Halls Applicant For Space Sees Gains From Tragedy

A Halls applicant in the national "Teacher In Space" program says the tragic explosion of the space shuttle Challenger and the deaths of its 7-member crew could bring the country's space program back into perspective and begin a trend toward more space-oriented study in schools.

Paul Henderson Jr., 38, a science teacher in Halls Junior High School, was one of 174 Tennessee applicants in the program last year and one of more than 11,000 nationally.

Christa McAuliffe, a New Hampshire school teacher, was selected to join the shuttle crew and was killed in last Tuesday's explosion, moments after lift-off.

"I never really felt I had a chance, and I wasn't sure I'd have taken the opportunity if selected," Henderson says.

"I really don't believe I could have made the sacrifices necessary.

He says the application was 10 or 12 pages, many questions requiring essay-type answers. With the support of a pair of school-employed friends, he completed the application. "Considering our rural situation and our curiculum, I didn't think I had a chance to be selected, but I completed it really to see how far it might go," he explains. "As it turned out, I was eliminated, along with a lot of others, in the early stages of the program.

In Tennessee, eight semifinalists were named and two finalists picked to join finalists from other states. Henderson failed to make the first cut.

'All applicants were told in the beginning that, if selected, they would have to go through a lot of training and, after the mission, be available for public appearances and such.

"I don't know if I would have wanted to give up that much time away from home and my family."

He and his wife have two sons. What could have been gained from the project?

"I think the idea was good, but, obviously, the results were tragic.

"But, had it been successful, it would have and, even though it ended in tragedy, was, a plus for education. "It was probably a political thing, in some part, but an educator in space would draw a lot of interest, especially in young people, that might have been lost along the way."

Henderson has taught in Halls 17 years.

He feels some positive things can come from the tragedy. "Something like this puts things back into perspective. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will be a lot more careful in every aspect from now on in an attempt to see that something like this doesn't happen again. And it reminds us that space travel is not 'old hat' after so many successful missions."

As for space study in schools, Henderson explained that little space-oriented lessons are taught in present science classes. But he expects them to increase.

"Mostly what we teach is earth science," he says. "I imagine

3-Wheelers Draw Halls Complaints

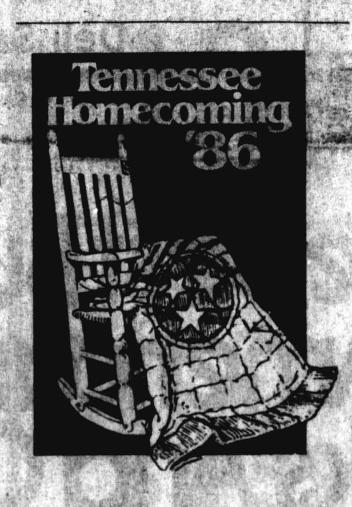

Halls Mayor Sammie Arnold and Police Chief Buddy Moore hope a warning to area 3-wheeler riders will stop a rash of complaints from citizens about property damage and interruption of church services.

Arnold and Moore are asking that anyone riding 3-wheelers refrain from riding on private property and that riders stay away from any church facility or business during business hours.

"We hope asking them to stop will stop some of the problems," Arnold said. "If not, we'll have to take other measures to see that they stop."

Moore says police officers have been more than nice to riders in the past but that laws governing 3-wheelers could be more strongly inforced, drastically cutting down on riding areas and activity.

Anyone desiring information on legal 3-wheeler activity in the city limits may call the Halls Police Department.

that will change in the future." Would he apply again, if the project were repeated?

"No, no way," he answered quickly.

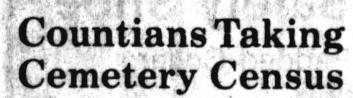

"It's not a part of my life. It's just not me."

Monty McWilliams Shows Champion

Bill Newsom, Halls Future Farmers Advisor, Mrs. Bernice Crain, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Larry McWilliams were at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro Thursday and Friday, attending the Tennessee Polled Hereford Show with Monty and Ricky McWilliams and Robert Harris.

The purpose of Tennessee Homecoming '86 is for each Tennessean, by birth or adoption, to take pride in his state.

