Best Overall—Mrs. LaGretta Jordan, College St., Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jordan, Chestnut Bluff, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Gilliland, Chestnut Bluff. "We express our deepest gratitude to all who called and entered," they say. "Through much hard work and many people giving generously, we were able to distribute to 150 families food for them to have a nourishing Christmas dinner.

"We especially thank the Halls Police Dept. and the employees at Halls City Hall for giving of their time to this project. We are also grateful to each and every one who helps make our organization work in our community.

"Our best wishes to you for a very prosperous New Year."

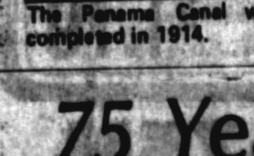
Brevities

The Jack Bakers have returned to their home in Dallas, Tex., after a few days with Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. E. L. Rainey, and with relatives in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Andrews spent the holidays with their daughter, Mrs. Barbara Pritchett, and family in Kansas City, Kans.

Mrs. H. G. McCorkle returned home last week after having spent the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. Jasper Brewer, and family in Collinwood. She attended the graduation of her grandson, Jay Brewer, from North Alabama University. He was an honor student, taking a bachelor of science degree in business.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd Vandermolen and daughter, Ashley Lauren, have returned to their home in Baton Rouge, La., after having visited Mrs. Vandermolen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook, Jr., during the holidays. Also visiting the Cooks were their son, Roy Cook III, and friends, Stanford Roberts and Rex Martin, all of Oxford, Miss.



The Panama Canal was completed in 1914.

10 Countians Martin Stars

The University of Tennessee in Martin reports 10 students, from Lauderdale County on its fall quarter Dean's List:

From Gates—Donna Lea Hartman.

From Halls—Clair D. Burrough; R. Diane Riley Carmack; Conley Burks Wright.

From Henning—Jon Alan Roberts; William Lavaughan Winn.

From Ripley—William Emery Escue; James Donaldson Henning; Johnny Wade Little; Kevin Lee Morris.

Dyersburg State President Heard

Dyersburg State College now operates more than 100 microcomputers—more per student than any other school in Tennessee—Dr. Karen Bowyer, new president, told Ripley Rotary Club's luncheon Tuesday.

Computer interactive video instruction in criminal justice and other programs is attracting national interest, she said.

DSC is setting up instruction in robotics and will operate an assembly line, using robots, next year, she said.

She was the program guest of Jerry Little.

John Snead was welcomed as a new member.

Bill Torrence, Jr., new administrator of Baptist Hospital Lauderdale, was a guest.

Sick & Ailing

Mrs. Maggie Bailey is at home after major surgery in Methodist Hospital in Memphis.

Robert Craddock returned home Saturday from Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Mrs. Henry Murchison is doing well after major surgery Friday of last week in St. Francis Hospital in Memphis. Mr. Murchison and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Buddy Murchison, of Carthage, have been in Memphis with her.

Mrs. Will Cherry returned to her home last week after many weeks suffering in hospitals in Ripley and Memphis, and a Ripley Nursing Home, with a broken leg. Her brother, Bill Meredith, and Mrs. Meredith, of Daytona Beach, Fla., are with her.

Mrs. Gilreath Dyer visited her doctor in Memphis Monday. Mr. Dyer accompanied her.

DRIVER'S SERVICES

State driver's license services move Tuesday to Ripley's new National Guard Armory — 9:30 a.m.-6 p.m. Tuesdays, 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. every second and fourth Thursdays.

75 Years Hailed

Rainy Year Hurt Crops

By Charles T. Peal

County rainfall of 63.4 inches in 1984 exceeded the mean annual precipitation of 51 inches. The total for 1982 was 60 inches.

Green Scene

Data collected by Bill Bailey, Martha Land, and Ricky Phillips at the Ripley Water Plant show 7.88 inches of rain in March, 3.55 in April, and 9.49 in May, creating problems in planting crops.

September's 4.62 inches were enough to saturate the ground, but the addition of 9.43 inches in October made combining a difficult task.

Axles and other parts of the combine not designed for the stress of muddy fields gave way. Additional labor, equipment, fuel, etc. made this a costly harvest.

July's 6.43 inches was disastrous to the tomato crop. With the high fertilization rate, tomatoes literally "exploded" in their growth, resulting in cracking, mis-shapen fruit, and rot. At least half the crop was lost.

Soy bean yields added a bright spot to the picture. Mississippi bottom farms yielded 40 bushels upward, to near 55. Though the upland yields were not as high, and considering the wheat bean yields, Lauderdale County producers probably averaged 28 bushels per acre, about five bushels above recent averages.

Grain sorghum producers averaged about 100 bushels per acre. The price was down $1 from 1983, but the good yield gave a better return on the 16,000 acres grown in the county.

Cotton in September had a bright yield outlook, but rain prevented its being picked at the proper time, so the grade was lowered, cotton was lighter in weight, and much fell to the ground. The county averaged about 550 pounds of lint per acre.

Wheat Seeding Low

Lauderdale farmers seeded 51,000 acres of wheat in 1983, but indications are that 35,000 will be the top limit for the 1985 crop.

Initially, fall wheat seedings were delayed by dry field conditions, as farmers waited for rain to aid in seed germination.

When the rains finally came, they were so frequent that seeding attempts were hampered for most of the remaining seeding season.

Many sowed as late as early December and were rewarded with a warm spell that allowed the seedling to survive the winter.

This wheat will be harvested five to seven days later than the first sown wheat.

Check Asian Pears

What is rounded like an apple: Crisp and juicy when ripe and has the flavor of a pear? Answer: Asian pear, a hot, new fruit that is gaining popularity from coast to coast.

It has actually been around for hundreds of years. Chinese miners brought the seeds to the U.S. in the Gold Rush days and planted them along the streams of the Sierra Nevada.

The Asian pear has many apple-like qualities that make it attractive to consumer and grower. Besides its appearance and texture, it has storage qualities similar to the apple. It will last 10 to 14 days at room temperature and can be stored in cold storage from four to 12 months.

Another plus is that it ripens on the tree and ready to eat when you pick it. Production practices are the same as for other pear except for the fact they come into production one year earlier than our European varieties.

Berries Are Treat

Home gardeners should order strawberry plants now for spring setting. Plants set between Feb. 15th and March 15 give best results.

The Extension Service has a publication that describes the characteristics of the varieties recommended here, as well as recommended cultural practices, weed control data, etc. Call 635-5551 to have one mailed, or come by the office.

Self-Improvement Course Beginning

Class 16 of the Durhamville-Oryza Self-Improvement Course will meet at 7 p.m. Jan. 15th in the Farm Bureau Building in Ripley.

Nearly 500 people are now graduates.

The 14-week course, for which there is no charge, ends with a banquet.

Dyersburg State College is co-sponsor and will award Continuing Education Certificates to those who successfully complete the course.

The course teaches how to gain confidence in public speaking, how to remember names, personality development, and other skills.

Mrs. Peggy Ledford is coordinator.

C. Fred Faulk is instructor. Call either to enroll.

School Board Approves Scuttling Four Schools

Informed by John C. Neff, Commissioner of the Department of Commerce and Insurance and State Fire Marshal, that "failure to submit a funded plan of correction by January 21, 1985, will result in swift and certain action by this office," the county Board of Education voted Monday to ask the County Commission to build a new school for grades 4-8, east of the Ripley Elementary School (now K-6, to become K-3); abandon Arp, both Henning schools, and Ripley Junior High School; add to Halls Elementary School; and renovate Halls Junior High School, Halls High School, and Ripley High School's gymnasium and vocational and handicapped building.

Phillip Jackson, county Superintendent of Schools, estimates the cost at $6,000,000 to $7,000,000, from sales taxes, over the next ten years.

Henning's city board, meeting Monday, hesitated to allot its sales taxes to a move to deprive Henning of its schools.

Ripley's city board, meeting Monday, was reminded by Mayor Rozelle Criner of impending federal budget cuts and of needs for a new fire truck, garbage truck, sewage plant improvements, and street and sidewalk repairs.

Halls' city board is meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday to consider the request for sales tax allocation.

Jan. 4. 1985

To: Phillip Jackson Lauderdale County Supt. of Schools.

Subject: Available funds from 1½ cent Sales Tax.

On July 1, 1985, there will be an estimated balance of Two Million Six Hundred Fifty Thousand dollars in this fund. At that time there will be One Million Three Hundred Sixty Thousand dollars in outstanding 1968 and 1980 Lauderdale County School Bonds. These bonds have an interest rate of 4½% to 7½%.

One Million Three Hundred Sixty Thousand dollars should be set aside to retire these bonds as they come due. Interest on these funds should accrue at a rate sufficient to pay the Interest on the bond as it comes due.

If the One Million Three Hundred Sixty Thousand dollars is set aside, that will leave a balance of One Million Two Hundred Ninety Thousand dollars. At least Five Hundred Thousand dollars should be reserved to insure the prompt payment of any bonds issued in the future. This will leave Seven Hundred Ninety Thousand dollars available on July 1, 1985.

Revenue from the 1½ cent Sales Tax in 1984 was Nine Hundred Fifty Thousand dollars. Using 95% of this amount revenue in the future would be Nine Hundred Thousand dollars per year. Nine Hundred Thousand dollars per year would retire bonds in the amount of Six Million dollars, at an average interest rate of 8½%in Ten years.

Using the same formular of Six Million dollars 8½% ten years 95% collections every month you delay bond issue after July 1, 1985, you will have Seventy Five Thousand dollars additional available funds on the front end.

