the 5/50 added coverage plan, free, which retails for $175.

THE HALLS GRAPHIC

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

HALLS, TENNESSEE, DECEMBER 13, 1984

Conrad, and Carol Arwood. The band won first place in Class A and first place overall and was given a miniature Corvette to be sold to raise money for new band uniforms. The Corvette has not yet been delivered.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

A Reminder

Already, many attractive outdoor Christmas decorations are being displayed in and around Halls. During the past few years, we have missed the exterior displays and are happy that once again many home owners are spending time in having attractive displays.

Also, we are pleased that Halls Jaycees are offering ribbons for the most attractive decorations. However, you must remember to call 836-5232 or 836-9233 by 5 p. m. Dec. 20th, if you wish your decorations to be included in the judging. Halls, Gates, and surrounding area are included.

Incidentally, remember that the Jaycees will distribute Christmas baskets, and they will appreciate your support with money or food. This would be a fine Christmas gift to some needy family!

Deserves Support

The Halls High Distributive Education Club is supporting a nation-wide group of high school students in their fight to discourage drunken driving.

Three years ago, a group of teenagers in Massachusetts formed SADD, "Students Against Driving Drunk," with the idea of helping one another and enlisting parents to control driving while drinking.

Since that time the idea has spread nation-wide. We are so impressed with the youngsters and their crusade that elsewhere in this issue we are re-producing the contract between parents and sons and daughters which each member is asked to sign.

While it is hoped we do not have as great a problem in Halls as exists in some areas, certainly every parent should be willing to support this program. It might save your teen-age son or daughter from death or serious injury.

High Army Bench Admits Maj. Cook

Daniel W. Cook, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cook, of Halls, and brother of Felix Cook, of Halls, has been admitted and to practice law before the U. S. Army Court of Military Review in Washington, D.C.

He has been assistant district attorney general for the 23rd Judicial District, which includes Chestnut, Houston, Dickson, Humphreys, and Stewart Counties, since 1976.

A major in the Tenn. Army National Guard, he was selected for this honor based upon his background, experience, military and civilian credentials.

He was flown to Washington for the ceremonies, visited the Pentagon, and arranged for two members of his military legal section to become admitted to appropriate military courts. The Army has certified Major

Cook as competent to perform as counsel before military courts-martial.

He was admitted to practice before the U. S. Court of Military Appeals in Washington, D.C., in June, 1980, and the U. S. Supreme Court, in October, 1979.

Admission to the Court of Military Review completes all trial and appellate level admissions possible as a military lawyer.

The Major holds of the Army Commendation Medal with 1st Oak Leaf Cluster, the Army Achievement Medal, the Individual Achievement Ribbon, the Army Reserve Component Achievement Medal with 2 Oak Leaf Clusters, the Army Service Ribbon, the Tenn. Army National Guard Commendation Ribbon, the Tenn. Army National Guard Service Ribbon, the Tenn. Army National Guard Volunteer Ribbon, the National Defense Ribbon, and the Army Recruiting and Retention Medal.

Produce Growers Add Gassing Unit

By Charles T. Peal

To help market Lauderdale County tomatoes, the Produce Growers co-operative is adding three gassing rooms to its plant in Ripley's North Industrial Park, while roofing the part of its grading machine which has been outside.

Green Scene Three gassing rooms will enable the co-op to fully gas tomatoes. In past seasons, the carbon dioxide gas was applied en route to markets, and tomatoes weren't always ready on arrival (72 hours gas required).

The modern market demands this type of preparation.

The product does not have the good taste that a tomato picked in the pink stage would have, but the thin walls of these varieties do not lend them to much shelf life.

The varieties used for gassing are so thick-walled and hard that they will last a month without refrigeration.

The co-op now has 30 members, planning to pack 120,000 or more boxes in the 1985 season.

Future plans include marketing other vegetables, such as broccoli, cabbage, eggplant, pepper, and squash.

Tomato producers have had two low production years.

In 1983, dry weather cut yields—in 1984, wet weather.

The co-op was fortunate to have an experienced manager and broker.

The opportunity for growers is here.

An example occurred this summer: the broker had sold a load of tomatoes to a wholesaler near Boston, who liked them and called to order ten loads.

Since the Ripley plant could only pack two loads that day, he bought eight loads elsewhere, to hold his market.

Knowing the "Lauderdale County Tomato Is The Best," this co-op can offer those who wish to grow labor intensive crops real benefits in marketing.

Collins, Criner Keep Learning

Douglas Collins, county highway commissioner, and Nolan Criner, county register, were among 127 county office-holders and deputies in the second group completing the initial phase of the University of Tennessee's Certificate Training Program.

The group brings to 237 the officials from 70 of the state's 95 counties who have completed at least 36 hours of training by UT.

Two From County All-Westate Picks

Chris Dennis, of Halls, and Travis Nipp, of Ripley, were chosen by The Jackson Sun, consulting area coaches, for its defensive unit of an All-West Tenn. team.

Students Battle Drunk Driving

Last Tuesday evening, the Halls Doctor Chapter joined President Reagan in trying to raise an awareness of drunk driving.

Dec. 9-15th has been declared "National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week," and Halls DECA kicked off the week with a "Candlelight Walk for Life." Forty DECA students with candles walked from the school to Tigrett and back up Main, with police escort.

After the walk, a chili supper for 115 students and interested parents was held in the high school cafeteria.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Kathy

HODGE TRAINED

Pvt. Timothy S. Hodge, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bragg, of Route 1, Halls, has completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Gray, of Memphis, a member of Mayor Hackett's Task Force on Drunk Driving. She quoted many alarming statistics about teens and drunk driving and explained the Students Against Drunk Driving concept.

A contract developed by SADD was given to parents. Students sign that they will call home if they find themselves in a dangerous situation, and parents agree to wait until the next morning to discuss the issue.

Prior to World War I, dinner jackets were generally regarded as informal wear to be worn only in the absence of ladies.

Pledges

CAROL AVERY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Avery Jr., of Halls, has pledged Chi Omega at Union University in Jackson, where she is majoring in English. She is a 1984 graduate of Halls High School.

Halls Cagers Visit Sharon

The Halls High Tigers, now 4-1, were looking forward to hosting Crockett County, the only team to beat them this season, Tuesday of last week, and Halls was leading near the middle of the third quarter when Tiger all-state candidate Alfonso Abernathy was forced to leave the game with an ankle injury. Crockett County went on to an easy 19-point win.

Abernathy dropped in 16 points for the Tigers Friday as they won 68-63 in Bradford.

Terry Parish had 15, Rodney Foster 14, Marshall Davis 11, Reginald Foster eight, Andre Wells three, and Joe Patrick one. Halls led 26-20 at halftime.

Rodney Jones, of Bradford, led all scorers with 26. Scott Creasy added 19.

Halls girls fell to 0-5 after a 69-25 loss in Bradford, but though young and inexperienced, they continued to show improvement.

Rhonda Hines led Halls girls with six points. Doris Halliburton had five.

Halls teams play at Sharon Friday and host Greenfield Tuesday to close pre-Christmas play.

