Food Pantry Instituted To Aid Guard Families

The Family Support Group for Ripley's 268th Military Police Company of the National Guard, now on active duty at Fort Stewart, Ga., needs staple foods (non-perishable items) to set up a Food Pantry for families hurt by the difference between civilian and military pay.

"We would very much appreciate any help from the community," says Erika (Mrs. Mike) Sutton, Food Pantry chairman.

Deliver food to the Armory between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, any week, or 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Jan. 5th. Information from 635-4592.

"Thank you, Lauderdale County, for your support and concern for Guard families since the unit was activated," says Mrs. Sutton. "Your continued support will be very much needed and appreciated."

Champus Helps Guard Families

Families of National Guardsmen and Reservists called to active duty for more than 30 consecutive days are eligible for CHAMPUS benefits during the active duty period.

CHAMPUS is the Department of Defense Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services. It shares the cost of covered health care for the families of active duty and retired military members.

The uniformed services make the determination as to who is eligible. Military identification cards will be issued to dependents who need them, and CHAMPUS eligibility will be indicated on the back of the cards.

Nolen

Ward

We Remember:

January 2nd, 1991 marks the first anniversary of one of the most tragic days in the history of Lauderdale County law enforcement. One year ago, on this date, in the early morning hours, two good officers were senselessly murdered in their patrol car while trying to assist a stranded motorist. The news releases of this tragedy brought national attention to Lauderdale County. It brought only grief, heartache, and a great sense of loss to the families and many friends of Deputies Kevan Ward and Bobby Nolen. It also brought all law enforcement of this county together in a renewed sense of oneness and brotherhood, resulting in the erection of a memorial to honor the memories of all Lauderdale County officers killed in the line of duty.

There is a saying that time heals and eases all pain. If this saying is true, clearly one year is not nearly enough time. Bobby and Kevan belonged to, and were a big part of, a second family, the family of law enforcement. Those of us who worked side by side with them feel fortunate to have known them, and grateful for their influence on our own lives. We remember and miss them every day. Now we would like for the Kevan Ward family and the Bobby Nolen family to know that we have not forgotten. We share their grief and their loss.

Bobby and Kevan were proud members of the Lauderdale County Sheriff's Department. The Sheriff's Department was equally proud to be represented by two such fine officers. Our prayer is that God's purpose be served and that Kevan and Bobby shall not have died in vain.

Disaster Plans Made

Testing Your Smoke Detector Could Save Your Life!

If a fire were to start in your home tonight while you're asleep, do you think the smoke would wake you up?

Wrong. In fact, toxic gases and smoke from a fire fill you into a deeper sleep, eventually killing you. Most fire victims don't die as a result of burns. They're usually found in their beds by firemen, dead and undisturbed—killed by the lethal smoke.

Clearly, having one or more working smoke detectors can be the only thing that separates you and your family from disaster. In fact, your chances of dying in a home fire are cut in half by the presence of a working smoke detector, according to the United States Fire Administration (USFA).

You probably have a smoke detector in your home already. About 85 percent of Americans do. But how do you know if your smoke detector is working? The answer: test it on a monthly basis, if AC-powered, and weekly, if battery-powered.

But many people do not test their smoke detectors regularly, as indicated by a recent nationwide study commissioned by First Alert, the world's largest manufacturer of smoke detectors. According to the study, 76 percent of the AC-powered smoke detector owners surveyed do not test their units at least once a month as recommended by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA). More disturbing, 95 percent of the battery-powered smoke detector owners do not test their units weekly, as recommended.

When homeowners surveyed were specifically asked to test their smoke detectors, it was found that nearly one in ten were inoperable. That means millions of American families are greatly increasing their risk of death and injury due to a home fire.

The unit's horn sounds to let you know the detector is operational.

In addition to the test button, some detectors even have a patented feature which enables you to test the unit with an ordinary flashlight while you're standing on the floor. Still others feature a built-in light, like the one pictured, which is activated when the unit's horn goes off to help safely light your way out of the building.

When a chirping sound is emitted from a battery-operated smoke detector, the battery is wearing out and should be replaced immediately. Don't remove the battery to stop the chirping, since removing it makes the unit inoperable. And remember to put in a fresh battery at least once a year.

According to the USFA, smoke detectors should be cleaned regularly by using an ordinary vacuum cleaner while the cover is closed, following the instructions of the smoke detector manufacturer.

It's important that your children are present when you test your smoke detector so that they are familiar with the sound and know what it means. In addition, families should devise and practice a home escape plan to save valuable time if a fire strikes.

To greatly enhance your chances of escaping from your home in case of a fire, install a smoke detector on every level of your home and in every sleeping area, especially inside a child's bedroom.

Smoke detectors have saved thousands of lives already, but they simply must be tested: on a monthly basis if AC-powered and weekly if battery-powered.

For more information on smoke detector testing or placement, contact your local fire department.

Common Eyesight Myths

When it comes to eye care, now may be a good time to look at dispelling some of the most common eyesight myths. According to experts at the Better Vision Institute, here are some of the most commonly heard myths about eye care.