Each community is encouraged to research its heritage, plan for its future, and ask those who have gone elsewhere to return for a celebration project.

As a heritage project, several groups and individuals in Lauderdale County are banding together to take a Lauderdale County Cemetery Census. Those, at present, participating in this project are:

Susan (Mrs. J. S.) Scott, member of Homecoming Steering Committee, 635-1464; Earlene Halliburton, co-ordinator black cemeteries, 635-9844; friends of the Halls and Ripley Libraries; Lauderdale County Daughters of the American Revolution; Home Demonstration Clubs; the Lauderdale County Historical Society; Halls Funeral Home; Thomas Funeral Home; Thompson's Mortuary; Yarbrough Funeral Home; and Garner's Ripley Funeral Home

The public is asked to read carefully the following list of cemeteries and report any know cemeteries (and their locations) if any have been omitted.

Abernathy; Antioch; Asbury; Bethel; Bethlehem; Bluff; Canaan, Canfield; Concord; Cumberland Presbyterian; Crossroads; Dry Hill; Durhamville; Durhamville; Durhamville Baptist Cemetery. Edith; El Canaan; Elam; Elon; Enon; Fulton; Gates, Grace; Green Hill Memorial; Greens Chapel; Halls; Hargrove; Haynes; Henning Grove; Holmes; Lea (Fulton); Leggett; Lightfoot; Love-Old Chapel; Maplewood; Marys Chapel; Mem orial Gardens; Montgomery; Morrow; Mt. Gates Bank Names Mrs. Vaden As V.P.

Bobby Vaughn, president of Gates Banking & Trust Co., announces that Jessie (Mrs. Odean) Vaden, of Halls, has been promoted from assistant cashier to assistant vicepresident. A Halls High School graduate, she has been employed by the bank since March 2, 1954.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Aline Tucker, of Halls, and the late Chester Tucker.

Martin Honorees

LEADERS-IN-RESIDENCE SCHOLARSHIPS at the University of Tennessee at Martin have gone to two Halls High School seniors-Cindy Carmack, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Carmack, of Route 1, Gates, and Rhonda Hines, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hines, of Jaynes Drive in Halls.

The $800 stipends give outstanding high school seniors an opportunity to participate in special leadership development programs during freshman years and to reside in University housing.

During their sophomore years, all leaders will be able to compete for positions as counselors in freshman residence halls and, if accepted, receive about $2,000 per year and become eligible to continue as counselors during junior and senior years.

Miss Carmack is active as Student Council president, Future Farmers president, newspaper staff reporter, Close-Up Club parliamentarian, debate team member, and Beta Club member. She is an Academic All-American and a choice for Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Miss Hines is senior class president, Miss HHS, and a member of the annual staff, French, H, and DECA clubs. She is also a band member, captain of the basketball team, and was voted Most Athletic Girl. She is Beta Club president.

Miss Carmack plans to major in agriculture education. Miss Hines plans to be a pre-med major.

TEMPESSEE TRAVELER

The Tennessee Sampler

Few people know America like Peter Jenkins, the author of A Walk Across America. After spending five years walking across the United States, Peter and his wife, Barbara, decided to settle in tiny Spring Hill, Tennessee a town of 1,100 people about 35 miles south of Nashville

Their selection of Tennessee as their new "home" state was done in a logical fashion, i.e they looked at the factors that were important to them climate, location, scenery and most of all, the people and their values - before making their decision. After seeing so much of the country, Spring Hill was the place they chose to own a 200-acre farm and

SENIOR KATHY EMERSON found it easy to get her hands on the ball, but handling three First Assembly Christian School defenders was tough. The Lady Tigers found the visiting Crusaders too tough to defeat, falling 55-51 Tuesday of last week. nets

Halls Girls Close, 54-51, But Lose 36th Straight

With the 1985-86 season quickly approaching its conclusion, Halls' Lady Tigers remain in the grasp of a miserable losing skid and at the bottom of the District 13-A standings. Last week, the Black & Gold girls had two chances to get in he win column. One effort came close. The other was no con-

"We're still having trouble getting into the win column," aid Head Coach Bobby Cain after his girls dropped a 55-51 decision Tuesday of last week to Memphis First Assembly Christian School

They were then dumped 75-34 Friday by district foe Kenton.