Christmas Concert Set By Halls Bands

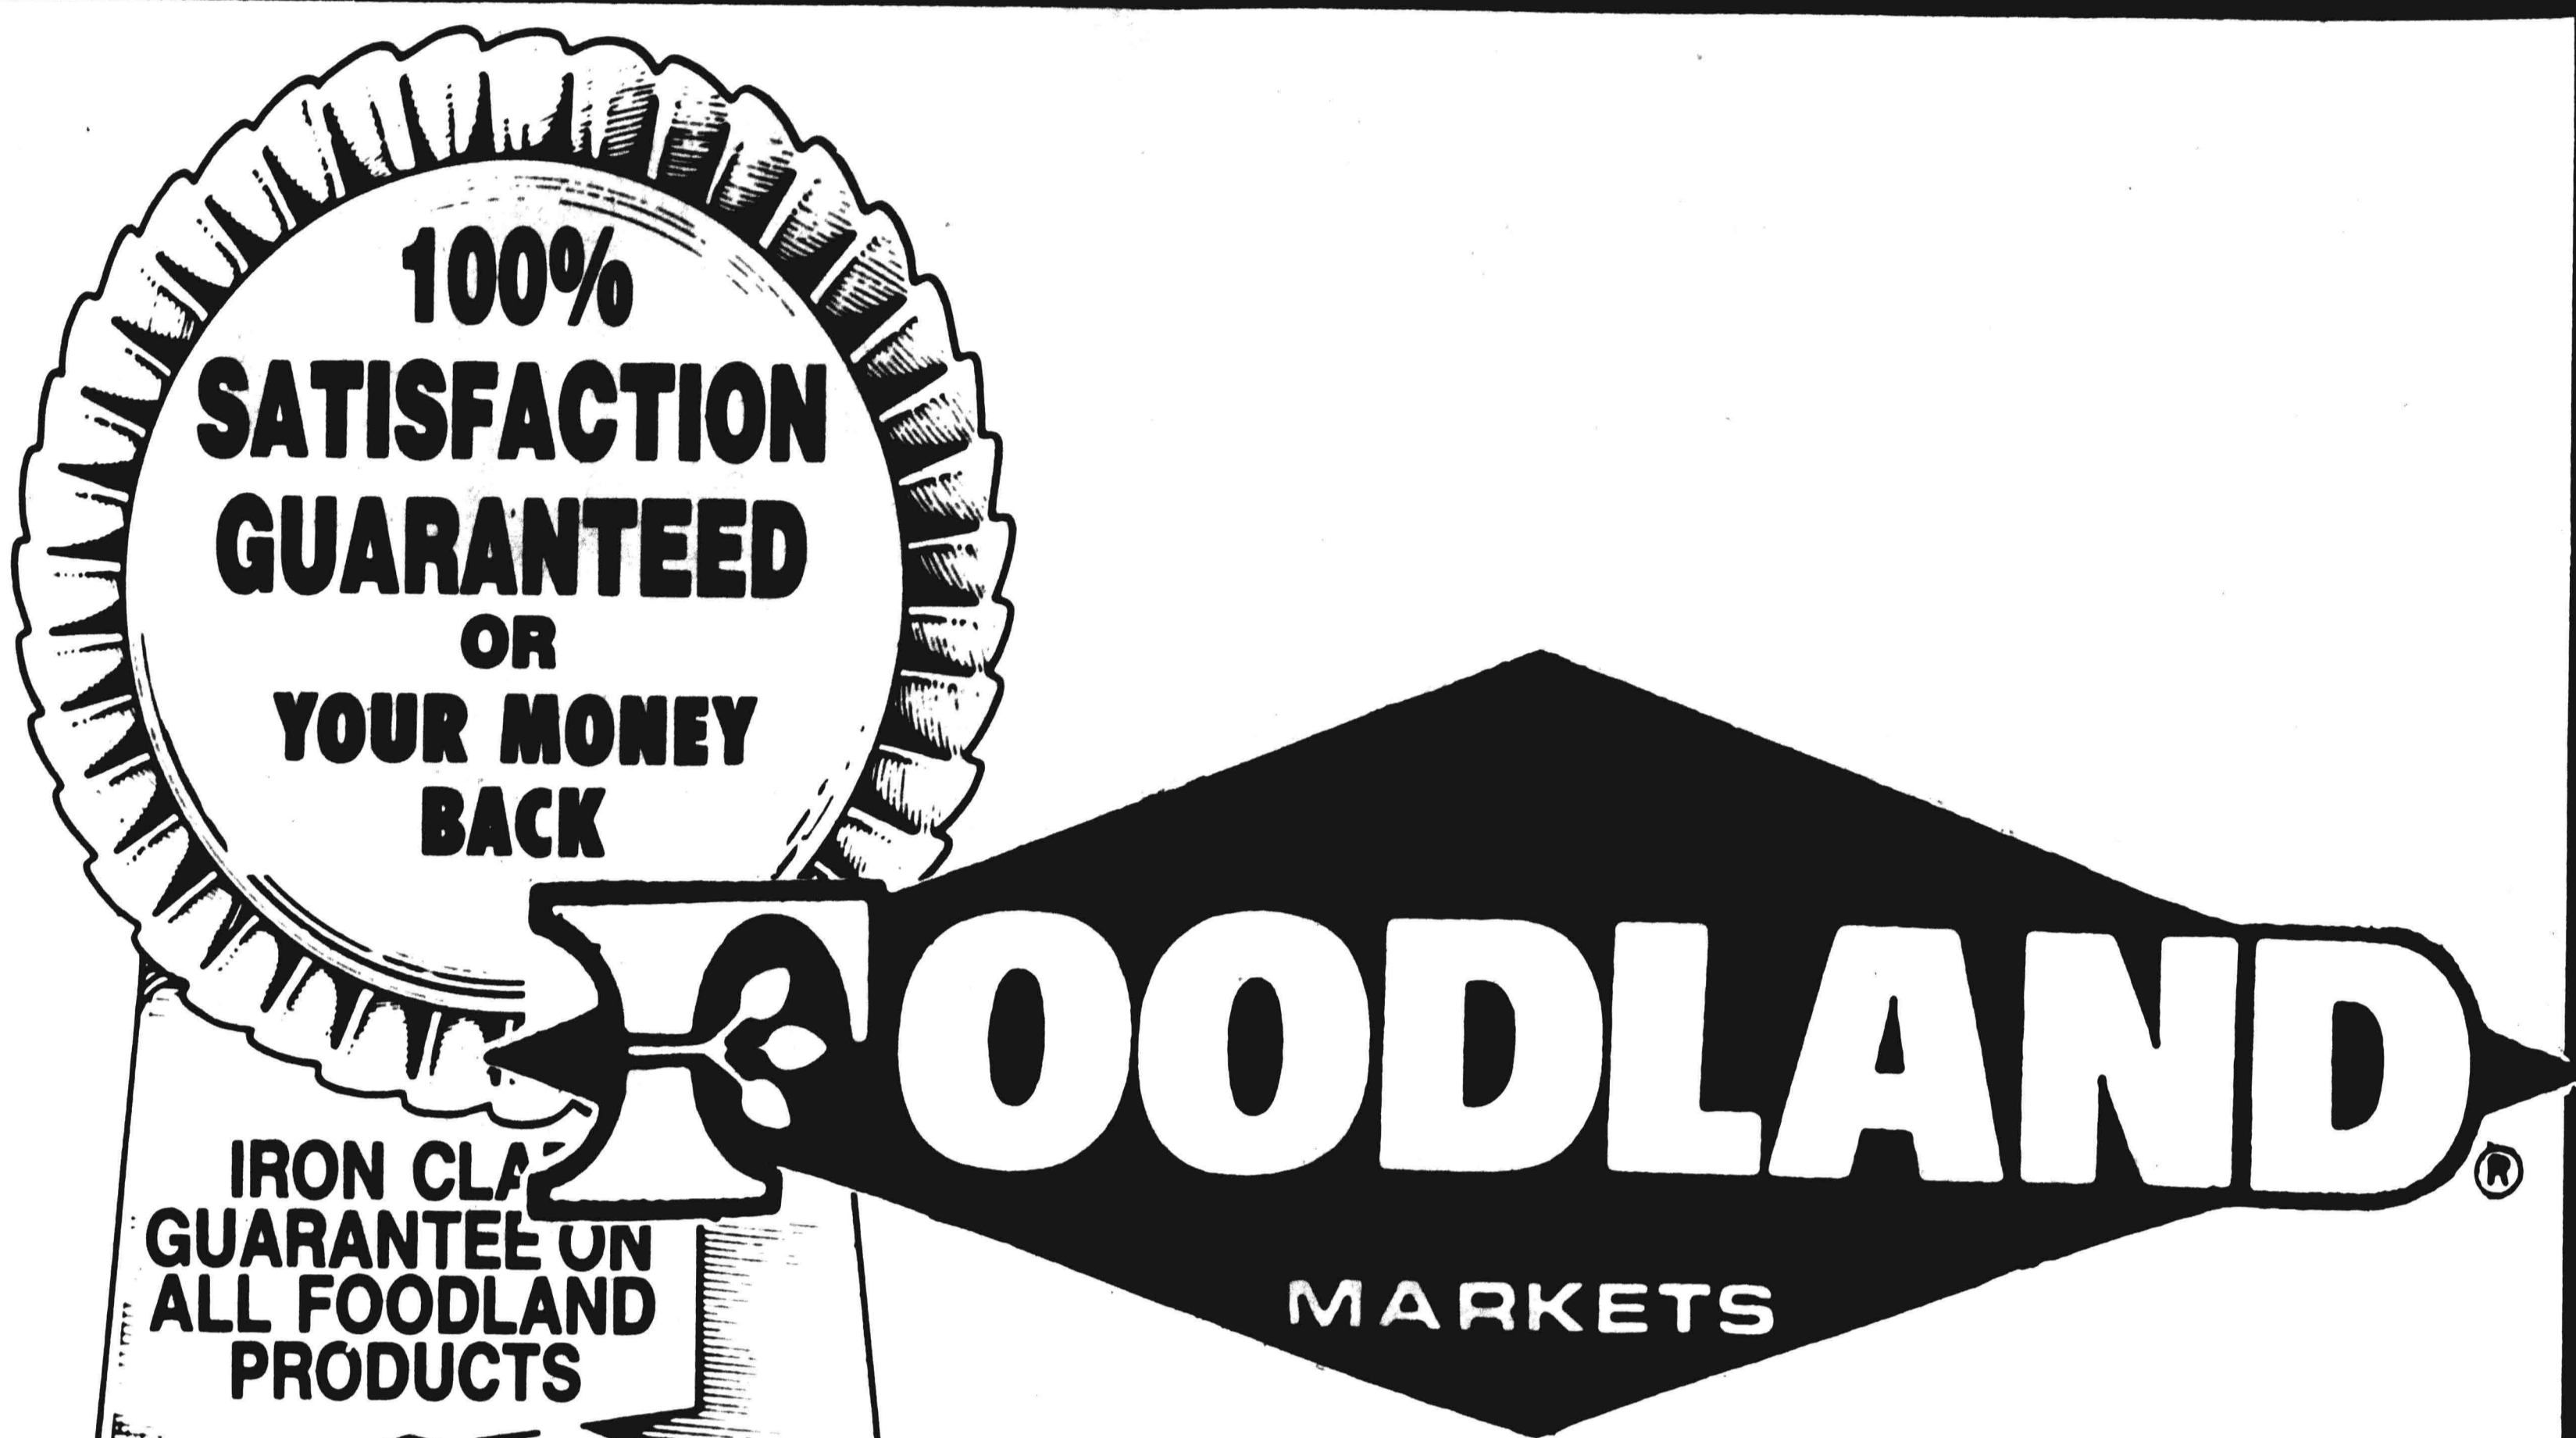

Directors Bobby Webb and Deanna Seigler will present Halls Schools bands in a Christmas concert at 7 p. m. Dec. 17th in the Halls Junior High School auditorium, admission $1.

Performing will be the Beginners Band (6th and 7th grades), Halls Junior High Band, and the Golden Tiger Marching Band.

man) Cribfield, Dona Robison, Genevieve Buck (?); in third row, Hoffa Sullivan, Perry Chisholm, Ezell Hamil, Leonard Scallions, W. B. Voss, Carlton Wilkes; rear, Alfred 'Ham' Conyers, unidentified, Leon Whitaker, Collins Graves, James Wilkes, Joe Conyers, and James Thurmond. Fourteen class members and The Rev. Mr. Baldrige are deceased.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Last week was organizing week for the 99th Congress. It was the first time that both re-elected and newly elected Members of Congress were together since Election Day. The course of the week's activities were primarily devoted to reviewing House rules, electing both Democratic and Republican leadership, and re-establishing contacts and communications among Members of the House.

One of the interesting developments of the week was a rules proposal that would have potentially important impact on the Congressional budget process. Under current rules, Members of the House Budget Committee are limited to serving three terms on that Committee. Those rules are widely divergent from rules governing other House Committees. On other committees, Members serve as long as they want which leads to seniority and eventually consideration for chairmanships of subcommittees, and even the full committee. That is not possible with the current rules governing the Budget Committee.

Being limited to three terms on the Budget Committee obviously is not conducive to building up seniority on that committee. It does have the advantage of demanding the infusion of new views and fresh ideas into the budget process by getting a mix of new and older committee members. However, it has the disadvantage of losing continuity of leadership on the Committee because even the chairmanship changes as the three term limit is applied. That situation was very apparent this year because Budget Committee Chairman Jim Jones, of Oklahoma, has served three terms on the Committee, two of them as chairman. Furthermore, another member, Leon Panetta, of California, has hoped to run for Budget Committee Chairman but he has also served three terms on the Committee.

In an effort to retain both these men as Members of the Budget Committee, an effort was made to change the rules allowing Members of the Committee to serve more than three terms. That effort was undertaken because both Mr. Jones and Mr. Panetta have worked diligently over the past six years to learn all aspects of the budget and the budget process. Because of that expertise and the energy that these men brought to budget considerations, it was felt by many Members of Congress that they should be allowed to continue their service on the Budget committee. Unfortunately, that effort failed in the sessions held on the rules.

There is another reason that this is an important action this particular year. There is already a good deal of discussion over getting the budget deficit under control. The President and his advisors have been meeting constantly since the election to present a proposal to Congress. Congress, for its part is going to have to consider the President's proposal and develop a sound budget of its own to reassure the American public that action is going to be taken to alleviate this severe problem.

Those actions require expertise and the leadership of Members who got that experience and displayed leadership in previous budget sessions. This is going to be a big year on budget matters and all the expertise Congress collectively can find is going to be necessary to deal with the problem.