Please be advised that this opinion is based on Sales Tax Revenue continuing at a rate equal to at least 95% of the 1984 Revenue and new bonds issued at an Interest rate of not more than 8½%.

If we can be of further assistance, please let us know.

Sincerely yours
Paul Meadows

* assuming the new building would meet all requirements by state.

The above totals for Local Requirements includes estimates the architect developed for roofs and boilers which may or not be needed in the immediate future but would definitely have to be replaced for long term use of the building. These "local" figures are derived by trying to eliminate those things which are not necessary but include those things compatible with other schools such as furniture, etc.

Public Notice

The Halls Police Department is sponsoring a Crime Prevention Project, beginning January 1, 1985.

Among the accomplishments that we hope to make is to get the street numbers on each business and home mounted in a visible location. We are asking the assistance of all residents. Street numbers are available at the Halls Police Department.

Street numbers will be furnished to residents who are unable to buy them, and the Halls Police Department and the Halls Jaycees will assist anyone unable to mount the street signs.

Also by request, the Halls Police Department will come into your home and make recommendations for safer protection plans or devices to avoid vandalism and theft.

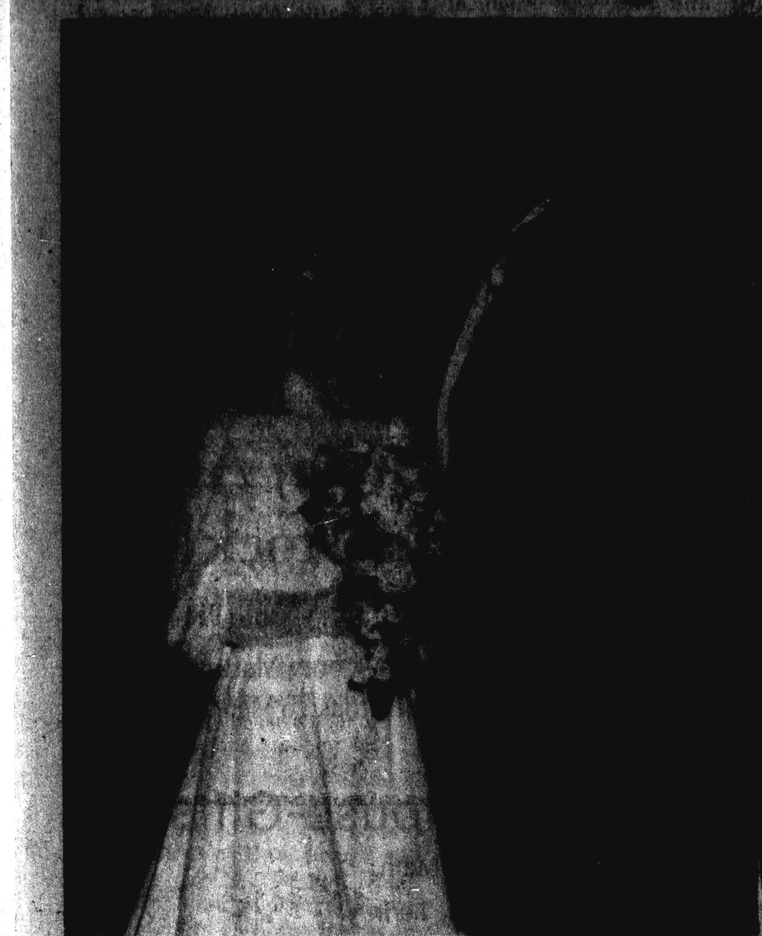
Church Vows Pledged



MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP ANTHONY GLENN were married Dec. 15th in Ripley's First United Methodist Church, whose pastor, the Rev. Luther Clark, officiated in the glow of tapers in two brass candle trees and two spirals, decorated with magnolia leaves, flanking an arch. Poinsettias and the stately Christmas tree lent holiday accents.

Pew candles lit the way to the altar as the petite bride, Cynthia Kay Hoggard, entered the sanctuary on the arm of her brothers, Bryan McGarrity and Ross Seelman, of Ripley.

She wore a Victorian gown made by her mother, Mrs. Kaye Seelman, of imperial batiste, with French lace, insertion, and beading falling a deep V-neckline. The same lace, with fagoting, edged a ruffle extending over the shoulder line. The full skirt was fashioned with a deep ruffle, embroidered with wedding ring designs and edged with fagoting, insertion, and lace, which extended into a chapel train. Tiny satin buttons closed the deep cuffs of bishop sleeves.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom during their courtship.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and stephanotis entwined with holly and tied with satin streamers.

Vonda Diggs, of Ripley, was maid of honor. Other attendants were the groom's sisters, Catherine Mills, of Ripley, and Danna McClerkin, of Memphis, and Teresa Tillman, of Ripley. Laura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jennings, was flower girl.

Their dresses, also made by the bride's mother, were of imperial batiste in a brilliant watermelon shade. The adults' Victorian dresses were trimmed with wide ruffles extending to the waist in front and rear; puffed sleeves were edged with fagoting and lace. They carried nosegays of red and white poinsettias. Each wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bride.

Laura's floor length dress, also trimmed with French lace, was gathered on a yoke.

Tommy Dunavant was best man. Groomsmen were Robbie Halliburton and Clayton Pattat, of Ripley, and Phillip Whitman, of Medina. The bride's cousin, Kevin Geary, of Ripley, and the groom's cousin, Brad Glenn, of Covington, were groomsmen.

The groom's nephew, Benton Mills, was ring bearer. They wore grey tuxedoes with white poinsettias in their lapels.

Kevin and the groom's nephew, G. H. Mills, of Ripley, lit the candles.

The bride's mother wore a formal length dress of mulberry lace over crepe de ville. The groom's mother, Mrs. Floyd Starnes, wore a fuschia crepe gown featuring a dropped waistline, tied at the side. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Neil Dunaway, of Halls, wore a gown of blue crepe de ville. The bride's other grandmother, Mrs. Earl Hoggard, of Halls, wore a formal length gown of turquoise. Each wore a corsage of gardenias.

Special guests of the groom, seated with Mr. and Mrs. Starnes, were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McCoy. Mrs. McCoy wore a formal length gown of cranberry "Qiana."

William G. Kent, organist, and Mrs. Cecil M[illegible], pianist, played Franck's O Lord Most Holy, Bach's Sheep May Safely Graze, and What Child Is This?, arranged by Purvis.

Mrs. Don Ammons and Dan Perry sang To Me and Nobody Loves Me Like You Do. Mr. Perry accompanied himself on the guitar for The Wedding Song. Mrs. Ammons sang The Lord's Prayer during the ceremony.

For the reception in the fellowship hall, tables laid with white lace, edged with red velvet ribbon, were centered with red carnations in silver candelabra.

The 4-tier cake was decorated with red carnations, white shasta daisies, and identical flowers on the top layer and with leather leaf fern around the bottom.

The groom's cake was decorated with a duck pond.

Coffee and punch were poured from silver services.

Assisting in the reception were Diana Voss, of Ripley, who had kept the register in the church foyer, Paula Conrad, of Ripley, Rene Flood, of Union City, and Robin Lovelace and Kristi Wilkes, of Memphis. They wore white poinsettia corsages, tied with green velvet ribbon.

The groom's niece, Carole Mills, of Ripley, distributed roses of the material used in the dresses of the bridal attendants.

The rehearsal dinner, at the Four Seasons in Covington, featured turkey and dressing, country ham, roast beef, scalloped potatoes, green beans, apple rings, corn relish, cranberry salad, rolls, and apple and peach cobbler. The groom presented gifts to his attendants. Special guests were the groom's aunts, Mrs. William Stuart Howard, of Millington, and Mrs. John Thomas Karney, of Brighton, and Mrs. Bettie Brown Smith, of Ripley.

The newlyweds are residing on Asbury Road.

Cynthia is a student in the University of Tennessee School of Pharmacy in Memphis. Phillip is employed by Marvin Windows in Ripley.

Church Vows Pledged

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES STEVEN CHERRY were married Nov. 17th in Ripley's First Assembly of God Church, with The Rev. Larry Harrison officiating in double ring vows in the glow of a 15-branch candelabrum flanked by 9-branch candle trees, all entwined with palm branches and magnolia foliage.

The bride, Cynthia Marie Booker, was given by her father, Oneal Booker, of Ripley, in a gown by Moni Lee of organza and Chantilly lace, with a Queen Anne neck-line and lace bishop sleeves with long cuffs.

The skirt, with a pick-up effect, flowed into a cathedral train.

Silk ribbon and string pearls accented the turned up side of a derby dressed with Venise and Chantilly lace.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses, springeri, and baby's breath on a Bible given her by her mother.

Mrs. Carl Blackwood, of Ripley, was her sister's matron of honor.

Other bridal attendants were her other sisters, Mrs. Wayne Voss, of Ripley, Mrs. Jody Leggetts, of Henning, and Mrs. Vance Brewster, of Henning, and the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Joe Mack Cherry, of Halls.

They wore gowns with high necklines on lace yokes, fitted puffed ¼-length sleeves, and cut-aways in the front hem-line, in violet.

They carried nosegays of white and lavender daisies with purple statice, springeri, and baby's breath.

The bride's niece, Leslie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Voss, of Ripley, strewed white rose petals from a basket dressed with lavender and white daisies.

Train bearers were Amber, the daughter of the Roger Bookers, of Covington, and Jackie, daughter of the Jody Leggetts, of Henning.