"We missed a real opportunity Tuesday, but Kenton just has too much talent," Cain says.

Against FACS, the Lady Tigers came as close as they've come o victory since the losing streal began in February of 1984. The streak now stands at 36. A good first-half effort kept the girls in the game but a lagging defense allowed the visiting Crusaders to

Kenton Mentor Bjected As Halls Boys Improve

Coaches often tell stories of how they dream of a team peak-ing at the right time, and Halls mentor Winston Jarrett may have another chapter to add to his story book when the tourna-ments begins in a couple of weeks.

Jarrett's Tigers rolled past Memphis First Assembly Christian School Tuesday of last week, then blasted rival Kenton Friday to up their mark to 8-10 and claim their fourth win in

"It feels good to be winning some games, but there are still some things we need to do to be ready for the tournaments," Jarrett said after a 64-55 win over FACS and an 84-74 victory

"We're having a good first half, then standing around and looking in the second half, and that's not good. We'd have a ball club if we could put two good halves together. I hope we do that when the tournaments start."

Life Sentences Given Inmates

Four Fort Pillow State Prison inmates face life sentences after being convicted Friday of open rebellion in a prison uprising last summer.

Tony Willis, James Yates and Alex Skinner, all 23, and Harry Upchurch, 24, were found guilty of open rebellion with intent to kill or escape by a Lauderdale County Circuit Court Jury. The charge carries a mandatory life sentence, Dist. Atty. Gen. Paul

Summers said. The charge stemmed from a July 11 uprising in which several guards were beaten and taken hostage as inmates tried to take over prison units A1 and A3 and the prison chapel. About 110 convicts participated in the rebel-

The inmates also were found guilty of the following:

Yates and Skinner were convicted of aggravated assault for attacking guard Elmer Green, 37. Green testified he was repeatedly slashed with a "shank", or homemade knife, by Yates, who threatened to kill everyone in the

Willis and Upchurch were convicted of aggravated assault for attacking 32-year-old guard Roger Williams. Williams was working in Unit 3A when he was jumped and badly beaten by a group of inmates who stole his keys and locked him in a cell. "I'm satisfied with the conviction", Williams said Friday. "It was a fair trail."

Willis and Yates were convicted of simple assault for pulling shanks on guard David Moffatt, 23, in Unit A1. Moffatt was locked in a cell and his keys were used to free inmates on lockdown for taking part in a July 9th work stoppage on the prison farm.

"Itook a look at many funeral preplanning programs. The GUARDIAN PLAN program to be best."

-Noel Sherrod

"I wanted to answer your questions about funeral preplanning the best way I could. So I did a lot of research. I learned that The GUARDIAN PLAN, program is one of the most respected names in funeral preplanning in the country.

"Over 300 funeral homes throughout the United States and Canada sponsor it. Like

Halls Funeral Home, these are firms that have served their communities for decades with distinction.

"The GUARDIAN PLAN program is rock solid dependable. It assures you all your wishes will be honored. It guarantees that the amount you decide to spend today will never increase in the future.

only to see the visiting Falcons pull even and send the contest into the extra period.

In overtime, Tyrone Patrick hit two free throws with 2:06 to play to put Halls up 76-72. The Tigers held a two-point bulge with 14 seconds left when Lake County sent Patrick again to the line for one-and-one. He missed the first shot but Foster cleaned the glass and was fouled with four seconds to play. His free shots iced the contest, snapped Lake County's eight-game win ning streak and pulled Halls to 9-10 on the year.

Friday's loss, though, knocked the high-flying Tigers to 9-11, 3-5

The Tigers were to have met South Fulton for the final regular season outing Tuesday night of this week but snow and poor game to be cancelled, leaving Halls with almost two weeks free before the district tourney begins at Greenfield Feb. 20.

Region Winner

CINDY CARMACK, daughter of the Mike Carmacks, of Gates, and a senior in Halls High School, was chosen West Tennessee Future Farmers Sweetheart last week in Jackson. This is the fifth straight year a Halls girl has served in this capacity. Previous winners were Leah Roberts, Venita Voss, Missy Burrough, and Talley Perry.

