Some Items We Can Do Without In 1985

By Kelly Leiter

I really don't ask for much out of the mass media, and they usually don't disappoint me in that regard.

So I'm not anticipating any great changes in 1985. But just in case any editors or news directors out there are listening, I want to make it perfectly clear that this coming year I can do right well without:

--Those fanatical, frothing-at-the-mouth reports on Prince, that cow-eyed midget from Minnesota who seems to have preempted all the most repulsive performing traits of Elvis in his final years, Mick Jagger from the day he first parted those fat lips, Alice Cooper, who has mercifully faded from the public's eye, and Mr. T., who hasn't.

--Yet another picture -- in or out of make-up -- of Boy George, whether to be Bea Lillie, Lillie Langtry, or Oscar Wilde. He's the type that could give transvestitism a bad name.

--Any story about the on-again-off-again love lives of Liz Taylor, Joan Collins, Victoria Principal, Debra Winger and Lasse.

--All reports of the latest celebrity to check into the Betty Ford or any other West Coast drug and alcoholic clinic. The whole world has become a public confessional. Besides, doesn't anyone ever dry out or kick the habit east of the Alleghenies?

--All those set up photos of cow-eyed Nancy Reagan, decked out in designer duds, mingling with the sick, the lame, and the halt, not to mention half the hyped-up-high school junkies in the land. All right, already. She can't, but so do thousands of others who do that work every day when there are no photographers around.

--All those great American success stories about how designer Bill Blass is really just a good old boy from Ft. Wayne, Ind., who, but for the grace of a sketch pad, would be working the swing shift at the General Electric plant back home.

--Those gushy reports on the genius of Steven Spielberg, Francis Ford Coppola, Woody Allen and Soupy Sales.

--Any story about the alleged talent of Yoko Ono. NO. Let's make that any story about Yoko Ono, period.

--Photographs of Martina Navrottilova painted up to look like Boy George and dressed like Joan Collins that were set up by her agent who wants to convince the world she really is feminine.

--All stories about Phil Donahue's move to New York and the millions of heart-broken midwestern housewives he left behind. Fear not, midwestern ladies, Phil can find more aberrations in a single block in New York City to report on than he could find in the entire Ohio Valley.

--Any mention whatsoever of Cabbage Patch Kids, even if Mickey Rooney and Mary Lou Retton are signed to megabuck contracts to star in a syndicated rock video musical of those homely little creatures.

--A single work about the new George Bush as a shoo-in for the Republican nomination four years down the road. Let me get used to the fact that he's going to be on the public scene for the next four first.

--All political analysis on former Senator Howard Baker's chances for wrestling the GOP nomination out of Bush's preppie clutch without ever moving out of his hometown--Huntsville, Tenn. Don't bet on it. Remember Secretary of State Al Haig visited Huntsville one weekend, and nobody's heard a word about him since.

And finally spare me any and all stories about how this will be the big break through year for sciences to conquer baldness, obliterate obesity, and mend the heart break of psoriasis by extracting an enzyme from zucchini peelings.

Even that wouldn't get me to read those half baked scientific stories that plague the national press. And that news sure as hell won't get me to eat zucchini.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Good Samaritans

As most of you know, Nell had major surgery Jan. 4th, and while she is doing extremely well, is still unable to do any lifting or bending, so that she is condemned to your editor's cooking and housekeeping.

Just how we would have managed without the kindness and thoughtfulness of relatives, friends, and neighbors, we wouldn't know. In addition to Nell's problems, your editor has been having problems with his eyes, so that we have been house-bound much of the time, because of the snow and ice.

Neighbors and friends have brought us food, others have run errands for us. Terry Ford was kind enough to drive Nell to Memphis for a doctor's appointment. Robert Hogue, a next door neighbor, came over and swept the snow from our porch, steps and a part of the driveway, so that anyone coming to our home wouldn't fall. Marcus Spiller brought his tractor over and cleared the driveway as well as others on Circle Drive. Tommy Simmons has been considerate enough to find our newspapers and place them in the door, so that we didn't have to try and walk in the snow. A special thanks to Paul and Virginia Avery for all their thoughtfulness. We are grateful for the thoughtfulness of those we have named and others that we did not name.

By the way, Nell thinks she has lost some weight. Your editor's cooking may be a good diet, but we're not looking for any jobs as a chef.

Anyhow, both of us want to say "thank you!"

Snowbound

Speaking of the snow, we took Nell to Memphis to see her surgeon Jan. 3rd, the day of the first big snow. Fortunately, the doctor was able to enter Nell in St. Francis Hospital and did the needed surgery the next morning. Jean, our daughter-in-law, had come to Halls to drive us to Memphis and be with Nell while she was in the hospital.

We were able to get her a folding bed so she could be in the room with Nell, but your editor was stranded in the hospital, as were hundreds of hospital employees and families of other patients.

