Marvin Windows Plans Major Expansion Here

Selected

THOMAS L. DANIELS, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Daniels, of Halls, has been chosen for the Navy's Material Professional Program.

His parents attended ceremonies Feb. 22nd in which Commander Daniels left command of Training Squadron 10 in Pensacola, Fla.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Daniels, Jr., and sons, of Valdosta, Ga., Tom's sister, Suzanne (Mrs. Paul) Knox, and Mr. Knox, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. George Wiggins, of Pensacola, parents of Tom's wife, the former Martha Elaine Wiggins.

The couple have a daughter, Carrie.

Reared in Ripley, Tom attended the University of Mississippi School of Engineering and was commissioned from the Reserve Officers Training Corps in 1971, winning his wings in November, 1971.

He flew combat missions in Viet Nam before taking a master of science degree from the naval Postgraduate School and serving on Ranger, at the Naval Weapons Center at China Lake, Calif., on Eisenhower during Middle East tension, and in the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, two Meritorious Service Medals, the Air Medal, five Strike/Flight Air Medals, and the navy Commendation Medal.

Marvin Windows plans to expand its Ripley plant by 150,000 square feet, adding an estimated 225 to 250 jobs here.

The firm now employs about 400 in Ripley, in addition to about 3,000 in its home plant in Warroad, Minn.

Ed Seim, Ripley plant manager, and Mayor Rozelle Criner made the local announcement Friday morning in City Hall.

The expansion was originally announced last May for Warroad, and a contractor had been employed.

After legislation was proposed in Minnesota to not only fine, in civil prosecution, firms improperly disposing of hazardous waste, but to hold corporation officers criminally responsible, involving possible prison terms, for an offense by an employee, the project was put on hold, and the firm began looking at sites in North and South Dakota, as well as Ripley.

"We support environmental regulation," the firm says.

"In fact, we are continuing a company-wide effort to not only correct our known problems, but to become the Minnesota company that every corporate and private citizen can look to as a model of environmental compliance.

"But we believe that enforcement (with criminal penalties) must be applied only to those who act with criminal motive and intent."

Construction on the Ripley addition is expected to begin in May or June and to take about a year to complete.

That will put the project about a year behind schedule.

Marvin's expansion plans come despite a slump in the building industry, prolonged by the Gulf war.

Susan Marvin, vice-president of marketing, expects a recovery in 1992.

She says the firm may soon announce another expansion to make a product outside the window industry.

The Ripley plant currently produces patio doors.

Halls High School's Tigers lost to Big Sandy, 53-49, in overtime Monday in Region 7-A tournament play at Bethel College in McKenzie.

Entertaining will be Lori Borders, Jessie Burton, David Matthews, Rickey Pegg, Laurie Presley, Carolyn Stanley, Dan Wallace, and the Laymen Gospel Quartet.

The Red Devils led by six with 1:42 left in the overtime. Vincent Adams and Blake Moore scored for Halls, but Big Sandy's Keith Peach scored four free throws in the final 34 seconds to defeat the Halls squad.

The Tigers lost the District 14-A final to Bradford, 86-62, in Greenfield.

Jerome Eison was named to the all-district team.

Blood Donors Sought Here

A community blood drive will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. March 14th in the First United Methodist Church Activities Building in Ripley.

The blood drive is sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary and the Newcomers Club. Both organizations will be calling donors before the drive and helping out with registration and refreshments.

Dyersburg State Hails Countians

Dyersburg State College reports these Lauderdale County students honored for the fall semester:

• On the dean's list (3.5 average or better):
From Gates — Teresa Ann Lewis.

From Halls — Karen Chipman, Thomas Shannon Gillon.
From Ripley — Vicki L. Beard, Sandra Lynn Carter, Dorothy Faye Newman, Joy Parker, Mary J. Pipkin, Mary Brown Rochelle, Christopher Morgan Rood, Carol Ann Wilson.

• On the honor roll (3.00 to 3.49 average):
From Gates — David J. Demps, Sharon Savage Fowler.

Ripley's bid for back-to-back District 13AAA Basketball Championships was thwarted by Obion County, 69-61.

The Rebels, last year's runner-up, used balanced scoring and full-court pressure in pulling off the victory over the Tigers.

Obion bested Bolton, 98-88, in the opening round of the Region 7AAA tournament at Haywood High School.

Ripley used a 30-point fourth quarter in scoring an 87-76 upset of top-seeded Jackson Northside in the District opener. Coach Loester Currie's charges then fashioned a 76-72 hard fought decision over host Haywood High to earn a berth in the finals.