Church Vows Pledged

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE IVEY III were married Oct 26th in Brentwood Baptist Church in Nashville. Dr. Paul Williams, father of the bride, officiated.

The bride, Paulette, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Williams, of Louisville, Ky., and the granddaughter of Mrs. W. G. Neely, and the late Mr. Neely, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. John M. Williams, all of Halls. Mr. Ivey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Ivey, of Atlanta, Ga.

Music was provided by Bob Hollingshead, organist. Kathy Gardner, of Memphis, Ginger Haller, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mary Ann Hollingshead, of Nashville, were soloists.

The bride wore a ivory gown with a Queen Anne neckline, defined with peau d'ange lace and pearls. The natural waistline came into a laced V, featuring intricate patterns of pearls. The Juliet sleeves featured high fitted lace cuffs of schiffli and pearls closed with satin braid buttons. The back of the gown featured an open neckline scalloped with Alencon pearl studded lace. The full skirt of imported silk taffeta featured a chapel train edged by a ruffle of Brussels lace. Her veil fell from a Juliet cap overlaid with matching Alencon lace and pearls. The silk illusion veil was chapel length edged with scalloped schiffli lace.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Pam Guthrie, of Memphis, the bride's sister. Best man was Greg Ivey, of Atlanta, the groom's brother.

After the wedding, the couple had a dinner in the Vanderbilt Plaza Hotel in Nashville for family and out-of-town guests. The couple took a wedding trip to their home in Virginia Beach, Va.

Tigers Avenge Earlier Loss To Crockett County, 64-59

The Halls High basketball teams will host Greenfield Tuesday night in the final games before the Christmas holidays. Play will resume Jan. 4th with the Dyer County teams coming to Halls.

The Halls Tigers added two more victories last week to bring their record to 6-1 while the Lady Tigers dropped two to fall to 0-6.

Tuesday night of last week the Tigers took a 64-59 overtime victory over Crockett County to avenge their only loss of the season. Crockett County led 18-17 at the end of the first quarter of play and the Tigers had a 32-30 halftime lead. The visiting Red Devils moved into an 8-point lead, 49-41, at the end of three quarters but the Tigers came back to tie 55-55 at the end of regulation play. Crockett County could score only four points during overtime while the Tigers hit 10 points for the 64-59 win.

Alfonzo Abernathy led Tiger scoring with 21 points with Andre Wells accounting for 18 and Terry Parish adding 11. Titus Jackson got 26 for Crockett County to lead all scorers. Others in double figures for the Red Devils were James Fields with 17 and Derrick Bond with 12.

Halls Lady Tigers could do nothing with the visiting Crockett County girls as they were beaten 66-8.

Friday night at Sharon the Tigers scored their highest point total for the season with a 97-57 win.

Abernathy again was high scorer for the Tigers with 22 points. Five other Tigers were in double figures as Wells canned 16, Reginald Foster sank 15, Terry Parish and Rodney Foster each getting 14, and Marshall Davis hit for 12. Joe Vallee was top scorer for Sharon with 15.

Sharon was the winner in the girls' game 44-23 as the Lady Tigers continue winless for the season.

Playing without starter Doris Halliburton the Lady Tigers still scored their highest total of the season, 23 points. Rhonda Hines and Kathy Emerson each scored six for Halls while Kim Evans and Kori Finney led Sharon with 15 points each.

Crowder Hostess At Bank Party

Mrs. Reba Crowder entertained the Bank of Halls employees at her beautiful country home on Tuesday, Dec. 11th.

The pot-luck buffet was placed in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with red candles, greenery and red bows. The table held a red and white cloth with an arrangement of red and white carnations and candles.

Guests helped themselves to a variety of sandwiches, fresh vegetables and dip, cheese and fruit, Rotel dip with chips, nuts and bolts, summer sausage and rye bread. The "sweet" table held pecan tarts, a variety of homemade candy and coconut cake and boiled custard.

Everyone gathered in the den with their plates, to watch the video tape of the Halls Band winning their first place award at the Mt. Juliet contest. The den featured a huge green Christmas tree decorated in white doves and bows.

After opening their gifts, the group assembled around the piano in the living room and sang Christmas carols, accompanied by Judy Newman.

Nunn Named As Trustee

D. R. Nunn, of Halls, was one of three members elected to the 27-member board of trustees of Baptist Memorial Health Care System, Inc. during the board's semi-annual meeting Dec. 11th.

Mr. Nunn is chairman of the board of directors of Bank of Halls. Previously, he served as vice chairman of the Security State Bank, of Newbern, and president of the Ardmore Telephone Co., of Ardmore.

He is a deacon of the First Baptist Church, of Halls, a past trustee of Union University at Jackson, and past president of Halls-Gates Rotary Club.

Mrs. Talley

Mrs. Donna Kidd Talley, 34, attorney, of Ripley, died Sunday in Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Services were at 3 p.m. Tuesday in Maley-Yarbrough Funeral Home, with burial in Memorial Gardens.

She leaves her husband, Sidney Talley, Jr., a daughter, Mary Elizabeth Talley, a stepdaughter, Robin Talley, a stepson, Paul Randolph Talley, all of Ripley; her father, A.C. Kidd, Jr., and two sisters, Mrs. Susan Akins and Mrs. Amy Buddy Canale, all of Memphis.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Merry Christmas

For more than 40 years our editor has used this space to wish our friends and subscribers A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year so once again we extend our warmest greetings to each of you.

Nell and our sons, Buddy and Chuck, and their families join us in hoping that you have a joyful Christmas season and that 1985 brings you nothing but good things.

Worth Watching

We wonder just how many supporters of Halls High School realize that the Halls Tigers are one of the top teams in this area and have a good chance of reaching the regional and perhaps the state Class A tournament.

Led by all-state candidate, Alfonso Abernathy, the Tigers are playing great basketball. Better make your plans to see them play and support them to reach their state tournament goal.

Rogers Heads Haller Lodge

Dorris K. Rodgers, of Halls, was installed as Worshipful Master of Haller Lodge 564, F&A Masons, Dec. 10th in a meeting at the Masonic Hall on the old Halls Air Base.

mother, Mrs. Altha Holland, Sunday afternoon.

Mike Zoellner and Ricky Zoellner, both of Dyersburg, visited their grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Rooks, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Avery, 95 Is Mourned

Mrs. Velma Meadows Avery, 95, of Halls, widow of Thomas G. Avery, died Wednesday afternoon of last week at Baptist Memorial Hospital Lauderdale.

She was a retired teacher. Services were at 10 a.m. Friday of last week at Halls First Baptist Church, with burial in Halls Cemetery, Halls Funeral Home in charge.

A native of Unionville community, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Meadows. She was a former teacher in Dyer County and Lauderdale County schools and president of Halls Parent-Teachers Association. She was a member of Halls First Baptist Church and had served as president of Women's Missionary Union.

She leaves three stepsons, Wilbur and Paul, of Gates, and Carroll R. Avery, of New Concord, Ky.; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Nell Murchison, of Halls, and Mrs. Lena Mullins, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Perry, of Halls, and Mrs. Erine Lightfoot, of Dickson.

Christmas shopping by mail: Tips for making the most of it

Where do you begin looking when you need ideas for what to get that hard-to-buy-for person on your Christmas list, or when you need to buy several items but have no time to shop?
It's a good bet that the first place many of you should be looking is in your mailbox.
More than 10,000 direct mail companies will send millions of catalogs this Christmas season to the more than 45 percent of adult Americans who purchase by mail.
Working mothers with little time to shop, people who shudder at the thought of a visit to a crowded shopping mall, and those who depend upon catalogs to expand their shopping sources, have helped create a boom in shopping by mail.
Along with the boom have come changes in the types of products available through catalogs. For those in search of quality garden tools, there is the Smith & Hawken catalog. For lovers of chocolate there's Lady Godiva's catalog. Even pipe smokers have a catalog, E. A. Carey, devoted to their needs. Almost any item, from vitamins to apparel to fine art, can be purchased by mail.
How to avoid problems
But the boom in catalog shopping also has led to some problems. Consumers complain of long delays in receiving products, or of receiving products that bear little resemblance to what was beautifully photographed and described in the catalog. Direct mail companies say learning how to shop by mail is the best protection against problems.
"If you deal with an established, reputable company, you should experience few, if any, problems," said Richard Tinberg, president of Hammacher Schlemmer, a New York retailer that has been selling elegant gadgets and unusual gifts via catalogs for more than 100 years.
"You can prevent many of the common problems by legibly completing the order form, providing all the information requested and enclosing your check or money order — never cash."
Additional tips suggested by Tinberg include:
• Know the company you're ordering from. Most firms give a brief company history in the catalog. If a company has been in business for a long time, it probably has an indication that they are providing good service to their customers.
• Check the guarantee or refund policy. You should be allowed to return any product for a full refund — including return postage.
Is there a time limit attached to the return policy? If a return is limited to 30 days from purchase date, and you receive the product December 1, then discover on Christmas morning that Uncle Harry already has electrically heated socks, you may not have time to return the product for a refund. Probably the most generous return policy is that of Hammacher Schlemmer's. It offers a complete, unconditional guarantee on every product it sells.
• Use the photograph and copy to examine the product. Is the color, size and weight specified? It should be.
Does the copy explain how the product operates? It should tell you if a product is electrical or battery-operated and what size batteries are needed.
• Know what the product includes. Is the hammock stand included with the hammock? Reputable firms should state in the copy what is not included.
• Examine the prices. The price of each item should be clearly indicated. The copy also should indicate whether the price includes shipping. If it doesn't, it should indicate what the shipping costs will be.
• Look for a company telephone number. This assures that, if you experience a problem, you can contact the company. Hammacher Schlemmer provides the phone number of its technical advisor, and encourages customers to call him for more information about the products in its catalog.
• Use the telephone wisely. When placing orders by telephone, fill out the order form as if you were ordering by mail. When you place the call you'll have all the information that will be requested of you, and you'll save time.
• Allow time for your package to be delivered. Reputable catalog companies should ship your order within five days of receipt.
However, even the best of companies will occasionally experience temporary shortages of products, in which case it should notify you of the delay and allow you the opportunity to cancel the order.
During the Christmas season delivery may be slower than normal, so order early to avoid disappointing someone on Christmas morning.
• Protect your privacy. Direct mail companies frequently make their mailing lists available to other companies. A reputable firm should offer you the opportunity to request that your name not be given to others.

HOT SPICED PUNCH

- 1 gallon apple cider
- 3 sticks cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon whole mace
- 1/2 teaspoon whole allspice
- 1 cup dark rum
- 1 cup Cognac

Simmer cider and spices for about an hour. Add the rum and Cognac and stir until the liquors are heated. Serve hot in heat-proof cups or glasses.
Makes 40 servings.

