Komatsu-Dresser Will Add 125 Here

Komatsu Dresser Co., hosting dignitaries this Thursday for a formal opening of its parts distribution center in the former Maremont plant in Ripley's North Industrial Park, employing 90, plans to add 125 office jobs there, by next spring.

The firm paid Arvin Industries $7,300,000 for the 600,000 sq. ft. plant and its 50-acre site, immediately adding 100,000 sq. ft. of outside storage.

It will shift most of its parts distribution work here from Broadview, Ill., though maintaining smaller staffs there and in Thorofare, N.J., Suwanee, Ga., and Hayward, Calif.

Halls Board Hears Beer Amendment

The Town of Halls Board meeting was held Monday night at City Hall. A public hearing was held at 6:30 P.M. for discussion of the amendment to Building Code and amendment to Beer Ordinance. The regular board meeting began at 7 P.M. with Aldermen Stan Young, Barry Britt, James McCorkle and Mack Stanley present. On the first reading on the Building Code a motion was made but not seconded. On the amendment to Beer Ordinance. second reading, no motion was made.

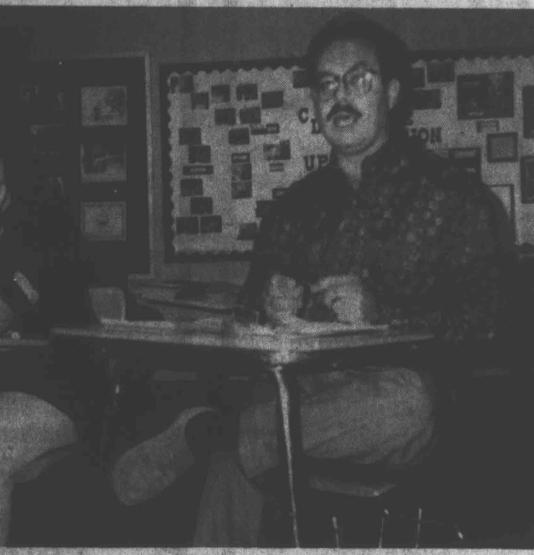

In a ceremony in downtown Nashville, School Superintendint, Bobby Webb, along with other members of the A-Plus Committee, parents and local officials, received this distinctive award from Commissioner of Education Charles Smith.

Governor Designs School Aid Boost

Gov. Ned McWherter will ask a special session of the state legislature Jan. 14th for 48.4% more state funding for public schools, through twelfth grade, for 1992-93.

Lauderdale County schools would get a 93.5% increase, to $12,743,049, but with less control over using it.

The plan would ear-mark state aid to this county as:

-$8,654,151 to pay school personnel (except custodians), on a 27-1 pupil-teacher ratio, for high schools, less for others. No increase is provided in the minimum salary schedule. A nurse is proposed for each 3,000 students. (County school enrollment is curand other standards, estimated to meet about half of the cost. The County Commission would have to fund the rest in order to claim the state aid, but this cost would be off-set by state funding in other areas, such as the school bus item now paid entirely by the county.

Who's Going To Pay?

McWherter postponed until January proposing any plan to find the 48.4% increase in state aid ($564,146,423).

But he said he will also propose more funds for state institution's above the high school level.

He has often advocated a state income tax.

Speculation in Nashville centers on a 3% state income tax, with a 1% cut in sales taxes, The Associated Press reports.

For the last two fiscal years, McWherter submitted, and legislators approved, state budgets assuming revenues up 5%. The cash did not come in.

This year's budget is based on

A police car was purchased, as approved at the November meeting.

The farm land went to bidder William Morton.

The resolution for Lauderdale County Board of Education to reissue school bonds was approved.

Stan Young and Eugene Pugh will consider a water study by J. R. Wanford and Co.

A bid to purchase an electromechanical, 2-phase traffic light at Church and Main Streets for $2,700 was approved.

A request from Gerald Cherry for documentation on development of a road north of Cherrydale Apartments was approved.

More than $2,000 has been raised for Christmas baskets.

Phillip Hurt was appointed as Building Inspector, followed by a discussion of codes for manufactured homes.

linkages among school, home and community.

Superintendent Webb stated, "This award recognizes the tremendous local effort and dedication on the part of our teachers, parents, businesses and industry who are working hard to provide quality education for the stuents in Lauderdale County."

In his award presentation speech, Commissioner Smith ited the accomplishments of Lauderdale County in meeting the needs of at-risk students; proriding activities to recognize outtanding teachers and outstanding students; administering a comprehensive ABE/Adult Literacy Program; involving families in schools; being actively involved in the Tennesee Drug Free Schools Program; providing community involvenent throughout the successful Adopt-A-School program; pro-iding a school-age child care rogram; maintaining a compreensive vocational education rogram through the high chools and the Ripley Area ocational Technical School: romoting the achievements of achers and students through ublic information efforts; and roviding clear evidence of connuing academic achievement.