The steady play of John L. Walker, Carl Bostic, and Michael Douglas earned them all-tournament honors. Coach Currie shared Coach of the Year honors with Obion County's Jim Whitby.

The Ripley Girls bowed out of the District 13AAA tournament early at the hands of the Jackson North Side Indians, 56-34. In her lone tourney game, Sheila Taylor impressed District coaches enough to be voted to the all-tournament team. Taylor led the Tigers to a 13-12 record, the girls' first winning season in years.

Billy Wayne Scallions.

From Halls — Timothy Jay Love, Allison Gail Moore, Rita Elaine Nolen, Darrol Scott McDearman.

From Henning — Michelle Miller, Becky Spray, Tracy Renee Starnes, Robyn Winn.

From Ripley — Barry Joseph Akina, Kelly Renee Cox, Glenda Yvette Harris, Susan Elizabeth Holman, Eva Leggett, Lori Leanne Maclin, Kim Ozment, Jackie Yvette Perkins, Sonya Sauls.

Halls Proposal For 4-Yr. Terms Loses

Alderman Noel Sherrod's motion to pursue 4-year terms for Halls' Mayor and Aldermen died for lack of a second in the board's meeting Monday evening.

Sherrod was appointed chairman of a "Western Weekend" this summer, dates not set.

Joe Hardy, employed Sept. 4th for a 6-month trial as police investigator, failed to win permanent employment, 3-2, with Sherrod abstaining.

Stan Young's motion, supported by Barry Britt, was opposed by Eugene Pugh, Mack Stanley, and James Tyus.

All aldermen voted, however, to continue Hardy's employment another month.

Sherrod's motion to spend $1,340.68 for four sodium lights in Northside Park was opposed only by Stanley, who objected to lack of multiple bids.

The board unanimously approved a motion by Tyus to give $500 to Northwest Safe-line, aiding abused children and wives.

It also unanimously approved purchase of a police car for $11,524.84.

Stephen Byrd Is A DSC Honoree

Stephen Byrd, a 1990 graduate of Ripley High School, has received a Certificate of Recognition from Dyersburg State Community College for Academic and Athletic Achievement for the fall semester.

He is a shortstop and pitcher on the Dyersburg State baseball team.

He is the son of Fay and L. W. Byrd, of Ripley.

STRAIGHT TALK ABOUT TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Technology Keeps Phone Rates Low

"Why spend money for new telecommunications technology?"

The Tennessee Public Service Commission recently ordered South Central Bell to use anticipated revenue of $111 million for advanced technology during the next two years. We've made the commitment to invest in the technology, whether or not we actually receive the money projected. This means our shareholders are bearing the risk of this investment.

We know every customer will not use the latest telephone services. But many people do use these services and find them extremely beneficial in their businesses and their personal lives. Because they do, basic telephone rates are lower for everyone.

For example, the electronic switching technology already installed throughout Tennessee has improved our productivity and made many new services available, such as call waiting and call forwarding. As a result, South Central Bell realized $170 million in combined expense savings and increased revenues last year. Without this added revenue and the expense reductions, every South Central Bell customer would be paying $7.00 a month more just to cover maintenance and overhead expenses for basic telephone service.

Technology keeps telephone costs and rates low. The improved efficiencies in telephone operations from technology have and will help keep basic telephone rates from increasing. Technology offers new services for businesses and homes which help pay for basic residential service that is priced below its cost. Technology also creates a favorable business climate by allowing government and industry to be more productive and by stimulating economic development.

We do indeed thank you teachers. For your smiles which we know sometimes you don't feel like giving - but you do, for your tears when the students don't quite live up to the expectations of which you know they are capable of accomplishing, for your love and concern as you reach down and hold the hand or pat the head of a wee face smiling up at you, for being the other set of parents for our children, for instilling in them the desire to do the best they can and to be the best they can be.

Teaching our students day after day
Enough you don't receive as far as the pay
Although each day is never the same
Caring and concern is not a game
Helping each student the best that you can
Enduring to the end with a helping hand
Remembering without you, education would fold
Striving to help students to reach their goals.
Teachers, we salute you!

JOHN TANNER REPORTS TO THE EIGHTH DISTRICT

SHARING RESPONSIBILITY, SHARING THE COSTS

Just as the President was announcing the cessation of hostilities in Kuwait, the House Armed Services Committee held its first hearing on the $15 billion he requested to pay for our participation in the Persian Gulf War.

The administration also disclosed the aggregate contributions to the coalition in the Gulf region. According to DoD officials at the hearing, almost 50 nations have contributed to the military effort. Allies have committed 300,000 troops, 750 aircraft, 1200 tanks, and 60 ships to the effort.