Waist-watchers' eggnog

Here's an eggnog made without cream — a boon for waist-watchers:

CREAMLESS EGGNOG

- 2 cups Cognac
- 4 large eggs
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons instant coffee
- Crushed ice
- Grated nutmeg

Place all ingredients except nutmeg into blender, and blend until thoroughly integrated. Strain, if desired.
Serve immediately, or refrigerate until needed. Sprinkle each serving with nutmeg.
Makes 8 servings.

Cookie accompaniments

To accompany these festive drinks, here are some special cookies you may want to whip up:

MINCEMEAT DROPS

- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 cup margarine, softened
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup mincemeat
- 3 tablespoons Cognac

Preheat oven to 350°. Lightly grease a cookie sheet.

Sift flour, measure, resift with salt and baking soda.
In a large bowl, cream margarine thoroughly, add sugar and blend. Beat eggs and add gradually, beating well after each addition. Stir in mincemeat and Cognac.
Add flour in three or four portions, mixing smoothly after each addition. Stir in walnuts.
Drop 2 inches apart by heaping teaspoon onto cookie sheets. Bake 9 or 10 minutes, or to a rich brown.
Remove cookies at once to cooling rack. When completely cooled, store in container with tightly fitting cover.
Makes 4 dozen.

Fresh chocolate truffles are the finale of holiday dinner that's fit for a king!

Wondering which dessert to prepare as the perfect ending for your Christmas dinner? Think no more.

Simply rich, dark luscious chocolate truffles, the perfect chocolate treat, have been the favorite dessert of kings and queens for centuries.

Even in this country, where the first chocolate factory started in 1765, truffles are now regarded as the chocolate lover's chocolate heaven.

According to Joan Steuer, editor of Chocolate, the only magazine for gourmet chocolate lovers, "No chocolate experience can rival the intensity and purity of a fresh truffle.

"One single bite, and the spiky hard exterior yields immediately to a lush deep chocolate center - pure heaven for anyone who adores chocolate.

"And, since we know that the average annual consumption of chocolate in the United States alone is about 10 pounds per person, we can assume that nearly everyone loves chocolate!"

Included in the Christmas issue of Chocolate is an article on Swiss Chocolate Desserts by Rose Beranbaum, director of the Cordis Rose Cooking School in New York City, and author of Romantic and Classic Cakes.

Featured in the article is the recipe for Truffles Du Jour, so called because the truffles are made fresh each time they are served. The recipe takes 45 minutes to prepare (plus time for chilling), and yields about 32 truffles.

TRUFFES DU JOUR

Filling:
 8 ounces Lindt Courante couverture chocolate, coarsely chopped
 1 cup minus 2 tablespoons heavy cream
 1/2 tablespoons unsalted butter, at room temperature
 1 tablespoon Cognac or brandy

Coating:
 1/4 pound Lindt Milk and/or Bittersweet Chocolate, tempered, for coating

Filling:
 1) Line a baking sheet with waxed paper.
 2) In a double boiler placed over (but not touching) hot, not simmering, water, melt the couverture chocolate, stirring occasionally.
 3) Remove the upper container and add heavy cream all at once to the melted