Friday night, Nell's nephew, Dr. Tom Avery, drove your editor to a motel, and then had to come to get me Saturday morning. Taxicabs were a virtual impossibility to get, since the 14-inch snow had Memphis completely paralyzed.

Saturday, we were able to get a taxi, and again Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon, we were able to get our cars out of the parking lot and drive to Halls.

Since bringing Nell home Jan. 10th, another nephew, Tommy McDearman, has been thoughtful enough to help us run errands.

A Kathleen Norris quotation in the most recent edition of the Reader's Digest, "There seems to be much more winter than we need," exactly states your editor's feelings.

Services were at 1 p.m. Thursday in Ronk Funeral Home in Alamo, with burial in Robertson Cemetery, between Alamo and Bells.

An auto mechanic, he was a native of Crockett County, a veteran of World War II, and a member of Murry Chapel Methodist Church.

He leaves a son, Franklin, of Bemis; a sister, Mrs. Elaine Evans, of Lexington; and five grandchildren.

Ripley Offers Aid To Build Schools

Ripley's city board voted unanimously Monday to offer the same percentage of its lion's share of sales taxes as other county cities to enable the county, with its share, to fund a $6,975,000 program for school improvements recommended by the county Board of Education and approved by the County Commission—a new school east of Ripley Elementary School to serve Arp, Henning, and Ripley Junior High School students, an addition to Halls Elementary School, and renovation of Halls Junior High School, Halls High School, and Ripley High School's gym and vocational and handicapped building.

The plan would see cities assuring pay-off in 15 years of a $6,000,000 general obligation bond issue by the county, required in addition to surplus sales tax funds on hand or foreseeable, to fund the program.

Cities' aid would help set up a reserve for the bond issue equal to one year's debt service and would thereafter annually supplement county sales tax income to cover that year's debt service.

Any funds remaining in the kitty after the bonds are paid off will be divided among participating governments, each city taking a share proportional to input.

The plan follows advice given Halls' city board Monday by Mike Tallent, of the University of Tennessee Technical Assistance Service:

"If, after all of this discussion, it is still the city's intent to commit its sales tax to the county schools, we strongly encourage the city to construct an agreement that constitutes more than a blank check. Preferably, such an agreement should have fixed amounts on construction costs and bonds, fixed time frames for the life of the agreement, preferably a fixed dollar requirement and commitment on the part of Halls, plus a structured report and program for the county to provide a monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual report to the city.

"Halls' participation, if defined in a fixed dollar amount, should drop all reference to sales tax, and such tax money should come to the city, with a fixed debt service payment going to the county.

"In closing, it should be noted that few cities and counties have such agreements on sales tax, and I know of no other county and its cities that have such a total agreement."

Halls' board has indicated support for the school improvements but has waited for Ripley to negotiate the details.

The Board of Education will hold a called meeting at 6 p.m. Thursday, in the courtroom of the courthouse, to consider the school improvement plan as well as personnel changes.

The County Commission's budget committee will meet Friday. The entire Commission must vote to secure city aid.

Halls Board Demands Ripley Cable Co. Fees

Halls' Board of Mayor and Alderman Monday night directed City Attorney Thomas Caldwell to proceed with legal action to collect franchise fees from Ripley Cable Co. Fees have not been paid from May, 1982 until the present.

Steve Levy addressed the board, stating that services had been reduced and a 10% cost increase had been put in place.

The Board deferred action on Community Development applications, pending fuller information.

Mayor Joe Jacobs appointed Eugene Pugh, Marcus Spiller and James Jones as a committee to study extension of sewer service on East Tigrett; estimated cost is $50,000.

The Board also: Directed that additional gravel be distributed on Watkins Circle and pot holes be repaired.

Approved purchase of a stun gun by the police department, at a cost of $90.

Voted to seek bids on fire insurance on city property.

Appointed a committee of Bob Stolarick, Harry Adcock, James Jones, and Eugene Pugh to determine whether the city should continue employee health and accident insurance with Bankers' Life & Casualty or join the Tennessee Municipal League insurance pool. The Board authorized Mayor Jacobs to sign necessary papers if the committee decides to join the pool.

Delayed purchase of a truck on bids of $8,325.93 by River Road Dodge and $8,928.66 by McDearman Motors. The Board will delete some specifications to lower cost.

Delayed for further cost estimates a request by Fire Chief Don Patton that beepers be purchased for fire department personnel.

Approved re-zoning of Westside Baptist Church property so that the church may erect a parsonage on the property.

Dyersburg, after a suspected heart attack last week.

Mrs. Kitty Brown entered Parkview Methodist Medical Center in Dyersburg Saturday for treatment.

Mrs. Wymond Hurt entered Baptist Hospital in Memphis Wednesday of last week.