Flower girl and train bearers wore "Little Darling" gowns—white and lavender, respectively—made by the bride's mother.

Charles Cherry, of Halls, was his son's best man. Groomsmen were Joe Mack Cherry, brother of the groom, and Jody Leggetts, of Halls, and Jim Booker, of Somerville.

The bride's mother wore a gold gown of rose crepe de Chine.

The groom's mother wore a pink gown, hand-painted in shades of burgundy and grape, hosed with a burgundy rosette.

Each was given a nosegay of white roses and after the vows, a long-stemmed rose.

Grandmothers, Mrs. Ida Ridley Cherry, of Bells; Roxie, La., and Mrs. Perry Williams, of Halls, were given nosegays of white carnations.

Pam Vickery, of Ripley, kept the register at a table laid with lace and centered with a crystal candelamp and an arrangement of white and lavender daisies.

Mrs. Larry Harrison, pianist, and Mrs. Leon Smith, organist, presented music including Sacred Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Edvard Grieg's Ich Liebe Dich, Beethoven's O Perfect Love, and You Light Up My Life, with traditional processional and recessional.

DeKoven's O Promise Me accompanied ushering of mothers.

During the vows, the bride's brothers and sister, Ray and Rose Booker and Mrs. Carl Blackwood, provided If To Me, and In This Quiet Hour of Prayer.

Bill Rice, of Dyersburg, offered a prayer for the couple.

For the reception in the fellowship hall, a 6-branch candelabrum of marble centered a table laid with Venetian lace.

Angel pillars separated the 3-tier cake, decorated with white rose buds, leaves, and lavender buds.

The punch was sparkling grape ale.

Nuts and mints were served from angel-stemmed crystal compotes.

Serving at the bride's table were Miss Rita Crews, of Memphis, Sue Ray, of Brownsville, Mrs. Dana Rone, of Dyersburg, and Mrs. Mike White, of Ripley.

Lavender and white daisies centered the groom's table, spread with lace. Cows and horses decorated his cake, served by Monica Harrison and Joyce Smith, of Halls.

All servers wore street length dresses of violet.

Distributing violet satin rose rice bags from white wicker baskets were Tracy, daughter of the Carl Blackwoods, of Ripley, Lori, daughter of the Ray Bookers, of Halls, and Melanie, daughter of the Roger Bookers, of Covington.

After a trip to Gatlinburg, the newlyweds are residing in Halls.

For the rehearsal dinner in the Plaza Restaurant in Dyersburg, tables were dressed with fresh flowers and candles. A long-stemmed red rose marked the bride's place.

The menu featured broccoli soup, fresh salad, prime rib, potato au gratin, green beans, home-made bread, and ice cream pecan balls topped with hot fudge, plus coffee.

Special guests were the bride's parents and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Williams, of Halls.

The couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Mrs. Johnnie Jones

Mrs. Johnnie Jones, age of Eaton, widow of Joseph Jones, of Halls, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha E. Brown, of Halls, at 2:30 p.m. last week in her home, after long illness.

Services were at 1 p.m. Friday in Pinecastle's Funeral Home, with burial in Rehoboth Church Cemetery.

She also leaves two sons, Rev. Jessie Jones, four other sons, Rev. Bell and Willie Jones, of Dyersburg; Danny Ray Jones, of Memphis, Tenn., and John Robert Vic, Jr., of Eaton; eight daughters, Mrs. Martha E. Brown and Mrs. Juanita Sue Jones, of Eaton, Mrs. Nettie Jean Weaver, of Bogota, Mrs. Mary Frances Davis, of Gadsden, Miss Joy Mel Metcalf, of Jackson, Miss., in which she was a member, Mrs. Shirley Lumley, of Nashville, and Mrs. Virginia Hewett, of Big Springs, Tex.; another brother, Bill Sandifer, of Alamo; another sister, Mrs. Margaret Rhodes, of Iowa; 23 grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Clyde Overall

Mrs. Ozzie V. Overall, 94, of Halls, widow of Clyde Overall, died Thursday of last week in Baptist Hospital Lauderdale in Ripley.

Services were at 2 p.m. Sunday in Matthew Zion Missionary Baptist Church, in which she was a member, with burial in Old Chapel Cemetery.

She leaves a niece, Mrs. Johnnie Lee Brown, of Halls.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

"As the 98th Congress was sworn into office last week, controversy over the contents of the President's budget recommendations continued. Over the last several weeks, the budget debate has been the focus of news reports and comments by media observers. In addition, Members of the House and Senate on both sides of the aisle have not been shy about offering their comments and suggestions to the President. It is anticipated that this will continue for the remainder of this month until the President forwards his recommendations to the Congress.

There has been no situation in which the debate over the federal budget has been more evident than the on-going uproar caused when Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Director David Stockman announced a 70 per cent cut in TVA funds. Before going into the specifics of this situation, it is important to note that the funds being discussed are not part of the funds used in the TVA power program. What the reduction recommended by OMB does is essentially strip away $80 million from the $120 million the agency has been getting.

Those funds have been used in a number of ways, the most prominent of which are economic and community development, agricultural research and development programs, and recreational activities such as the Land Between the Lakes facility. Each of these functions is designed to achieve additional economic development for the seven state Tennessee Valley region. That responsibility has been included in the TVA mission since its inception in the 1930's.

Because this budget cut would not directly affect power funds, many might say that it would have no effect in the valley. However, in the long run, it could have serious impact on the ability of cities and counties throughout the Valley in retaining and locating new industry into their areas. That means that the growth we so desperately need to provide jobs for the people in our region would be severely hampered. In addition, the very successful fertilizer research and development program TVA operates at Muscle Shoals, Alabama would be drastically affected. This is one of many TVA functions that, while located in the valley, has national implications. On another agricultural note, the efforts of TVA to contribute significantly to soil conservation efforts would, I understand, be virtually eliminated.

It is interesting that the OMB recommendations were developed when the TVA released its year-end review of the economic situation in TVA valley. That economic analysis indicates that the Valley still lags behind other regions of the country in recovering from the recessions of 1980 and 82. To date, according to the report, there are 136,000 more valley residents out of work than there were in 1979 before those recessions occurred.

This situation is viewed with alarm by every Member of Congress from within the valley. While TVA should not be exempt from the belt tightening that is sure to befall every federal agency, demanding that it do away with some of its most important functions as Mr. Stockman has, is unwarranted. The final word is not yet in on this matter. The President's budget has not been formally submitted, but it is certain that TVA will be among the highest priorities of those of us who represent the Valley as the budget debate gets started on Capitol Hill.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that South Central Bell Telephone Company has filed with the Tennessee Public Service Commission a proposal to increase rates in all South Central Bell exchanges:

In the Halls exchange, the basic monthly rates are proposed for revisions as follows:

Type of Service	Monthly Rate Present	Proposed
Residence - Flat Rate
1-Party Line	$10.05	$12.10
2-Party Line	6.95	9.10
Residence - Message Rate	6.05	6.05
Measured Low-Use Rate*	4.00	4.85
Measured Standard Rate	7.05	8.45
Business - Flat Rate
1-Party Line	29.55	38.60
2-Party Line	20.20	28.95
Business - Measured Rate	20.70	23.15

*The proposed tariff eliminates the $1.00 monthly usage allowance for measured low-use service.

In the Henning and Ripley exchanges, the basic monthly rates are proposed for revisions as follows:

Type of Service	Monthly Rate Present	Proposed
Residence - Flat Rate
1-Party Line	$10.05	$12.10
2-Party Line	6.95	9.10
Business - Flat Rate
1-Party Line	29.55	38.60
2-Party Line	20.20	28.95

It is proposed to eliminate the business Message Rate Offering when Measured Rate Service is available in an exchange.

Rates for Grouping Services

	Present	Proposed
Business Flat Rate	75% of Bus. Flat Rate	60% of Bus. Flat Rate
Measured Rate	75% of Bus. Msg. Rate	60% of Bus. Flat Rate
Message Rate	75% of Bus. Msg. Rate	60% of Bus. Flat Rate
Message Rate Trunk	75% of 1st Msg. Trunk Rate	60% of Bus. Flat Rate
Residence Ind. Line	Not Applicable	60% of Res. Flat Rate

Flat Rate PBX Trunk

Inward Only or Both Way	1 3/4 times Bus. Ind. Line Flat Rate	Bus. Ind. Line Flat Rate plus grouping charge
Outward Only	1 3/4 times Bus. Ind. Line Flat Rate	Bus. Ind. Line Flat Rate

It is proposed that rates for other related items such as Centrex, Exchange Access Line Charges, ESSX Network Access Registers, Toll Terminals, Mobile Service Lines, Joint User Services, Public Announcement Service and Semipublic Service be changed in proportion to flat rate measured rate line service as appropriate.

It is proposed that the base rate areas be extended in Clarksville, Cleveland, Columbia, Knoxville and Memphis. This will eliminate mileage charges for about 3,800 customers.

It is proposed that the charge for local coin telephone calls be raised from 10¢ to 25¢.

Charges are proposed for Directory Assistance at 30¢ per call for each request. This includes customer name and address service. Residence customers pay for calls in excess of 8 monthly allowance of 3 calls. Charges would not apply for visually or physically handicapped persons. Rates for other Local Operator Assistion calls are proposed as follows:

Station-to-Station	Present	Proposed
Operator Assisted	$ .00	$1.00
Dial Calling Card	.00	.50
Person-to-Person	.00	2.00

Charges for additional Directory Listings are increased approximately 15%.