MERRY CHRISTMAS

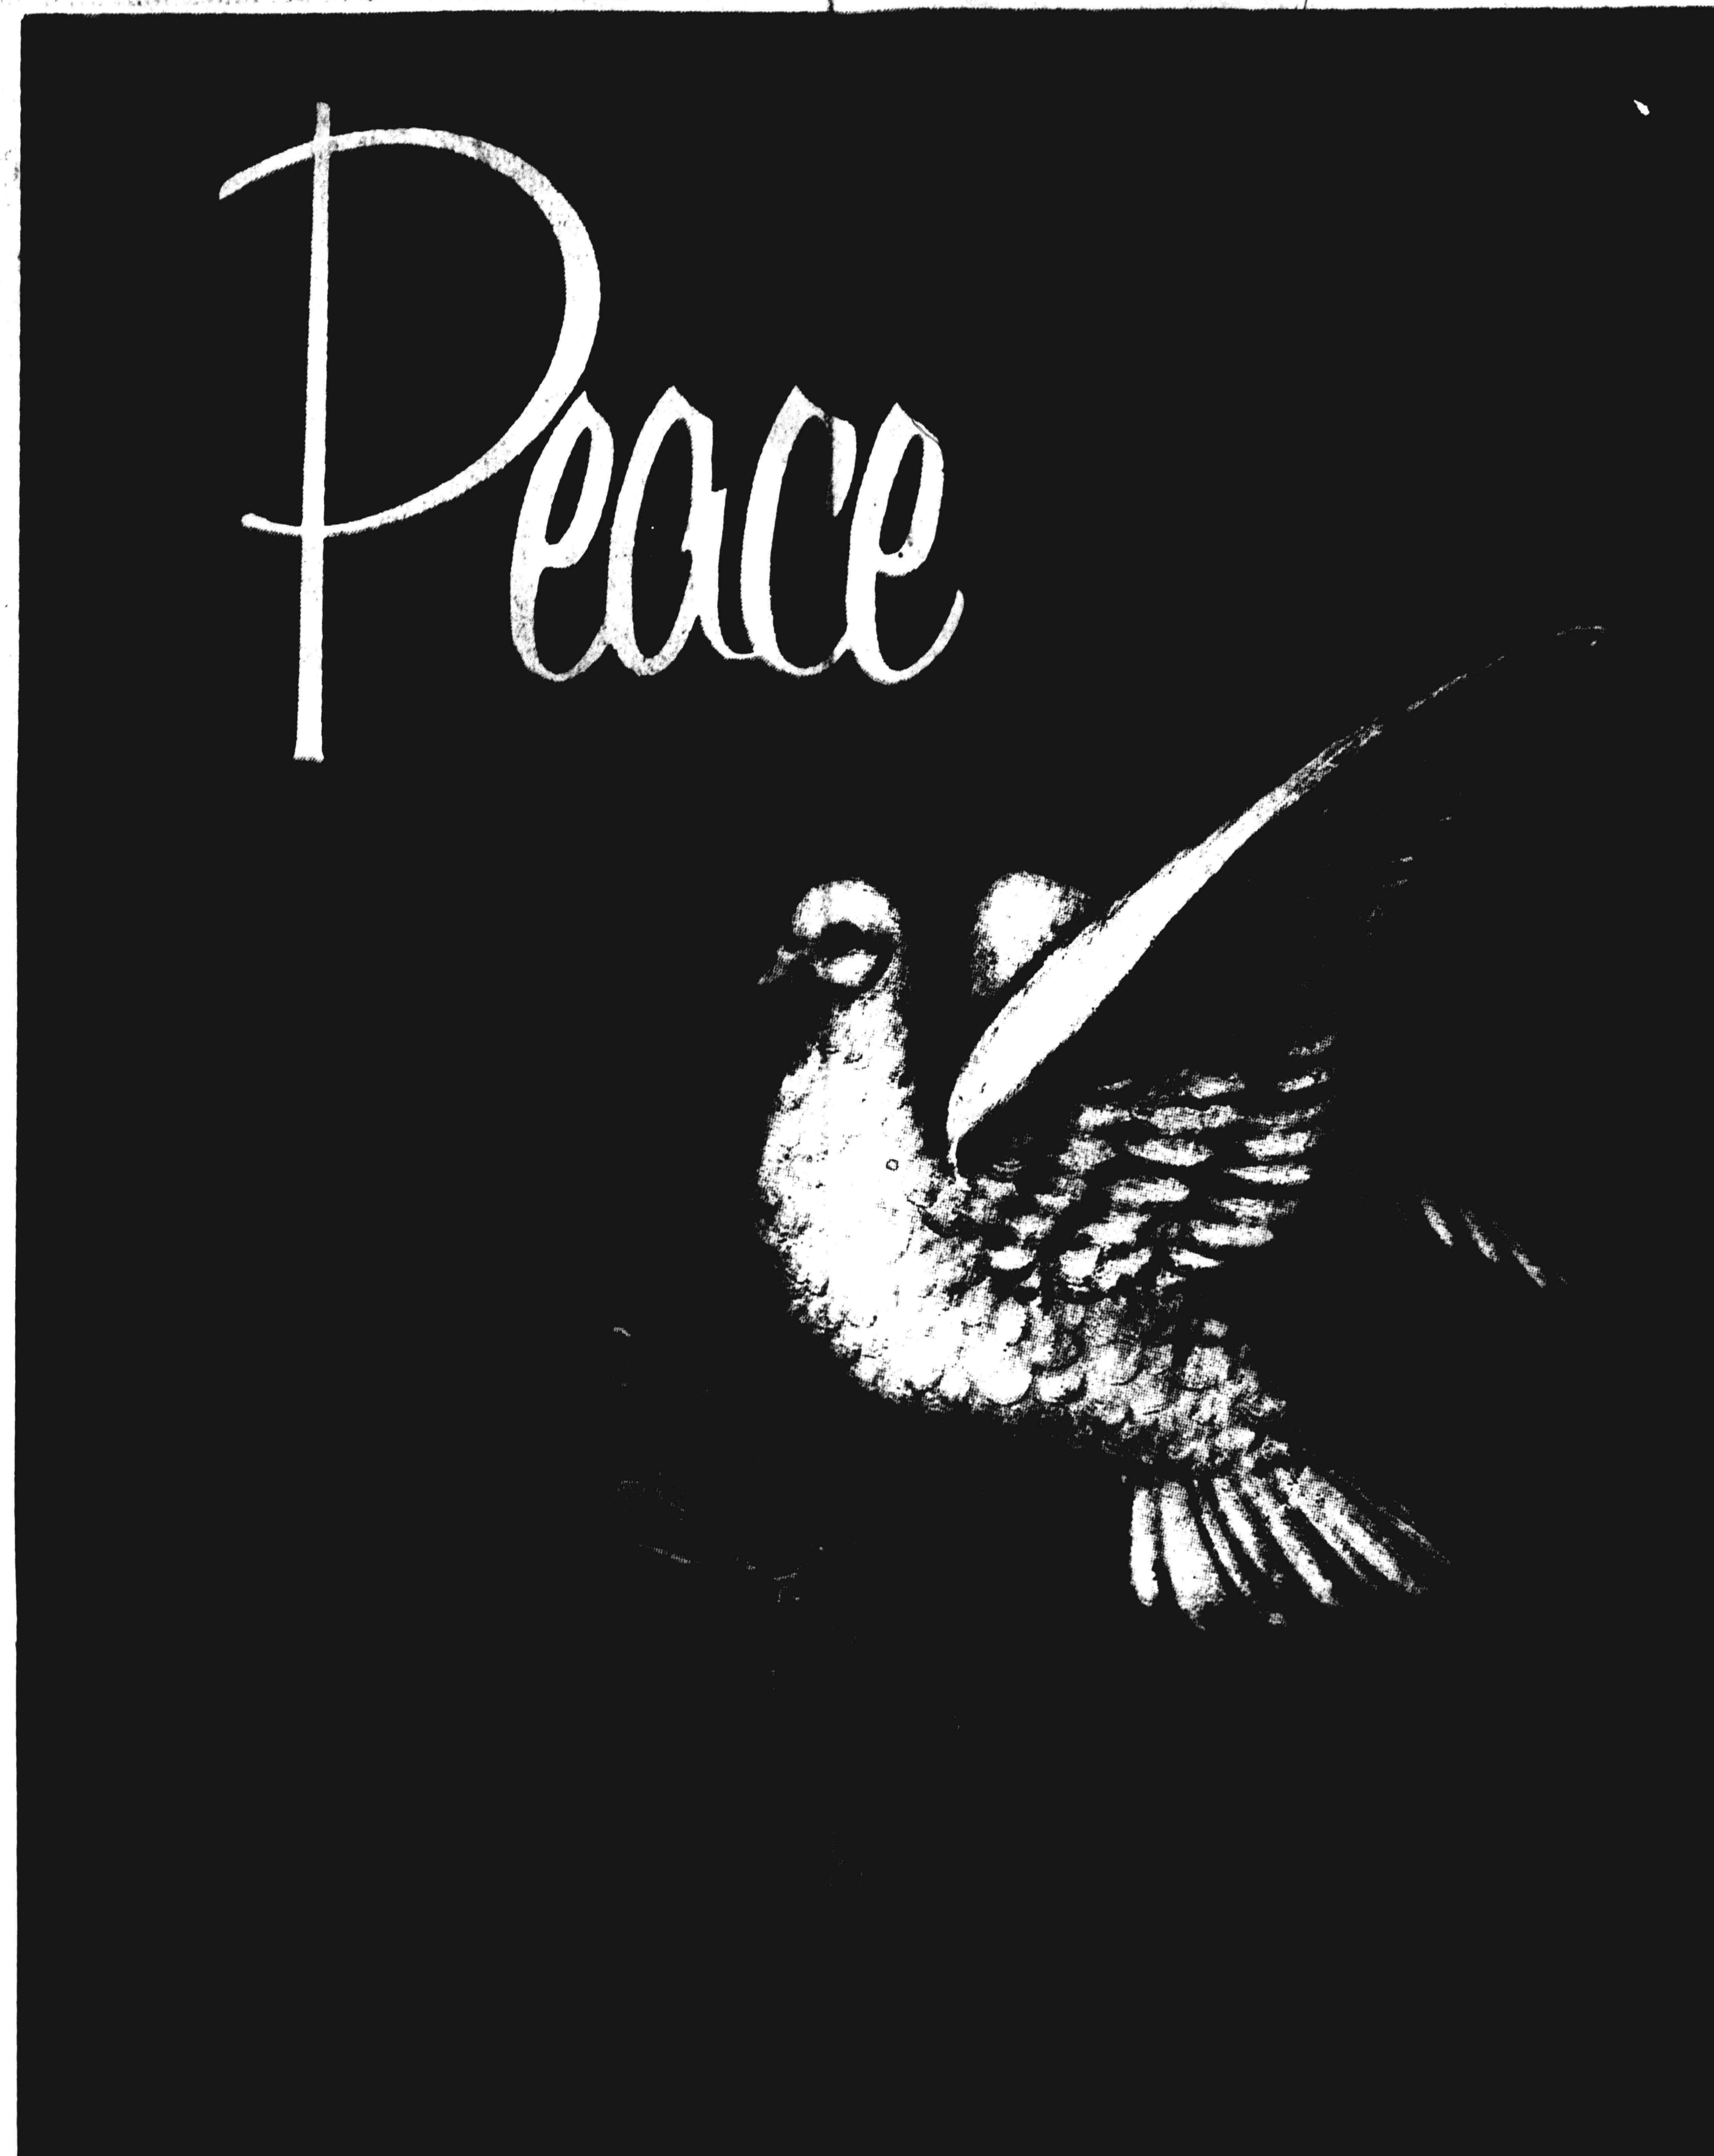

Christmas is that wonderful time of year filled with the laughter of children and the warmth of friendship. We look forward to a wonderful holiday and we hope that all of our loyal friends and patrons will have a great holiday, too. We enjoy working with you and we take great pleasure in wishing you the best of the season.

Long ago when the world was young, came the miracle called Christmas, a miracle ever after ennobling the spirit of man. For in the birth of the Prince of Peace came . . . "a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

'Tis the season for books, the simplest way to please everyone on your Christmas list

By ERNIE SAXTON

Are you ready for Christmas shopping? Before you answer, take this little Christmas shopping quiz, and then we'll talk.

1. Between November 23rd and December 24th I expect:
 - (a) To stand in lines most of the time.
 - (b) To be hospitalized for exhaustion.
 - (c) To kill for a parking space.
2. I will choose presents for family and friends:
 - (a) By the genie-meeeee-mvnee-mo method.
 - (b) On December 24th, in desperation.
 - (c) Knowing I'll see them on the white elephant table at the next community ho-ho-ho.
3. To me, Christmas shopping is:
 - (a) Here again already?
 - (b) An annual ritual that must be endured, like the flu season.
 - (c) My personal vision of hell.

If you found yourself nodding in recognition at any of the above, then holiday gift-giving has ceased to be a joyous activity for you.

Fear not. I have a simple solution to the Christmas shopping blues that will once again bring joy to both givers and receivers.

Fifteen years ago I discovered a way to give everyone on my Christmas list the same thing (thereby simplifying my shopping trips considerably), while at the same time giving everyone a gift tailored to his or her own needs and interests (thereby making for a truly appreciative gift receiver). The answer to this riddle: Buy books.

Great gift idea

Books make great gifts because, with a little effort, you can find a book on virtually any subject matter. Over the past few years I've given as gifts books on such diverse subjects as bovine anatomy (to a dairy farmer friend), dollhouse construction, the pseudonyms of mystery and detective fiction writers and Civil War photography, just to name a few.

Even those on your list who aren't readers normally will be easy to buy for, if you think for a moment. For instance, an uncle — who loves to brag that he hasn't read a book since high school (he really means novels) — gets a book every Christmas that he thanks me for profusely.

Why? Because I always pick a book on his lifelong passion — cars. I've given him everything from a picture book on antique cars to the latest Chilton Auto Repair Manual. He loves his books more than the boring shirt and tie combos I used to give him.

Books for hobbies

I give cookbooks to an aunt who spends all her spare time in the kitchen, photography books to my shutterbug kid sister, and household project books to my do-it-yourself dad.

In fact, most of the books I buy for gifts fall into the do-it-yourself and hobby categories. After 15 years as a book-giver, I've learned that these are the kinds of books that get more than one reading.

I enjoy giving a gift that I know will be used all year long, or even for years to come. And every time my uncle gets out his Chilton Manual to do a tune-up, he's going to remember his favorite nephew who thought enough to get him a gift he can really use.

I've been doing my Christmas shopping early this year. I've discovered a series of books that are going to make terrific gifts for my do-it-yourself family, on subjects ranging from furniture building to developing your own picture.

The books are written by Ed and Stevie Baldwin, a husband and wife team who founded and direct The Family Workshop, a creative idea company in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The Baldwins are experts at presenting complicated how-to information in an easy-to-read, easy-to-follow format. You may already know them through their how-to columns syndicated in over 400 newspapers nationwide or their craft demonstrations on television. Below is a list of some of their books available for this year's Christmas shopping.

Building Outdoor Structures and Building Outdoor Furniture (both $10.95) provide complete plans for making 30 projects for the garden, yard and patio.

The projects are both practical and stylish, as is evident from the color photos of each finished project.

This is a book suitable for both novice and experienced home builders. Projects include everything from patio furniture and storage sheds to fences and gazebos.

For parents looking for a way to channel the inexhaustible energy of their kids, the Baldwins offer Toys to Ride ($10.95). It includes plans for 30 riding toys that are propelled either by pushing or pedaling.

Color photos and clear instructions help make this the perfect project book for any parent (or grandparent) with a basic home tool kit.

Constructing toys

In the same vein, The Great Mechanical Wooden Toy Book ($10.95) is filled with everything you need to know for constructing six toys that move.

For years I've treasured a mechanical wooden toy carousel that's been passed down through my family for generations. I'll pass it on to my daughter some day, but I'm also going to start a new family tradition by making her the silly but wonderful "Do-Nothing Machine" found in this book.

Other projects (all depicted in full color) include an oil well pump jack, a cog dog, a carousel and a fantastic freight train with a working water car.

In July, for her birthday, I gave my camera-crazy sister the Baldwins' Focus On Photography ($12.95), an excellent introduction to the basics for beginners of any age. It helped her choose a 35mm camera and the accessories she needed, like additional lenses and filters.

For Christmas I'm giving her the second Family Workshop photography book — Darkroom Designs and Techniques ($12.95). In down-to-earth language, it shows how to plan a home darkroom, with electrical and plumbing specifications, storage tips, equipment you'll need and much more. Also covered are chemicals, developing procedures, and advanced printing techniques.

Quilting fever

Like millions of others, my oldest sister

six gifts this Christmas.

The books will go to a half dozen quilters who, after covering the beds with enough quilts to last a millennium, are ready to move on to more challenging projects.

In fact, there's an entire wardrobe of projects here, everything from formal evening wear to hunting vests. All projects are shown finished in full-color, with complete patterns and instructions.

The last Family Workshop book I'm giving to buy for Christmas is The First Family's Computer Book. Craft experts they may be, but the Baldwins know how to translate computerese into plain English.

This lucid, non-technical introduction to computers underscores just how good the authors are at presenting technical information to general readers. The humor found throughout the book makes it a natural for kids. I'm going to keep this Family Workshop book for myself.

Wrap your gifts with creativity and love

Do you ask yourself each Christmas: "Why should I bother wrapping all these gifts when the wrapping is going to get ripped off anyway?" Are you tired of seeing your Christmas gift paper end up as garbage year after year?

This Christmas, try something a bit different... wrap your gifts in a tantalizing fashion with easy "design-your-own" gift wrap embellished with simple-to-make decorations that your friends and relatives will treasure.

Taking the time to create your own gift wrap is a great way to show someone you care. If you don't have time to make your own presents, you can still add a personal touch by packaging your gifts to give pleasure even before they're opened.

To create something extra special for your friends and relatives, simply gather together some household items, and packages or bottles of Rit® Dye in traditional Christmas colors such as Forest Green, Cardinal Red, Evening Blue and Gold. Then, try some of these easy, fun ways to design-your-own gift wrap:

- Turn plain white paper into personalized wrapping paper. First, trace the letters, "Merry Christmas" and the name of the gift recipient onto stencil paper using a fine-line pencil or pen. Leave a larger border around the pattern. Cut carefully through the stencil onto scrap cardboard with an art-blade knife or a small, pointed sharp scissor.
- Then, prepare a hot, concentrated dye solution in the colors you've chosen: Mix 1/2 cup liquid dye in one pint of hot tap water, or dissolve one package of powder dye in one pint of hot water. Try to be careful when working with knife and hot water.
- Hold the stencil in place on the paper. Using quick, light brushstrokes, paint from the edges of the stencil toward the center of your design to keep your image clear.
- Repeat in another location, allowing time for the dye to dry if stenciling is to be done nearby. Be sure to cut a new stencil for each color change.