Cindy was elected Chapter Sweetheart, then District Sweetheart. In the West Tennessee event, each girl was required to give a short introduction telling about themselves. then answer questions about agriculture and the FFA. They were judged on responses, poise, and personality.

Cindy is her chapter president, has been on numerous champion judging teams, and last year was the National FFA Fiber Crop Proficiency Award winner. She is student council president and was voted most likely to succeed. She plans to attend the University of Tennessee in Martin on an Oustanding Leader Scholarship.

She will be in the State Sweetheart contest at the State Convention in May. Three Halls girls have won this honor-Leah Roberts, who went on to win the National Contest in 1982, Missy Burrough, the 1984-85 State Sweetheart, and Talley Perry, currently serving.

'Cindy's accomplishments are a perfect example of what a person can do if they set their goals high enough and stick to them,' says FFA Advisor Bill Newsom. 'All of us at Halls High School are very proud of Cindy."

Art Winners

Halls Five Favored, Six Could Strike In District

Regular season campaigns are over and fine-tuning jobs ready for District 13-A tournament competition with some thing to prove.

The Tiger boys, winners of last year's regular season title think this is the year they can win the district championship And the Lady Tigers, losers of 39 consecutive games, really believe they can win a game.

Both teams can show their stuff as the tourney opens Thursday night at Greenfield. Halls' girls meet Sharon at 6:30 p.m., followed by the Tiger boys and Sharon's male counterparts. Winners advance in the five-team tourney. The losers are eliminated.

"It's a one-game season," Head Coach Winston Jarrett said of the opening round contest. "For the loser, there's no

The Halls boys finished the regular season at 9-11 overall, 3-5 in district play. They won six of their last eight outings, though, including a big victory over Kenton and an overtime affair with Lake County. And one of the losses was against unbeaten and top-seeded Greenfield by one

"I think we have a team capable of winning the tournament, Jarrett said. "I believe we can win the whole thing, if we play as well as we're capable of play-

The Tiger mentor said a poor outing against Bradford in the final regular season game was enough to get his players think ing about performing again, more than enough to make them change a "walk on the floor and win" attitude.

"Ideally, we wanted to finish third in the district so we would only have to win two games to win the tournament but, since we didn't, we'll just have to win

Leading the way for the Tigers s the team's only senior, Rodney Foster. In 20 regular season games, Foster scored 392 points for a 19.6 per-game average. Fol lowing Foster in team scoring is Bobby McKinney, a junior aver aging 10.3 points per outing and the team's leading rebounder Tyrone Patrick is next with 8.9.

Defensively, -the Tigers have been getting good pressure from young but quick players, includ-ing sophomore Chuckie Nelson. The hustling Nelson is average ing six points per game, as is Anderson Tyus and Brian Halli-

Watching as he made it official were Doug Miller, the university's assistant offensive line coach, Halls coach Andy Pugh, standing left and Deaton's father, Richard Deaton, standing right. The university is located in Carbondale, Ill.

HALLS SENIOR RHONDA HINES, with a 9-point average, leads the Lady Tigers into District 13-A tournament action Thursday evening in Greenfield. Hines and mates have struggled through an 0-20 regular season, but despite the long losing streak, they could put themselves into the district semifinals with a victory over Sharon and earn a berth in the regional. The Lady Tigers tip-off the tourney at 6:30 p.m.

against us overconfident, anything can happen."

The Lady Tigers haven't won a game since the district tournament of the 1983-84 season, long time for seniors Rhonda Hines and Kathy Emerson. How well they perform against the bigger Sharon squad could well be the key to getting a victory.