Those figures demonstrate the international nature of the coalition that had been arrayed against Iraq. It also demonstrates the shared responsibility that existed among those countries.

Included in the information presented to the committee were the commitments made by allies to help finance Operation Desert Shield/Storm. Those pledges total $53.5 billion. Unfortunately, the funds and the in-kind contributions received total only $14.9 billion. Cash and in-kind pledges made and amounts received are illustrated below:

	AMOUNT PLEDGED	AMOUNT RECEIVED
Saudi Arabia	$16.8 billion	$6.02 billion
Kuwait	16.0 billion	3.5 billion
United Arab Emirates	3.0 billion	1.0 billion
Germany	6.5 billion	2.96 billion
Japan	10.7 billion	1.3 billion
Korea	385 million	71 million
Others	3 million	3 million

The administration feels comfortable that each of the countries who made commitments will honor them by the March 31 deadline agreed to by all parties involved.

ESTIMATE OF THE OPERATION INCOMPLETE

The figures provided to Congress are basically planning figures. It is impossible to determine an actual amount of the costs of the entire operation at this point. For planning purposes, the Department of Defense expects costs to be well over $50 billion when all is said and done.

That figure, however, does not include the replacement of major items such as tanks or airplanes lost, destroyed, or damaged in combat. DoD planners will make the decision on what to replace at a later date.

Certified Public Accountant

Uncle Sam has created special rules for writing off your cellular telephone. Starting in 1990, cellular telephones are considered "listed" property. There are three requirements you must meet before you may deduct your business related expenses.

First, you must use your cellular telephone for the convenience of your employer. Your job must actually require that you use a cellular telephone.

Second, your employer must require the cellular telephone as a condition of employment. No telephone, no job.

Third, you must substantiate business use and maintain adequate records.

And of course all the rules for standard phones apply. That is, you may deduct only your unreimbursed business portion and business long distance telephone calls. Any portion of your standard monthly base charge for your personal telephone line is not deductible.

PLANTING A YELLOWWOOD TREE on the east lawn of the Courthouse in Ripley, 4-H Club All-Stars, Marcy Cutlip and Jeff Talley, with 4-H Club member Paul Talley, joined a statewide 4-H effort to plant their rare native tree (Cladrastis lutea, also called virgilia) on county property in every county in the state.

The tree is rare even in its restricted range. It grows in rich limestone soils and has been planted extensively as an ornamental.

The wood of this tree is yellow as butter; the white, drooping, pea-like flowers are beautiful in the spring; the leaves are simple, compounded with seven leaflets; four to six seeds are found in small bean-like pods in the fall. The bark is light gray on young trees and darker on old ones.

Many pioneer Tennesseans extracted the yellow coloring from the roots and used it as a dye.

This type tree was discovered on the last day of February, 1796, when Andre Michaux, a royal botanist, stopped his horse, somewhere in the lonely woods of Jackson County, 12 miles from Fort Blount, to examine one. He remained over at Fort Blount, seeking an opportunity to pull young shoots of the tree, but the ground was so covered with snow that he was unable to get any.

A young officer stationed at the fort obligingly cut down some trees for him and from them Michaux was able to gather seeds. He also cut some of the roots of the trees to replant in his acclimation garden near Charleston, South Carolina.

It was his intention to send some of the species to France, but by some ill fate, his collection did not make it. Later, Francois Michaux, retracing his father's journey, gathered seeds of the tree. It is said that their descendants still grow in the Tulleries gardens in Paris, France.

Pharmacy Topics

Gall bladder removal has been changed radically by laparoscopic cholecystectomy. In the new procedure, doctors cut small holes in the abdomen to insert a camera and surgical instruments. Both operation and recovery are made shorter and easier.

Doctors now advise treating people with borderline hypertension promptly. Study at the University of Michigan found them at risk for developing heart disease. Weight loss, the doctors say, can reduce much of the risk.

Early tests at the Medical College of Wisconsin indicate that TPA, the drug used to stop heart attacks, can dissolve dangerous blood clots at the back of the eye formed during surgery for detached retina.

Here's a positive side effect: tamoxifen, the hormonal drug used to prevent recurrence of breast cancer in postmenopausal women, seems to protect against heart disease by reducing cholesterol levels, according to a report in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute.

When your doctor prescribes the best, we do the rest. Bring your prescription to the expert pharmacists at Arnold's Health Drug Co. 112 East Main St. Halls. 836-7211.

Readers Speak

Editor: "Keep America Singing — Keep Freedom Ringing," a very special program presented by Halls Elementary School Feb. 21st, in the Halls Junior High School Auditorium, has released many emotions here in this community.