A man's white cotton handkerchief and white lace ribbon become festive gift packaging in just a few easy steps. First, "ombre" (dip-dye) a handkerchief using three different dye colors within the same color family.

This is done by first wetting the fabric and preparing a dye-bath for the lightest shade of your color choice, following package directions. Immerse the entire handkerchief and stir for 10 minutes; remove it from the dye-bath and hang it to the side using two clip hangers. Then, dissolve the next darkest shade of dye and add it to the original dye-bath. Immerse just the bottom 1/3 of the handkerchief and let soak for 10 minutes. Repeat with the remaining darker shade of dye. Rinse and hang dry.

To complete, immerse the lace ribbon in the dye-bath. When all is dry, wrap your gift with the handkerchief and tie with matching ribbon.

Twist-dye by twisting the whole pillowcase as if you were wringing it out. Tie the ends with rubberband or string. Prepare a dye-bath using your favorite Rit® Dye color. Immerse the pillowcase in dye for about 20 minutes. Rinse thoroughly and release the ties. Then, hang dry.

Add a drawstring by running a length of decorative braid or ribbon through the pillowcase hem, and your pillowcase doubles as a fashionable drawstring bag!

For more easy-to-do dye ideas and instructions, write to RIT/ANC3, P.O. Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

Back in the days of the late fourth century, a young woman without a dowry, especially if she were plain, was unmarriageable, and relegated not only to a life of spinsterhood, but servitude. For there was no other way for her to support herself.

Nicholas took pity on this one particularly unfortunate young maiden in his parish whose father and mother had several daughters and no money to ensure any of them a better future.

Nicholas himself had come from a wealthy family before he became a member of the Church, and it was his pleasure to be generous to people in need, always anonymously.

So, one particular dark and cold December day as he passed by this humble family's home, he tossed a small package of three gold pieces inside through an open window. Supposedly, the coins happened to land in one of the stockings hung over the fireplace to dry, and that's how a custom was born that survives 1,500 years later.

Before Nicholas died, his generosity — of which this was just one example — had already become legendary throughout Europe. After he died, he would be sainted, and it is this same St. Nicholas who would become Father Christmas, jolly old St. Nick, and eventually Santa Claus.

The generosity of St. Nicholas is still celebrated in many parts of Europe, but December 6th is his special feast day. On that day, gifts of candy and fruit are traditionally given to all good children. Supposedly, naughty little boys and girls find coal in their stockings.

In America, the stocking is also used as a cornucopia of goodies, but it has always been associated with December 25th. Not

The rich and wonderful traditions of Christmas stockings and their stuffings

When your family hangs its stockings by the chimney with care this Christmas, you are honoring a holiday custom that goes back a lot further than the greeting cards we send or the tree we decorate.

Legend has it that this holiday custom was inadvertently started by a Greek bishop named Nicholas as he gallantly came to the aid of a poor young maiden facing a bleak future.

Back in the days of the late fourth century, a young woman without a dowry, especially if she were plain, was unmarriageable, and relegated not only to a life of spinsterhood, but servitude. For there was no other way for her to support herself.

Nicholas took pity on this one particularly unfortunate young maiden in his parish whose father and mother had several daughters and no money to ensure any of them a better future.

In America, the stocking is also used as a cornucopia of goodies, but it has always been associated with December 25th. Not just children, but every member of the family — even the dog and cat — is likely to have his or her own stocking hung on the mantel. What a stocking may contain is limited only by size and imagination.

Though very few young ladies are likely to find gold pieces in their Christmas stockings today, some have been known to find a diamond ring there instead of a dowry. Very few lumps of coal are reported, either, though candy still is popular.

Among other thoughtful, welcome little treasures that make excellent stocking stuffers are pens, note paper and address books. A very good idea, too, when you consider the thank you notes that will soon be written, and the address book that will need updating as we hear from old friends far and wide.

Everyone can always use a new pen. You can find a nice one in every price range, with different styles suitable for

Holiday plants enhance season

Many plants are synonymous with Christmas. Probably the earliest association is that of frankincense and myrrh. The Boswellia carterii, the tree from which frankincense is extracted, is related to the turpentine or terebinth tree. It has star-shaped flowers and its aromatic resin can be made into incense. At one time frankincense was considered to be as precious as gold. Thus, the gift of frankincense to the Christ Child was indeed a special one. The commiphora myrrha is an unlikely-looking plant to be associated with the holiday season. But, it was from this shrub — bearing sharp, ugly thorns — that the Magi's gift of myrrh was obtained. Christians aren't the only ones who've decked their halls with boughs of holly; the ancient Druids started this custom. Believing that sylvan spirits dwelled within the holly, the Druids sought to protect the spirits from frost and wintry winds, by bringing the plants indoors. The early Romans sent branches of holly to friends and neighbors during the Saturnalia festival, which was celebrated in December. Missionaries combined such pagan customs with those of Christianity during the 7th century. Thus, holly came to be a symbol of Moses' burning bush, and its prickly points and red berries reminded the faithful of the crown of thorns that awaited the Christ Child. Mistletoe was well-known to the Druids by the name of all-heal. Later, Christians would use mistletoe as a symbol of Christ, the Divine Healer. The Druids also used mistletoe as a symbol of peace and goodwill. Enemies would embrace under the plant, which is how our custom of kissing under the mistletoe originated. Perhaps no plant is as synonymous with Christmas as the poinsettia. Brought back from Mexico by Dr. Joel Poinsett during the 19th century, the plant flourished here in the United States. Today, it is a popular decoration in churches and homes during the holiday season. Its red bracts resemble the star of Bethlehem, which is probably why Mexicans call it the flower of the Holy Night.

Tennessee's Festive Holiday Tours

In many historic areas of Tennessee, elegant mansions and traditional homes celebrate a tradition of Christmas hospitality by holding open house tours. Most offer seasonal refreshments, holiday music and guides dressed in period costumes. All offer a warm-hearted greeting to visitors.

Memphis
Three mansions in the Victorian Village Historic District plan special holiday activities. The 25-room Mallory - Neely House, built around 1852, offers tours November 30 - December 2. Set to the theme "Christmas Revival at Miss Daisy's," exhibits feature Victorian lace, porcelain dolls and an international selection of porcelain ornaments. The Fontaine House, a huge French Victorian structure, will be decorated with fresh Christmas arrangements by professional florists December 1 - 9. Throughout the rest of the month the Mid-South Embroiders' Guild presents their amazing Christmas tree filled with needlepoint angels and toys. In addition to the tree, there will be a fascinating collection of antique dolls. Close by, the oldest standing home in Memphis, the Magevney House, will be adorned with pre-Civil War style decorations the entire month of December. Music will be provided every weekend.

Nashville
Some of Music City's finest mansions will feature decorative tours. Belle Meade Mansion, a plantation renowned for its thoroughbred horses, holds "Christmas at Belle Meade Farm" December 1 - 27. Holiday highlights include the dinner theater production "Gift of the Magi" which will be held in the double parlor December 9 - 16. Belmont Mansion was the private residence of Adeline Acklen, once the richest woman in America. This splendid mansion is the site for "Christmas at Belmont" December 1 & 2 and features exhibits of teddy bears, antique toys and New England dolls. Across town this same weekend, Two Rivers Mansion holds a high Victorian-style Christmas with fresh-cut greenery, plus a bake sale and ornament marketplace. "Travelers' Rest," built in 1779, holds its Christmas Open House from 1 p.m. - 4 p.m. December 9.

Franklin
The fourth annual "Christmas at Fox Hollow" takes place November 23 - December 3. Fox Hollow is the southern plantation home of country singer Tom T. Hall, and Christmas refreshments, craft items and entertainment will be offered along with surprise appearances by country music celebrities. The ever-popular Carter House Candlelight Tours are set for December 1 & 2 from 5 p.m. - 9 p.m. Eight historic buildings, including Wyatt Hall, home of entertainer B. J. Thomas, will be open to the public. Strolling carolers, Confederate soldiers and carriage rides are all part of the fun this year. Tickets may be purchased at the Carter Home, a building which once served as Union headquarters during the Battle of Franklin. Carnton Mansion's Christmas Open House also takes place December 1 & 2. This three-story antebellum mansion once served as a field hospital during the Civil War. The 21-room structure will be decorated in Victorian fashion and a special "groaning board" of sweets will be offered for visitors.

Murfreesboro
Distinctive Oakland Mansion was occupied by both Southern and Northern officers during the Civil War. This historic house will be celebrating a Victorian Christmas with an evening candlelight tour December 8 and daylight house tours December 9 - 15. Nearby, Cannonborough Pioneer Village will recreate an early American Christmas December 9.

Columbia
Columbia Academy's Holiday House Tour presents nine outstanding homes which will be open to the public December 1 & 2. They range from a newly built redwood A-frame to a white-pillared residence constructed in 1840. Since all homes are lived in by their owners year-round, all Christmas decorations reflect individual tastes. Many offer refreshments and music.

Knoxville
Four magnificent homes will be open for this year's historic Candlelight Tour December 11 - 13. They include Blount Mansion, the Hopewell House, Speedwell Manor and the Armstrong-Lockett House. Some offer music, but all will be traditionally decorated with fresh greens and fruit plus provide refreshments. Completing a tour through all homes takes about two hours, and tickets may be purchased at any of these historic mansions. For more information about these or other holiday happenings in Tennessee, contact the Department of Tourist Development, Room T, Box 23170, Nashville, Tennessee 37203.

Twelfth-night ends Christmas season in some countries

For many cultures, the Christmas holidays are not over until after January 6th, known variously as the Feast of the Epiphany, Twelfth-night or Three Kings Day.

In some countries, gifts are not presented until January 6th because that is the day commemorating the Three Wise Men and their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. Children in Italy, Spain, Mexico, France, Central and South America, and Puerto Rico receive gifts on that day.

Twelfth-night, of course, was immortalized by Shakespeare in his comedy by that name. One theory has it that the play was written to be performed before Queen Elizabeth I as part of the festivities on Twelfth-night, January 6, 1601. Although it is not known which play Shakespeare's company performed that night, they did provide entertainment at Whitehall on that occasion, underlining the importance that Elizabethans placed on the holiday. Today, the English wait until Twelfth-night to take down their Christmas greens.

For many, January 6th is the feast of the Epiphany or "Little Christmas." As such, it heralds the manifestation of Jesus as the Son of God to the Magi, and through them, to the whole world.

Most cultures that celebrate Twelfth-night have some kind of tradition regarding cakes. In France, bakers give their customers galettes, flaky pastries containing one bean. In Belgium, a King's Cake containing one bean is served on the Eve of the Epiphany. The lucky person finding the bean is king of the feast.