Myth: Eat carrots because they're good for your eyes.
Fact: Carrots are rich in vitamin A, which is essential for maintaining good eyesight. However, because many other foods contain vitamin A—and only a small quantity of it is needed for vision—carrots are helpful but not essential for good eyesight.

Myth: Children usually outgrow crossed eyes.
Fact: In some children who have a wide nose bridge, eyes may appear crossed, even though they are not. This facial appearance of eyes crossed may improve with age. Actually, strabismus (crossed eyes) can be corrected by glasses, eye drops or surgery. However, the condition of crossed eyes cannot be outgrown.

Myth: Reading in dim light will damage your eyes.
Fact: Reading in dim light won't cause eye injury but it can cause eye strain. Proper lighting makes reading easier and can help reduce eye fatigue.

REPORTS TO THE EIGHTH DISTRICT

CENSUS REPORT BEGINS CHAIN OF EVENTS

As 1990 drew to a close, the Bureau of the Census presented what it calls its final count of our nation's population. In the report submitted to President Bush, the Bureau says that America's population increased 10.21 percent to 249.6 million since the last census in 1980.

As with every census taken since the first one in 1790, the population figures will be used to reapportion the U.S. House of Representatives. Because of shifts in population throughout the country, 13 states will lose at least one seat in their respective delegations in the House. Another 8 states will gain seats.

The submission of this report to the President is the initial link in a chain of events leading up to a finalizing of the 1990 Census. By April 1, the counts will be transmitted to the states' Governors so that reapportionment of state legislative seats and redrawing of Congressional district boundaries can begin.

Finally, the Secretary of Commerce must decide by July 15 whether or not to make a statistical adjustment to correct any undercount.

NUMBER OF TENNESSEE CONGRESSIONAL SEATS REMAINS SAME

Fortunately, Tennessee is not among those states losing representation in Congress due to the Census. Our great state will retain its 9 seats in the House of Representatives. However, the possibility that an undercount occurred remains troubling to all of us.

Many local governments in the Eighth District filed challenges to the census preliminary counts earlier this year. Those challenges have presumably been resolved. Nonetheless, if the census has missed or omitted people, state and local governments can lose revenues from federal programs whose benefits are apportioned according to population.

That is why Congress is likely to examine the census carefully during the coming months. The central focus of that examination will be whether or not a statistical adjustment is needed. When the Bureau of the Census ultimately declares its 1990 count final, we should be confident that all Americans have been accounted for, accurately and thoroughly.

State Paces U.S. In Bankruptcies

One of every 55 households in Tennessee filed for bankruptcy in the year ended June 30, 1990, the highest per capita rate in the nation, up from one in 60 the year before. The national average was one in 130.

East Tennessee was up 19% (10,150 cases to 8,519); Middle Tennessee up 13% (11,316 to 10,006); West Tennessee up 4.4% (13,384 to 12,812).

No one can explain the trends, The Associated Press reports.

Most Tennessee filings are Chapter 13s, by wage earners overwhelmed with debts, asking courts to stretch payments over three to five years.

No industrial park was one reason Lexington lost a new industry to employ 100, Mayor David Jowers tells The Lexington Progress.

"They wanted to be in business by fall," he says. "Not having gas, water, and sewer already in an area where they could go in and go to work probably hurt."

Lexington had been told it was on the firm's final list of three possible sites.

Bad luck Bogota? In the last half of 1990, this unincorporated farming town in northern Dyer County ("Be-goats," not the South American city "Bo-go-TAH," despite what you hear on TV) has had two traffic fatalities within three miles, an unsolved murder, collapse of Hwy. 78 south of town, and now, The Lake County Banner reports, the worst flooding since 1937, according to Raymond Burse, 75, a Bogota resident 73 years and in the same house for 26.

Burse blames the flooding on "those little bridges across the Obion... a great big funnel and a little bit spout" and blames the farmers put up like that water is going to hurt their ground.

"If they would leave nature alone, it wouldn't get this bad," he tells the Banner.

Battlefields of the U.S. Civil War—well known Shiloh, southwest of Savannah, in Hardin County, and little known Britton Lane, southwest of Jackson, in Madison County, between Mercer and Medon, will be camp sites this summer for 12 seniors from the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., led by Maj. Jim Brewer, an instructor in English who grew up in Jackson.

Jerry Lessenbery, of the Britton Lane Battlefields Assn., says about 500 men alighted at the site a month before the clash Sept. 1, 1862, in which, Brewer tells The Jackson Sun, "local people gave their lives, some within 15 to 20 miles of their own farms."

The Sun says the Battlefields Assn. has been forced to pour concrete over graves to discourage relic-hunters.

Coutians Locate Drowned Hunter

Eugene Coffey, of Ripley, one of 15 members of the Lauderdale County Rescue Squad braving windy weather to search for Billy Doyle Brewer, 27, of Dyersburg, spotted his body about 4 p.m. Tuesday of last week in Obion River flood-waters about 15 miles west of Dyersburg.

Brewer's body was washed to the surface about 75 yards from where John Lee, 28, of Newbern, and Roger Little, 26, of RoEllen, said their boat capsized Sunday morning, while they were hunting.