Sidney Gooch entered St. Francis Hospital in Memphis Friday, with pneumonia. Mrs. Gooch is with him.

EVANGELISM CONFERENCE

Jim Pinkston, minister of music in First Baptist Church in Halls, will bring special music during Dyer Baptist Association's Evangelism Conference, Feb. 7-8th, in First Baptist Church in Dyersburg.

Dr. Jerry Glisson, pastor of Leewood Baptist Church in Memphis, will be the Bible Teacher for each session. The Rev. Billy Walker, of Memphis, will bring evangelistic messages in the 1:30 p.m. Thursday session. The Rev. W. B. Oakley, of Dyer, will speak in the 7 p.m. Thursday session. Speaking in the 10 a.m. Friday session will be the Rev. Gary Felton, of Memphis. Featured speakers for the 1:30 p.m. Friday session will be The Rev. Benny Jackson, of Memphis, and The Rev. Bob Kendig, of Memphis. The Rev. Don Womack, president of the Fellowship of Tennessee Baptist Evangelists, will speak in the 7 p.m. Friday session.

A bookstore and an evangelist display area will be located in the church basement. A nursery will be available for the evening sessions.

Dyer Baptist Association is composed of 42 Southern Baptist Churches and Chapels in Lauderdale, Dyer, and Haywood counties.

House Numbers Move Very Slowly In Halls

Halls officials have been disappointed in the response to the drive to place house numbers at all locations in Halls, although they realize weather conditions have handicapped the effort.

Halls Police Chief Buddy Moore Tuesday stressed the need for house numbers in order for police, fire department, or ambulance calls to be answered without delay.

The numbers available through the police department cost only 20¢ each, with a maximum expense of 60¢. Help is available if needed to place the numbers.

Laney E. Fowler

Laney E. Fowler, 86, of Gates, died Friday in Baptist Hospital-Lauderdale.

He was a retired farmer. Services were at 2 p.m. Sunday in Fairview Cemetery.

He leaves two sons, Troy, of Dyerburg, and Dalton, of Toccoa, Ga.; two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Bane, of Gates, and Mrs. Barbara Fair, of Dyerburg; five brothers, Fount, of Detroit, Charles, of St. Louis, Guy, of Huntingdon, William, of Flint, Mich., and Ernest, of Columbus, Ind.; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Joslin, of Flint, Mich., Mrs. Kathryn Joslin, of Baton Rouge, La., and Mrs. Christine Rickman, of Corinth; 13 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Dismissed From Baptist Hospital Lauderdale

Halls—Laney Fowler, Jr., Stacy Nelson.

Gates—Gordon Bowers, Jimmy Edwards, Alma Shands, Shirley Pike, Melissa Terry.

Henning—Sarah Norfolk, Melissa Burnett, Michelle Alston.

TOUGH GOING—A foot of snow—the county's heaviest snowfall in about 30 years—was bad enough news for county residents and livestock, but wind chill factors far below zero made life even more miserable.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

New Feature

Perhaps many of you read the new feature in last week's issue of The Halls Graphic.

The writer, Kelly Leiter, is a professor in the College of Journalism of the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. He regularly writes a column using the logo, "The Public Scold," in which he comments on any item which strikes his interest. We have found him both amusing and informative, and we believe our readers will look forward to reading his commentary.

We do not know Mr. Leiter, but our son, Buddy, does know him and secured permission for The Halls Graphic to publish this column. We will publish the column on a regular basis, as space permits.

Essential Services

In every discussion of the proposed new national budget, the term "essential services" becomes a bone of contention.

We wonder just what are the essential services that the U.S. government should supply. Perhaps the Administration and the Congress should first determine just what those services should be, and then they just possibly could set a budget that would be somewhere in the neighborhood of the revenue of the federal government.

We won't attempt to outline just what we believe to be essential services, but we will suggest that they do not necessarily include all of the special interests that claim to be essential services.

We believe a definition of the term "essential services" would be of great benefit to our nation but probably could stir up a greater controversy than the budget itself.

Misunderstanding

Apparently several of our friends misunderstood when we wrote about Neil going back to the doctor. She did not go back into the hospital but made a routine post-operative trip to see her doctor, as she will again Thursday. Thanks for inquiring, anyhow!

A Fine Record

Halls High School's boys basketball team has built one of the finest records in the state and through Tuesday of last week was tied in sixth place in Tennessee Class A basketball teams.

It will begin its quest for a spot in the state tournament in the district tournament starting Thursday in Greenfield.

We wish them the best of luck. Coach Winston Jarrett and his team deserve the support of every Halls High fan!

Your State Legislators Solicit Your Guidance

State Sen. Leonard Dunaway, of Millington, and State Rep. Floyd Crain, of Ripley, representing Lauderdale County in the state's General Assembly, urge countians to complete this questionnaire and mail it to Suite 22, Legislative Plaza, Nashville, Tenn., 37219. Do you favor—

With sales tax reduced, a small state income tax?