Among those representing auderdale County in Nashville vere Mr. Webb, Superintendent f Schools; Gwinn Matthews. county executive; Carolyn Mitchell, Executive Directorhamber of Commerce; Vickie tratton, Ripley Area Vo-Tech chool; Glardes Thomas, School loard Chairman; Richard asure, school board member; Sill Torrence, of Baptist Hospital auderdale in Ripley; Syvelia Winbush, Educational Supervi-tor; Dr. Joan Hartman, Federal Projects Director; Beverly Tayr, Special Education Supervior; Jackie Walker, Director of Extended School Program; Patti Butner, At-Risk Coordinator; and Annette Maxwell, Early Intervention Specialist. There were a total of 9 school sam the Governor's A-Plus Award for 1991.

MIKE MOORE with the Lauderdale County Department of Human Services spoke to the Advanced Placement (AP) Government Class at Halls High School on November 25th.

Moore discussed various programs administered by his department, which includes food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Medicaid, and other programs related to family life in Lauderdale County.

In discussing the food stamp program, Moore explained that a one-person household receives stamps for $111; a fiveperson household reeived $440. Students queried the speaker about food stamp abuse. Mike said West Tennessee has only one investigator; and although recipients are only supposed to buy edible items, there are those who abuse the system. For the large part, however, he felt the program does serve those with real need.

Moore said there are many reasons individuals or families must seek public assistance loss of employment, lay-offs, a parent dies, divorce, etc. The percentage of people currently on welfare assistance is racially balanced in Lauderdale County with 50 percent of the recipients being white and 50 percent black. One person receives $95 per month for all living expenses except food and health care; two persons $142; three persons, $185. There were 700 AFDC cases in the county last year, meaning one of the parents was absent. He explained that many fathers are raising children with the mother being the absent parent.

dale County received $8.6 million, which translates to income for drug stores, doctors, nursing homes, etc. The one hospital in Lauderdale County received $1,608,000 last year from Medicaid, which does not include $579,000 for out-patient care. Drug stores in the county reeived $1,327,000 for prescription drugs, and two nursing homes were paid $2,688,000 for intermediate care. Over $1,100,000 was paid to doctors for office visits.

The federal government pays 80 per cent of the cost of Medicaid with 20 per cent state participation. Welfare checks were decreased as of July 1st from $100 to $95 due to state budget cuts. It is the first year in the last two decades when checks were reduced.

The students and Mr. Moore discussed ways that the numbers on public assistance could be reduced. Solutions included education, counseling for all mothers on welfare - not just teenage mothers, and rerestablishment of the Teen Troupe, which is currently active in Ripley but was discontinued in Halls. Students Melissa Clendenin and Tony Kirby, former members of the Halls Troupe, felt the program was effective. Moore also emphasized that there is follow-up on cases, but the number of cases each of the Human Services employees serves restricts constant surveillance. Even with the overload, each AFDC client must be interviewed every six months.

--$414.180 for central office operations.

-$1,221,983 toward remodeling or new construction required to meet the pupil-teacher ratio a 2.8% increase in revenue expected. In the first four months of the fiscal year, it's under 1%.

"Overspending," The Associated Press reports, "has all but wiped out many state reserve funds."

Nationally, The New York Times reports, federal and state taxes are at their highest level since World War II.

Donors Of Baskets

According to statistics, welfare is big business in the county since most of those on assistance spend the money in Lauderdale County. Examples include Medicaid (medical program for welfare recipients) year were $2.3 billion. Lauder-

Mike said that child abuse and adult abuse cases are on the rise in the county. His department also handles adoptions and foster care. The number of children in foster care is at an all-time high - 53. Last year, the number was 28. Again, education was suggested as a possible solution.

Christmas memories: A rich inheritance all, and for caring, thoughtful people Of all special days, Christmas evokes the most memories. These dreamlike excur-sions into a vanished past are made of many things—the merry blinking of lights gar-landed about a fragrant evergreen; the savor of cinnamon and nutmeg, ginger and allspice adding their scent and flavor to cookies cut in festive shapes; the crackle of pine needles underneath as little feet grind them into the carpet while exploring the world of wonders under the test in festive shapes; the crackle of

A Quick And Easy Sumptuous Sauce

Holiday times call for the dazzling, the delicious and the spectacularespecially for dessert. And all the better if it's quick and easy. Who has time to fuss? That's where this sumptuous dessert sauce comes into the holiday picture.

There doesn't have to be anything puzzling about stirring up a great sauce. True, some sauces demand lots of ingredients and long cooking time, but for most of us, the best sauces are the simple ones-such as this Easy Pumpkin Caramel Sauce. With few ingredients and easy to prepare, it's just the ticket for holiday desserts!

Super-simple, it goes together in under 10 minutes using either the stove-top or microwave. Along with rich and savory taste, this thick topping is low in fat and sodium, cholesterol free and an excellent source of Vitamin A. One taste and your family and friends will proclaim you a dessert magician. Equally delicious on pound cake and ice cream, it's also great on pancakes and waffles.

bon. They make a perfect holidayor anytime-gift.