A patriotic program that was dedicated not only to all the troops in the Middle East and their families, but also to the more than 30 students in Halls Elementary who have family members in the gulf among those troops, it was a free program co-ordinated by Mrs. Donna Dabba, a first grade teacher, who says, "This was the children's way of saying to the troops and President Bush that we support them."

Everyone has a sense of patriotism which lies within them. It is displayed in our everyday lives with the freedom we enjoy. On special days during the year, we have the American flag flying freely from many homes and businesses. Parades and programs on Veterans Day and Memorial Days, and, of course, fireworks with family and friends in celebration of our freedom and Independence on July 4th.

But the emotions that were unleashed at this program by the coming-together of over 1,000 people, not including the participation of over 400 students and the school staff who helped get this program together, along with the presentation of colors by the Girl Scouts, released the full extent of patriotism in each individual in that auditorium that evening.

For children, war is hard to understand. They have their own feelings, ideas, and fears about what war means. This particular program was the children's way of communicating with the troops by saying "Thanks" to them for fighting for the freedom and speech we enjoy here today and now the freedom and peace that Kuwait is experiencing as a result of the United States decision to go to war and defend this right for them.

The children who participated in this program did an excellent job singing all the familiar patriotic songs with special pride for this country and our men and women who are serving in the gulf.

The program came to an end with the Halls Elementary staff singing God Bless the U.S.A. The sensation of this song seemed to envelope the audience into a response of a standing ovation and cheering that was so spontaneous, it left chill bumps on everyone involved. As some of the teachers have expressed, "they did not know how they even finished singing the song, it left them drained with emotion."

Yet, the song did come to an end, but not without audience participation. Standing, singing proudly, waving flags and bringing out our patriotism to the fullest.

As people began to leave, hugging, congratulating those in the program for a job well done, there were many checks stained with fresh tears leaving behind the memories of this evening deep within them to be stored away with the patriotism we all share.

It is a time in our lives we will never forget. It is a program that this community will never forget, and it was dedicated to the men and women who died as well as all the troops who will return home whom we also will never forget.

Thank you, Halls Elementary, for allowing us to join you in your expression of faith and patriotism.

The First Six Years Are The Most Important In Your Child's Life

Did you know that the foundation of your child's physical, emotional, and social growth is formed during the first six years of his life? Yes, your child learn more during the years from birth to six than he'll learn in the rest of his life.

The following skills, learned during those years, are important for his later success in school:

1. Hearing — Will your child be able to hear his teacher?
2. Vision — Could he see words or numbers on a chalkboard?
3. Speech — Is he able to make the speech sounds that he should at his age level?
4. Developmental Skills — Does he do the things that children his age should do?

The Lauderdale County Department of Education is committed to provide the best possible education to all children. This now includes providing a screening in those important area (hearing, vision, speech, and developmental) to all preschool children, ages, 3, 4, and 5. This screening will allow us to identify problems early in order that your child might be better prepared to achieve in school. A summer program will be available.

The screening will take place on March 28 at Halls Elementary School from 8:00 A.M. to 2:30 P.M.

You can call the Lauderdale County Board of Education at 635-2941 for more information.

PROTECTING AMERICANS' SAVINGS

Over the years, we Americans have come to expect that our hard-earned savings will be protected no matter what happens to our local financial institution. Unfortunately, over the past few years, some financial institutions, and the insurance funds that stand behind our deposits there, have been weakened by risky investment practices.

I recently introduced a bill here in the Senate that I think will help ensure the safety of the savings of millions of American families. The bill, the "Deposit Insurance Fairness Act of 1991", will shore up the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's (FDIC) depositor protection funds by requiring banks that make high-risk investments to pay higher insurance premiums.

Under the present system, banks pay a flat rate for deposit insurance no matter how they invest their funds. In other words, if a bank makes a loan to Donald Trump, it pays the same deposit insurance premiums as a bank that makes a loan to a young family to buy a home. As a result, the deposit insurance system does not provide an incentive for banks to make safe loans.

My bill would require that the FDIC replace the current flat-rate assessment of deposit insurance premiums with a system based on the quality and soundness of a bank's investment portfolio. This would make the deposit insurance fund stronger, while at the same time giving banks the incentive to play it safe with depositors' money.

Another important issue that this legislation would address has to do with deposits in foreign offices of U.S. banks. Currently, these deposits are not assessed for deposit insurance but are protected by the FDIC insurance fund nonetheless. In effect, then, foreign depositors get free deposit insurance protection from U.S. taxpayers. This creates an unfair situation where two banks with the same amount of deposits will pay totally different sums in premiums to the FDIC depending on whether they accept foreign deposits. My bill would correct this cause of instability and inequity in the banking system by requiring that deposits of U.S. banks in foreign branches be assessed for insurance by the FDIC the same as domestic deposits.