"We'll have to play well, as well as possible," Cain added. "Sharon dominated the boards both times we played in the regular season. We can't let them Thursday if we hope to win." Hines, last year's leading point producer with 197 points in 20 regular season battles, an average of 9.9 points per game Following right behind is freshman Pam Hutcherson with 192

points and s 9.6 point average. Emerson scored 127 points luring the year for a 6.4 point average, followed by freshman Paula Hutcherson with 101 points in 18 games for a 5.6 point average. An injury forced her to miss two regular season games down the stretch and a problem in practice last week irritated the injury and could force her out of Thursday's tourney opener. Kenton and Bradford are to square off in other competitions on the boys' side. Top-seeded Greenfield awaits the Halls-Sharon winner. On the girls' side, Kenton and Greenfield will battle for a spot in the finals while Bradford's squad waits on the outcome of the Halls-Sharon

Turn-Arounds Drop Halls From District

Making a turn-around was a good idea, but Halls' turnaround wasn't exactly what Tiger fans had in mind. In Thursday's District 13-A opener, Halls struggled early, then got its act together to take a 72-54 win over the Sharon Eagles, putting the Tigers into Saturday's semi-finals against unbeaten Greenfield.

Against the Yellow Jackets, the Tigers really turned the show around. Rather than starting slowly and finishing well the Black & Gold started off in fine fashion—then fell apart to drop a humbling 85-61 decision.

-Noel Sherrod

"I wanted to answer your questions about funeral preplanning the best way I could. So I did a lot of research. I learned that The GUARDIAN PLAN, program is one of the most respected names in funeral preplanning in the country.

"Over 300 funeral homes throughout the United States and Canada sponsor it. Like

Halls Funeral Home, these are firms that have served their communities for decades with distinction.

"The GUARDIAN PLAN program is rock solid dependable. It assures you all your wishes will be honored. It guarantees that the amount you decide to spend today will never increase in the future.

"Stop by or call me at (901) 836-7111. Of course there's no obligation."

Sharon's Free Throws Overcame Halls Girls

In a fast-paced, physical sport like basketball, Sharon's Eagles defeated Halls' Lady Tigers in the first round of the District 13-A tournament by simply standing still.

In this case, though, Sharon's squad was standing at the free throw line, and 18 bonus shots later. Halls' ladies were defeated 62-47 and eliminated from the tourney.

The Lady Tigers made a gallant effort and stayed even with Sharon from the field, hitting 22 field goals, but the outcome was decided at the charity stripe where the Lady Eagles hit 18 of 33 attempts. Halls managed three of six.

and the championship.

"We played about as well as we could physically play," Head Coach Bobby Cain said after watching his Lady Tigers drop the decision and finish the year 0-21. "We stayed even from the floor but couldn't come close to their free throws. We had them shooting free throws early and it made the difference."

Senior Rhonda Hines and freshman Pam Hutcherson led the Lady Tigers with 12 points each and the Halls girls got some additional scoring output from freshman Paula Hutcherson with 11 and sophomore Victoria Claybrook with eight. But, with Sharon's Mary Witherington hitting 23 and teammate Kim Evans one behind with 22, the Black & Gold girls couldn't pull

"The girls hustled all year and knew they'd hustle against Sharon," Cain added. "It just came down to the free throws and they had a lot more oppor tunities than we had."

Early in the contest, Sharon's size came into play and the Lady Tigers had trouble on the boards It was 12-10 after a pair of Pam Hutcherson baskets but the Lady Eagles scored the final five points of the period and had enough points from rival comfortable lead going into the econd stanza.

Paula Hutcherson was Halls' spark in the second period but with her seven-point period Sharon outscored Halls 19-11 and was up by 15 at the intermis-

In the third quarter, Hines sparked a comeback and Claybrook helped carry the load with some long-range jumpers. Sharn's lead was down to nine at 42-3 after Claybrook nailed a bomb from the top of the key but the Lady Tigers could get no loser and ran out of steam in the late going.

SOPHOMORE VICTORIA CLAYBROOK fired in eight points against Sharon in Halls' opening round tourney in Greenfield, but it wasn't enough to keep the Lady Tigers from being bumped from play. The loss eliminated the Lady Tigers and ended their campaign at 0-21.

TYRONE PATRICK made a good move for two points off the glass as crashing the boards was a key for Halls in the early going against Greenfield, whose unbeaten Yellow Jackets took control in the second period and rolled over the Tigers Saturday to move in to the finals of the District 13-A tournament.