Removing sales tax from food even if other taxes must be raised or enacted to replace the lost revenue?

The state continuing to tax amusements, such as football games and rock concerts?

Allowing parents to remove children from the school system to teach them at home?

Requiring such children to perform at the same level as children in public schools?

The new plan paying teachers based on performance, instead of paying all teachers the same?

Evaluating school principals?

Admission to state universities regardless of College Entrance Examination score?

A Constitutional amendment to legalize a state lottery?

Allowing banks from other states to do business here if the other state allows Tenn. banks to operate there?

State regulation to cut the growth of health care costs?

More state money spent to deal with child abuse?

Requiring, by law, wearing of seat belts?

Election of county school boards by—

The county legislative body?

The voters?

Election of the School Superintendent by—

The school board?

The voters?

Halls Cagers In District Tourney

Halls High School's Tigers, now ranked fifth in the state, seek a spot in the Class A state tournament this week as the district tournament opens Thursday in Greenfield, with girls' finals Monday and boys' finals Tuesday.

Herron Shifted From Okinawa

Newly promoted Air Force Senior Airman Marty T. Herron, son of Robert N. Herron, of Brownsville, and Nancy M. Nix, of Halls, has arrived for duty at Lake Air Force Base, Ariz.

Herron, a jet engine mechanic with the 56th Aircraft Generation Squadron, was previously assigned at Kadena Air Base, Okinawa, Japan.

He is a 1981 graduate of Halls High School.

SNOW ON CABLE TV

Snow on the ground meant snow on the TV screen Tuesday for Ripley Cable Co. subscribers, after weather contracted cable connections and interrupted the system's programming.

Equipment was ordered in from Mississippi to re-connect transmission apparatus.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Barry Tibbs, of Carrollton, Tex., a 7 lb. 5 1/2 oz. son, Brandon James, Feb. 10th in a Dallas, Tex. Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tibbs, of Halls, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soden, of Dallas.

GET CANCER TESTS

The county Health Department, in co-operation with the American Cancer Society, offers the stool blood test for "hidden blood" to persons 50 years of age or older. Specimens can be collected at home. Information from 635-9711.

Phones For Help, 2d Shot In Head?

James R. Hutt, 25, whose wife, Sandra, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Haynes, of 536 Dogwood, Ripley, was dead on arrival at a Houston, Tex., hospital after head wounds from two different weapons about 4:45 a.m. Wednesday of last week, relatives report.

They understand that Hutt, a native of Chicago, Ill., and a construction worker who had been working in the wee hours at a convenience store for the past few weeks, armed with a .25 calibre pistol, telephoned his supervisor to say the store had been robbed and he had been shot.

When police arrived, he was dead of a second head wound, from a larger calibre pistol than the .25 with which he was first wounded, relatives report.

Whether the first wound was from his own weapon, in a struggle, or from another, similar weapon, is not clear. Relatives said Houston police indicated to them that they believed more than one person involved in the robbery.

Some theorize that if the robbers, having shot Hutt in the head, saw him using the telephone, they returned to finish him off.

Mr. Hutt also leaves two daughters, Jamie Nichole Hutt, of Houston, and Tiffany Ann Hutt, of Nashville; his mother, Mrs. Ann Morris, of Houston; and three brothers, Vincent, of Nashville, Mark, of Dallas, Tex., and John, of California.

The body was cremated. Memorial services were Saturday in Forest Park Westheimer Funeral Home.

CC Postpones School Action

County Commissioners Monday delayed until 7 p.m. next Tuesday a vote on financing a $6,975,000 school improvement plan to meet the state fire marshal's requirements.

The Board of Education, meeting Thursday of last week, voted to present to the Commission a proposal by county cities to fund as much of the county's costs of a 15-year, $6,000,000 bond issue as needed to finance the program.

County Executive William Tucker IV and County Trustee Paul Meadows prefer a 10-year bond issue, cutting interest costs, which would soak up virtually all of the cities' share of sales tax.

The cities, facing the same revenue problems as the county, are offering to have their taxpayers pay again (in addition to being county taxpayers) to fund the school improvement program, but say they need some of the sales tax money allocated to them by state law to meet other urgent needs of their citizens, over the next few years, especially in view of the loss of federal revenues likely under the latest federal budget.

They propose to pay whatever is necessary to fund the school improvement program adopted by the Board of Education and the County Commission, but retain any sales tax funds in excess of those needs—funds on which the county would otherwise reap investment interest, as on past school fundings.

Grand Jury Indicted 26

The county grand jury Monday held for Circuit Court trial, for charges noted:

Larry Adams, Harold Driskell, driving under influence; Harold Wells, DUI plus felonious assault, destroying private property.