Monthly rates for TOUCH-TONE lines are increased for residence service by 10¢ and business service 20¢. The $6.30 non-recurring charges for TOUCH-TONE installation is eliminated. Certain other miscellaneous service items are also increased 15%.

The existing residence and simple business optional wiring maintenance program is expanded to include trouble isolation for telephone equipment. The monthly rate for this expanded service is increased from $.60 to $1.20. Customers who do not subscribe to the optional wiring maintenance service will still have the option of paying for maintenance on a time and material basis as necessary, perform the work themselves, or arrange for another supplier to perform the maintenance. Minor restructuring is made in certain other service charge rates.

Rates for direct dialed intra-LATA long distance service are being reduced by 3% to 8%. Also the "Resulting Legal Holiday" discount is eliminated. It is proposed that the monthly rate for Special Reverse Charge Service be increased from $5.80 to $6.70.

Rate time period specific billing is established for intra-LATA long distance calls so that when a message spans more than one time rate period, total charges in each period are calculated and then the results totaled.

Intra-LATA long distance operator service charges are increased as follows:

	Present	Proposed
Station-to-Station (On calls billed collect or third number and operator billed calls)	$1.00	$1.50
Person-to-Person	2.00	3.00

Intra-LATA WATS is being made a distinct South Central Bell service. A billing method is being established to clearly separate intra-LATA and inter-LATA and WATS service.

It is proposed that monthly rates for most dedicated private line business services be increased 15%. This includes local and intercity private line service as well as off premise extension lines, tie lines and foreign central office service. Non-recurring charges for these private line services are increased to limits previously approved in 1980.

It is proposed that Dataphone Digital Service rates be increased 15%.

It is proposed that Intra-LATA foreign exchange service mileage charges be increased 15% and a usage charge element be added to compensate for terminating contractual loss. Also the installation charge is to be increased from $170 to $400.

Intrastate carrier access charges are adjusted to mirror interstate access charges.

These rate changes are required to cover the increased costs of doing business and to position the Company's services for the new telecommunications environment. Complete listings of the proposed changes are on file in South Central Bell's public offices (teller locations) and are available for review upon request.

This matter will be heard before the Tennessee Public Service Commission beginning on January 15, 1985 at 9:30 a.m. in the Commission's Hearing Room, CI-120 Cordell Hull Building, Nashville, Tennessee.

HOPE HARRIS, left, and, from left, Lisa Mann and Amy Bentley, of the Halls Golden Tiger Marching Band, have been selected from more than 400 students auditioned from 41 high schools to perform in the 1985 University of Tennessee, Martin, honor band at 3 p.m. Jan. 26th. They will rehearse Jan. 24-25th at the university. Directors for the concert will be Harry Clarke, of the University of Kentucky in Lexington, and Ralph Hale, of Christian Brothers High School in Memphis. At right is Cindy Carmack, another Golden Tiger band member, who has been named to the All-West Tennessee High School Band. She will rehearse with the group Jan. 31st-Feb. 1st at White Station High School in Memphis. The concert will be Feb. 2nd at that school.

CC Passes School Funding To Cities

County Commission voted Monday 22-2 to allot the county's share of the sales tax (about 15% of the total) to a $6,975,000 Board of Education plan to meet demands of the state fire marshal to up-grade county schools, provided county cities, like Ripley (producing 65% of the sales tax) and Halls (producing 17%) allot their shares.

Both have always done so before, unlike Gates and Henning, which have withheld funding for schools.

Halls' board meets this Thursday. Ripley's board holds a called meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Robert Flagg and B. G. Graves, of Henning, cast the only Commission votes against the Board of Education plan which would close both Henning schools, along with Arp and Ripley Junior High; Charlie Moore abstained from voting.

The board recommends a new school for grades 4-8 east of Ripley Elementary School (now K-6, to become K-3); adding to Halls Elementary School; and renovating Halls Junior High School, Halls High School, and Ripley High School's gymnasium and vocational and handicapped building.

O'Steen Vets Officer

Ex-sheriff Joe B. O'Steen was elected Veterans Service Officer, 13-12, over Russell Reviere.

Billy Spiller was unanimously re-elected Highway Commissioner for the county's central district.

Named budget committeemen were Talmadge Crihfield, Roy Cook, Roland Henderson, James Jones, Gwinn Matthews, Clifford Sweat, and Danny Beaird, alternate.

Mrs. Ruth Wadsworth was named to complete the term of Mrs. Frewl Buffaloe on the Agricultural Committee. Other members are Neal Crain, Mrs. Don Ray, and Ronnie Roberts.

Notaries public elected were Roy Cook, Jr., Pam Crain, James H. Reviere, Beauton Matthews, and Patsy Wright.

Fake Collector Charge Faced

Annette Turner, of Dyersburg, has been charged with larceny by trick or scheme in collecting $175 Dec. 18th from Mrs. Lillie Carr, 81, of 217 Gilbert St., Halls, by representing herself as an agent of Dyersburg Housing Authority.

Wymond Lovelace, Halls officer, assisted in charging the defendant, scheduled for arraignment Monday before General Sessions Judge Willard Norvell in Ripley.

Ripley Avenges Defeat By Halls

Halls High School's Tigers, 9-2 after a 84-70 loss in Ripley Saturday, host Dyer County this Thursday in a game re-scheduled due to snow.

Friday night, Sharon comes to Halls, and Tuesday night of next week, Denmark West, of Jackson.

The Tigers won two and lost one last week. They were surprisingly easy victors at Denmark West Tuesday, 63-37.

Reginald Foster had 18, Alfonso Abernathy 16, and Andre Wells 10 as the Tigers, who led 19-14 at halftime and 38-22 after three quarters, scored 25 points in the final quarter.

Friday, Rodney Foster's 26 points paced the Tigers over visiting Kenton, 101-93.

Other Tigers scoring in double figures were Abernathy with 18, Wells with 17, and Marshall Davis with 12.

Jeff Chandler led Kenton with 21, Eric Brooks had 20, Gary Banks 19, Kelly Whitworth 13, and Waymon Hannahaman 12.

The Tigers led 48-35 at the half and 71-53 after three quarters.

The Tigers couldn't stop Anthony Bonner and Mike Norfork in Ripley as the hosts avenged an early season loss to Halls.

Bonner had 29 points, Norfork 26, and Martin Crawley 15 to lead Ripley scorers.

Abernathy with 27 led the Tigers points. The only other Tiger in double figures was Reginald Foster, with 17.

Halls trailed 41-34 at halftime and 60-48 after three quarters.

Halls' Lady Tigers continued winless for the season, losing to Denmark West 61-20, to Kenton 65-29, and to Ripley 62-37.

4-H Club Awards For '84 Bestowed

The Annual 4-H Awards Program was held Friday night in the Farm Bureau Building in Ripley to recognize sponsors, volunteer leaders, and outstanding 4-Hers for the 1984 4-H year.

Richard Buntin and Jane (Mrs. Don) Connell, 4-H Agents, presided.

David Lawrence, a seventh grader from Halls Junior High School, led the pledge to the flag. David Matthews, a 6th grader in Ripley Elementary School, led the 4-H Pledge.

Sponsors recognized were [illegible], Key Corner, Make & Mend, Town & Country [illegible], and Do-Sew Home Demonstration Clubs; the Lauderdale County Council of H. D. Clubs; Bank of Ripley, Farmers Union Bank, Lauderdale County Bank, and Bank of Halls; Western Auto; and Crop Production Service.

Special recognition was given to adult volunteers who conducted regular club meetings—Lola Sweat, Yvonne Clay, Mary Parker, Lois Brandon, Katherine Lawrence, Doris Hill, and Joyce Wakefield.

Gary Douglas was recognized as a 4-H Project Leader having trained the county's 4—H Livestock Judging Team. He also received the Alumni Achievement Award.

Camp Teen Leaders recognized were Tyrone Henning, Cindy Carmack, Kathy Emerson, Jerry Brogdon, and Jamie Phillips.

Teacher-leaders recognized for Banner Clubs were Phillis Barlow, Anita Chrestman, and Vickie Shipley.

Receiving recognition for outstanding participation were Cindy Carmack, Kathy Emerson, Lori Criner, Tyrone Henning, Julie Jackson, Angela Connell, Amanda Burrough, Kelly Carmack, Kristen Schreiberger, Cindy Baker, Angela Cannon, Stephanie Rains, Jamie Phillips, Nancy Goodwin, Amy Nichols, Charles Chipman, Keith Hendren, Robert Harris, Logan Roberts, Keith McCaslin, Chris Austill, Joe Sumrow, Jennifer Tillman, Wendy McHarrey, Candice Chipman, Jerry Brogdon, Paula Hutcherson, Pamela Hutcherson, Rhonda Childress, Lee Grugett, Chris Tollis, David Matthews, Diane Barnes, Jimmy Peele, Carla Simpson, Aaron Schuh, Michelle Hill, David Lawrence, and April Hartsfield.

Host families for the Japanese Exchange Program were recognized: the John Jacksons, the Don Connells, the Floyd Emersons, the Jimmy Drumwrights, and the Lewis Goodwins.

Keith McCaslin received recognition for being accepted into the Tennessee 4-H Honor Club.

Achievement Awards were given to Round-up delegates—Jerry Brogdon, Cindy Carmack, and Keith McCaslin.

McKinney Urges Soybean Parley

By Charles T. Peal

Green Scene

Lynn McKinney, newly elected president of this county's Soybean Assn., urged producers to attend a meeting later this month to review their support for marketing.