They said Brewer, after an hour clinging to a tree, used a bag of decoys and a boat cushion to risk swimming when sleep began falling, but was swept away by the current.

Kent Collier, of Savannah, and John Powles, of Dyersburg, rescued Lee and Little after three hours in the water.

Bonnie Moore, of Arp, captain of the county Rescue Squad, coordinated his squad's two boats in the search with efforts by squads from Dyer and Lake Counties.

Brewer was a laboratory technician for Colonial Rubber Plastics in Dyersburg.

He leaves a brother, David, of Finley; a sister, Suzanne, his parents, the Larry Brewers, and his grandparents, the Doyle Brewers, of Dyersburg; and another grandmothers, Mrs. Ed Blackburn, of Scranton, Kans.

Renew Before Postage Rises

We reluctantly join The Commercial Appeal, the Union City Daily Messenger, The Lauderdale County Enterprise, and hundreds of other newspapers in increasing our mail subscription rates, which has been $7.50 per year in Lauderdale and adjoining counties.

We have not raised mail subscription rates since 1988. An increase to $10 per year in Lauderdale, Crockett, and Dyer Counties is required to meet increased costs of paper and ink and a big jump in postal rates to take effect next month.

Our new rate (19¢ per week) is what a postcard (until 1951, a penny postcard, and until 1961, 10¢) would cost you to mail under recommendations which the Postal Rate Commission sent Friday to the Postal Service Board of Governors, and that was 1¢ less than the Postal Service sought.

The Commission recommended 29¢ for a 1-oz. first class letter, also 1¢ under Postal Service proposals.

It recommended Graphic mailing fees of 11¢ to 20.1¢ per issue, plus 14.7¢ to 36.7¢ per pound, depending on destination and advertising included, despite the pre-sorting and sacking which we provide to the Postal Service.

The Governors usually raise the rates the Commission recommends.

Readers may receive the Graphic at the price of a postcard because of its loyal support from advertisers who value its 92 years of service to Halls and the Halls area. Please express your appreciation and your interest in Halls by trading with them.

To avoid any hardship to present subscribers, we will accept renewals (for one or two years) at the current rate of $7.50 per year if received or post-marked before Jan. 31st, extending subscriptions from their current expiration.

You can still receive each issue of The Graphic for 40¢ off the price of mailing a letter at today's rate.

News-stand rate remains 25¢, and subscription rates outside the counties noted above will be held at $12 until new postal rates take final form.

Remembered

Slain Deputy's Widow Suing For $2,500,000

Luta Nolen, 52, of Gates, whose husband, Bobby, 55, was one of two Lauderdale County sheriff's deputies fatally shot Jan. 2, 1990, has filed suit against his alleged killer, Ule Reynolds, 83, and Ule's wife, Minnie, of Gary, Ind., for $2,500,000.

Mrs. Nolen's attorney, Wilson Wages, of Millington, says the suit hopes to claim the 1984 Buick, ditched west of Henning, from which Nolen and the other deputy, Kevan Ward, 31, were taking Reynolds to Ripley; $3,000 in cash the suit says he had in his possession; and property, including a barber shop, the defendants own in Gary, Ind.

Reynolds, judged mentally incompetent to stand trial for murder, is in the Western Mental Health Institute in Bolivar.

He had a police record dating from 1927.

The suit charges his wife with negligence in allowing him to leave in their Buick, armed with a .357 handgun, to visit relatives in Fayette County.

Mrs. Nolen is a quality assurance employee of Tupperware in Halls.

Leigh, an interior decorator, combined a birthday and Christmas motif for the occasion. The dining table was centered with a pyramid of red apples and pears where roast beef sandwiches, crab meat dip, cheese balls, vegetable dip and other finger foods were served buffet style. Halls Ups Water Operator Duties

Halls Mayor Randall C. Harris backs a tie vote of the Board of Aldermen Monday to expand the water plant operator's duties, when a new one is hired, to include meter and water-line work outside the water plant.

Aldermen Barry Britt, Noel Sherrod, and Stan Young favored the move; Eugene Pugh, James Tyus, and Mack Stanley opposed it.

The board voted unanimously to run 2,000 sq. ft. of 8-inch water line, at cost of $7,705.88 for material, to Chimney Hill Estates, in the air base area, inside city limits.

Discussed but not acted on was a request for 3,700 ft. of water line to seven residents on Concord Rd., at an estimated cost of $8,000 in material.

Also discussed tentatively were a study of traffic at Church and Main; use of garbage dumpsters by non-taxpayers; a vicious dog ordinance, before problems on East Tigratt Extended; and 4-year terms for officials, to save election costs.

NEWS OF HEALTH

Good News For Smokers

Want to know the secret to a longer life? Quit smoking! According to a 1990 U.S. Surgeon General report, smokers who quit now have a much better chance of living longer—and healthier.

The Health Benefits of Smoking Cessation: A Report of the Surgeon General, 1990, states that: "People who quit smoking live longer than those who continue to smoke. After 15 years of cigarettes, the risk of death for ex-smokers returns to nearly that of those who have never smoked."

Male smokers who quit between ages 35 and 39 add an average of five years to their lives. Female quitters in this age group add three years.