Vera Sue Brown, malicious stabbing; Ricky Lynn Chipman, Michael Sorio (a/k/a Frank Bonick), burglary second degree.

Jimmy Clark, Melvin Taylor, and Robert Wilson; Lillian Diane Jarrett; grand larceny.

Steve M. Dunaway, Barbara G. Harrison, burglary third degree; Charles Featherstone, Jr., Jerry Wayne Nelson, burglary first degree.

Charles Ray Fitzpatrick, shoplifting (two counts); Barry Hammond, violating bad check law (three counts).

Diane Jackson, Lawrence Taylor, introducing contraband into jail.

James Johnson, burglary second degree (two counts); David Jones, larceny by trick, passing forged paper.

Vernon Masterson, aggravated assault.

James Brian Poole, burglary first degree, assault with intent to commit rape, grand larceny.

Larry Taylor, disposing of mortgaged property; James C. Thomas, Jr., rape, burglary first degree; Annette Marie Turner, larceny by trick (two counts), possession of marijuana; Lawrence A. "Larry" Williams, disposing of mortgaged property.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

As winter storms in the first week of February caused difficult situations around the country, events in Washington stepped up their pace. The President presented his budget for FY86 to Congress on February 4th. His annual economic report was delivered the 6th, and he delivered the State of the Union Message on the 6th, which also happened to be his 74th birthday. Without question, the budget recommendations, as delivered to the Capitol, became the focal point of most of the actions and debates that followed thereafter.
The President had set a goal in the fall to keep this year's federal ance for state and local governments gets a $4 billion cut as does spending for energy. The general purpose fiscal assistance cuts reflects the Administration's desire to eliminate general revenue sharing, urban development action grants, and other various urban and rural economic development programs. Reductions in all of the programs being cut amounts to about $37 billion.

The future of this budget remains up in the air. The Senate leadership, according to published reports, remains committed to developing its own budget. Just last week, it was reported that those leaders had turned the task over to the Budget Committee. Though they had originally planned to have their spending blueprint ready by February 4th, it has not yet been completed.

On the House side, the Budget Committee has already begun its analysis and preliminary discussion of the President's budget. His spending recommendations are certain to get a full hearing and discussion in the House. Obviously, depending on what happens in the Senate, their budget could conceivably supercede the President's request.
The coming weeks are certain to be full of discussion and negotiation on the budget. There appears to be a consensus that further cuts are going to be necessary, but reaching an agreement on how they are to be achieved will take a great deal more time.

For example, spending for agriculture is scheduled to go from about $20 billion in FY85 to about $12 billion in FY86. Those figures include cuts in price support programs, soil conservation programs, and a host of others. General purpose fiscal assist-

SCHOOL BOND PLAN BREEZES THRU COUNTY COMMISSION
There was scant sign of controversy as County Commission, in a called meeting Tuesday evening, swiftly accepted, 21-3, an offer by county cities to help fund a $6,975,000 school improvement program to meet fire marshal complaints. The program, closing Arpa and Henning schools, drew opposition only from Henning area Commissioners Robert Flagg, Jr., and B. G. Graves and from Commissioner L. G. "Red" Thompson. Taking another view was Gene Edwards, Henning alderman, speaking from the floor: "We started this back in August, affording equality of schools and education. I feel Arpa and Henning schools are not so. We're going to have two systems, one in the north end of the county and one in the south end. I urge you to support this plan." Adam (Son) Scott, Board of Education member, agreed it had been a "long road" but said "How proud I am...children will be indebted to this commission for a long time." He was among about 64 spectators at the hearing, 18 or so of whom were directly connected with the county's education system. The "long road" began when the state threatened to close schools for lack of fire safety features omitted when the state approved building plans for the identical schools. The county asked its incorporated cities for the same total turn-over of their share of state sales taxes which it has twice obtained in the past, to fund schools. Led by the City of Ripley, which collects the lion's share of all sales taxes in the county, the cities readily agreed to fund the necessary bonds, but for a 15-year maturity, and retaining any sales tax funds not needed to finance the bonds, to retain some of the sales tax proceeds for pressing needs they face, since their citizens are paying twice toward school needs—as county taxpayers, and again as city taxpayers. The plan was the only one presented to the County Commission Tuesday, and sailed through with little trouble. Bonds will build a new school for grades 4-8 east of Ripley Elementary School (now K-6, to become K-3); close Arpa, both Henning schools, and Ripley Junior High; add to Halls Elementary; and renovate Halls Junior High, Halls High, and Ripley High School's gymnasium and its vocational and handicapped education building.