"Soy bean markets can be developed and prices improved if growers support the Assn.," he says. "Just look around to find out how the dairy and tobacco commodity groups have helped themselves by using a check-off to raise money to promote their products.

"We will be given an opportunity to consider this here."

A main trouble spot for U.S. farm exports is the 10-nation European Common Market, and a new U.S. Department of Agricultural analysis indicates little chance for improvement in 1985, unless the dollar's value weakens.

EC demand for corn and other feedstuffs probably will be stagnant, because of financial and political problems associated with surpluses of milk and other commodities, and USDA expects EC poultry industry growth to slow.

USDA expects advances in technology and favorable fertilizer prices to promote surpluses in EC countries, displacing U.S. products, and expects the rapid growth in soybean imports to slow as EC countries feed surplus skim milk powder to their cattle.

Even when following this practice, check the chimney at least once a month and clean it thoroughly whenever a buildup of 1/4 inch or more is found.

Curb Hog Feed Costs

As cost-price ratios continue to squeeze farm profits, many hog producers are re-evaluating their feeding programs, Associate Extension Agent Jerry Parker, reports.

Operational expense due to feed costs vary from 65% to 80% of total costs in hog units.

The largest portion of most hog rations (65% to 75%) consists of high energy grain from corn, milo or small cereal-grains. Between 20% and 30% of these rations will consist of an essential protein source, either soybean oilmeal or a commercial supplement. The all important mineral and vitamin sources may involve 2% to 5% of the total ration.

For optimum growth and reproductive efficiency, rations must be mixed accurately. Grain samples have been observed which tested as low as 6.5% and as high as 9.0% on a crude protein basis.

Unless grain is frequently analyzed, a crude protein level of 7.5% to no more than an 8% level should be used when calculating rations or calibrating grinding-mixing equipment.

In some swine finishing units, feed is lost or wasted from self-feeders. Structures in need of repair, those without a top-adjustment for feeder openings and those which allow animals to drag feed out of the openings onto the pen floor are an economic drain on the swine industry.

Research has shown that 10% to 12% of the total feed is wasted under some hog finishing situations. A 5% to 8% feed wastage is not uncommon in the swine industry.

High quality feed sources are also important in developing or maintaining productive efficiency.

NEW OFFICERS of Gates Banking & Trust Co., elected at the annual stockholders meeting Jan. 14th, are, from left, Jimmy E. Taylor, executive vice-president, Bobby R. Vaughn, president, and Warren Nunn, chairman of the board. R. V. Lilley, bank president, is retiring after 45 years as cashier and president. He will remain a director. The bank had resources of $14,738,668.33 at the close of business Dec. 31, 1984.

ED JONES
8th DISTRICT of TENNESSEE
REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

During the past week or so, two events occurred that could have lasting effects on President Reagan's second term and the issues facing the Congress in the immediate future. The first event occurred shortly after the 99th Congress officially took office. Senate Majority Leader Dole (R-Kan) announced that he and other Senate Republican leaders were going to draft their own budget and have it ready before the President's budget proposal was sent to Capitol Hill. The second event was not an isolated one; rather, it was part of a string of similar events that began earlier. That string of events was the departure of many close Presidential Assistants from the President's first term.

What makes these two events so important is that they raise new questions as to what kind of a second Reagan term the country can expect. Certainly, there is no reason that Congressional leaders could not draft their own version of a budget. There is no doubt that the President can recruit men and women that are just as talented and capable as those who are leaving the Administration. Nonetheless, if one looks past the headlines, the details will pose some important questions.

The effort by the Senate Republican leadership is a case in point. There is no precedent in modern history for Congressional leaders, regardless of their political party or the party of the incumbent President, to do what the Senators have decided to do. By announcing that they are drafting a budget even before the President sends his to the Congress is simply saying that the President's budget is dead even before it gets out of the White House. That could be serious indication of things to come during then President's second term.

The Dole announcement came in the midst of a series of announcements of various officials leaving the Administration. That is not a totally unexpected occurence. It is not uncommon for a President to replace some members of his cabinet and his staff at the outset of his second term. In fact, this process of people leaving the Administration began just shortly after the election. Various assistant secretaries and other officials began announcing their decisions to retire or take other positions in late November. The most recent announcements, however, include more than just assistant Cabinet secretaries and the like. They include some of the President's most trusted and long time advisors. In fact, with the announcement that White House Chief of Staff Jim Baker and Treasury Secretary Don Regan will change jobs, the President's entire first term inner circle of advisors will be gone in the second term. Deputy Chief of Staff Mike Deaver is leaving for private business, Presidential Counsellor Ed Meese has been nominated to be Attorney General. Former National Security Advisor William Clark has announced that he is resigning from his current Secretary of the Interior position.

While it is hard to forecast how all of these changes may effect the President's second term, there is certain to be some impact. The question may more clearly be how noticeable the effects of all of these changes will be. Having lost four of those staff members who have been closest to him is bound to affect the President' actions in the coming months.

What all of this points to is the Administration is almost beginning anew without the momentum with which it began its first term. That, of course, could all change since the President has two major occasions coming up in his Second Inaugural and the State of the Union Message to set the course for the nation in his second term.

Jim Thompson: Chronicler Of The Smokies

James Edward Thompson was to Great Smoky Mountains what Ansel Adams was to the national parks of the West. Perhaps more than anything else, Thompson's photographic chronicles were responsible for the federal government's decision to locate the national park in the spectacular mountains along the Tennessee-North Carolina border.

Jim Thompson was born in 1880 in Morristown, Tennessee. His father, C. Mortimer Thompson, moved the family to nearby Knoxville when his son was two years old. An architect by profession, he was also a fresco painter and a portrait artist. His father's technique of using glass photographic plates to project images onto interior walls or canvas as an outline for his paintings exposed his son at an early age to the worlds of both photography and art.

Knoxville at the turn of the century was a booming industrial and commercial center. Photographs and catalogs were the primary sales tools for such items as hardwood mantles, furniture and marble products. Knoxville merchants of that era were mailing 40,000 to 50,000 pieces daily to their customers throughout the South. As head of the picture department for O. C. Wiley Company, Knoxville's first photographic supply house, young Jim Thompson quickly saw the need for a new style of photography to serve Knoxville's thriving business community. In 1902, he opened Thompson Photo Incorporated, one of the South's first commercial photographic studios.

Thompson's studio on Temperance Avenue in Knoxville was an immediate success and among its most popular items were scenes of the nearby mountains. At its zenith in the 1920s and 30s, Thompson employed more than 30 people, many of them engaged in hand-tinting Thompson's panoramic photographs of the mountains.

The mountains, especially the wildflowers he found there in such abundance, were Thompson's first and greatest love. He began photographing in the mountains as early as 1913 when an expedition required two days to reach them from Knoxville just 40 miles away.

As a charter member of the Smoky Mountains Hiking Club, he often enlisted other members to carry his bulky equipment up the rugged trails. Thompson's typical equipment of those days included a heavy view camera with an eight-by-ten glass or film negative, a wooden tripod and as many as 50 negative holders, a load weighing some 75 pounds.

There were also other difficulties. Frequently Thompson's "porters" would be spread out over a half mile of trail in such remote locations as Alum Cave Bluffs or The Chimneys when he came upon a scene he wanted to capture - and the scramble to reach him before the light changed would begin.

It is impossible to estimate how many photographs Thompson took in the mountains over his lifetime, but a few years before his death in March of 1976 Thompson donated more than 35,000 of his images to Knoxville's Lawson-McGhee Library. Others went to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and still others went into private collections.

Through his association with the Smoky Mountain Hiking Club in the early 1920s, Thompson became friends with Carlos Campbell and Dave Chapman, both members of the Great Smoky Mountains Conservation Association, an organization working to establish the area as a national park. The difficulty in reaching the remote mountain area kept members of Congress and others involved in the decision-making process from viewing the mountains personally. Thompson, therefore, was designated as the "official" photographer for the association.

In July of 1924 a congressional party met in Asheville, North Carolina to discuss plans for a major national park in the eastern United States. Competition was fierce. Some 30 sites, including North Carolina's Grandfather Mountain, were under consideration.

Colonel Dave Chapman, a leader of the Knoxville delegation invited to attend the pivotal Asheville meeting, went to see Thompson.

"I want you to put all the pictures you can into the back seat of this car," Chapman commanded. "I want them all put up in the room where we meet."

Thompson's spectacular photographs caused quite a stir with the visiting dignitaries who could barely squeeze into the room among Thompson's huge photographs detailing all the best points of the Smokies. Several members thought the beautiful, sweeping mountain vistas were faked, but the chairman of the committee decided to withhold any decision until he could see the area personally. Two of the committee members later journeyed deep into the rugged mountains where Thompson's photographs were made. In 1934, the federal government established The Great Smoky Mountains National Park encompassing the area of spectacular mountain scenery Jim Thompson had so carefully captured in his magnificent photographs.

Toothbrush bristles were the first commercial product made of nylon, which was patented in 1937.

General Assembly Faces Full Agenda

By Floyd Crain

NASHVILLE—Before an overflow gallery packed with relatives and friends, the 94th session of the Tennessee General Assembly convened last week to conduct its formal organizational session.

Among the tasks completed during the three-day session were the election of leadership offices for the House and Senate, committee appointments by the respective speakers and the election of the state's three constitutional officers.

The House opened its business Tuesday by unanimously electing Ned McWherter, of Dresden, to an unprecedented seventh term as speaker. McWherter, who has announced that he will not run for re-election to the House in 1986, commented in his brief acceptance remarks that he still discuss in the near future his goals for the House over the next two years.