Finally, the "Deposit Insurance Fairness Act of 1991" would allow the FDIC to intervene much earlier than regulators are currently permitted to if there are signs of problems at a bank. This way, regulators will be able to take action against weak banks well before they fail and cause the FDIC insurance fund to lose money.

I believe that this legislation will be a significant first step toward resolving many of the problems of our banking system, and protecting the savings of American families. I plan to do whatever I can to see that it is passed into law as soon as possible.

A Report for Tennesseans

NUTRITION BILL WILL HELP TENNESSEE CHILDREN

This week, I've introduced a bill that addresses one of the most serious and disturbing issues that we face today -- the condition of children in America.

Right now the picture is a grim one. Consider that children make up the poorest segment of our nation's population. One-fifth of our children live in poverty. One out of every twelve children -- maybe as many as eight to nine million -- are hungry or at serious risk of being hungry.

Yet, despite our knowledge of this problem, life for too many American children is getting worse, not better. Since 1979 the percentage of our children living in poverty has jumped from 16 to 20 percent. If this trend continues, it will mean that more than 25 percent of all American children will have fallen below the poverty level by the year 2000.

These hungry children suffer up to twice the normal rate of unwanted weight loss, fatigue, headaches, frequent colds, irritability, and inability to concentrate. It's little wonder that they don't do well in their education and are often absent from school. They fall behind in life at a very early age.

The bill I've introduced, "The Childhood Hunger Prevention Act of 1991", addresses the problem of childhood hunger in several ways.

First, it would provide a $250 million increase in 1992 funding for the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program. WIC is a supplemental food program for low-income women, babies, and preschool children up to five years old which currently helps more than 1,000,000 Tennesseans. A recent study has shown that every dollar spent through WIC saves from $1.77 to $3.13 in Medicaid costs.

The funding increase proposed in this bill would allow over 400,000 additional low-income women, infants, and children across the country to participate in WIC.

Second, the legislation would increase food assistance to homeless pre-schoolers who do not have access to the Child Care Food Program, food stamps, or WIC -- although they are desperately in need of nutritional assistance, young homeless children often fall between the cracks of federal nutrition programs.

Third, federal meal subsidies would be extended to children at for-profit child care centers that serve large numbers of low-income children. Under current rules for the Child Care Food program, many low-income children at for-profit centers are prevented from receiving the subsidized nutritious meals that they need and that are available to other low-income children.

Finally, the bill would allow families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children to collect up to $50 in child support without a reduction in food stamp benefits.

As chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, I am well aware that we must exercise restraint in our spending until we get the deficit under control. But I believe that we can ill afford not to invest in our children.

We must understand that rampant hunger and poverty among American children is hardly the road to a brighter future for this country. Children are our best investment in the future. Healthy, well-fed, physically and emotionally well-adjusted children are this nation's guarantee of a future prosperity. The Childhood Hunger Prevention Act of 1991 helps us meet that goal.

REPORTS TO THE EIGHTH DISTRICT

REBUILDING KUWAIT

During the past several weeks, numerous constituents have requested information on how to seek work in the massive rebuilding of Kuwait. The reconstruction process of that small country is expected to be massive -- estimated at $100 billion.

The Kuwaitis have already awarded $500 million in contracts to restore essential services immediately. They have also awarded a $46 million contract to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to provide damage assessment and emergency relief.

In an effort to assist American citizens and companies who have expressed an interest in working in Kuwait, the U.S. Department of Commerce has released substantial, helpful information.

COMPANIES WANTING TO DO BUSINESS WITH THE KUWAITI GOVERNMENT

There are two important offices ready and able to assist companies who want to investigate the potential for business in Kuwait. One is the Kuwait Government Commercial Office set up by the government of Kuwait. Its mailing address is 1510 H Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20005. Its telephone number is (202) 588-0250. Its fax number is (202) 588-0280.

The U.S. Department of Commerce has also established the Gulf Reconstruction Center to assist American businesses. Its mailing address is U.S. Department of Commerce, Room 2039, Washington, D.C. 20230. The telephone number is (202) 377-5767.

Companies can also send product and service information to a special office at our consulate in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. It should be forwarded to Mr. Carmine D'Aloisio, Commercial Attache, American Consulate, APO, New York, New York 09616. The submitted information will be entered into a file base for use when the major rebuilding of Kuwait begins.