Growth Rate Seen Easing Downed By Kenton, Halls Into Regional

By Charles T. Paul
Most forecasts for 1985 expect an economy whose growth rate will slow substantially from levels recorded in '84. Green, when the gross national product jumped 6.5%. Real GNP growth in '85 will likely be in the 2% to 4% range. Since 1945, periods of economic expansion in the U.S. have lasted an average of 36 months. Thus, given the age of the current expansion, the economy would be "due" for a "correction" in late 1985. It's doubtful if deficit reduction measures will be enacted in time to have a significant impact in fiscal year 1985. Thus, federal deficits may be near 180 to 190 billion dollars for the current fiscal year. Federal deficits will likely remain high by historical standards, through the remainder of the 80s. Budget pressure exerted due to the deficits will reduce government expenditures for farm programs. The financial outlook for farmers in 1985 points to continuation of the depressed conditions that have plagued agriculture through most of the 80s. A down-trend in farm income is expected to result in continued financial stress for many farmers, particularly those highly leveraged with debt. Farmers with debt-to-asset ratios greater than 40% most susceptible to financial stress. At the beginning of 1984, that group consisted of about 18% of all farm operators but accounted for 86% of all farm debt. As 1985 begins, many farmers are facing financial pressure carried over from previous years, but it's hard at this point in time to be optimistic about significant changes in 1985 that will improve the situation. U.S. commodity supplies are large, and farm prices are under pressure. Crop output was up sharply last year because of expanded acreage and increased yields. Use is showing a more modest Halls High School's Tigers lost to Kenton, 91-77, in district championship play in Greenfield Tuesday but nevertheless advanced to Region 7 play in Dresden, beginning Thursday evening. The Halls team reached the district final with an 84-83 win from Bradford Saturday, after Halls' Lady Tigers, in their best game of the season, ran out of steam late in the game and were eliminated from the district meet by Sharon, 49-38.

The Colossus of Rhodes, one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, was 120 feet tall and stood at the entrance to the harbor. It was destroyed by an earthquake in 224 B.C. rise than out-put, so prospects are for a significant re-building of small carry-over stocks of feed grains, soy beans, and cotton. Meat out-put remains at a near-record level, because of much larger broiler production and slightly more beef. Overall, the commodity out-

School Bond Plan Breezes Thru County Commission

There was scant sign of controversy as County Commission, in a called meeting Tuesday evening, swiftly accepted, 21-3, an offer by county cities to help fund a $6,975,000 school improvement program to meet fire marshal complaints. The program, closing Arpa and Henning schools, drew opposition only from Henning area Commissioners Robert Flagg, Jr., and B. G. Graves and from Commissioner L. G. "Red" Thompson. Taking another view was Gene Edwards, Henning alderman, speaking from the floor: "We started this back in August, affording equality of schools and education. I feel Arpa and Henning schools are not so. We're going to have two systems, one in the north end of the county and one in the south end. I urge you to support this plan." Adam (Son) Scott, Board of Education member, agreed it had been a "long road" but said "How proud I am...children will be indebted to this commission for a long time." He was among about 64 spectators at the hearing, 18 or so of whom were directly connected with the county's education system. The "long road" began when the state threatened to close schools for lack of fire safety features omitted when the state approved building plans for the identical schools. The county asked its incorporated cities for the same total turn-over of their share of state sales taxes which it has twice obtained in the past, to fund schools. Led by the City of Ripley, which collects the lion's share of all sales taxes in the county, the cities readily agreed to fund the necessary bonds, but for a 15-year maturity, and retaining any sales tax funds not needed to finance the bonds, to retain some of the sales tax proceeds for pressing needs they face, since their citizens are paying twice toward school needs—as county taxpayers, and again as city taxpayers. The plan was the only one presented to the County Commission Tuesday, and sailed through with little trouble. ## Fatally Stabbed In Top Security Unit

Larry D. Woods, 30, serving 10 years for armed robbery in Davidson County, was stabbed to death Thursday of last week by another inmate at Fort Pillow State Prison. The stabbing occurred about 11:35 a.m. in the prison's maximum security cellblock, spokesman John Taylor said. He said Woods was stabbed once in the upper left chest with a 10-inch steel "shank"—or prison-made knife. Woods was pronounced dead at 1:15 a.m. at Baptist Memorial Hospital-Tipton in Covington. Another maximum-security inmate, Ricky McDonald, 27, who was being escorted to the shower when the stabbing occurred, was being questioned, Taylor said. Woods had been at Fort Pillow since 1982. McDonald is serving 20 to 40 years on Davidson and Blount county convictions for second-degree burglary, attempting to commit a felony, setting a fire and robbery. Farmers should strive to improve decision making, utilizing farm record data. Of course, a good job of production is still essential. Overall, 1985 projects to be another difficult year for agriculture.