In the Senate, John Wilder, of Somerville, was re-elected to an eighth term as speaker of the Senate. Like McWherter, Wilder has served in his post longer than anyone in Tennessee history.

Wednesday's joint session focused on the election of Gentry Crowell as secretary of state, Harlan Mathews as state treasurer, and William Snodgrass as state comptroller. All three received overwhelming bipartisan support in their re-election efforts.

Capitol Hill observers have pointed out two unique characteristics of the 94th General Assembly. With 19 new members in the House, there are considerably more new faces this year in the 99 member body. Not only are there more new members, they are distinctly younger, with most being under 40 years of age.

The Senate organized with 22 Democrats and 11 Republicans. While the House organized with 62 Democrats and 37 Republicans, a petition has been filed to contest the election in the 9th Legislative District. Although incumbent Bruce Hurley was sworn in Tuesday, chances of voter irregularity in his 57 vote margin will be examined next week by a bipartisan committee.

At the close of Thursday's session, the House and Senate voted to recess for two weeks in order to give Governor Alexander time to make final preparation for the 1985 budget address.

Other Developments

Although it was too early in the session for any major legislation to move, there was talk on the Hill about several issues sure to arise in the 94th General Assembly.

Taxes—The legislature will be forced to deal with Tennessee's taxes during the 1985 session. Legislators amended the one cent sales tax increase bill passed last year to require that the increase expire in 1985 and to require that one-third of the sales tax on groceries be removed this year. The millions of dollars raised by those taxes will disappear if the legislature does not repass them or come up with some alternatives.

Almost every representative would like to provide some relief from the sales tax on food for the state's poor, but they differ about how to achieve that goal. Proposals range from removing all of the food tax at once, to removing it gradually, to taking only a portion of the tax off of groceries.

Legislators disagree even more on how to deal with the overall tax situation. Some want a state income tax to replace a portion of the current 5.5% state sales tax, while others are actively against the idea.

Another new revenue source that has been proposed either with an income tax or in other proposals is the Value Added Tax. The Value Added Tax is a tax on gross receipts minus purchases for all businesses including professionals like doctors and lawyers.

The Value Added Tax's supporters hail it as a simplification of current confusing business taxes. Detractors condemn it as just another hidden sales tax that will still be borne by the consumer.

Lawmakers must either vote in favor of the sales tax as it currently stands, or vote for an alternative. The General Assembly has kept Tennessee's taxes the fifth lowest in the nation and members are not likely to want to reverse that trend this year, but enough money must be raised to pay for government services and keep the state out of the red.

Alcohol—An effort to address drunk driving problem brought about a change in the drinking age from 19 to 21 last session. That concern is carrying over into 1985 with several proposals aimed at reducing the presence of drunk drivers.

One recently introduced proposal would outlaw liquor and beer containers in automobiles. At present there are no state laws against driving while drinking alcohol, only driving while drunk. The proposed bill would require that all intoxicating beverages in the passenger area of a car be in the "manufacturer's unopened original container."

Other legislation concerning alcohol that may be discussed this year includes the outlawing of "happy hours" and a proposal to lower the blood alcohol level for a presumption of intoxication below .10 percent. Similar bills have recently been passed in other states to prohibit the sale of reduced-price drinks because of the excessive drinking their detractors claim happy hours promote.

Labor—Labor and business interests will be squaring off again this year over workers compensation legislation.

A package of workers compensation improvements was vetoed by the governor last year, but labor will be pushing for reforms this year that include an escalator clause for maximum weekly benefits. Some members of the business community are willing to increase the benefits somewhat, but are against provisions for automatic future increases. Current maximum weekly benefits are $136.

Although business opposes the escalator clause proposal, they do have a few suggestins of their own. The employers want disability benefits to hinge on the degree to which the worker is disabled. For instance, a worker who is 50% disabled would receive 50% benefits.

Education—As the year following some of the most sweeping educational reforms in the country, 1985 will be a relatively slow year in the legislature in the field of education.

Two controversial issues that might arise, however, are the use of written tests to gauge teachers' abilities and allowing parents to remove their children from the school system to teach them at home.

The Tennessee Education Association is opposed to the written examinations currently being used to help determine a teacher's ability during the career ladder evaluation process. The teachers' organization contends that it is not possible to test one's ability to teach on a written examination. There are many legislators in favor of the examinations, however, who are concerned that teachers be required to show proficiency in the fields in which they teach.

A proposal to allow parents to take their children out of school and teach them at home is also likely to become a heated issue. Some parents do not want their children to attend schools for various religious reasons, but there is some concern among legislators over allowing some children to be educated by untrained individuals.

Consumers—Some observers believe 1985 may be the year that reforms are finally made in the credit life insurance industry. Although the commissioner of insurance has been calling for changes for years, House Speaker Ned McWherter has indicated this might be the appropriate time to deal with the issue.

Credit life insurance is purchased by consumers who take out large loans to protect their dependents from the debt in the event of death. In Tennessee the price for credit insurance is 75 cents per $100 of debt. The national average is 80 cents per $100.

Another proposal that will affect consumers, but is often to complicated to gain their attention, is a proposal concerning interstate banking. The issue pits the state's large banks against the smaller independent bankers. Large banks such as First Tennessee of Memphis would like the chance to expand their business into other states. Some independent bankers, on the other hand, fear the possibility of unfair competition and unfriendly takeovers that could occur if large out-of-state banks are allowed to do business in Tennessee.

Child Abuse—The serious problem of child sexual abuse has gained much publicity in recent months. A special legislative committee has been hearing recommendations and studying the issue over the past few months. Although suggested solutions to the problem vary, most representatives want to do something this year to deal with the situation.

Possible recommendations from the committee included changes in criminal procedure and awareness programs. Several legislators support a proposal to allow children to videotape their testimony to reduce the trauma caused by the long trial process. A similar law is in effect in Kentucky as well as a dozen other states.

A public schools abuse awareness program is being pushed by some members of the study committee as a way to deter child abuse. The concept is that children who know what adults should and should not do to them are more likely to resist an abuser's advances.

Health Care—Despite a slowing of the inflation rate, health care costs have continued to increase rapidly in recent years. In 1983, per capital health care costs were $1500 per year.

A special task force which studied the health care cost containment problem over the summer and fall has decided on several proposals to make to the General Assembly. The proposals range from one to outlaw smoking in public areas to change in medical malpractice laws.

The committee also recommended that a bill be considered to require the use of seat belts in all automobiles. A law was recently passed in New York and a similar bill has already been introduced here in the House.

Although the health care cost problem may be too complicated to deal with in a single year, the issue is sure to be discussed extensively throughout the 1985 session.

Crime—A bill designed to address the problem of organized crime in Tennessee called the RICO bill died in the Judiciary Committee last year. Many legislators felt that the bill, while well-intentioned, was so broad as to be potentially dangerous.

The concept of RICO legislation is to allow law officials to confiscate property which may be legally owned by organized crime interests, but which was bought with illegally obtained money.

A RICO proposal will probably be considered again this year, but with several changes to ensure that the provisions of the law are not used against legitimate business organizations.

Speaker McWherter has indicated that a form of RICO legislation might be used as a possible remedy for the problem of hard core pornography and illegal drugs.

England's first modern circus was established in 1768 by an ex-cavalry sergeant in Lambeth, London. No admission was charged, but a collection was taken after each performance.

Pair Spend Icy Night In Truck

Deno and Mark Harrison, of Barr, spent Saturday night stranded in icy temperatures after their truck became stuck in a snow bank about 11 p.m.

After spending the night in the truck, they had to walk two miles to the nearest house arriving about noon Sunday.

James W.R. White Taken By Death

James W. R. White, 65, of Mcminnville, newspaper publisher and broker who began his career in journalism with The Halls Graphic in the mid-1930s, died Sunday in River Park Hospital in McMinnville.

Services were at 1 p.m. Wednesday in High's Funeral Home in McMinnville, with burial in Mount View Cemetery.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John White, of Halls, he published the McMinnville Southern Standard from 1955 to 1978 and the Warren County Tribune from 1968 to 1978.

He was a past president of the Tenn. Press Association and of the McMinnville Rotary Club.

He was a veteran of World War II.

He leaves his wife, Nelle Burnett White; two sons, Gerold H. and James T. White, of Atlanta, Ga.; a daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Angelo, of San Francisco, Calif.; a brother, William, of Washington, D.C.; and a sister, Mrs. Frank Scott, of Gulfport, Miss.

Ripley Presses County On Financing Schools

Ripley's city board, whose 68% of local sales taxes collected in the county is essential to financing $6,975,000 in county-wide school improvements demanded by the state, will meet next week to hear reaction of county officials to its inquiries, in a called meeting Monday, for exploration of two revisions of financing plans presented to it by County Executive William (Bill Pete) Tucker IV and County Commissioners Don Ammons, Lawson Chipman, Gwinn Matthews, and Clifford Sweat:

- A 15-year bond issue, instead of the 10 years proposed by the county. The county representatives had no estimate of interest differentials or other cost comparisons.
- The city's delivering sales tax funds as needed to pay off the bonds—the city meanwhile earning the interest on the reserve suggested by Paul Meadows, county trustee, of an original $500,000, plus 5% of annual sales tax revenues—conservatively, for current conditions and without any adjustment for inflation, about $40,500 per year.

City officials estimate the county's proposal would net the county, earning interest on reserves over 10 years, at least $1,500,000 above its costs to fund a 10-year $6,000,000 bond issue.