The risk of lung cancer for ex-smokers drops to as much as one-half that of continuing smokers, after ten years. The risk continues to decline with additional years of staying smoke-free.

After one year of cigarettes, the excess risk of heart disease caused by smoking is reduced by half. After 15 years of abstinence, the risk is similar to that of persons who have never smoked.

In five to 15 years, the risk of stroke for ex-smokers returns to the level of those who have never smoked.

Ex-smokers have better health status than current smokers. They have fewer days of illness, fewer health complaints, better self-reported health status and reduced rates of bronchitis and pneumonia.

If all women quit smoking during pregnancy, about five percent of deaths among newborn infants could be prevented.

Having doubts about quitting? For information on quitting smoking, call 1-800-4-CANCER.

This could be your year to "kick butts"—cigarette butts, that is.

Congressman

JOHN TANNER
REPORTS TO THE
EIGHTH DISTRICT

DEADLINE LOOMS LARGE

As January 15 nears, tensions are likely to rise unless some conciliatory action occurs in the Middle East. Certainly, the past several weeks have been marked by global posturing as President Bush indicated a willingness to meet with Iraqi officials in Washington. In exchange, he also made it clear that Secretary of State Jim Baker would travel to Bagdad to meet personally with Saddam Hussein.

Unfortunately, Saddam Hussein has not seriously responded to this initiative. He has used the several weeks that have come and gone since it was offered to delay, deflect, and confuse. It appears that his goal is to somehow put off the U.N. imposed deadline for Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait.

WHAT PURPOSE WOULD BE SERVED BY A MEETING?

At a recent Armed Services Committee hearing on the Persian Gulf situation, Dr. Jerrold Post, a noted expert on political psychology, raised the possibility that Saddam Hussein may well be hearing President Bush's public statements, but not fully understanding their potential effect.

Dr. Post suggested that Hussein may believe that verbal expression of American resolve does not necessarily mean that we are going to take action. Such a response by Hussein to the President's pronouncements over the past five months would reflect the general tendency in the Arab world to place great value on expressive language.

In that region of the world, Dr. Post said, "The language of courage is a hallmark of leadership and great value is attached to the very act of expressing brave resolve against the enemy . . ."

If that is the case, a face-to-face meeting between our Secretary of State and Iraq's President may well serve to insure that there is no misinterpretation of President Bush by Hussein. Only by hearing it directly from a high ranking American official may he fully understand the great price that his nation and its people may pay should he continue to defy the resolutions passed by the United Nations.

We all hope that the President's words will be heard in Bagdad in the same context in which they are spoken in Washington, and that this grave situation can be resolved before more serious action is taken upon the expiration of the deadline.

MRS. WILLIE RILEY will celebrate her 100th birthday Jan. 20th, from 2 to 4 p.m., with family and friends in her home at Frog Jump. Her grandchildren will be hosting.

Course Offered
In WordPerfect

Ripley Area Vo-Tech School will offer a night class in WordPerfect 5.0 beginning at 6 p.m. Jan. 22nd.

WordPerfect 5.0 is the most commonly used word processing program in the United States. This program, along with others, has revolutionized and out-dated electronic typewriters. Some of its features include: Automated Spell Check, Mail-Merge for mass mail, line draw, passwords, and a windows feature allowing one to work on two documents at the same time.

This course consists of 20 hours, 2 hours a week, at a cost of $12. For its completion, a supplementary certificate will be awarded. A technical manual will be furnished free of charge. Information from 635-3368.

First In Nation

BARBARA VAUGHN, of 121 Westwood Circle, Ripley, is the first home-owner in the nation to use an innovative single unit dual-fuel heat pump. She is seen with the unit and Rob Weatherford, left, of Jackson, program administrator for the Tennessee Valley Authority's Western region, and Mike Demaris, energy and customer service representative for Ripley Power and Light.

The new unit replaces an older gas package heating and central air conditioning unit which had failed.

Installation of the unit was done by Mike Currie, of Quality Heating and Air Conditioning, of Ripley. The conversion was done at minimal cost and took only a few hours, which will be one of the advantages of the new system when replacing older gas units like that in the Vaughn home.

Norvell Is Grand
Jury's Foreman

Willard Norvell, of Ripley, former Judge of the General Sessions Court of Lauderdale County, has agreed to serve as foreman of the Grand Jury for Lauderdale County, beginning next month.

Ben Emerson, of Ripley, grand jury foreman for 17 years, retired from the position, indicating that his work prevented him from continuing.

SCHOOL CLOSE
Schools will be closed Monday, Jan. 21st in observance of Martin Luther King, Jr., Day.

Halls Has Suspect
In Five Break-Ins

CHARLES JONES EVANS, in his third season as assistant conductor of the Memphis Symphony Pops Orchestra, will perform with the thirty-eight member orchestra chamber at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8th in Ripley High School.

Halls Police Chief Buddy Moore reports his department has questioned a black male suspected of five burglaries Friday night and have recovered a pistol stolen in one of them, from Cook's Tire & Service Co.