DAR Winners Tea Honorees

Fort Prudhomme Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented medals and certificates to essay winners Jan Green, Henning fifth grader, Charity Crossnoe, Halls sixth grader, and Lee Johnsey, Ripley eighth grader, at a tea Sunday in the home of Mrs. Gwinn Matthews in Ripley. In observance of American History Month, the essay contest was on the topics, "The Contribution of Black Soldiers or Patriots during the American Revolution" or "The Statue of Liberty, The Lady with a Lamp." Four essays were entered from Mrs. Anna Rose Watkins' fifth grade class at Henning; 14 from Ronald Johnsey's sixth graders at Halls; and eight from Mrs. Ivan Criner's eighth grade in Ripley. Patsy Mooney, Ripley High senior and Cindy Olds, Halls High senior, DAR Good Citizens for 1985, were presented pins and certificates by Mrs. Leon Hargett, American History Month Chairman. They read their essays on "Our American Heritage and My Responsibility as An American Citizen."

County's Real Estate Re-Appraisal Begun

Tony Sykes, of Jackson, regional supervisor of the state's Division of Property Assessment, told Ripley Rotary Club's luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Golden Hawaii Restaurant that this county's first re-appraisal in 15 years is underway, and real estate owners may expect notices of new valuations of their property about a year from now. Sykes, program guest, with County Assessor Bernice Crain, of James Ray, showed a film (available to civic groups, requests to Crain), Your Fair Share, explaining that periodic re-appraisal is necessary to equalize the tax burden on real estate in terms of current values, not those of 15 years ago, and that it does not necessarily mean any increase in real estate taxes. In fact, if there is any such increase, local governments must call a public hearing to explain the reasons, under state law. Sykes urges citizens who do not understand or do not agree with mailed notices of property valuations to contact the re-appraisers, who will answer questions and, when in doubt, take a second look at the properties in question. Lauderdale and Dyer Counties are the last in this section of the state to be re-appraised.

CONFIDENTIAL CORNER

By Henry Murchison

Political Blackmail

Actions of farm state senators during the past several days in filibustering for additional financial relief for farmers virtually amounted to political blackmail, as they delayed action on the confirmation of Edwin Moses as U.S. Attorney General. We're not at all certain that Mr. Moses should have been confirmed, as he was late Saturday, but his nomination should have been based on its merits and not on a political trade-off. We very likely are going to upset many of our farmer friends, but we wonder if the quick fix agreed upon will really be of any great help to suffering farmers. It may merely delay any really effective solutions. It seems to us that farm subsidies and support programs have become a hindrance rather than a help to the farm business. Budget Director Stockman has made some wild statements, but basically he may be correct in urging the dropping of farm subsidies. For a long time, your editor has wondered if the farm industry would not be more successful on the open market rather than operating under government subsidies and controls. Most farmers are excellent business men and could probably operate at a profit if they were able to determine their own course of action. The farm industry is vital to the welfare of this nation and the world. Food and fiber are essential to every human being, and of necessity, the welfare of the farmer is of prime importance, but artificial prices, artificial crop quotas, and similar controls would seem to help neither the farmer nor the consumer. The farmers have reached their desperate state of affairs because of a number of things, including weather conditions, inflation, high interest rates, and increasing cost of seed, fertilizer and machinery. The Farmers Home Administration has played its part in the overall picture by yielding to political pressure to ease loan requirements and making loans without adequate collateral and even in some cases, no real collateral at all. Other lending agencies have been caught in the squeeze by trying to meet competition without following normal lending practices. At the same time, some farmers have used poor judgment in overextending themselves in the purchase of farm machinery and additional farmlands. We're afraid that the old axiom of "going in debt in good times and paying during hard times" is still in effect. We certainly are not qualified to judge just what is best and what isn't best, but we do know that the present method of operating has not been good for either consumer or farmer. Incidentally, many farmers in this area have basically agreed with your editor. The farmer must have some relief but quick fixes do not appear to be the answer. It is hoped the eased financing will help, but permanent solutions must be found!

Tigers Deserve Support

A strange thing happened to the Halls Tigers Tuesday of last week when they were ambushed, 91-77, by Kenton in the finals of the district tournament. The Tigers have proven themselves during the season to be the top team in the district and probably the top Class A team in West Tennessee outside of Shelby County, but the Kenton upset is the second game this year in which they have lost as the favored team. Lake County decisively defeated the Tigers in the first game after the Christmas holidays, and now Kenton has beaten them after several days lay-off because of the weather. Because of lack of height, the Tigers play a pressing defense that has been very effective, but apparently any lay-off disrupts their defense. Halls led Lake County Monday in Region 7 play in Greenfield, and fans hope they're returning to form. They need and deserve the support of Tiger fans!