That bond issue, plus $900,000 on hand and interest due before the bonds could be issued, in July, would finance the program proposed by the Board of Education, including the $500,000 initial reserve.

"Certainly, we want to support our schools in every way," says Ripley Mayor Rozelle Criner. "The record shows that the City of Ripley has been more than generous in this regard, and annually contributes extra funds to many school activities.

"Our only concern is that we owe it to the City of Ripley taxpayers to know exactly what we're doing and exactly what it's going to cost whom and when.

"Those figures—the alternatives—just weren't available at the board's meeting Monday.

"As soon as they are, our city board will meet promptly and do everything it can to assure quality education for every student in Lauderdale County schools, so far as City of Ripley funding is concerned."

Of this county's 7½% sales tax, 5½% goes to the state. Of the other 2%, 1/2% goes directly to teachers' salaries and is not involved in the current problem.

The remaining 1½%, earmarked for school construction by votes in 1966 and 1976, is distributed by area of collection.

Ripley gets about 68%, Halls about 16%, the county about 13%, with Gates and Henning under 2% each.

Halls' city board has indicated it will follow Ripley's settlement. Gates and Henning have already diverted their sales tax funds to other purposes.

Visits School

EMORY REGISTER, center, of Nashville, director of the Tennessee Tomorrow program, was welcomed to Halls High School Wednesday of last week by Ricky Bennett, left, and Lisa Mann, right, as the guest of the HHS Close-Up Club, to tell social studies students about the Tennessee Homecoming '86 program.

The format of Tennessee Tomorrow is similar to the Close-Up experience, in that students from across the state visit Nashville three days while the General Assembly is in session and confer with the governor and other public officials in Nashville.

The program, begun in 1979, includes 130 schools. Emphasis this year is on tax and prison reform. Available program dates are Feb. 26-28th and March 3rd-5th at about $75 per student. Tenth, elevenths, and twelfth grade students are eligible for the program.

Surgeon

DR. KARL C. JONAS, who joined the staff of Baptist Hospital Jan. 8th as general surgeon, will be welcomed to Ripley by the Chamber of Commerce in a brief ceremony at 10 a.m. Friday at his office at 184 South Washington, public invited.

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., to a surgeon, he completed his residency in Washington, D.C., in 1980 and has been practicing in George H. Lanier Hospital in Alahama, 3½ miles from his home in West Point, Ga.

He and his wife, Jaye, have a daughter, Ashley, who will join them in Ripley in May, after she completes her senior year in high school in Georgia.

'Casey' likes fishing and hunting and is a photographer.

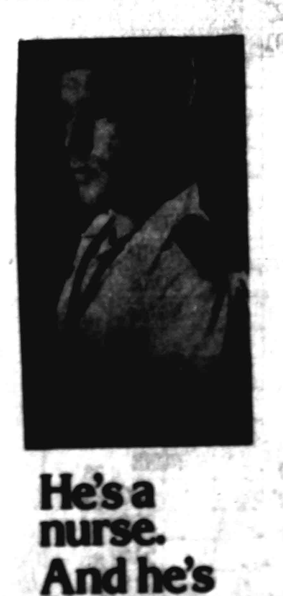
Thomas Reece, 72, of Halls, retired farmer, died Jan. 11th in Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Services were at 3 p.m. Jan. 12th in Archer's Chapel United Methodist Church with burial in the church cemetery.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Reece; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Ruth Baker, Mrs. Kathryn Ann Palmer and Mrs. Deborah K. Riddick, of Memphis; two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Riley, of Halls, and Mrs. Annie Hand, of Memphis; and six grandchildren.



He's a nurse. And he's Navy.

From nurse anesthetists to doctors to hospital administrators, the medical care America's Navy needs has to be the best. It takes men and women with the experience and dedication that any top hospital looks for in its medical team.

In the health care professions, and in many other skilled and highly technical fields, you'll find some of the best people in those jobs are working in today's Navy. They're dedicated men and women who could put their experience and training to work anywhere, but believe being the best means more when it's done for their country.

Navy know-how. It's working for America.

Halls Homemaker Meeting Enjoyed

An all-out effort was made to ... new interested homemakers to ... meeting of the Halls Heric... Extension Homemakers ... at 7 p.m. Jan. 15th in Halls Community Center.

Homemakers attending were Gloria Burrough, Lauren Burnett, Janice Foley, Angie Terry, ... Humphreys, Virginia Hurt, Ima Webb, Gentry Lacy, Patsy Atkinson, Pansy Gibbons, ...line Roark, Mattie Taylor, ...llie Moore and Janice ...lder. Robbie Nelson, member of the Town and Country Extension Homemakers Club, visited.

Mrs. Dot Connell, Associate Extension Agent, presided and advised the group on responsibilities of membership. She encouraged those present to consider the educational aspect.

She presented a program on "Fitness While You Wait," challenging all homemakers to get into the "fitness" habit in 1985.

The devotion was led by Lollie Hargett. Angie Terry called the roll by having each member telling how frequently she exercised. Mrs. Ima Webb was elected treasurer.

Mrs. Foley, club president, reported on weekly visits by members to the Lauderdale County Nursing Home. She also gave a short report on "Death of a Myth-Are Today's Household Appliances Really Inferior To Yesterdays?"

The club plans to meet the third Tuesday night of each month in the Halls Community Center.

Membership is open to all interested homemakers, regardless of race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Gloria Burrough and Virginia Hurt.

Public Notice

The Halls Police Department is sponsoring a Crime Prevention Project, beginning January 1, 1985.

Among the accomplishments that we hope to make is to get the street numbers on each business and home mounted in a visible location. We are asking the assistance of all residents. Street numbers are available at the Halls Police Department.

Street numbers will be furnished to residents who are unable to buy them, and the Halls Police Department and the Halls Jaycees will assist anyone unable to mount the street signs.

Also by request, the Halls Police Department will come into your home and make recommendations for safer protection plans or devices to avoid vandalism and theft.

Feeding Cold, Starving Fever Are Just Tales

Feed a cold, starve a fever. Or is it vice versa?

"Neither," replies Carol Beck, Extension nutrition specialist at Tennessee State University.

"Infection, no matter how minor, disrupts the body's nutritional status," she explains. "People usually lose their appetites when they're sick, so the body starts breaking down muscle and using the body's supply of minerals and vitamins."

Water and sodium losses occur in the sickness brings on diarrhea.

Should you force yourself to eat?

"No," she says. "Most researchers now agree that a loss of appetite may be the body's method for starving the infection-causing micro-organisms."

Doctors recommend eating a wholesome, well-balanced diet routinely so when you become ill, your body will not have to be depleted of nutrients.

If you have a fever, start eating as soon as the fever breaks and your appetite returns.

"Check with your family doctor for recommendations," she says, "but, in general, proteins, calories, B vitamins, iron, Vitamin C and fluids are usually depleted most."

To restore these nutrients, eat fruit or drink fruit juices, especially oranges or grapefruits.

"Milk or cream soups and whole grain breads or crackers are some of the best foods to start you back on the road to recovery," she adds.

Agricultural Land Acreage Is Declining

Every day in the United States, four square miles of our nation's prime farm land shifts to uses other than agriculture.

"In the war between the bulldozer and the plow," says George J. Buntley, UT Extension soil management specialist, "one million acres of America's prime farm lands are urbanized each year."

A million acres, he says, equals a half-mile wide strip from New York to California.

"In addition to the prime farmland lost, we are losing another two million acres of lesser quality agricultural land to nonagricultural conversions each year," he adds.

The total annual loss of three million acres a year is equivalent to 320 acres an hour.

If farm land losses continue at this rate, the country will be facing problems by the year 2000, Buntley warns.

"All food produced in the United States will be consumed here. Consumer food prices will be pushed sharply upward, and this increase will be a real price increase not just an inflation increase,' he says.

Food exports will no longer help offset massive trade deficits, such as paying for foreign oil. Hungry people in other nations will have to depend on their own food supply, already taxed by their growing populations.

"Unfortunately, there are no easy solutions to the problem of declining agricultural land acreage," he admits, "only the opportunity to make intelligent choices."

81 Farmers Get Expert Advice

By Charles T. Peal

Recommended cotton, milo, soy bean, and wheat production practices were presented to 81 Lauderdale County producers by the University of Tennessee Extension Service in meetings Friday in Halls and Ripley.

Green Scene

Paulus Shelby met with cotton producers in the morning, discussing varieties, planting practices and seed protection.

Melvin Newman, plant pathologist, covered disease problems facing growers of soy beans, wheat, and cotton. Newman stressed the value of applying fungicides to increase the size and quality of these crops.

Wayne Flinchum, soy bean specialist, covered weed control, fertilizing and liming, pointing out that liming and the use of molybdenum on seed are two of the more important practices.

Shelby and Charles Peal discussed facts learned from four years of growing grain sorghum in this county. Milo as a rotational crop is important, and too, it has the potential to increase soybean yields six or more bushels. There will be a considerable increase in milo in Lauderdale this year.

Jerry Parker explained the cotton, milo, and soybean insect scouting program (Integrated Pest Management Program), inviting producers to participate for 1985.

The Lauderdale Farmers Co-Operative and Rohm Haas Company participated in the program.

Tomato Season Starts

Alvin Rutledge, Extension specialist in Horticulture, is conducting a meeting Feb. 5th to inform growers on fertilization practices, disease control, and weed control.