The suspect had not been charged as we went to press. Besides the pistol, only petty cash was taken from the four other burglary victims on Church St.—Ernie's Service Station, H & H Service Station, Halls Auto Parts, and Puckett's Auto Parts.

Signs Disappear;
Danger To Folks

It reminds teen-agers with a stop sign on the wall that sign replacements cost Crockett taxpayers more than $20,000 last year, and that they face a $1,000 fine and/or 11 months, 29 days in jail, with a $1,000 reward for information leading to a conviction.

To talk those selling aluminum signs as scrap, replacements are of fiber-glass.

PARTY LINES for up to eight telephone customers (to cut costs by sharing lines, and a key local news source) hung up in the state Dec. 31st, when its last 2-party line became single service.

The state's last mechanical central office was converted to electronics July 27th.

Key Gibson, of Jackson, manager for South Central Bell, says single lines now cost no more than party lines did, depending on use.

She says electronics will provide all Lauderdale County telephone exchanges with Repeat Dialing, Call Return, Call Block, Call Tracing, Call Selector, Preferred Call Forwarding, and Caller ID services by the end of 1991.

FARM BUREAU membership in Tennessee leads the nation (863,741 families — edging Illinois, 361,970).

A STATE LOTTERY may get a boost from a T-shirt advertised in this week's mailer.

"Please, Lord, let me prove to you that winning the lottery won't spoil me."

Evans has served previously as assistant conductor and Educational Director of the Mississippi Symphony and as associate conductor of the Eastman Philharmonic. As a conductor, he was selected to work with Gunther Schuller at the Festival at Sandpoint, which culminated in a concert with the Spokane Symphony. Evans also was chosen to work with Leonard Slatkin for the American Symphony Orchestra League's seminar program. Additionally, he has been a conducting fellow at the Aspen Music Festival, assistant to Lawrence Leighton Smith at the Academy of the West and has worked with David Elford, David Zinman and Boris Godovsky.

An advocate of twentieth-century music, Evans has conducted several world premieres, as well as numerous modern concert and operatic works with ensembles in Boston, Cleveland, Dallas and Santa Barbara. His recent performance of William Schuman's Credendum with the Eastman Philharmonic was praised by the Greensboro News and Record (NC) as "straight-ahead, no-nonsense playing with meaty, nicely calculated climaxes and unflagging energy." The Commercial Appeal described Evans' conducting of the Memphis Symphony Chamber Orchestra's Contemporary Music program last season as "exuberant," and stated that his rendering of music of Ives, Schoenberg and others "reaffirmed his status as a key local interpreter of Modernism."

Evans holds degrees from the Cleveland Institute of Music and Southern Methodist University. He is completing a doctorate at the Eastman School of Music.

The event is being sponsored by the Lauderdale County Council of Arts during its annual membership drive. Limited tickets ($10 and $5) are available at all area banks, at the County Chamber of Commerce, or by calling 635-9541.

Hatchie Refuges Remain Flooded

Extensive bottomland flooding persists at all three Hatchie complex refuges. Fishing is permitted on all refuge waters except posted areas and a Tennessee hunting license is required. Hunters must have a Tennessee state bag limits and regulations. In addition, hunters must have a free hunting permit available 24 hours a day at the headquarters located at Hwy. 76 and I-40 in Brownsville. Permits are also available at other locations listed below.
 Ducks Unlimited, in cooperation with the Haywood High Vo-Tech building trades class and Hatchie Refuge, is taking applications for 60 wood duck nest boxes available to local landowners. Persons interested in placing a box on their property must mail a request letter to Ducks Boxes, 1218 Anderson Ave., Brownsville, TN 38012. Include a description of your property, your name, address and phone number. Applicants will be screened to find the 60 best possible locations for duck boxes.
 Mike Weaver, of Brownsville, is helping us with goose neck-collar observations at Hatchie. Geese have been trapped at various locations around the county, fitted with numbered collars and released so their migratory habits can be studied. We hope to "read" 100 collars through high-powered spotting scopes before the winter is over.
 Susan Mathias, a Vo-Tech student at Haywood High, will be helping us out in the office several days a week. With the recent departure of Joannia Emerson, Susan's help is needed and appreciated.
 Rain and low clouds prevented flying last Friday, so no aerial waterfowl survey was done.
 A golden eagle was seen at O'Neal Lake last Friday, possibly the same one seen elsewhere in the refuge last week. Hunting seasons remain open for snipe, squirrel, rabbit, quail, raccoon (night only), opossum (night only), coyote and beaver.
 Lower Hatchie.
 Hunting seasons remain open for snow goose (no Canada), snipe, squirrel, rabbit, quail, raccoon (night only), opossum (night only), coyote and beaver. Free hunting permits (required) are available at Carmon's Grocery on Hwy. 87 south of Henning at Land's Grocery in Cherry, and at Champion Lake Access Road on the refuge.
 Ninety wild turkeys were seen flocked together on high ground near Chisolm Lake last week. The same phenomenon was observed during the last aerial waterfowl survey on lower Anderson-Tully. Hunting seasons remain open for snipe, squirrel, rabbit, quail, raccoon (night only), opossum (night only), coyote and beaver. Free hunting permits (required) are available at displays located on the refuge.