CRASH IN DENSE FOG about 6 a.m. Wednesday of last week killed Donald H. Davis, Jr., 24, of Indianola, Miss., when his 1984 Peterbilt tractor-trailer, loaded with 3,200 pounds of pork, southbound on new Highway 51, struck broadside a United Van Lines tractor-trailer pulling out of Lauderdale Inn to head north. The United driver, Richard Allison, 30, of St. Clair's Shores, Mich., and a passenger were uninjured, but home furnishings were strewn 300 yards. Minutes later, Douglas Henry, 42, of Dyersburg, southbound in a 1970 Ford pick-up, was unhurt when the truck struck debris and overturned, and Harley W. Davis, 60, of Memphis, escaped injury when his 1978 Datsun pick-up, northbound, collided head-on with Davis' tractor. Highway Patrolman Raymond Smith says charges will be filed.

Ripley P&L Dips Rates

Effective March 2nd, Ripley Power and Light Company customers will be paying about 1.5% less for electricity, Manager Mike Allmand announces. The reduction will represent a yearly savings of approximately $76,100 on electric bills of the utility's 5,400 customers. Bills rendered on or after the March 2nd meter reading date will reflect the rate reduction. Allmand says the reduction is possible because of the sound financial condition of the electric system. "Our reserves are good, and our operating costs are at a minimum. We feel we are in a position where we can afford to reduce electric rates," he said. Allmand emphasizes that the decrease is a reduction in Ripley Power and Light's revenues and not in the price of power purchased from TVA by the utility.

Tennessee's state parks have found a way to make fitness fun with weekend camps especially for people who don't have the time or money for a trip to a "fat farm" or weight loss resort. "We're definitely not a fat farm," says Kathy Aka, a recreational specialist for the parks. "Our camps are short, three-day programs aimed at getting people started in the right direction. This year's camps will be held on February 22-24 at Fall Creek Falls State Park and on March 15-17 at Montgomery Bell State Park." The cost of $75.00 per person includes two nights lodging, six meals, a camp T-shirt, and all activities. The price is low considering what the participants find to enjoy. In a beautiful park setting away from the phone, the kids, the dog, and the job, the lessons in change begin. "We start teaching with our meals. By feeding participants delicious, low-calorie meals, we introduce them to the idea that it is possible to survive without salt or frying," says Kathy. "Feeding is only part of the lesson. We hold classes on food preparation, nutrition, and cooking with herbs. We want these lessons to be adopted by everyone, regardless of lifestyle." A quick scan of the meals to be served proves Kathy's point. This list shows such yummys as baked apples, cornbread, crustless quiche and meat loaf. To go along with a new way of eating lessons in workshops, hairstyling and stress management are offered. The programs put emphasis on the total person, and it is a credit to the program that useful information is doled out in heavy measure. Past instructors have been Carol Schmidt of "Color Me Beautiful," Dr. Mary Frances Hall, a Middle Tennessee mental health instructor, and Ralph Human, Crossville's famous clogging teacher. It is the intent of the fitness program to provide the participants with new self-images that will continue once they return home. According to Alberta Doehring of Nashville, the fitness camp program left her feeling terrific. "We were educated, inspired, and entertained, all at the same time. How they did it for the nominal fees charged really amazed me!" At the weekend camp separate exercise and fitness classes are held for men and women, as well as many activities for couples. Some of the activities offered include golf, square dances, volleyball and nature hikes. All exercises are discussed and demonstrated thoroughly. "We don't force people to exercise, and all activities are optional," says Kathy. "But I've noticed that everyone participates to some degree in everything we offer. Even the husbands who were provided to come by their wives usually end up having as much fun as anyone else." The success of the fitness camps is evident in the state park files. Letters expressing satisfaction with the program abound, and many folks vow to repeat the camp the next time it is offered. Besides the weekend co-ed camps, the parks also offer week-long fitness camps for women, in late March and in September and October. A typical day at a fitness camp begins with a sunrise walk. After breakfast, classes are held in fashion, dance and hair care. Sprinkled between the classes are periods for tennis, volleyball, aerobics and more walking. The relaxation and stress management clinic closes the day's activities. The idea for the fitness camps began when Dave Bille, another park recreational specialist, attended a seminar in Virginia. Fitness camps had been held in 4-H clubs in Virginia parks with great success. Dave adopted the idea for adults who needed a change in environment to motivate a change in lifestyle, but who lacked the extra time resort camps required. According to Dave and Kathy Aka, participants are encouraged to start changes for the better by looking for attainable goals. "We ask people to try something new. For some it may be exercise, hiking or leaving off the salt. Once they've attained one goal or tried one new venture, the next goal doesn't seem so far away," says Kathy. An asset for the camps is found in the attitudes of the people who attend. They come because they want to improve the quality of their lives. They come from all economic and social backgrounds, and they range in age from 20 to 88 years. At the end of the three-day camps they have acquired new insights and found new friends. "We were gratified to learn that participants are interested in encouraging each other," Kathy remarked. "No one is left out of the group. We don't have any system of reward and punishment in front of others. After all, the ultimate rewards are an attitude and personal as the individuals who come seeking a better way of life."