St. Nicholas cakes — baked in the shape of animals and birds and St. Nicholas — are served in Holland on January 6th. If the morning is foggy, youngsters are told that the fog is smoke from the ovens of the Saint as he bakes his cakes!

In French Canada, the king and queen of Twelfth-night are determined by cutting Le Gateau des Rois, a traditional cake containing a pea and a bean.

During the two weeks between Christmas and Epiphany, Mexican youngsters perform small plays in honor of the Christ Child. These plays are called pastores, and always have moral to them.

Epiphany is also the occasion for the breaking of the piñata, a colorfully decorated pot filled with all sorts of goodies for the youngsters.

So, if you're inclined to keep celebrating Christmas into the New Year, there are centuries of tradition to back you up!

The first comic strip in a newspaper was "Yellow Kid," which first appeared in the Sunday color supplement of the New York Journal in 1897.

From stately saint to jolly gent: How St. Nicholas became Santa Claus!

" 'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house..." So begins one of the most famous poems in the English language, one that has influenced American tradition greatly. For it is because of Dr. Clement Clarke Moore's "The Visit of St. Nicholas" that we enjoy our concept of Santa today.

In his classic poem, Moore described St. Nicholas as having "a broad face, and a little round belly that shook when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly. He was chubby and plump — a right jolly old elf."

This picture of a jolly and plump fellow is a far cry from the stately St. Nicholas of Europe, where the tradition of a holiday gift-giving actually began.

Little is known about St. Nicholas other than that he was born in Asia Minor and eventually became a much-loved archbishop of Myra, where he died in the year 324.

After his death, numerous legends sprang up about his charitable deeds, especially in regard to children. He became the patron saint of boys and girls, and his feast day, December 6th, became the occasion for giving children small gifts of toys or gingerbread. The association of St. Nicholas with gift-giving probably came about through a legend that credited him with bestowing money upon a penniless nobleman who had three daughters to marry off, but no dowries with which to do so.

The Church, seeking a way to Christianize pagan customs, turned to St. Nicholas for assistance. For the giving of presents during the winter months is an ancient tradition. The Romans exchanged gifts during their Saturnalia festival in December, and the people of Northern Europe had the god Woden, who brought gifts to them in the middle of winter, as well as Berchta, the hearth goddess, who paid visits to homes in December.

Thus, St. Nicholas became the Christian replacement for both Woden and Berchta, although vestiges of the latter are still in evidence with the Italian Befana and the Russian Bobouschka.

Accordingly, a new ritual came into being: on the eve of his feast day, St. Nicholas was supposed to ride across the sky on a white or pale grey horse, just as Woden and Berchta had done in pre-Christian lore.

For the good child, the saint brought gifts; for the naughty youngster, there were rods and switches. Retaining aspects of Berchta, he was still associated with the hearth in various ways. Either the children's shoes or stockings would be placed there, or hay or grain would be left there for his horse. And, he was accompanied by a decidedly pagan-like creature. Sometimes this small, ugly elf or dwarf was given the task of sliding down the chimney, a feat too undignified for the good saint.

With the reformation, St. Nicholas began to be supplanted by the Christ Child as a gift-giver in Protestant Europe. And, with the demise of St. Nicholas' Day, gifts began to arrive on Christmas Eve.

There were many other substitutions for St. Nicholas, such as Pere Noel in France and Knech Ruprecht in Bavaria and Austria.

But, in Holland, St. Nicholas still retained his popularity, for which our modern-day Santa can be thankful. For it was the Dutch who brought St. Nicholas to the New World in 1624. They called him Sinter Claes.

In 1809, Washington Irving vividly described St. Nicholas as the patron saint of the Dutch colony of New Amsterdam. He wrote of the saint's annual ride over the tree tops in a wagon filled with gifts.

We can only surmise that Dr. Moore had read Irving's popular history containing the account of St. Nicholas. For instead of describing the saint as tall and stately, Moore echoed Irving's description of him as a sturdy Dutchman who smoked a pipe.

Moore was also probably inspired by an illustration published in 1821, showing St. Nicholas in a sleigh pulled by one reindeer.

Moore's poem was published in 1823 and many years later, Thomas Nast, the well-known illustrator, gave us his version of St. Nicholas, based on Moore's poem. However, he called the jolly gent Santa Claus.

Through the years, successive illustrators have added other dimensions to Santa's appearance until he has become totally unrecognizable from the tall and dignified St. Nicholas who preceded him.

Although their appearance may differ greatly, Santa Claus and St. Nicholas do have several traits in common; they both love children and they both love to give presents!

Most scientists now agree that the earth came into being 7 to 15 billion years ago.

Recalling the days of an old-fashioned Christmas

Can you remember the aroma of candles burning on the Christmas tree? If so, you have some precious memories of a bygone era, the time of the old-fashioned Christmas.

Most of us have only handed-down stories to evoke that special bit of Americana. According to these reminiscences, here is what Christmas was like many years ago:

Dashing through the snow in a one-horse open sleigh was not just a song, it was a very real experience during the holiday season, with harness bells jingling away as you crossed fields blanketed with snow.

At home, the old wood stove would be making a batch of candy or baking some of her delicious holiday cookies.

There was wood to be brought in for the stove and fireplace; that was brother's job, while sister helped in the kitchen.

There was the tree — a real fir, pine or spruce tree — decorated with strings of popcorn made from home-grown corn, apples from the orchard, and handmade paper cones.

Even shopping was a special treat in those days; the wood stove in the local store would give out its warmth and spices in open bins would give off their wonderful aroma. On the counter, there were jars of colored candies to entice the youngsters. On Christmas Eve, church bells would summon the faithful to special services; or perhaps there would be a Christmas play performed.

Christmas Cheer!

Here's to an old-fashioned holiday, sharing good times and good cheer, with lots of friends and loved ones.

In the morning, there were gifts to open, gifts that had been fashioned by hand. There might be a hand-carved whistle, hand-knit socks, or carefully embroidered handkerchiefs. Whatever the gift, you knew it had been made with love and received it in that spirit.

Later that Christmas Day, the family would gather in the kitchen, the biggest room in the house, at a long table burdened with holiday foods. There would be Christmas turkey or ham or goose, pies that had been baked the day before, as well as special holiday bread. After dinner, the youngsters would take their sleds to coast down snowy slopes; or, they might head for the pond with their ice skates.

At the end of the day, visiting uncles and aunts and cousins would pile into a sleigh or bobsled as the horses stamped their feet and shook their harnesses. And off they would go, shouting goodnight and "Merry Christmas" under the Christmas stars.

The country that drinks the most beer is said to be Czechoslovakia.

Children love making ornaments at Christmas time — here's an easy recipe for bread dough ornaments that they can help make and then decorate:

Mix 4 cups of flour and 1 cup of salt in a bowl, using a wooden spoon or rubber spatula. Add 1 1/2 cups of water slowly, mixing as you pour. You may need more water, depending on the humidity, but keep the dough stiff for best results.

Knead dough for 10 minutes; when texture is soft and smooth, it will be ready for cutting.

Have the youngsters shape the ornaments with cookie cutters, inserting hooks into the dough at this time.

Bake dough in a 325° to 350° oven and no hotter. The ornaments should be rigid when removed from the oven!

Allow them to cool and let the kids take over, decorating them with poster paint or tempera. They can also use regular white glue.

To keep the finished ornaments looking pretty longer, spray them with an acrylic gloss; this will also give them a nice shine.

Hang the ornaments on the Christmas tree for all to admire, or have the youngsters give them as gifts.

These ornaments are fun to make and decorate!

HALLS' OLDEST RETAIL STORE, Joe L. Levy & Son, looked much different about 1923 when this picture was made when compared with the present store. The firm this week is announcing that it is going out of business. In the picture are, from left, C. C. (Mack) Sumrow, unknown customer (possibly Mrs. E. A. Ferguson), the late Neva (Mrs. C. C.)

Sumrow, Marie (Mrs. Harry) Hall, now of Cordova, the late Joe L. Levy, founder of the firm, and the late Clara Wells Palazzolo. Note the feather duster on the counter at left, the fan and luggage, upper right, clothing hanging from the ceiling, and piece goods rolled out on the counters.

Homecoming '86 Plans Maturing

A giant state-wide celebration of who we are and how we got to be that way—Tennesseans celebrating Tennesseans. Part re-union, part history lesson, and part good old-fashioned hoe-down.

The purpose of Homecoming '86, simply put, is to encourage every community to research its heritage, to discover its identity, and bring all that together in 1986 as a celebration of the good friends, good times, and good life in the 3,000 places Tennesseans call home. When that is done, the result will be something worth saving. Worth celebrating. Something that will showcase those things that make Tennessee the very special place it is. Something that will be a positive economic impact for years to come. That will help revitalize every main street and help make every town and country an even better place to be.

Homecoming '86 is designed to bring us altogether—working to get ourselves and our communities ready and then to invite all Americans to come celebrate what we have done.

But, it is more than a celebration. It is a rediscovery of those values that American everywhere recognize as their roots and their heritage.

In Lauderdale County William Tucker III, County Executive, is in charge of the Homecoming '86 activities. He has already had committees to meet, and plans are underway to celebrate this event.

But so far, the state's big cities have been slow in getting interested in the project.

"Yes, I think the response has been best in the small town," Gov. Lamar Alexander says. He hopes to get together soon with the big-city mayors to try to get them involved.

Alexander is calling for each of the state's 3,000 communities to research its past, begins some sort of project that promotest and preserves the community's special qualities, and invite former residents to return for a town re-union during 1986.

Alexander has lined up some celebrity talent to act as program chairman and has been pushing it with an enthusiasm similar to that he used to sell his education reform program.

Alex Haley, the Pulitzer Prize winning author of "Roots" and Grand Ole Opry performer Minnie Pearl are co-chairmen. Several major corporations, including the Memphis-based First Tennessee Bank and Holiday Inns Inc., have sponsored promotional activities.

Thirty-nine communities already have gotten started on pilot programs. Dyersburg is planting $30,000 worth of dogwoods. Milan is building an agricultural museum with antique farm equipment.

Other cities have even more ambitious projects. McMinnville, for example, is seeking to rebuild the court square park that was lost when U.S. 70 was extended through the downtown area.

McKenzie, in Carroll County, has renovated an old barn as an open-air pavilion, complete with barbecue pit, lighting and rest rooms.

Some communities, such as Johnson City, have begun projects built around getting citizens involved in community planning for the balance of the century.

There also have been some statewide projects, such as the Homecoming Arts Commission, which tries to find local buyers for Tennessee-related art.

"The idea is to try and bring these paintings and things back to Tennessee instead of having them wind up on the wall of some millionaire in Texas," Alexander said.

Alexander has taken advantage of every opportunity to publicize the project.