Cotton Yield Disappoints

By Jerry Parker
 Lauderdale County growers fared a little better, but as a whole Tennessee's cotton growers averaged just 448 pounds of lint per acre this season, down sharply from both last year's average of 497 pounds, and the five-year average of 579 pounds. Actual yields were lower than earlier predictions due to very dry weather in August, that caused the heavy set of bolls to mature improperly. The crop suffered from too little rain during the growing season and too much rain when the crop was ready to be picked. Farmers picked their fields two times, and in some cases three times trying to make the most of this year's crop. In spite of the poor yields, overall production was up three percent because of increased acreage. Growers realized 490,000 bales from 525,000 acres harvested in 1990. This compares with 476,000 bales picked from 460,000 acres last year. Boll weevils were not much of a problem this year, but corn earworms, spider mites, bollworms, aphids, and stinkbugs were persistent, as usual.
 Cotton production for the United States is forecast at 15.4 million bales with an average yield of 641 pounds per acre from 11.5 million acres.
 Cotton Producers Meeting
 Cotton producers will be able to attend a research oriented meeting planned for them on Jan. 29th. The meeting is to begin at 9 a.m. and last until 3:30 p.m. at the West Tennessee Experiment Station.
 The meeting is to cover research information concerning cotton growth and care from early to mid-season.
 There is a registration charge, contact us at the Extension Office for details.
 Flood Aid Deadline
 Individuals and businesses in Lauderdale County and 21 other Tennessee counties seeking federal and state aid for flood damage must apply before March 4th.
 Through Monday, 925 applications had been received.

Book Bags Offered

The Lauderdale County Historical and Genealogical Society, meeting Sunday afternoon in Halls Community Center, heard a talk on the now-forgotten town of Canton instead of the announced program on transportation on the Forked Deer.
 Earl Willoughby, Jr., of Newbern, scheduled speaker, was attending the send-off for Dyersburg National Guardsmen headed for the Persian Gulf, two of whom are his brothers. He will speak to the Society in March.
 In her pinch-hit address, Mrs. Gene F. Davis, president of the organization, said she believes Canton was the town later called "Key Corner" — reputed the county's first town.
 Quoting from deeds, county road orders, store bills, and a manifest of the keelboat "Last Chance", she showed that Canton was on Key Corner Branch and had as many as 31 town lots, a cobbler, two cotton gins, a horse-powered mill, at least one tavern, and a store which sold
 "Your spirit of volunteerism and assistance will be put to work and appreciated at a time of community need," say Pat Vaughan, R.N., Director of Nursing, and Maie Bailey, Emergency Room Head Nurse, at 635-1931. Call them for additional information.

Home Lost To Blaze

LARRY RAY RESIDENCE on Dr. Parks Road, about two miles south of Gates, burned about 3 a.m. Thursday of last week, despite efforts of Gates and Halls firemen. The fire was reported by Murray Bates, en route home from work at Tennessee Electroplating in Ripley.

Louisiana Current Volunteer State?

Tennessee, known as the "Volunteer State" for its remarkable numbers of volunteers for military service in the War of 1812 and the Mexican War (1846-8) held that title in early stages of calls of National Guardsmen and Army Reserve personnel to active duty for the Persian Gulf conflict but has yielded it, at least temporarily, to Louisiana.
 Louisiana has 8,862 called up, The Associated Press reports, compared to somewhat more than 6,000 from Tennessee.
 Tennessee, 34th state in area, still ranks high among states contributing forces, including about 19,000 full-time soldiers.
 Information from 1-800-462-9029 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Family Affairs

Minnie Pearl Jurnett, 53, who resided near Maury City, has learned that her son, Tommy, an E-4 with a quartermaster unit at Ft. Campbell, is joining four brothers in the Gulf, The Associated Press reports.

 • Staff Sgt. Terry Jurnett, in the Army 13 years, was deployed from Ft. Stewart, Ga., with an artillery battalion.
 • Staff Sgt. William Jurnett, in the military 11 years, was in a cavalry unit at Fort Bliss, Okla., which left for the gulf last September.
 • Seaman (E-3) Kenneth Jurnett, 24, in his third year of service, shipped out in November.
 • Pvt. Keith Jurnett, 19, in the service 18 months, was transferred from South Korea earlier this month.

CHIMNEY BLAZE

Halls firemen called to the Thomas Terry home on Cheshier St. in Halls about 8:10 p.m. Monday extinguished a blaze confined to the chimney and liner, with slight damage to the home.

Monoxide Fatal To Welton Riley

Welton Riley, 61, of Route 3, Halls, retired construction foreman and mechanic, died Wednesday of last week at his home of carbon monoxide inhalation while repairing a car, according to Dr. Tony Emison, Crockett County Medical Examiner.

Was Canton An Early Stage Of Key Corner?