Personnel decisions on who to hire for positions with companies doing business in Kuwait will be made by those companies. Some who already have contracts to do work in the first phase of the reconstruction project are:

- Brown and Root, Inc. 1150 Connecticut Avenue Suite 205 Washington, D.C. 20036
- Waste Management, Inc. Mr. Gary Poff 3003 Butterfield Road Oakbrook, Il. 60521

What's New in Tennessee for 1991

NASHVILLE, Tenn. -- The City of Memphis will be drawing much of the attention of travelers in Tennessee during 1991, with two major new attractions and an impressive exhibition from the U.S.S.R.

The biggest of the new attractions is The Great American Pyramid, a 32-story stainless steel structure which will house a 22,000-seat, all-purpose sports and entertainment arena and a variety of entertainment attractions, including a Hard Rock Cafe, The American Music Awards Hall of Fame, The College Football Hall of Fame, The Music Experience and the eerie Egyptian Experience. The arena portion opens for public tours in August, with the other attractions scheduled to open in the following months. Along with the Pyramid, the former Mud Island park is being converted into a live entertainment showpark, Festival Island.

A second major new Memphis attraction, The National Civil Rights Museum, opens in July with exhibits detailing the American Civil Rights movement from the mid-19th century to the present, with special emphasis on the landmark Civil Rights activities of the 1950s and 60s.

A prestigious exhibition, "Catherine The Great: Treasures of Imperial Russia," will run April 10 through September 8 at the Cook Convention Center. Some 300 items, ranging from jewelry and paintings to Catherine's elaborately carved and gilded coronation carriage are on loan from the State Hermitage Museum in Leningrad as a part of the Memphis International Cultural Series.

Entertainer "B.B. King's Place" also joins the lineup of Memphis music clubs and restaurants on Historic Beale Street.

In Nashville, Opryland Showpark celebrates its 20th birthday with the premier of "Love My Country," a new separate-ticket musical starring Louise Mandrell. Park visitors will also find a new 3,500-seat outdoor theater featuring a large cast rock and roll show, and a summer concert series featuring country stars as part of the regular park admission price.

The General Jackson Showboat

also has a new musical show for the 1991 season, and has added the popular TNN puppet Shotgun Red to its regular cast of entertainers.

The new Nashville Zoo, located 17 miles northwest of downtown, opens in March with such exotic creatures as clouded and snow leopards, caracals and African plains animals as its major stars, while Grassmore Wildlife Park, specializing in animals indigenous to Tennessee, is open for its first full season in 1991.

In eastern Tennessee, Dollywood opens its 1991 season in May with The World's Largest Eagle Sanctuary among its new attractions. The theme park will also offer an educational Birds of Prey show featuring such predators as red-tailed hawks, the American kestrel, great horned owls and, of course, American bald eagles.

Along with the Eagle Sanctuary, Dollywood also has two new musical shows, an "All-American Musical" starring Randy Parton, and a new 350-seat outdoor theater featuring gospel and bluegrass music. The park also has 158 live concerts scheduled with major country music stars during the 1991 season and will expand its Christmas season during November and December.

The Dixie Stampede attraction will present a special "Christmas in Dixie" on Fridays and Saturdays, Nov. 29 - Dec. 21. Also in Pigeon Forge, A Salute to Elvis featuring favorite songs of "The King" joins the lineup of music attractions on Pigeon Forge's "Music Row" which now offers five different live shows. Belz Factory Outlet Mall has added 15 new shops to the rapidly growing shopping facilities which now total nearly 200 discount and outlet stores.

Several new country music attractions are also opening this spring and summer in Gatlinburg. Country music star Helen Cornelius opens a new attraction in Gatlinburg in April, and The Tennessee Entertainment Concert Series will offer 141 concerts by major country music stars between mid-June and the end of October at the new Gatlinburg Convention Center.

Ober Gatlinburg opens its new Top of Gatlinburg restaurant and lounge in May, with the popular Old Heidelberg Castle moving to a new location in downtown Gatlinburg.

In northeastern Tennessee, the 1815 Dickson-Williams Mansion in the Greeneville Historic District has opened to the public with restoration still in progress. Three rooms of the impressive mansion are complete.

In Knoxville, a huge new Carolina Pottery outlet has opened featuring pottery, wicker, clothing, shoes and a variety of other merchandise in a warehouse setting.

At Kingsport, Bays Mountain Park has opened its new Harry D. Siedman Heritage Farmstead Museum with exhibits of early mountain life and culture. The park is also expanding its bobcat and raccoon habitats and will add a new wolf habitat scheduled to open in late summer.

Also in Kingsport, Allendale Mansion has begun offering a new Murder Mystery Package available to tour operators.