He included a film on Homecoming '86 in the program for those attending last summer's National Governors Association meeting in Nashville. The response from other governors has been good, with about half a dozen requesting more information.

Joe L. Levy & Son Ending Business

Joe L. Levy & Son, Halls department store, is going out of business (see advertisement in this issue) after 89 years of service to the Halls area.

The late Joe L. Levy, founder of Levy's, joined the firm of H. A. Cohen & Co. in 1916, coming to Halls from Nashville.

A native of Fort Wayne, Ind. he had been employed on the advertising staff of the New York Times and was in business with his father in Shelby, Miss., for five years before going to Nashville. After a year in the service during World War I he returned to Halls to form a partnership with the late Abe Simon to take over the Cohen firm.

On March 3, 1923, Simon withdrew from the firm and Joe L. Levy became sole owner.

In 1946 Louis Levy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Levy, returned to Halls after attending Culver Academy in Indiana, Vanderbilt University and Harvard University and service in the Army during World War II to join his father in forming Joe L. Levy & Son. His wife, Emily "Sis" Michel, of Memphis, and their young son, Allan, moved to Halls with him.

After the elder Levy's death in July, 1959, Mr. and Mrs. Louis

Levy took over sole management of the store.

In 1961, the store was expanded to occupy the present site and the building now occupied by Arnold Healthmart Drugs. In 1969 the Louis Levy family moved to Memphis to continue the schooling of their four children, Allan, Diane, Donny, and Steve. The Levys returned to Halls in 1975. Louis Levy died of a heart attack in 1979 and Mrs. Levy has continued to operate.

In 1975 Donny Levy joined his parents in the firm after graduating from Bradley University and continued with his mother until November, 1983, when he joined the brokerage firm of A. G. Edwards & Co. in their Memphis office.

Steve Levy joined the firm in 1978 after graduating from Vanderbilt University. He has not made known his plans for the future.

The older son, Allan, is an architect in San Francisco and the daughter, Diane, is now Dr. Diane Eger, wife of Dr. Arnold Eger, of Pittsburgh.

Clifford Sweat Vice-President

Clifford Sweat, of Ripley, will serve as vice-president of the Tennessee Soybean Promotion Board.

AT LIBERTY BOWL

The Halls Tiger football squad, managers and coaches will attend the Liberty Bowl Dec. 27th in Memphis. They will be guests of Halls Booster Club at the game matching Auburn and Arkansas.

TIGERS WIN

The Halls Tigers built their record to 7-1 last week as they defeated visiting Greenfield, 87-61. The Lady Tigers were on the short end of a 66-27 score and now 0-8 for the season.

Next game is Jan. 14th as the Halls teams host Iyer County.

Uncle Sam Pays $1,410 Per Person In County

The federal government directly spent $34,612,000 in Lauderdale County in fiscal 1983, according to a report issued by the Department of Commerce.

The federal government's fiscal 1983 began Oct. 1, 1982, and ended Sept. 30, 1983. During this period, direct federal expenditures amounted to $1,410 for every man, woman, and child in Lauderdale County.

Direct payments to individuals were the largest item—$30,989,000, of which $22,968,000 consisted of retirement and disability benefits for individuals.

These include Social Security retirement and disability pension payments, retired civil service and military pensions, veterans' benefits and allowances, Medicare, and other forms of federal assistance for individuals which are usually termed "transfer payments" or "entitlements."

Total defense spending in the county was $1,371,000, misleadingly high, since a very substantial portion of it consisted of military pensions and veterans' benefits also reported as direct payments to individuals. But $318,000 of defense spending was for military and other Defense Department salaries.

Other federal agencies, including the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Housing and Urban Development, Interior, and Transportation, and the Environmental Protection Agency disbursed $1,454,000.

While the federal government does not provide a breakdown of these figures, other sources indicate the Department of Agriculture was one of the largest sources of these funds.

Other federal spending in Lauderdale County during the fiscal year included $556,000 in grant awards. Besides general revenue sharing grants, the largest sources for grant funds in most counties are the Departments of Agriculture, Education, Health and Human Services, Housing and Urban Development, Labor, and Transportation.

And the total of direct federal spending in Lauderdale county does not include another extremely important source of federal money in the county: federal loans and federally guaranteed loans.

These are not included in direct federal spending figures because, as loans, it is presumed that these funds will eventually be repaid to the federal government.

These include emergency farm disaster loans, rural electric loans and loan guarantees, Small Business Administration loans, student loans for higher education, community development loans and many housing loan programs.

Direct federal loans in Lauderdale County were $3,236,000 in fiscal 1983, while federally guaranteed loans in the county amounted to $5,777,000.

The Department of Agriculture's loan programs were the largest single source of federally guaranteed loans in Lauderdale County during that year.

These included a number of low and moderate income housing loan programs as well as various farm loan programs. None of the federal spending totals in Lauderdale County include expenditures made through the Postal Service in this county.

The Postal Service's expenditures are no longer considered a part of the federal budget, since the Postal Service is considered a separate corporation.

The total of direct and indirect federal spending in Lauderdale County was $40,289,000 in fiscal 1983, providing one of the largest sources of funds for the economy of the county in that period.

MRS. DANIEL BEARD, center, president of the Ada Nixon Book Club, presented Christmas donations Tuesday of last week to

Mrs. Bill Davis, left, and Mrs. George Grubgett, kindergarten teachers at Ripley Elementary School.

Speaker

THE REV. GARY ROSE, of South Fulton, will speak in New Year's Eve services beginning at 9 p. m. in Ripley High School's Little Theatre Still Water, of Gadsden, and the Cecil Henson family will be guest singers. The public is invited.

ED JONES
 8th DISTRICT OF TENNESSEE
REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Christmas, the happiest time of year for most of us, is upon us again. The 98th Congress completed its work and preparations are being finalized for the 99th Congress which convenes in January. Nevertheless, most Members have returned home to their districts to celebrate the holidays.

As usual, this year has provided Congress, and the other branches of government, with plenty of work. As the year comes to a close, however, Washington takes on all the trappings of the Christmas season. With the traditional decorations going up all over the city, President Reagan lit the official Christmas tree, which stands upon the Ellipse behind the White House, on Dec. 19th. That tree is surrounded by smaller trees, one of each state in the union. On Capitol Hill, the huge tree that traditionally adorns the West Front of the Capitol was lit Dec. 12th in a ceremony accompanied by the music of military bands.

This has always been my favorite time of the year. As the children look forward to the visit by Santa Claus, adults look forward to reminiscing, seeing old friends, and practicing good will to all. It is a time for remembering the past and celebrating the future.

Usually, Christmas time brings with it a willingness among all of us to let the problems we face fade just a bit so that we can fully enjoy the richness of this joyous season. This year, questions loom on the economy, though unemployment and inflation reports remain optimistic. In addition, there remain troublesome international tensions in various parts of the world. We, as a nation, have witnessed continued bloodshed in Lebanon and a catastrophic famine in Ethiopia this year.

Despite these problems, Christmas is still a time to celebrate our blessings, as individuals and as a nation. As we gather with our friends and families, we should all offer a special prayer that the world tensions threatening us all will be resolved in the spirit of the message brought to us by the Prince of Peace, whose birth we celebrate. It is also a time that we use to join in the true spirit of Christmas by reaching out our hands of assistance to those who need it.

Individually, this is a time when Americans renew their spirit. Learning from the mis-

Farm Income To Take Sharp Cut
 By Charles Peal

After rising sharply this year, net farm income is expected to drop in 1985 to a range of $19 to $24 billion, compared with a 1984 forecast of $29 to $33 billion, as production expenses increase and government payments decline, said a USDA report. The report said the main reason for the decline will be "the fundamental problem in U.S. agriculture—commodity prices exceeding demand."

U.S. To Retaliate
 Trade representative William Brock served notice the U.S. will act punitively against countries that don't open their markets to U.S. goods and services. Brock said the Reagan administration would begin using its expanded authority under the newly enacted Trade Act of 1984 to retaliate against imports from nations that restrict investments and services from the U.S.

Pasture With Parquat
 Producers can ask for Extension Publication 1008, "Renovate Grass Pastures," for complete recommendations for renovation.

Farm Legislation
 Sec. Block said farm legislation should be long term and "should clearly state the direction of farm policy through the end of the 20th century," so farmers can make long-term decisions. He said "we need a market-oriented bill that will ensure that we are competitive in world markets," and "loan rates for commodities should be set at market-clearing levels and tied to a percentage of a historic average of U.S. market prices for each commodity." Block said the legislation should strive for consistency. International trade, conservation, credit, research and grain reserve policies should be "integrated with the objectives."

Financial Problems
 The U.S. farm machinery industry faced unprecedented financial problems as demand for products, which has fallen for the fifth consecutive year, is expected to remain depressed in 1985, an official with USDA's Economic Research Service, said.

Cotton Flannel Sheets
 Reflecting the growing trend toward natural fiber and cotton in home furnishings are recent product announcements by three companies. The Bibb Company will begin manufacturing and marketing all-cotton flannel sheets produced at its plants in Georgia. Fieldcrest is also producing all-cotton flannel sheets domestically, along with all-

No-Till Alfalfa Spring Planting
 By Jerry Parker

University of Tennessee will recommend no-till alfalfa in 1985 unless something unforeseen occurs. A Plant and Soil Science Information Sheet will be available by planting time in the spring.

Some things which must be done in order to insure a stand of no-till alfalfa are: Heavy thatch and plant growth tall enough to shade the soil must be removed by grazing or mowing, all of the vegetation must be killed-two spray applications will probably be needed, Paradan at the rate of 6.7 pounds/acre of the 15G must be applied in the rows with the seed, fertilizer and lime must be applied by soil test recommendations, and a no-till drill or machine must be used which has depth gauges to place the seed no deeper than one inch.

quat, mix a non-ionic surfactant-1 quart per 100 gallons of water. Use 20 gallons of water per acre.

The seed may be broadcast on top of the soil or put in rows using a grain drill or one of the new no-till machines (Zip seeder or the Power-till seeder). The sprayer can be mounted on the seeder. Sow the seed February 10 to late March. February seedlings have produced the best stands and most growth.

Our recommendations are 2 pounds of Regal, Tillman, or Ladino plus 4 pounds of Kendall, Redland, Redman, or Kenstar red clover. Add 8 pounds of Kobe lespedeza on droughty soils.

This killing of 50% of the fescue with Parquat should have an advantage over disks where a heavy sod of fescue is present—many disks would be needed, soils are too wet to be disked—disking not feasible, and renovation with Parquat would be very evident—the striped look where one band of fescue would be brown and alternate bands still green.

Be sure to read the Parquat label for additional information concerning its use.

Renovation By Disking
 Where only thin stands of fescue are present or where the fescue has been grazed close, disking may be the preferred way to renovate.

For thin stands of fescue, disk on the contour to make small furrows to keep the seed from washing off the slopes.

For thick stands, disk enough to kill 50% of the fescue.