The Lauderdale County Historical and Genealogical Society, meeting Sunday afternoon in Halls Community Center, heard a talk on the now-forgotten town of Canton instead of the announced program on transportation on the Forked Deer.
 Earl Willoughby, Jr., of Newbern, scheduled speaker, was attending the send-off for Dyersburg National Guardsmen headed for the Persian Gulf, two of whom are his brothers. He will speak to the Society in March.
 In her pinch-hit address, Mrs. Gene F. Davis, president of the organization, said she believes Canton was the town later called "Key Corner" — reputed the county's first town.
 Quoting from deeds, county road orders, store bills, and a manifest of the keelboat "Last Chance", she showed that Canton was on Key Corner Branch and had as many as 31 town lots, a cobbler, two cotton gins, a horse-powered mill, at least one tavern, and a store which sold dry goods.
 She also reported that she has unsuccessfully petitioned the County Commission to name a road for the once-bustling town.
 More than 30 members and guests attended the meeting. Members from out of the county included Mrs. John Dickinson, of Denmark, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Cox, Mrs. Fay C. Porter, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Spence, of Memphis.

Guests included Mrs. Pauline Carmack, of Gates; Mrs. Helen Harrell, Mrs. Mazie Harrell, and Mrs. Virginia Walpole, of Halls; and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Rooks, of Brownsville.

Mr. Rooks, president of the Haywood County Historical Society, invited all to attend the grand opening of the Haywood County Historical Museum the afternoons of Feb. 2nd and 3rd. The museum is located in the former Brownsville High School.

Martha Crites
Certified Public Accountant
Last year the IRS Service Center in Ogden, Utah, received several hundred-thousand unidentified checks from taxpayers. You normally wouldn't consider these checks to be unidentified because they all have names, addresses, dates and signatures. But to the IRS it is often difficult to determine which account to post a check to if it gets separated from the documentation it comes with. And if the IRS does post your money to someone else's account it can be a nightmare to straighten out. You have to remember that an IRS Service Center will process over 30 million pieces of correspondence during the year. But somehow this excuse isn't comforting when you're required to correspond with one of the IRS computers to determine where the money you sent in went to. You can help avoid all this by putting additional information on your checks prior to sending. You should include: Your social security number (SSN), Tax period to which the payment applies, Type of tax you're paying, (for example, income tax, payroll tax, etc.) If you were paying your 1990 income tax, you might write something like this on your check: "SSN 544-69-5820, FORM 1040, 1990". Then if your check becomes separated from the correspondence, the IRS will be able to post it correctly to your account using information on the check. Martha Crites, CPA* 110 Fenton, Halls, TN 38040* (901)836-5987. Offering a full range of accounting and tax services, including review and compilation financial reporting monthly, quarterly and annual computerized financial reports, preparation of business and individual income tax returns, business and financial consulting, including forecasts, projections, and cash flow analysis, business and individual tax planning, and payroll reporting.

Congressman JOHN TANNER REPORTS TO THE EIGHTH DISTRICT

A HOSTAGE SPEAKS

Just 24 hours before the House voted to authorize the President to use force in the Persian Gulf, one American former held hostage by Saddam Hussein paid a visit to our office in Washington. He was Johnson City, Tennessee engineer Guy Seago who was working in Kuwait, as he has for the past 12 years, when Iraq invaded on August 2.

Listening to Mr. Seago's version of events, his escape attempt, and his discussions of the situation with his captors was fascinating. His first-hand account of what transpired in Kuwait left no doubt that the Iraqi invasion and occupation of that small country was brutal and ruthless.

Because of the sensitive nature of the work on air defense systems he was doing for the Kuwaiti Ministry of Defense, Mr. Seago and his associates were initially asked to come into the American Embassy. In the following three weeks, he assisted in identifying and locating about 85% of the 2500 Americans trapped in the country.

When his name was not included on the list of embassy personnel allowed to be evacuated in late August, Mr. Seago and his associates made an unsuccessful escape attempt across the desert to Saudi Arabia. Unfortunately, he and his entire party were captured, returned to Kuwait City, and transported to Baghdad. He was eventually incarcerated as a human shield at a refinery in Iraq.

PILLAGING IN KUWAIT

While being transported from one place to another, Mr. Seago noticed that empty transport trucks were traveling south to Kuwait while Iraqi trucks full of pillaged goods of every description were going north to Baghdad.

Baghdad, Mr. Seago noticed that empty transport trucks were traveling south to Kuwait while Iraqi trucks full of pillaged goods of every description were going north to Baghdad.

KUWAITIS HELP AMERICANS

Mr. Seago also expressed his gratitude to the people of Kuwait. After being captured, Mr. Seago fabricated a story to cover the true reason for his presence in Kuwait. Had any Kuwaiti citizen told the Iraqis his real purpose for being there, he feels certain that the outcome of his ordeal would have been different.

Americans like Mr. Seago brought an entirely different perspective to the debate on our policy in the Gulf. While he may not have changed minds in what was a somber, serious debate over what must be considered the critical issue of our time, he did provide a personal glimpse of the brutal destruction of a free, peaceful nation by a cruel dictator.