Though we have come a long way in many of our production practices, there are problems related to fertilization and liming. Cool weather and high moisture in conjunction with high fertilization often causes the top of the tomato to develop cracks, thus making it unsaleable. This year, we will have demonstrations to gather data that may aid in lessening this problem.

LAMBUTH HONOREE

Susan Dorene Heath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heath, Jr., of Halls, is one of 133 students named to the fall semester dean's list at Lambuth College in Jackson. She is a 1983 graduate of Halls High School.

City Eyes School Plans Thursday

Ripley's city board, asked to pledge 68% of local sales taxes collected in the county to rescue county schools from closure by the state fire marshal, meets Thursday evening to hear county answers to queries its meeting proposed last week:

- Would a bond issue maturing later than the 10-year issue proposed by the county, at an estimated 8.3%, be more useful?
- Should the city, itself pressed for financing of many other urgent needs, seek to retain some part of 68% of the minimum $1,500,000 the county would net as profit on the plan it presented to the city to finance the school program?

That profit would come to the county in interest on the reserves it proposes to fund a $6,975,000 bond issue, even at 8.5%.

The city board's meeting last week asked the county to consult competent counsel to estimate costs of alternative bond issues and meet with the city board again this week.

Halls' city board, receiving about 16% of local sales taxes, has agreed to follow Ripley's lead. Gates and Henning have already diverted their share of local sales taxes from school support.

Public Notice

The Halls Police Department is sponsoring a Crime Prevention Project, beginning January 1, 1985.

Among the accomplishments that we hope to make is to get the street numbers on each business and home mounted in a visible location. We are asking the assistance of all residents. Street numbers are available at the Halls Police Department.

Street numbers will be furnished to residents who are unable to buy them, and the Halls Police Department and the Halls Jaycees will assist anyone unable to mount the street signs.

Also by request, the Halls Police Department will come into your home and make recommendations for safer protection plans or devices to avoid vandalism and theft.

Church Vows Pledged

MRS. DOUGLAS JEFFERY TABER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warren Cantrell, of Benton, La., was married Jan. 12th in St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Shreveport, La.

The bride, Barbara Jane Cantrell, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Hinton Cantrell, the late Ben Cantrell, and Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Cannon, all of Halls.

Mr. Taber is the son of the Jeffery Dallas Tabers, of Barrington, R.I., and Orleans, Mass., and the grandson of Earl D. Taber and the late Mrs. Taber, of Exeter, R.I., and of Mrs. Thelma Schlosser and the late Harry Schlosser, of East Providence, R.I.

Music was provided by William Teague, organist, and the church choir.

First Corinthians 13 was read by Mrs. Brenda C. Hansbrough, of Halls, aunt of the bride.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Mary Lee Cantrell, of Benton. The bride's other attendants were another sister, Mrs. Clara Cantrell Tomsula, of Baton Rouge, La.; the groom's sister, Ann Owings Taber, of Barrington; Jennifer Ray Taylor, of Halls; Lauri Gene Boyd, of Lafayette, La.; and Martha Ann O'Neal, of DeRidder, La.

Best man was the groom's brother, Scott William Taber, of Barrington.

Groomsmen and ushers were other brothers, Mark Schlosser Taber, of Providence, R.I., and Greg Dallas Taber, of Barrington; the bride's brother, Henry Warren Cantrell, Jr., of Beton; Christian Jean Varkala, of Golden, Colo.; and Jack E. Patterson, of Houston, Tex.

Flower girl was Jamie Wilkerson, of Shreveport. Ring bearer was Paul Thomas Hansbrough, Jr., of Halls.

The reception was at the Shreveport Country Club.

After a trip to Hawaii, the newlyweds are at home in Dallas, Tex.

The Black Bayou Lake home of the Henry Cantrells was the setting of a Louisiana gumbo party for the couple Jan. 11th. Served were combination salad, sea food gumbo over rice, smoked sausage, French bread, assorted cookies, cakes, coffee, and tea. Special guests were the Jeffery Tabers and children, Ann, Mark, Scott, and Greg, of Rhode Island; the Elvis Cannons, Mrs. Ben Cantrell, the Tommy Hansbroughs and children, Angie, Alison, and Paul, the Abe Taylors and children, Jennifer, Elizabeth, and John, of Halls; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tomsula, of Baton Rouge, La.; the Jack Pattersons, of Houston, Tex.; Bill Scott, of Monroe, La.; Lauri Boyd, of Lafayette, La.; Martha O'Neal, of DeRidder, La.; Chris Varkala, of Golden, Colo.; and Warren Cantrell, Mary Lee Cantrell, and Miss Leslie Carrington, of Benton, La.

The Jeffery Tabers hosted the rehearsal dinner and cruise on the Red River Jan. 10th at 7:30 p.m. on the River Rose paddle-wheeler. Buffet tables decorated with red roses and baby's breath offered green salad, lemon-orange chicken breast, steamship prime rib, potatoes au gratin, broccoli, carrots in blackberries, cream puffs with chocolate sauce, raspberry layer cake, French bread, coffee, and tea. Special guests were the bride's parents, the Elvis Cannons, Mrs. Ben Cantrell and Mrs. Tommy Hansbrough and son, Paul, of Halls; the Kim Wilkersons, Jamie Wilkerson, The Rev. and Mrs. Larry Packard and the William Teagues, of Shreveport; Miss Lee Carrington, of Benton, La.; Bill Scott, of Monroe, La.; and Patrick Tomsula, of Baton Rouge, La. Mr. Taber took this time to present his groomsmen and ringbearer with gifts.

Mrs. Billy Hudson and Mrs. Joe Scoggin, of Benton, La., and Mrs. Bill Gordon and Mrs. Floyd Lindsey, of Shreveport, La., entertained at luncheon Jan. 11th at the Palmetto Country Club in Benton, honoring Miss Cantrell, whose chosen colors of candlelight and navy were used in the flowers. Avocado-asparagus salad, chicken ... broccoli, carrots, cheese cake, coffee, and tea were served to Miss Cantrell, Mrs. Henry Cantrell, and Mrs. Mary Lee Cantrell, of Benton, La., Mrs. Jeffery Taber and Miss Ann Taber, of Barrington, R.I., Mrs. Ben Cantrell, Mrs. Elvis Cannon, Mrs. Tommy Hansbrough, and Miss Jennifer Taylor, of Halls, Mrs. Jim Wilkerson, of Shreveport, La., Mrs. Clara Tomsula, of Baton Rouge, La., Miss Lauri Boyd, of Lafayette, La., Miss Martha O'Neal, of DeRidder, La., and Miss Jamie Wilkerson, of Shreveport, La. Miss Cantrell, in a salmon and brown knit suit, was given a corsage of carnations with baby's breath and France 500 Crystal glasses. She took this time to present her attendants with gifts.

No living person may appear on a dollar bill.

Jack Stallcup

Services were at 2 p.m. Friday in Halls Funeral Home, with burial in Gates Cemetery.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ruth Riley Sturdivant; a son, Vernon Lee Sturdivant, of Cicero, Ill.; a brother, Sammy Sturdivant Jr., of Oakfield; a sister, Mrs. Ramona Jean Britt, of Halls; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

James Holcomb

James Holcomb, 71, of Henning, died Friday in Baptist Memorial Hospital Lauderdale after a long illness.

He was a retired employee of General Motors Corp.

Services were at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in New Hope CME Church, with burial in Bethlehem Cemetery.

He leaves three brothers, Noah and David, of Henning, and Robert, of Chicago, Ill.; three sisters, Mrs. Vernita Gingery, of Ripley, Mrs. Annie Burnett and Mrs. Laura McCluthen, of Henning.

Mrs. Bertha Wiley

Mrs. Bertha Wiley, 82, of Harlan, Ky., sister of Mrs. George Hargett and Mrs. Burnell Conner, of Ripley, died Monday of last week in Harlan Appalachian Regional Hospital after long illness.

She was formerly of Jackson.

She was born in Gates, daughter of the late John B. and Ella Humphreys Willis and educated in schools there. She taught school in Shelby County and lived several years in Jackson, where her husband, the late Rev. Patrick Wiley, was minister of Trinity United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Wiley was a member of Harlan United Methodist Church, a 50-year member of the United Methodist Women, taught Sunday School classes for many years.

Services were at 2 p.m. Friday at Griffin Funeral Home, with burial in Ripley Memorial Gardens.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Anne Castle, of Morristown, and Patricia Bryson, of Harlan, Ky; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Goodwin

Mrs. Gladys E. Goodwin, 82, of Fowlkes, died Saturday in Parkview Methodist Medical Center in Dyersburg after a short illness.

Services were at 3 p.m. Sunday in Halls Funeral Home, with burial in Halls Cemetery.

She leaves her husband, Clifford A. Goodwin; a son, Vernon Dale Goodwin, of Brewton, Ala.

Mrs. Betty Duvall

Mrs. Betty Duvall, 51, retired grocer, was found by her mother, Veona (Mrs. Hubert) Dhority, who lives nearby, dead of three shots from a .22 calibre pistol in her mobile home at Nankipoo at noon Sunday. Authorities who sent the body to Memphis for autopsy believe the wounds were self-inflicted.

Services were at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Halls Funeral Home, with burial in Enon Cemetery.

Besides her mother, she leaves a son, Bimbo, of Central; a daughter, Miss Connie Duvall, of Halls; and a brother, Hertis Dhority, of Dyersburg.

CARD OF THANKS

The Hayes family wishes to thank each and every one of you for your many expressions of love during the recent death of our mother, Mrs. Lera Pierson.