Elsewhere in Tennessee three new wineries have opened -- Stonehaus Winery at Crossville, Countryside Vineyards & Winery at Kingsport, and Cordova Cellars outside Memphis -- bringing the number of Tennessee wineries to 14.

Travelers will find a new Johnson County Welcome Center open in Mountain City and a new Smoky Mountain Visitors Center in Townsend.

At Lawrenceburg, there is anew Davy Crockett Museum just off the Public Square in a replica of the log cabin law office once used by the famous frontiersman, and the new Amish Country Galleries, with a series of shops featuring crafts and handmade work produced by the area's sizeable Amish community. The complex also includes an outstanding new Cajun restaurant.

PROTECTING AMERICANS' SAVINGS

Over the years, we Americans have come to expect that our hard-earned savings will be protected no matter what happens to our local financial institution. Unfortunately, over the past few years, some financial institutions, and the insurance funds that stand behind our deposits there, have been weakened by risky investment practices.

I recently introduced a bill here in the Senate that I think will help ensure the safety of the savings of millions of American families. The bill, the "Deposit Insurance Fairness Act of 1991", will shore up the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's (FDIC) depositor protection funds by requiring banks that make high-risk investments to pay higher insurance premiums.

Under the present system, banks pay a flat rate for deposit insurance no matter how they invest their funds. In other words, if a bank makes a loan to Donald Trump, it pays the same deposit insurance premiums as a bank that makes a loan to a young family to buy a home. As a result, the deposit insurance system does not provide an incentive for banks to make safe loans.

My bill would require that the FDIC replace the current flat-rate assessment of deposit insurance premiums with a system based on the quality and soundness of a bank's investment portfolio. This would make the deposit insurance fund stronger, while at the same time giving banks the incentive to play it safe with depositors' money.

Another important issue that this legislation would address has to do with deposits in foreign offices of U.S. banks. Currently, these deposits are not assessed for deposit insurance but are protected by the FDIC insurance fund nonetheless. In effect, then, foreign depositors get free deposit insurance protection from U.S. taxpayers. This creates an unfair situation where two banks with the same amount of deposits will pay totally different sums in premiums to the FDIC depending on whether they accept foreign deposits. My bill would correct this case of instability and inequity in the banking system by requiring that deposits of U.S. banks in foreign branches be assessed for deposit insurance by the FDIC the same as domestic deposits.

Finally, the "Deposit Insurance Fairness Act of 1991" would allow the FDIC to intervene much earlier than regulators are currently permitted to if there are signs of problems at a bank. This way, regulators will be able to take action against weak banks well before they fail and cause the FDIC insurance fund to lose money.

I believe that this legislation will be a significant first step toward resolving many of the problems of our banking system, and protecting the savings of American families. I plan to do whatever I can to see that it is passed into law as soon as possible.

Speaker Reports River Transport

"One could almost hear the steam-boat whistles," reports Bettie (Mrs. Gene) Davis, of Route 1, Halls, president of the Lauderdale County Historical and Genealogical Society, of the address to the Society March 17th by Earl Willoughby, Jr., of Newbern.

His remarks on transportation on area rivers spanned the time from the earliest explorations on the Mississippi to World War II, when a motor launch delivered gasoline to Dyersburg for use at the Dyersburg Army Air Base at Halls.

He has made a detailed study of the shallow-draft vessels which plied the Obion and Forked Deer state roads, for they were used for travel and movement of goods until the coming of the railroad.

"In the early days," he said, "the lower reaches of the rivers were clogged with flat-boats and keel-boats abandoned by new settlers after they had unloaded their household goods."

He compared the rivers to the highway system, with the Mississippi being the Interstate and the Obion and Forked Deer state roads, for they were used for travel and movement of goods until the coming of the railroad.

"Development of the railroad through Dyer County," he said, "was hindered by businessmen with steamboat interests, because they knew that would put them out of business."

"Later, cargo on the river was reduced mostly to logs, cut from the vast forests in the bottoms, on their way to Memphis, known as the Hardwood Capital of the World."

He cited names and routes of several boats on area rivers, including the Gracie, Harth, Davy, Nass, and Sallis.

Mr. Willoughby is director of Lake-Reelfoot Tourism Development Council and project manager for the tourism initiative pilot project for Northwest Tennessee, sponsored by the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Larry Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Craft, of Ripley, Frances McNeill, of Halls, Will Spence, of Chestnut Bluff, and J. Winfield Qualle, of Memphis.

Also attending from Memphis were James Oris Cox, new secretary of the Society, and Mrs. Cox.

ANITA GRAVES, Postmaster in Newbern, has been appointed Postmaster in Ripley.