SPILOIN STEAK WITH SPANISH SAUCE

- 1 1/2 lbs. sirloin steak (single piece)
- 2 tbsp Spanish olive oil salt
- round pepper
- Sauce:
- 2 shallots, chopped
- 2 tbsp Spanish olive oil
- 1 tbsp flour
- 1/2 cup beef bouillon
- 1/2 cup red wine
- Salt
- Ground pepper
- 1/2 tsp thyme

Brush the meat with the oil and put on a glass tray on the micro-proof rack; if you don't have a rack put it on an inverted glass dish. Microwave at maximum power for 7 minutes. Turn the meat over and microwave for 7 more minutes. Take it out and season it with salt and pepper, keep it warm.

Sauce: In another dish or casserole put the shallots and the oil. Microwave at maximum power for 4 minutes. Add the flour and stir well with a wooden spoon; keep stirring while gradually adding the bouillon, the wine and the meat extract. Microwave at maximum for another 3 minutes, stirring well every 1 minute so that lumps don't form.

Season with the thyme, salt and pepper, slice the meat and serve with the sauce. Serves 4.

Birds & Viewers Flock To Refuge

Lauderdale Waterfowl Refuge, formerly Lake Lauderdale, on Old U.S. Hwy. 51 north of Halls, last week had about 20,000 ducks and 5,000 geese on its 590 acres, according to Willis Wheeler, manager.

About 50 visitors a day, from several states, need walk only 15 yards to view the birds from a tower equipped with telescopes, waterfowl identification charts, and a system which relays sounds from the marsh.

Admission to the refuge and the tower are free, from 6 a.m. to dusk.

Funded by Ducks Unlimited and the Tenn. Wildlife Resources Agency, the relatively small refuge is the first U.S. project in the North American Waterfowl Management Plan.

Canada and Mexico are cooperating, with a goal of increasing the continent's duck population to 100,000,000 in 10 years.

Congressman
JOHN TANNER
REPORTS TO THE
EIGHTH DISTRICT

FOCUS ON WAR

The outbreak of war in the Persian Gulf has had a profound effect on our entire nation. Close attention is paid to news reports as all Americans hope for the best for the young men and women executing the bombing raids and preparing for what appears to be the inevitable ground fighting.

The early euphoria which came from the first reports of successful air raids on strategic military targets in Iraq has been replaced by the recognition that driving Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait will require patient determination by all of those nations allied in the coalition.

Strategic operations conducted early in the conflict must continue while additional tactical missions are undertaken. It is obvious to everyone that this confrontation is far different than military operations conducted in Panama or Grenada. Consequently, while there is no doubt about its outcome, there are differences of opinion about how long it will take to achieve it.

TECHNOLOGY CANNOT REPLACE COURAGE

By now, all of us have had the opportunity to see on television how well our military technology has performed. Certainly, it appears that Saddam Hussein is the only one who doubts the capability of weapons such as the Patriot missile or Tomahawk cruise missile. Despite our successes in the use of these weapons and others, a native of the Eighth District demonstrated for the entire world that the willingness of one

American to make great sacrifices for his comrades in arms is still the key to success in battle.

Capt. Paul Johnson of Dresden, Tennessee flew his helicopter deep into hostile territory to rescue a U.S. pilot who had been shot down. Details of the episode released to the public were sketchy, but Capt. Johnson's courage and disregard for his own safety is in keeping with the highest standards of U.S. military services.

Chosen By Our Country

To Symbolize The Free,

Noble Spirit Of Our Country.

The Lauderdale County Bank has chosen this symbol for our new Customer Service Program—

EAGLE CLUB

Two standard plans of accidental death insurance are

- *(a) $10,000 for each account. This amount is divided equally for joint owners.
- (b) Family Plan — $20,000 on the account holder

$10,000 on spouse
 $1,500 on each child under age 25 living at home and dependent upon parents.

- (c) Vacation Club — This offers some real values. Unlike many vacation discount arrangements, this program has a contractual agreement with each motel/resort, thus eliminating the concern of "we no longer participate in that program". A one week vacation per year with this service could save enough to reimburse the club member of the entire annual fee.
- (d) Extended Warranty on check purchases — The program doubles the manufacturer's U.S. warranty up to five years for items purchased anywhere in the world using a covered DDA account.

Also included is the Check Purchase benefit. This coverage applies to the first ninety (90) days after the purchase of the product against breakage or theft (certain limits apply).

- (e) Hertz Car Rental — Savings are substantial to members.
- (f) Member Newsletter — An informative bi-annual publication.
- (g) Free — 500 personalized checks every year.
- (h) Free Travelers Checks/Cashiers Checks/Money Orders.
- (i) Individual Retirement Account.
- (j) Discount fee for copy service to 10 cents per copy.
- (k) Automatic Savings.
- (l) Free Notary Services.
- (m) Free FAX Service — Three (3) pages per month within the continental U.S.
- (n) Direct Deposit of Social Security Checks.
- (o) Banking by mail.
- (p) No charge for "Stop Payment Checks".
- (q) Free License Plates — We will reimburse you the cost of your initial regular license plate when you finance your new car with us.
- (r) Match your opening savings deposit of $5.00 for each newborn.
- (s) Automatic Loan Payments.
- (t) Lock-Box Rental Discounts of 25%.

* Optional Accidental Death Insurance is available as well as lowcost Term Life protection for members only.