"I was born in the country in Benton County, Miss.," she says. "I have two younger brothers, Larry and Kerry Kimery. My parents, Ryce and Ruth Kimery, now live in Grand Junction. 'I was married for 20 years to Buddy Graves, who died with lupus in 1981.

"I have three children: Todd resides in Bolivar and has three daughters; Steve, single, resides in Pensacola, Fla.; Beth resides in Hickory Valley, married, with a daughter. 'We moved to Hickory Valley to be near my family in 1973. 'I began my postal career in 1974 as a part-time clerk in Grand Junction. I was a substitute for the first two years. This was good for me, as my husband was quite ill, and I had three small children. When it became apparent that I would be rearing my children alone, I began seeking work in other post offices. 'I worked in two offices in Mississippi, and two in Tennessee on loan. In 1977, I was Officer in Charge in Tiptonville, Miss., Level 13. I went to Collierville, in Aug., 1977, as a city carrier. 'My first Postmaster appointment was a Level 5 in Barton, Ark., in December, 1977. I served as OIC in Marvell, Ark., a Level 15 office. 'I returned to Tennessee in 1980 as a Level 15 Postmaster in Stanton; went to Newbern in 1984 as a Level 18 Postmaster, and am now in Ripley as a Level 20 Postmaster.

"I have worked in many capacities in the Postal Service. I am a Postmaster Trainer and have trained many new Postmasters and OIC's in most West Tenn. offices.

A prom planning committee has been selected for the 8th Grade Prom. The committee will make plans for the prom scheduled for May 17th in the school auditorium. 8th grade students will be raising funds for their prom the week following spring break.

Anyone who is willing to make a donation to the sound system fund is encouraged to do so soon. The new system is in place thanks to its underwriting by Lauderdale County Bank; however, we are trying to raise matching contributions to fully fund the improvement in the system. It was used during the senior play and is a very nice improvement over the previous system. Please send any donations to Halls Junior High for "Sound System Fund" or call Mr. Jackson and he will pick up your contribution.

Protecting Our Environment

Environmental Stewardship

In what kind of world will our grandchildren—and their children—grow up? Will our air and water be clean? Will there be lush forests and abundant wildlife? Will we have discovered new and better ways to cope with trash disposal? Some concerned organizations are doing their part to protect the environment of tomorrow by taking responsible action today.

The members of the National Stone Association (NSA), for example, recognize that the earth's resources, upon which all life depends, are finite and that wise stewardship is necessary today to preserve the potential for a quality life for future generations. To that end, that group has adopted the following Environmental Guiding Principles. NSA:

1. Believes wise environmental stewardship is good business, and good for business.
2. Encourages its members to strive for excellence in environmental affairs and to provide leadership by example by demonstrating environmental stewardship in all aspects of their operations.
3. Encourages its members to meet all established environmental regulatory requirements and, where possible, to do better than the law and regulations require.
4. Believes that environmental laws and regulations should be based on sound scientific, engineering and medical research and on established scientific, engineering and medical principles. To that end, NSA will work with lawmakers and regulators and make available the expertise of its members, staff and research facilities to help in shaping the nation's environmental policies.

Responsible organizations contribute to environmental enhancement by implementing wildlife habitat programs.

5. Encourages its members to contribute to environmental enhancement by implementing programs such as landscaping and wildlife habitat.

6. Encourages its members to work with community leaders and citizen groups in developing plans for appropriate uses of the land in the community interest, once mining operations have been completed.

7. Encourages its members to participate in communicating to the public the importance to society of an environmentally-responsible crushed-stone industry, and in educating the youth of our country in the wisdom of responsible environmental stewardship in a business setting.

Don't Drink and Drive

Don't drink and drive: That's the message from safety experts across the nation—and one that many Americans, happily, are heeding.

In fact, it's now the law in some states that hosts are responsible for guests who get drunk at their party and then go out driving. That's why more and more people who give parties are making sure there are designated drivers—drivers who will not drink alcohol during the evening—to take each group of guests home after the festivities.

They're also looking for new, delicious, non-alcoholic party drinks that will please those adults who wish to be designated drivers, those who simply do not wish to have alcohol, and for any children attending the party. Happily, the home economists at Oster have created a dreamy, non-alcoholic drink version of a popular frozen ice cream treat. Easy to make in the Osterizer blender, it's a great special drink to serve at a special party. Youngsters and adults alike will love it!

ORANGE-VANILLA CREAM TREAT

- 1 cup orange juice
 - 1 tablespoon almond extract
 - 1 cup vanilla ice cream
 - 1 package (16 ounces) strawberries in syrup, thawed
- Put all ingredients into Osterizer blender container. Cover and process at a HIGH speed until smooth.
- Yield: 4 servings
